TIGHT FINISHES FEATURE SEMIS

It's a debatable question as to whether the fans or players suffered more heart-strain last night at the semi-final engagements of the Third Annual St. Augustine's Tournament at Larchmont. At any rate, both were in for a long way to beat that court program for sheer dramatics and spine-tingling action. Both tussles went down to the wire—in fact they went past the wire—with Eastchester's Vets and the New York City Vicinity Hill quintets emerging from overtime scraps with wins that sent them flying into Sunday afternoon's championship skirmish.

Eastchester had a wicked time with the Pelham Suns and actually never established supremacy in copping an 78-77 decision. Many of the 190 customers could fashion that but had a hard time swallowing the verdict. In the aftermath when the host Larchmont Saints succumbed to the scrappy City cagers, the final being 67-61, also required an extra session.

All four teams will be back tomorrow afternoon for the windup double bill with Pelham tackling the Saints at 3 P. M. in the consolation tilt before the surviving quintets go at each other with the title at stake.

Jennerich Hits On 31

At times in the first encounter Eastchester appeared to have complete control of the bunting but never could make the Pelhamites call it quits. The Vets were sparked by some extra-special rebounding from Charlie Jennerich, 6-7 pilotman from Manhattan College and the big guy potted 31 points before fouling out in the overtime period. Pelham's 6-8 center, Bill Carlson did not have a wonderful night but still was an asset until booted out of action with four minutes left in regulation play. Bill Baisley stood at the head of the Suns with 26 markers, secured mainly through follow-ups and jump shots off the pivot.

The Suns trailed throughout the first three quarters but broke the formula early in the final chukker. Their smooth-operating fast break created a 61-all standoff and the lead changed hands four times, six times in all, before the horn sounded with the count swarted 69-up. Pelham marched the Vets' amazing shooting in the overtime but did it only after Eastchester had built up a somewhat comfortable margin. Three goals by Frank Howland were vital to the Vets while Al Vogel tried to match Ed Abele in playsetting. The refereeing in this tussle was slightly off key and not of major-league caliber.

There were also some weird calls in the aftermath but the Saints had no excuses. They had they chance to blow the fray apart in the first half and failed. The locale still continued to stay in front after intermission but lacked the ability to work the ball inside. The team-effort was ABsent also. The deadlock was 59-apiece, only tie of the second game, when the outfits were sent into the five-minute additional period and Vineyar Hill quickly showed that it was determined to get to the finals.

A hook-foul by George Wenz, who was high man with 21 tallies, was matched by Jerry Moye's set shot for the Larchmont side but Joe Barrera added the last of his 17-markers on a jump shot and the next time the NYC lads took over they froze the ball. The Saints had to foul in an attempt to get possession and the two-minute rule—which is on the way out—killed what chance they had left. Artie Guy, who went into hysteria over the officiating, came back in the second tilt to put on his dribbling act and made three of five charity flips to seal up the win.

Larry Hennessey had a hot first half but cooled off in the second and was lucky to settle for 19 points. That was the peak production for the local squad but Moye, Mike Woods and Tommy Breslin actually contributed much more with their aggressive play.

So, for the third straight year the Saints fail to grasp the title in their own tourney, which may well be a tribute to their selection of worthy contenders. Tony Lokauo's Orient and White reached the final round once.

LADIES BOWL SINGLE SHUTOUT IN MATCHES

The shutout department had only one occupant at the Larchmont Rec Center last night where Dom's Four poured out a 3-0 lacing in Larchmont Ladies League keeling. The Townsos, Toddlers and Towners earned 2-1 verdicts, the latter needing a roll-off to tag onto the victory yard.

Midge Castaldo, rolling for a blanked team, topped the circuit in one-game tallies when she shapper 196 pins into the pits but Flora Lanza was the series champion via a pinfall of 518, three maples better than Castaldo's total.

Dom's femmes also put themselves in for another honor not hitting a fine 667 unit single which completed the terrific pinfall of 1862.

DI BUONO TO RETURN FOR YANKEE TRYOUT

Private Robert L. Di Buono, stellar all-round athlete is returning to the United states this week from occupation duty at Wetzlar, Germany, to try out with the New York Yankees diamond system. The New Rochelle resident is the son of Frank DiBuono of 18 Van Guilder Avenue.

A brilliant shortstop, DiBuono was voted the most valuable player in the Wetzlar Post league after leading the Wetzlar Rams to the post pennant and the European Community title. The clever-old lad smashed the ball at a tremendous .460 clip in 28 league games, hitting 12 home runs, four triples, 18 doubles, and driving in 54 runs.

DiBuono not only led the league in all hitting departments except triples, but he assisted in 93 double-plays as well. His fielding was the best in the league, for he has a well-aimed throw and superior judgment of ground balls. Fans who have seen him in action rate him as one of the clevrest ball players in European Command.

Bob started his diamond career at Albert Leonard High School, being named to the Westchester County All-Star team in his thirt year. He was also chosen most valuable player on the school team, and played with several semi-pro outfits here before entering the Army.

The stocky DiBuono lacks only one thing to make the grade in organized ball, and that is height. However, his speed, fielding and power at the plate compensate for his short stature.

HANRAHAN ROLLS 648 PIN SERIES

Although his Mamaro Colt mates didn't cooperate enough to get the team in the win column, Al Hanrahan had little difficulty gathering the laurels in Mamaroneck Community League bowling matches at the Mamaroneck Community Rec Center last night. Hanrahan whipped a good night into a memorable one by rattling 246 pins in the winnup game, thereby creating a sparkling 648 triple.

Still, the Friendly Servicemen took the team win by 2-1, a feat that was duplicated by the Jeffs and Recs while the singular shutout went on the Diner's record.

There were nine games which made the 200 classification and Jones of the Diners was the only bowler to best that mark twice during the evening's alley rumbling. He had a 588 three-game tally for runner-up position while Pacossa had to hit just one double century effort to reach 579 pins.

In Brief

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla. — Burt Shotton, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, believes this season's team is better than the one which captured the National League pennant last year.

"This club," Shotton says, "is better than last year's club. It is a year older, the boys know me better and I know them better.

"We've gotten rid of a lot of dozen players who didn't help us last year and that makes room for some new kids. Age can make them might make the big difference."

BIG FITE SCHED LINED UP IN WP

Promoter Joe McKenna has lined up an excellent group of matches for his weekly Tuesday night pro boxing shows at the County Center and White Plains during this month. Resuming after a week's layoff McKenna starts off next Tuesday with welterweight Tommy Bazzano and Vic Cardell, in the feature eight-rounder.

On April 11, the headliners will be Roger Donnelhie and Eddie Edwards, a week later Jimmy Flood will return to action at the Center against a capable opponent, and on April 25, it'll be Bill Dossio vs. Frankie Sodano.

Bazzano has been something of a knockout sensation at the Center this season having flattened Pete Kennedy and Billy Wyatt in his last two starts. The Middletown, Conn. slugger is one of the most improved fighters in the welterweight division today.

Cardell, from Hartford, who will be making his debut in the White Plains ring, notes two decisions over Bazzano and predicts that he will stop his foremost Nutmeg State rival on Tuesday night.

Another six spot will bring together George Martino, Hartford welterweight, and Larry Gazzi of New York City.

FETE FOR BHS 5 SET: MC CHOSEN

William C. Flitts, a member of the Rye Neck Board of Education, has been named to serve as master-of-ceremonies at Monday night's fete for the Bellows High School quintet. The affair, which gets under way at 7:30 P. M. will be highlighted by an address by Jack Jarvis, 25-year coach of Eastchester High and current president of the Southern Westchester Interscholastic Athletic Conference. The dinner, as well as the program which follows, will be held in the BHS gymnasium.

Players on the varsity and jayvee squad will attend, as well as their fathers and several specially invited school and civic officials. In addition to his speech, Mr. Jarvis will make an unofficial presentation of the 1950 SWIAC Basketball Trophy to Bellows. The East End capers tied with Rye for the crown and trophies are to be awarded to the co-champions. Also, there is to be a brief ceremony for the awarding of the Section One Class C and Open titles, both of which the Panthers captured during a season of 18 wins out of 19 tries.

Eight fathers have volunteered to serve on the committee in charge of arrangements and that group met last night in the school to complete details. Many mothers of players will aid in the serving, with Miss Catherine McPhillips of the home economics staff supervising.

The distinguished guest speaker is quite familiar with Bellows, especially the confined quarters of the gymnasium where many of his eastchester quintets have experienced adversity. Now retired from the active coaching ranks to serve Eastchester as athletic director, Jarvis also has mentored baseball and football and is widely respected by members of his profession.

Brooklyn Places Two On Junior All-Stars

NEW YORK—Brooklyn's championship New York State Tech squad has placed two men on the Metropolitan Junior College team selected by league coaches.

The selections, released yesterday by the conference, reveals center Milt Spradley and guard Mel Lewis of the Brooklyns on the first five. The other guard on this unit is Bill Scheele of Walter Stevens of Manhattan. The forwards are Andy Weyerman of Concordia in Bronxville, and Stan Orr of the Long Island Aggies.

Sports Show Casting Rodeo Enters Final Stages Today

Competition in the Schaefer Casting Rodeo at the Southern New York Sports Show at the County Center in White Plains, entered Larchmont Saints today as more than half of the entrants listed had tried their skill in the last week.

For the second night in a row Dorothy Vogel, seventeen-year-old national champion from Paterson, N. J., thrilled the crowd as she scored perfect cast after cast to qualify for the finals in both the bug and bait casting events. The day previous she had registered a 97 out of a possible 100 to lead the qualifiers in the dry fly contention.

Qualifying in the men's open event last night were John Dieckman, Paterson Police Benevolent Association; Arch Vogel and John Canova, two other Patersonites, Henry Schlichting and Dick Cornell of Greenheart Rod and Gun Club, Tuckahoe; reached the finals in the Westchester men's open and Eugene Bauer of New York Casting Club and Adeline for the junior open.

Contestants will begin the final round of competition tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Commissioner Jimmy Salvedo of New Jersey, official referee of the event, announced today.

Both Miss Vogel and the Dieckman youngster were outstanding in last night's competitions. The route New Jersey lass with the perfect delivery registered casts with clockline regularity and in the plug competition missed the green ring only once.

The longest cast by the competitors was at the green ring which was placed 60 feet from the platform. Four other rings were placed on both sides of the pool and in the competition entrants were required to make two casts at each two-foot ring.

Largest Attendance

Last night saw the County Center packed with the largest attendance the Sports Show has drawn to date. For the first time this week the evening show brought out an exceptionally large crowd of youngsters who seemed to be thrilled by the casting competition. As usual Sparky, Mark Huling's trained seal, attracted the most applause during the stage and tank show.

The Center is well-polissed what with a detail of Westchester County Parkway Police being augmented by the services of Military Police from the Civil Air Patrol and Boy Scouts and, in addition, troopers of the New York State Conservation Department and members of the Sheriff's Emergency Force who put in an appearance in honor of Harold J. Kimball, president of the Southern New York Fish and Game Association, and head of the SEF.

Tonight on New York

The Rosemary Casey comedy, which was awarded the Christophers first $5,000 prize last August, opened December 26. Miss George, portraying a wise and witty woman of God, Mother Hildebrand, in the comedy is aided and abetted by Walter Hampden who enacts an equally wise monsignor. Together the two veterans persuade a young and ambitious bishop to change his mind about discharging one of the mother superior's sisters teachers, a lay professor unjustly accused of Communist teachings.

Troupers that they are neither Miss George nor Mr. Hampden has as yet missed a single performance. Miss George, whose husband, veteran showman William A. Brady, died the week after the comedy opened, kept his passing a secret for two days so as not to disturb the run of the play.

Work began at the Mark Hellinger Theatre Thursday, March 30 on the installation of a new air-conditioning system which is expected to be in operation by June 1. The most modern of any Broadway playhouse it will cost approximately $70,000.

Anthony B. Farrell, owner of the Mark Hellinger Theatre, has gone to this expense at this time to insure proper air-conditioning for patrons attending performances this coming hit musical, "Texas, Li'l Darlin'". Seats for the show are now on sale through August 26.

Fashion Show And Luncheon Held By League For Volunteers

Against a nautical background of vari-colored fish nets and sea shells, of anchors and table centerpieces of crepe paper boats, the annual luncheon of the Westchester League for Volunteers was held yesterday at the Rye-wood Country Club in Rye with Jinx Falkenberg, columnist, radio and television star, as the featured guest.

Mrs. Bernard Lee Schwartz of Scarsdale, chairman of the WLV, in welcoming the guests, described the work of her organization which was instituted four years ago. She explained that the league has no meetings, no fund-raising events, no professional assistants, but is completely staffed by volunteers.

The chairman explained that members of the group are women who are willing to give of their spare time to various community projects throughout the county. Included in the institutions that the women serve are Hawthorne Cedar Knolls School, the new Rochelle Hospital, Blythedale Home, White Plains Hospital, the Planned Parenthood Centers, and other Westchester institutions requiring volunteer aid.

Miss Falkenberg expressed her interest in the league. She related various personal anecdotes and assisted Mrs. Milton Scofield of Scarsdale in the fashion show commentary.

Mrs. Stephen Grob and Mrs. Robert Greer of Scarsdale were cochairmen of the luncheon; Mrs. Frederick Lowsnfels and Mrs. Schwartz of Scarsdale, program; Mrs. Monroe Messinger of New Rochelle, fashion show; Mrs. Michael Joseph Jr. of Port Chester, invitations; Mrs. Allan E. Shore of Scarsdale and Mrs. Richard Fuld of New Rochelle, seating and reservations; Mrs. Harold Eisenberg of New Rochelle, and Mrs. John Gantz of Scarsdale, publicity.

Also Mrs. Scofield and Mrs. Abraham Samuelson of White Plains, decorations; Mrs. Harry Weber Jr. of Hartsdale, display; Mrs. Herbert Blumberg of New Rochelle and Mrs. Charles Sabel of Scarsdale, prizes.

Pack 2 Cubs Win Awards For Inspection

Den Four received first prize, Den three, second, and Den five, third, by the inspection committee of Den Dads at the Cub Pack Two of Mamaroneck meeting last night at the Mamaroneck Methodist Church.

In the parent attendance contest Dens one, two, and five had more than 50 per cent in attendance, with Den two having the greatest number of parents and Den five the greatest percentage of parents present. "Arts and Crafts" was the theme of the pack meeting and handicraft displays were inspected by a committee of mothers from each den with awards going to Dens one, three and five.

Achievement awards were presented the following Cubs: Den one, John Nelson, gold and silver arrow for his lion; Den two, Bruce Crisp, Lion badge, Ronald Price, James Dennis, and James Warren, gold and silver arrow awards for their wolf; Alan Doupke, Bear Badge, Dudley Goulden, Wolf Badge; Den five, Michael Lurie, Denner's stripes and silver arrow for lion and Jeffrey Milwe, Assistant Denner's stripe; Den six, Skip Loder, gold and silver arrows for his wolf, and Kenneth Heath and Ronnie Soriano, Bear badges.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America" with members of the Den six serving as color guards. Cub Scout, Skip Loder, led the pledge to the flag and Cub Scout Dick Burchell led the Cub Promise.

Cubmaster George Langerfeld, outlined the April theme "Air Fun" and reviewed with Cubs and parents the procedure for earning awards. Assistant Cubmaster John Landsiedel led the Cubs in the singing of songs, and a movie, "A Trip to the Sun" was shown by Den Dad Charles Warren. The meeting closed with the singing of taps.

Late Letter To Greet Fiance Better Than None

BY EMILY POST

A mother wants to know if there is still time to make amends for the following:

"My son's engagement was announced six months ago to a young woman in a distant town. I've not met the girl or her family and as they are complete strangers I never have written either to the girl or her mother. I wrote to my son, naturally. We seldom see him as he is working away from home. Now I learn that I should have written to the girl and possibly her mother. Is there any way to make up for my mistake, and how in the world do I go about writing to complete strangers? Also how do I explain my delay in writing?"

Very definitely I can answer that you should write at once. Much better now than not at all. It seems to me the only way to bridge this gap is to face it and write: "All this time I have been waiting to hear from you and now I am told that I was the one who should have written. I am very sorry, dear Jane, because I certainly want to welcome you! And I do hope that you and John will both write me very soon and tell me about your plans." (This is just a general idea!)

PRAYER FOR TODAY—On this day and on every day, dear Father of us all, may I walk with You in bright fellowship. May I do what is required of me—and a little extra. May I fight the good fight and keep the faith. In the end, may I earn the blessing "well done" that goes out to conscientious workmen.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE

AN OPPORTUNITY to make a personal and valuable service to those who by their sacrifice have proved themselves worthy of it, is offered to residents of Westchester County in the drive for 200 volunteers to act at the new Franklin Delano Roosevelt Hospital at Chester which will be opened by the Veteran's Administration during the first part of May. The recruitment drive conducted by the Westchester Chapter of the Red Cross started today at the headquarters, 106 North Broadway, White Plains.

A tremendous institution, comprising a half hundred buildings, the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Hospital, designed for neuro-psychiatric patients, will bring to this county thousands of the victims of the last war. To assert that these men by virtue of their sacrifice are entitled to the best of care is to labor a point which has already been written into our National scheme of things.

For without a doubt these men will receive the very finest that professional skills and well constructed buildings can provide.

But an institution still remains an institution and when it houses men often far removed from their homes its effect can be deadening without something more in the way of personal attention. And it is in line with the attempt to furnish these extra services that the Red Cross and its volunteers play their part.

As explained by Miss Gwen O'Neal, director of services in veterans hospitals for the Red Cross, "the Red Cross program in a V. A. hospital is a partnership between the national organization and the local community. National furnishes the staff and the local community furnishes the volunteers and supplies necessary to their services."

Volunteers needed for this latter portion of the work include: Gray Ladies, staff aides, motor service drivers, arts and skills, production needle workers, canteen workers and entertainment and instruction workers.

For those who are willing to give of their time and their knowledge to work at the new hospital there is bound to be a tremendous satisfaction—the satisfaction which comes of having helped other deserving human beings.

There should be no scarcity of workers enrolling in the Red Cross program.

FINE BUT INELIGIBLE

POLITICAL depesters and king-making mystics are having a delightful time with an "inside understanding" that recent visits of General Eisenhower to Westchester are part of a "build-up," under Westchester auspices, for the nomination of the General for Governor of New York State if Governor Dewey decides not to seek renomination this year.

The only trouble with that "understanding" is that it is an utterly impossible misunderstanding.

General Eisenhower is not eligible to be Governor of New York—and won't be for some time to come.

To be legally acceptable as the occupant of the Executive Mansion at Albany, a man—or a woman—must have been a legal resident of New York State for "five years next preceding his election."

And the beloved "Ike" didn't become a New York State resident until he assumed the presidency of Columbia University in the Fall of 1948.

Besides which, despite all that has been written and said on the subject, we have a strong private doubt that any party ever will lure Dwight Eisenhower into either a national or State political arena. Only this week, testifying before a Senate Committee, he affirmed his stand that "I am not" a politician.

Rezoning To Be Asked To Permit Development

WHITE PLAINS — The Common Council will be asked Monday night to rezone 57 acres of choice property fronting on Westchester Avenue and extending back to the rear of North Street estates, to allow development of a garden apartment colony.

The applications are being filed by Guilfo, Rainolfi, Mitchell and Crooke, attorneys for the Ogden Reid estate and the White Haven Realty Co. Leonard H. Davidow, White Plains realty developer, has an option to purchase the tract, contingent on rezoning.

The land is now zoned R-1, restricted to single family dwellings. The application is for an R-4 zone, which permits garden apartments.

The Reid interests also have petitioned the Harrison Town Council for a rezoning of 165 acres of property on the east side of Westchester Avenue, 130 acres for restricted business and 35 acres for garden apartments.

Answer: The New York Trade School, 312 East 67th Street, New York City, has courses for men over seventeen years of age.

SUMMER CAMP

Question: Would you know of a boys' Summer camp whose program includes a few hours of academic study as well as sports? We prefer a well supervised small camp. My son is eight years old.

B. S.

Answer: We suggest that you speak to the boy's teachers in school and ask them to recommend such a camp to you.

BATHINETTES RECEIVED

Question: Many thanks for the help you were in publishing our request for bathinettes for our classes for expectant mothers. Your readers came through with just the right number of responses and we are most happy to have this addition to our class equipment. Theodora Sharrocks

Answer: Thanks to our readers.

NO PROHIBITIONIST

Question: It is important that I know how many calories there are in red wine of 13 per cent alcoholic strength and also in port and sherry of 21 per cent strength. I would also like to know the calory value of 80 proof whiskey and a 12-ounce bottle of beer.

W. A.

Answer: Write or call the Westchester Home Bureau, County Office Building, White Plains. They have a booklet containing the number of calories in the foods. If the list does not include the items that you mentioned, the home economics expert in the bureau will probably be able to give you that information.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Bobo Newsom, the colorful, and bombastic pitcher who was on the roster, at one time or another of eight different big league teams was never one to follow rules too closely. He was once hauled on the mat for betting on horse races by the late Judge Landis. "Betting takes your mind off baseball," expostulated Ladis. "Let's say you're at bat in the ninth inning of a tight game, the same day you are wagering $100 on some nag. What are you thinking of—the ball game or your $100 bet?"

"Judge," said Bobo earnestly, "in the ninth inning of a tight game, old Bobo isn't going to be in their battins!"

An even more disrespectful neighbor says, "Rowayton is the only town where both side of the tracks are wrong."

County Sets Conference On Septic Tanks' Use

WHITE PLAINS — The County Health Department has called to a conference in City Hall today persons connected with the Deckpark realty development to show cause why permits for septic tanks used for houses in the project should not be revoked.

It was explained that complaints have been filed because January rains have flooded the tanks, spread tainted water above ground in the back yards and even overflowed into some of the cellars. Richard M. McLaughlin of the Health Department explained that the condition can be corrected without revoking the permits.

Job Situation Sounds Warning Beginners Face 'Honest Toil'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The recent rush of official and unofficial warnings of prospective unemployment have prompted many readers — too numerous to list — them individually—to ask for an analysis of the present and future situation in language less technical and vague than is generally found in government communiques.

In general, people want to know whether the country is heading, slowly but progressively, into conditions comparable to those prevailing before the 1939-1940 pre-war, war and postwar boom, when millions suffered severe hardships from lack of work.

When direct questions have been satisfied, and when both private and federal funds dwindle or become exhausted, they wonder what will happen to them and their jobs.

Any attempt to answer these queries cannot be projected beyond 1950 and 1951, for long-range forecasting in any field these days is dangerous, it should be noted, too, that the following discussion is based on consultation with private and public experts in the labor and economic lines.

HARDER — Ewan Clague, Director of Labor Statistics, figures that there are about 4,700,0000 out of work now, and that the total may increase to almost six million when more than a million youngsters pour out of high schools, colleges and vocational institutions within the next six months.

These boys and girls have already made preliminary inquiries and found it harder to land a place than at any time since 1939.

Factories and offices have filled up since the end of the war. Moreover, despite industrial expansion, many new industries—plastics, chemicals, electronics, synthetics — require more pipes than personnel.

They do not need so many hands' as the more conventional plants, and even these latter are installing labor - saving devices from year to year. That is the direct result of the constant demand for higher wages, whether we like it or not.

JOBS—Five million people lacking jobs will not be abnormal or dangerous according to the experts. That number will include many who once worked beyond the ages of sixty and sixty-five, and who may be induced to drop out of the labor force if pensions, social security and individual savings enable them to exist.

But, with the addition of a million or more to the labor force annually, ways must be found to absorb them, or the number of people without earnings will become threatening. It is estimated that additional jobs totalling five million, increasing the number of employed to at least 65 million must be found in the next five years.

TOIL — Labor experts in and out of government offer some good, old-fashioned advice to the youthful army that will soon leave their so-called "chute of learning" to look for a job. Trite as it may sound, they recommend that the younger generation develop a liking for "honest toil," with the accent on the word "toil."

Too many graduates of academic or vocational schools, according to this viewpoint, want to start at the top or to enter the so-called "professions." With a few exceptions, the professional fields are fairly filled. There is far more room at the bottom, which is where most of today's successful men began.

OPENINGS — The service trades, for instance, offer many openings. But a youngster must begin as a store clerk or a stock keeper, even if his eventual ambition is a high executive post. The same applies to those entering industry.

A white-collar job may be more soothing to a man's vanity, but most men at the top today started in the foundry, the casting room or at a machine. They worked at "dirty" jobs, meanwhile keeping their minds alert for advancement.

Few high school or college graduates, unless they have specialized, are equipped for a career today. But if industry and business continue to expand, there will be many openings in offices. Therefore, a youngster with an A. B. degree should not think it beneath him to take a business course to prepare for that kind of work.

ADVICE — Opportunities are becoming more plentiful for teachers, nurses, scientists, research workers, community and city planning and allied activities — fields too infrequently tapped by graduates, who head for already crowded lines simply because their fathers and uncles and brothers are or were engaged in those enterprises.

In short, a summing up of advice from these experts may be embodied in one paragraph:

Golden Rule Can Be Basis Of Child Training

By ANGELO PATRI

What do we mean when we say we should educate children and young people for life in a modern world? This world of today! A like world of tomorrow? A world where material things are of first importance? Is this such a lovely world that we should shape the lives of the coming generation toward its ways? We should do better than that.

Men do not live by grace of material things. The trouble with them is that they are not lasting, neither in their duration in time nor in their satisfaction to the spirit. The more things we get the more we want. The more power we achieve, the more gaping we become. There is no peace in all this world of hurry, hustle, grab and get. There should be something better than that to offer childhood and youth, something better to build on for the future of this nation.

We want peace, but we seem not to want it enough to create it first in the minds, the in the behavior, of our people. Wanting without giving is not going to help us. Though we give to the world, while we withhold from each other in this selfish, me-first, me-most fashion, we will not create peace in the world. Greed and selfishness reduce just what no matter what gestures to the contrary we may make in contributions to other peoples.

What difference would world needs is basic peace, peace of the spirit, and that means we must go back to the fundamentals of righteousness, good will, neighborliness, and above all, individual responsibility for the good life, the life of the spirit. We cannot cry Peace, Love, Charity, and still keep holding to selfish ends, putting material things first and spiritual fulfillment a long long way behind.

Education of our children should be for living a good life today and tomorrow. There is no better basis for that training than that of the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." It is right that each carry full responsibility for himself while carrying some for his brother also. It is right to learn ways of saving labor, but it is also right to protect the rights of laboring men and use the machines with consideration for their welfare and the welfare of all mankind.

We cannot live alone. We must share all that comes, and what comes will be better, more satisfying when we practice what we teach. We can say that man does not live by bread alone. He lives also on the divine spark, on the spiritual strength that is within him.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WORTH TRYING ANYWAY

MAYBE a particular effort is not certain to work. That, however, is no reason for not trying it. If there is even the slightest chance of success for a particular play, and failure to attempt it means probable defeat, the sound competitor will essay the move. Such is the case with false-carding by the defenders in situations where his only good hope rests upon the false-card being mis-read by a keen defender. The opponent may not be deterred by it, but then he may be.

Bidding exactly like that was done at all three tables of a little duplicate, except that in one case North hopped into 4-Hearts on his second turn. Each West led the 9 of his partner's diamonds, the 7 winning. The outlines of play being pretty high, two of the three declarers false-carded with the 7 on the first trick, then put the 10 on the second, when East led the diamond K.

Where South had played naturally, with the 4 followed by the 7, East could read West as being now out of the suit, when the 5 was played, his lowest possible card. So that East led a third diamond honor, which West ruffed with the heart 5, forcing South to use the J to over-ruff it. When the heart Q was then led from dummy, the K cover forced the A from South and built a trick for the 10. A later same trick with the club K beat the contract.

In one case where South had false-carded with the diamond 7 and 10, East read West as still holding the still-unseen 4. So, rather than give South a ruff-and-discard, he switched to the club 8, south's low play enabled the K to win that, but the contract was now safe. The club return was won, spades furnished a discard of the diamond 4 and the heart honors in the East were really capturable by finessing.

At the other table where South false-carded with the diamond 7 and 10, East knew he was against a canny operator, so led the third diamond anyway, especially since he saw no good chance to beat the contract unless South was false-carding.

Your Weekend Question

What definite advantages are there in bidding a four-card suit not topped with any high honors in a hand with adequate high-card strength, to offset the disadvantage that the bid may cause a disastrous lead from your partner in case your left-hand opponent becomes the declarer.

Showmanship and the musical arts combined in satisfying proportions last night at Mamaroneck Junior High School, to produce the 36th annual concert of the Mamaroneck High School Glee Clubs, with an audience of more than 1,000 on hand to enjoy an excellent performance.

F. Colwell Conklin and Miss Evelyn M. Wells directed the program, which drew heavily from the best of the high school's talent.

Dance soloists were Cornelia Brew, who performed a traditional toe ballet during the Girls Glee Club's rendition of "Prelude" by Landon Ronald, arranged by Noble Cain and Sharon Kelly, whose colorful solo featured "Andalucia" from Ernesto Lecuona's Spanish Suite, by the high school choir.

John Goodkind, violinist, was soloist in A. Walter Kramer's arrangement of "Traumerei" by Richard Strauss, with an incidental soprano solo by Gail Kane and the Girls Glee Club providing a harmonic background.

Captivating the audience from their first protesque appearance, the Flapperettes entertained with a delightful burlesque of the 1920's, garbed in the shapeless style of that decade, singing "Times to the times they represented, their dancing included the Charleston, with choreography by Miss Kelly. Bettina Cooper, Arlita Holt and Carol Lightfoot appeared briefly as fashion models, and Sally Stowell accompanied the presentation at the piano.

The Flapperettes' selections opened with "Margie" and continued with "Who", "A Pretty Girl" and "Button Up Your Overcoat." They encored with "A Cup of Coffee".

Members of the amusing ensemble were Noel Booth, Dorothy Farrell, Noel Henriques, Judith McAvity, Ann Merritt, Caryl Posner, Alice Peatman, Betty Ann Sampson, Joanne Sanborn, Barbara Trimm, Sue van Noppen and Judith Warren. They were easily the hit of the show.

High spot of the more serious part of the program was the high school Glee Club's stunning performance of the Finale from "The Gondoliers", repeated as an encore, and "The Voice of Freedom", adapted by Lucien Cailliet from Rubenstein's "Kammenol-Ostrow", a stirring selection, magnificently done by the group. Margaret Beaver was at the glockenspiel, and a fine piano accompaniment was provided by Sandra Rubin.

The Male Ensemble appeared soon after the program got under way, with selections that were "Clancy Lowered The Boom", "Shenandoah", and "A Fatuous Tragedy" and they encored with the ever popular and entertaining "Johnny Schmocker." Members of the ensemble are Willard Anderson, Robert Bouchard, Robert Garlock, John Glover, Malcolm Hepworth, Richard Land, John Lynch, Anthony Linares, David Nichol, Alain Roman, David Neville, Howard Salasin, Jerome Schiller, Andrew Torre and Alan Welty. Miss Beaver accompanied them at the piano.

Musical interludes during the program were offered informally by the Male Quartet, entertaining in casual fashion, and singing "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," "Lucky Old Sun", "Never Throw A Lighted Lamp at Mother" and "The Whiffenpoof Song." The quartet is composed of Robert Garlock, Roger Englander, Alan Welty and David Neville.

"The Melodiers," boy-and-girl ensemble, opened the second part of the program, appearing arm in arm down the auditorium aisles to the strains of "Swingin' Down the Lane." Choreography for their numbers was by Miss Sanfoin and Miss Posner, with Miss Beaver at the piano. Their selections included "Let's Take An Old Fashioned Walk," "I Got Rhythm" and "I Said My Pajamas".

"The Melodiers" group included Nancy Baker, Nancy Burden, Judith Clark, Jean Durling, Lois Nesbitt, Mary Jane Fritzinger, Robert Dugan, Albert Eckhardt, Michael Severin, Walter Moeller, Edwin Lyons and Gordon Nichols.

"Alma Mater", arranged by Harland Pinney, opened the program with Albert Eckhardt, president of the high school Glee Club directing. Their first group included "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones", "Let Thy Holy Presence", "Strange Music" and "Holiday."

The high school Glee Club's closing program included "Once To Every Man and Nation" "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel" and "Rockin' Chair" with incidental solo by Marie Faillace, Mary Jane Fritzinger, Anna Stamopis and Elizabeth Stow. Miss Rubin and Sally MacArthur accompanied the high school Glee Club, and Girls Glee Club accompanists were Miss Stowell and Joan Hillsley.

Roger Babson Finds Quietness Of Church Solves Life's Puzzles

By ROGER W. BABSON
Edited by Norman Vincent Peale

Harassed by a vexing problem, unable to think and pray over it in proper surroundings, Roger Babson one week day wandered into an open church. Out of this experience grew an effective technique for making good decisions. Mr. Babson, head of the Babson Institute in Wellesley, Mass., is a distinguished author and an outstanding business leader.

I WAS OVER sixty years old before I ever sat for a half-hour quietly alone in a church.

For some weeks I had been troubled in making a difficult decision. The problem involved several people, and I wanted to be fair to all as well as to myself. It seemed impossible to find an opportunity to think and pray by myself in proper surroundings. At my office the telephone was always ringing; in my home members of my family were running about; it was Winter, so I could not go out into the woods by myself.

Roger W. Babson

As I was passing a small Episcopal church the thought occurred to me that it might be open. If so, I would go in. The church was open and comfortable. A stream of sunlight poured in through the western windows. I sat down undisturbed in this sanctuary of peace and quiet beauty.

It took a little time for me to get acclimated to these new surroundings, but I soon did. I said a little prayer asking for help in finding a solution to my difficulty. Then I waited.

The Answer Comes

GRADUALLY the factors in the situation assumed their correct proportion, and the answer began to take shape. I arrived at a clear decision! Better still, there came a confidence and courage to act upon this decision. The whole experience was a revelation to me.

The success of this experience prompted me to tell my story to a group of people in my own church in Wellesley Hills, Mass. For our church was one of the many closed during the week. Then I suggested that it be opened during certain hours to any stranger that might be passing by. The idea struck immediate favor, and a plan was worked out to keep the church open for at least an hour every afternoon and evening.

But interested church members did not stop here. They felt that such benefits should be enjoyed by strangers and church members alike. Thus, it was proposed that laymen and laywomen be charged with the responsibility of opening the church during these hours. In this way 60 or more busy church members would have a chance to spend at least an hour a month in the quiet solitude of the church.

Leave Other Thoughts Behind

THE FIRST STEP toward profiting from meditation alone in a church is to leave all extraneous thoughts at the door. The church is no place in which to worry. The real purpose of quiet meditation is to clear the mind of these cares, to refresh the soul, and to get into a mental and spiritual state where right solutions will automatically come to us.

When I first enter the church for meditation, it sometimes is from a sense of duty. I feel fugety and out of place. I am in a hurry to "pay my pence" and go about my business.

But slowly repose and serenity come to me—whether I be in a great cathedral or a humble country meeting house. This is especially true if the building is historic, but it not I think of the age of the Church for which it stands. The Church is the oldest organization in every community. This thought alone gives me calmness and poise.

I enter thinking of some special man or woman; but I leave thinking of manhood and womanhood. I enter thinking of specific things like a product of a house; but I leave thinking of an industry or home. The Church teaches me to think more of the larger things and less of the unimportant things.

A Broader Horizon

MEDITATION in a church broadens my horizon and makes me think of others in an unselfish and constructive way.

One friend of mine, who has kept our church open for an

Of All Places!

A car driven by John B. Campbell of 14 Mohawk Street, Rye, at 3:17 A. M. yesterday morning failed to make the curve on the Boston Post Road west of Larchmont Avenue and crashed into a retaining wall next to Larchmont Police Headquarters, knocking down a traffic safety reflector on the way.

Detective Sergeant Thomas Boyle and Desk Officer John Kersey leaped through a headquarters window and ran to Campbell's assistance.

With Patrolman Stephen V. Heinzinger they assisted Campbell out of the car and gave him first aid treatment for bruises and cuts. At headquarters Campbell refused any further medical attention. He told police he was traveling about 35 miles per hour in an easterly direction and in the rain he was on the curve before he knew it and could not turn the wheel of his car in time to prevent going off the road.

Sweetening the Dose

Remember the days when mother used sweet orange juice to make castor oil palatable?

The Town Board has plagiarized the idea!

It sweetened the castor oil-laden annual tax bills which were mailed last week with a statement included with every bill. The statement, over the signature of all the members of the Board pledges "Your Town administration is fully aware of the tax burden our citizens are carrying. We have in the past, and shall continue in the future, to do everything possible to keep our taxes as low as possible and consistent with the services which our citizens have a right to expect."

The pledge was preceded by a reprint of a Daily Times editorial of Jan 16 entitled "Speaking of Taxes." The editorial pointed out that "taxes take one out of every four dollars of national income."

Sgt. Donohue Graduated

Sgt. John J. Donohue, son of Mrs. Mary Donohue of 226 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck, was recently graduated from the EUCOM Combat Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany, where he received specialized courses on military law, tactics, map reading and all types of small weapons.

During the war, Sgt. Donohue served with a field hospital unit as a surgical technician. He wears the EAMET Ribbon with one Bronze Star, American Theater Ribbon, American Defense Medal, Victory Medal, Occupation Medals, the Berlin Airlift Device. He is now a member of Headquarters Company, 3d Battalion, 16th Infantry Regiment with duties as an intelligence platoon leader.

Child Hit by Car

Edward Cohen, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cohen of 371 Forest Avenue, Larchmont Woods, Saturday was struck by a car driven by Michael Harrington of 5 Sheldrake Avenue, Larchmont, while running across Forest Avenue. Mrs. Cohen reported to Town of Mamaroneck police. Edward was treated for bruises and shock by a private physician.

Palm Sunday Visitors

Three unexpected visitors attended a Palm Sunday program yesterday at the Mamaroneck Methodist Church: two yellow chickens and a white rabbit with the questionable cognomen of Pink Eye.

The chicks belong to Miss Lorraine Stromberg, an assistant in the Primary Department were exhibited to the pupils in the Beginner Department after they attended class with the older pupils.

State Aid Bill Signed To Enrich Villages

ALBANY — The new formula for distribution of state aid among the cities, towns and villages of Westchester has been approved by Governor Dewey, ending a long fight by the villages for a larger share of the money.

In raising the payments to the villages, the measure which was introduced by Senator Pliny W. Williamson of Scarsdale and the late Assemblyman Fred Graber of Tarrytown, decreases the shares of the towns.

This factor was the cause of opposition, particularly from towns which have no villages, in the long discussions which culminated in the approval of the plan by the Westchester Board of Supervisors.

According to the new formula, the Village of Mamaroneck with a population of 13,034, will receive $32,585 as against the former allocation of $12,724. Larchmont, with a population of 9,970, will its share boosted from $6,908 to $14,925.

The move to change the formula was inaugurated while Mayor B. J. Santoro of Mamaroneck was president of the Westchester County Village Officials Association and passage of the bill has been consistently urged by Anthony Sansone, WCVOA secretary, in memos to the Senate, Assembly and Gov. Dewey.

On March 16, Mr. Sansone wrote Lawrence E. Walsh, counsel to the Governor, outlining the struggle of the villages to put the

PRESIDENT URGES BRANNAN PLAN

Message to Congress Asks Solons to Avoid 'Make-Shift' Law

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Truman asked Congress anew today to enact the Brannan Plan with its dual goal of cheaper prices for perishable crops and direct government payment to farmers.

In an 1800-word message to the lawmakers Mr. Truman urged them to avoid "makeshift legislation" and get busy on fundamental improvements in a farm program he said would assure fair prices to both farmers and consumers.

The message also gave specific reasons why the President last week signed a new cotton-peanut-potato law in which he saw objectionable features. He said he accepted it only because good features seemed to outweigh the bad.

"I urge the congress," he wrote today, "to proceed to consider fundamental improvements in our agricultural legislation to make it more efficient, less costly and more conducive to abundant pro-

Navy Testing Air Saucers, Says Report

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U. S. News and World Report says there is competent evidence that flying saucers are real aircraft of revolutionary design, developed in the United States.

The weekly news magazine for April 7, out today, concludes that the Navy is doing the development.

(The Navy, asked about such reports Friday said it built only one machine of the general saucer shape, a piston engine aircraft, and it never flew. It said it never built a jet version.)

Reporting what it calls the "real story" behind the welter of reports about such flying machines, the magazine says "engineers competent to appraise reports of reliable observers" have reached these conclusions:

"Flying saucers, seen by hundreds of competent observers over most parts of the U. S., are accepted as real. Evidence is that they are aircraft of a revolutionary type, a combination of helicopter and fast jet plane.

Early Model Built in 1942

"An early model of these saucers was built by U. S. engineers in 1942, achieved more than 100 successful test flights. That project was taken over by the Navy in wartime. Much more advanced models are now being built."

The article says early models

Pope Suffers Pains, Takes Weekend Rest

Vatican sources noted the seventy-four-year-old Pope retired to his private apartment immediately after his general audience Saturday, instead of descending from his portable throne to mingle, as customary, with the Holy Year pilgrims.

Increased Gross Total Offset by Estimated Revenue Boost

Mamaroneck Village taxpayers will pay 88 cents less per $1,000 of assessed valuation next year if the estimated budget to be presented to the Village Board tonight by Village Manager William H. Johnson is adopted. The Manager's tentative figures call for a net levy of $638,922.74 during the coming year as against $652,903.06 last year or a tax rate of $17.38 per thousand instead of $18.26.

The gross budget shows a rise of $5,515 from $803,899 to $809,414. An increase of $19,495 from $130,999 to $150,491 in estimated income and credits, however, tips the scales in favor of the new net levy. A boost from $35,755.91 to $36,757.322 in the assessed valuation of property also partially accounts for the decreased rate.

The General Fund shows an increase from $92,187 to $99,227 partially because of a boost from $500 to $5,000 in certiorari expense involved in cases dealing with the St. John's Home and Constable estate assessments. Another increase is noted in the building maintenance fund which rises from $1,400 to $9,000 to provide for painting the Municipal Building interior and providing floor covering for portions of the building. Compensation in this department will increase only $1,738 to provide another school guard and automatic salary scale increases for employes who have

CENSUS WORKERS GET GOOD START

Income Forms Asked By Many, Supply Quickly Dwindles Here

NEW ROCHELLE—The Eastern Westchester district office of the 1950 Census here reports a large number of requests for confidential income forms.

Although census employes are sworn to keep the strictest silence regarding such matters, folks seem to prefer telling their financial status directly to Washington. Consequently, enumerators state, their supplies of these forms are being drained. The returns sent to Washington are numbered to identify each fifth person counted as an income sample.

As to the general scene, Walter L. Fitzpatrick Jr., supervisor for Eastern Westchester, reports the enumeration is going quite smoothly thus far. Although statistics are not available yet, he said that very few troublesome cases were encountered Saturday or Sunday. There were "a couple" of refusals, he said, and one or two people were obviously evasive or even untruthful in their answers, but all in all, he expressed pleasure with the public's cooperation.

Mr. Fitzpatrick also explained why whole sections of Westchester seem to be devoid of kit-carrying census takers so far. He said there were more enumeration districts assigned than there were enumerators, as for example New Rochelle where he had but 60 enumerators to cover 80 districts.

TWO SPEEDERS FINED $15 IN POLICE COURT

Lester Newton of Chester, Pa., and Joseph Moretta of Meriden, Conn., were fined $15 each on speeding charges by Judge Henry T. Hornidge in Mamaroneck Police Court today.

Dominick Di Paola of 155 Madison Street, who backed from his driveway and struck a Mamaroneck police cruiser operated by Patrolman Vito Fraioli, was fined $3.

Niles L. Barlowe of 1421 Mamaroneck Avenue and Carmen Cianco of 120 Mamaroneck Avenue, were both fined $3 for all-night parking.

Stanley Sapery of 805 Seney Avenue, Mrs. Patricia Ross of 729 Seney Avenue and Edward Mann of 640 Forest Avenue, were each fined $1 for allowing their dogs to run at large without muzzles. The same charge against John Garity of 623 Claflin Avenue was dismissed.

RYE NECK REPORT GOES TO WORKERS

250 Copies Of Two Volumes Distributed By School Survey Chairmen

More than 160 Rye Neck residents who worked on the subunits of the Community Educational Planning Committee have been notified by Lewis H. Donaldson, general chairman, and Carl Meskimen and David R. Schwarz, sub - committee chairmen, that copies of the two-volume report are now available for study.

The first copies of the voluminous survey were presented last month to the Board of Education but the first run of 250 sets for committee distribution was not completed until last week.

Workers are asked to pick up their copies, or have their children go so, from the superintendent's office at Bellows High School to save the cost of postage.

Copies will also be sent various interested divisions of the State Education Department and other educational agencies which assisted the committee. Any excess will be sold to other school districts and educational institutions.

The letter to the workers, sign-

Car Skids into Wall On Rockland Avenue

A car driven by Harry Leonard Brown of 8 Bronson Avenue, Larchmont, yesterday afternoon skidded into a stone wall on Rockland Avenue, the driver reported to Town of Mamaroneck police. Brown said he had been traveling north on Rockland Avenue about 15 miles per hour. The only damage was to the right and rear fenders of Brown's car. Edward Trenkman of 16 Lyons Place was a passenger in the car.

Acheson Challenged In McCarthy Blast

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Senator McCarthy, R., Wis., demanded today that Secretary Acheson make public a secret memorandum on Far Eastern policies given the State Department by Owen Lattimore last Summer. He said that if Acheson does not "It will be my duty as a United States Senator to do so."

McCarthy fired his latest shot at Lattimore and Acheson in a statement issued at Bethesda Naval Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for a sinus condition.

He has contended that Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor, is (1) a Russian agent, and (2) the real architect of American foreign policy in the Far East.

Lattimore has called McCarthy's charges false and irresponsible. Acheson has denied that Lattimore has shaped Far Eastern policy and said that he does not think, in fact, that he has ever met Lattimore.

McCarthy said the State Department regarded the Lattimore memorandum as so important "and of such a confidential nature that the American people were not entitled to know its content." He added:

"On this I heartily differ because I feel the American people should know to what extent Lattimore is dictating State Department policy.

"I feel, therefore, that if the

Scout School Draws Crowd

More than 300 Boy Scouts representing every troop from Siwanoy Council attended Saturday the first annual all-day junior leaders training course at the Mamaroneck Junior High School.

Guest speaker Capt. C. J. MacGregor of the United States Weather Bureau told the Scouts of his many experiences in the Antarctic.

Sponsored by the Council, the course was planned by older Scouts in the district, and was given as an addition to the regular courses of instruction managed by scout masters at scout meetings.

In the morning scouts from different troops dramatized the correct ways of performing different assignments in a scout troop. In the afternoon the scouts were broken up into five discussion groups. Instructors of these groups were Oscar Birch of Mamaroneck, Col. Herbert B. Livesey of Mamaroneck, Kenneth Nunes of New Rochelle, Benson S. Clark of Harrison and John Moxhay of Rye.

More than 200 scouts are expected to attend the outdoor session of the training course at Camp Siwanoy on April 15 and 16.

PASSOVER SERVICES ATTRACT BIG THRONG

A capacity attendance of 120 members and guests thronged the Westchester Jewish Center on Halstead Avenue, Mamaroneck, last night for the second night of the community Passover Seder observance.

More than 400 applications had to be rejected, according to Rabbi Irving Koslowe, who expressed optimism that adequate facilities will be available with the construction of the new Jewish Center on Palmer Avenue, for which funds are being raised.

The traditional Passover ritual which opened the program was conducted by Rabbi Irving Koslowe. Following the Passover meal, community singing was led by the Center's Choral Group under the direction of Joseph Ealer.

SCOUTS TO HONOR WELLS AT SHOW

Larchmont Boy Receives Meritorious Service Award Tomorrow

Murray Avenue School auditorium (capacity 800) is expected to be jammed tomorrow night for the annual Siwanoy Boy Scout Show as Eagle Scout William D. Wells of Larchmont receives the Meritorious Service Award, one of the highest honors in scouting. The award will be presented by R. M. Dowling, president of Siwanoy Council, on behalf of the National Boy Scout organization for the action of Wells during the rescue of his family from their burning home last December, in the 49 years of scouting only 2,000 scouts out of sixteen million have received this award.

Previously, Scout Wells had received recognition by his selection as the representative of Region 2 in the presentation of Scouting's Report to the Nation made to President Truman during Boy Scout Week last February.

Wells also represented the region in a similar report to Governor Dewey.

Featuring a cast of more than 40 scouts, the show will present a humorous skit by Larchmont Scouts, Indian tribal dancing, and a colorful movie of Camp Siwanoy. Admission is free to local scouts and their families and guests.

More than 250 scouts and their parents attended Saturday the Mamaroneck performance of the show at the Mamaroneck Avenue School. Everett T. Houghton chairman of the Mamaroneck District, welcomed the audience. Carmine Ricci of Mamaroneck was production chairman.

Lion Cavorts On Bellows Stage As Dramatics Clubs Play GBS

George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" closed Saturday night after two successful performances in the Bellows High School auditorium, with Stanley D. Cornish directing the presentation by the Bellows Dramatics Clubs.

Proceeds from the two performances will be used to benefit the scholarship fund of the Bellows Community Club.

Shaw's satire on the early Christian faith, set in Caesar's Rome, fared well at the hands of the Bellows thespians, whose enthusiasm for their roles was matched by that of the audience of parents and friends.

The part of Androcles, the early Christian eager for martyrdom, was portrayed appealingly by Robert Keegan. Burden of the play was carried by Francis Vietta, who made a handsome captain, and Ann Brown, an equally handsome Lavinia. The role of the gladiator Ferrovius was played by Dan Evangelista, and Peter Skehan appeared as the Emperor Caesar. They, and the large cast of supporting members, counted their roles convincingly and well, and gave an entirely creditable performance of the ambitious Shaw piece.

But the star of the show, unquestionably, was Robert McDonald as the lion who prevents Androcles from realizing his desire for martyrdom. The lion set the mood for the play before the curtain went up, and never faltered during his performance.

He crept and he pounced, he held his paw for Androcles to extract a thorn; he growled (with an assist from the sound effects department) and he lunged; and when he started in on Caesar in Act Two, chasing him upstairs and down, and leaping skillfully to the stage from the balcony outside Caesar's box at the arena, his antics were audibly appreciated. He was probably as peerless a lion as G. B. S. ever imagined.

The play theme is based on an Oriental apologue on the benefits to be expected as a result of gratitude; as recounted by Aesop and others of unknown antiquity, Androcles was a runaway slave who took refuge in a cavern, where a lion entered. Instead of tearing Androcles to pieces, the lion lifted up his forepaw that Androcles might extract a thorn from it. Subsequently captured, the slave was doomed to fight with a lion in the Roman arena; the lion turned out to be the same one whose pain he had alleviated, and recognizing his benefactor, the lion demonstrated to Androcles his gratitude and appreciation.

In Shaw's version, written in 1912, the celebrated Irish dramatist and critic uses his well known wit in a satirical fashion to depict the varying reactions of the early Christians to danger, persecution and death, with emphasis on those typified by Lavinia, whose faith would not permit her to burn a pinch of incense to another idol in order to save herself from certain death in the arena. But she, and the rest, (except for Spintho,) were saved because of Androcles and the lion, in spite of themselves.

Carol Lawrence was cast as the loud and cheerish Megara, wife of the gentle Androcles, Matthew McGlinchey as a beggar, George Fischer as a centurion, Joseph Benedict as the spineless Spintho, Stuart Gintel as Lentulus, Joseph Magrino as Metellus and William Weissauer as Retiarus.

Appearing as the scorned Christians were Margaret Winfield, Janet Black, Jean Bano, Richard Patterson and Rose Hatch, with Donald Anderson, Walter Saunders and Kenneth Dellner in the roles of gladiators, and Grover Albers and Henry Levine as the slaves.

Others in the cast were James Hurley, George Thomas, David Fischer, Peter Giarlo and Bailey Livesey.

Stage sets and costumes were exceptionally good, with the early Christian era represented in the forest setting of the Prologue, the outskirts of Rome in Act One, and behind the Emperor's box at the Colisseum in Act Two.

The production staff, headed by Noel Emelin as stage manager, included Vincent Roberto and Walter Heilhaus, lighting; Edward Kayner, sound effects; Holland Pitts, curtain; and Miss Frances Larmon and Barbara Warren, make-up.

Patricia Bowman was in charge of costume designs, with Richard Patterson in charge of swords, Matthew McGlinchey, sandals and Salvatore Paillace, statue.

Student ushers for Friday's opening performance were Betty Sprague, Carol Connery, Dorothy Ginsberg and Veronica Sakonke. Ushers Saturday were Betty Sprague, Barbara Decker, Dorothy Primrose and Theresa Barone.

The play selection committee was composed of Sybil Nassau, Noel Emelin, Virginia Cluck, Ann Brown, Barbara Coun and Joan Derby.

Entr'acte music was provided by the Bellows High School orchestra, conducted by Morton Bley and Ellsworth Olsen. Their program included "March Honoraise" by Berlioz, the Strauss "Rosenkavalier Waltz", "Syncopated Clock" by Anderson, Lehar's "Merry Widow Waltz" and "Strike Up The Band" by George Gershwin.

Mrs. Kirkwood Savage headed the ticket committee, assisted by a large group of Bellows Community Club members. Others assisting with plans for the production included Mrs. Jack Hasley, Mrs. Gerald Winfield, Mrs. Patrick Hurley and Mrs. Malcolm Brown.

Natalie Phyllis Hugh Married To Hugh G. Dean In Tarrytown

The marriage of Miss Natalie Phyllis Hugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Hugh of 4 Forest Court, Larchmont, to Hugh Gardiner Dean, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leigh Dean of Andrebrook, Bedford Road, North Tarrytown, formerly of Larchmont, took place Saturday night in Tarrytown.

The eight o'clock ceremony, performed by the Rev. J. Dean Martin in the Second Reformed Church was followed by a reception for 100 guests at Andrebrook.

Mrs. James Kelley of Mamaroneck was matron of honor for her sister, wearing lavendar marquisette and carrying purple stock and violets.

Bridesmaids, similarly gowned, were Miss Suzanna Waterman and Miss Mary Alice von Schoonhoven of Larchmont, Mrs. Charles Van Anden of Princeton, N. J., and Miss Nancy Dean of Tarrytown.

Dr. A. L. Dean Jr., of New Haven, Conn., was best man for his brother and ushers were Mr. Kelley of Mamaroneck, Eugene Hofman of Long Island, Dr. Malcolm Carsley of Boston and Kneeland Moore of Tarrytown.

Mrs. Hugh, mother of the bride, wore navy blue lace with corsage of pink camellias, and Mrs. Dean, gowned in pale green crepe, with white camellia corsage.

On their return from Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Dean will reside in Cranford, N. J. The bride, a graduate of Mamaroneck High School, received her B S in Speech Correction from Northwestern University and is associated as speech therapist with the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hugh of London, England.

Her husband is a graduate of the Brunswick School for Boys and Cornell University, where he received a degree in mechanical engineering. During the war he served as first lieutenant in the Eighth Air Force in England and is now associated with the Foster Wheeler Engineering Corporation. Mr. Dean's father is chief of staff of the Urological Department of Memorial Hospital, New York City, and a member of the faculty of Cornell Medical School.

Miss Quilligan Writes Article For Magazine

An article entitled "The Communists Speak for Themselves" by Miss Janice Hall Quilligan of 181 East Boston Post Road, Mamaroneck, appears in the April issue of "St. Joseph Magazine."

Based on the speeches and writings of Marx, Lenin, Stalin and others, the article portrays imaginary interviews with the leadership, both dead and living, of revolutionary world Communism.

Three other articles by Miss Quilligan, on Catholic education, psychology and religion are slated for early publication in the forthcoming issues of "The Ave Maria," "The Canadian Messenger" and "St. Joseph Magazine."

A graduate of Hunter College in New York, Miss Quilligan is now employed as a librarian at the college. She has had articles, editorials, short stories and poems published in several American and Canadian periodicals.

Poetry Talk Series Begun At NR College

"The new modern poetry must tell the whole truth. It must have the flavor of the age. To do this it must contain cheapness as well as grandeur." This was the theme of a poetry discussion conducted by William Alfred, poet, in the living room of Brescia Hall at the College of New Rochelle yesterday afternoon.

"It will be almost a ballad, a thing that can be sung in the streets. We must bring the people back into poetry or it will become so rarified that it will die. Poetry has become blindless," remarked Mr. Alfred. He explained that this trend is a revolution against the intellectualization of poetry that has been taking place in the past several years. Under the influence of this trend people have come to judge a poet's worth by what he has contributed to the field of poetry, he said, and they have ceased to regard poetry as an art and the poet as an artist.

"Poetry itself is a terribly human thing," said Mr. Alfred.

A discussion period followed the speech, after which Mr. Alfred read some of his poems to the gathering, including his recently published "The Annunciation Rosary."

Mr. Alfred's talk was sponsored by Delta Phi Lambda, the branch of the national honorary creative writing society at the College. He was introduced by Warren O. Bovee, moderator of the society, who explained that it is intended to sponsor a series of talks by young, unrecognized poets in order to foster an appreciation of poetry among people, to encourage those who wish to write, and to provide a chance for the young poet to become better known.

Tea was served after the meeting.

Eastchester Cops Tourney Title; Pelham Nips Saints For 3d Place

Delaying the championship skirmish for a full hour—thereby making tournament officials fidgety and the fans wait-weary—Vinegar Hill's quintet finally showed up at St. Augustine's gym yesterday, just in time to take a solid 74-55 lathering from the Eastchester Vets. Obviously tired from the burden of a ridiculously tight schedule, the New York City cagers were completely helpless before an Eastchester outfit that featured two prize beanpoles in establishing itself as the 1950 king of Larchmont's annual St. Augustine's tourney.

This was a decidely cold ending to what otherwise was a thrill-packed set of jousts. Both semi-final frays had been extended into overtime before the survivors were known and the cuisouation battle for third place which preceded yesterday's title tilt, also was loaded with dazzling basketball. Pelham's Suns, trailing all the way, came on with a rush in the last two minutes to just nip the host Saints 65-64.

The less said about the championship tiff the better but there are a few bright spots which bear mentioning. First and foremost was the amazing shooting of the Vets who showed no signs of the pressure of tourney court action. Charlie Jannerich, who duplicated his semi-final output of 32 points, was positively stupendous in his jump shots from the keyhole and the heavy-shoed Vinegars had no one to hold him 6-6-1 down. Junie Kellog, another Eastchester operator who is seven inches above the six-foot mark, helped make a farce of the rebounding and play-setting by Al Vogel and Andy McGowan was more than the City courtmen could stand.

The losing side was led by Bill Healey, skinny center, who meshed 16 markers while George Wenz crabbed 14. Wenz usually is a sparkplug with his point-pouring off the bucket and outside, but he had no juice left and was a painful figure trying for rebounds.

The Vets took an immediate 6-0 lead and were on top 12-2 after four minutes had gone by. Vinegar Hill plugged away for a while but still stood in a 24-12 hole at the quarter and snowed no improvement in the second canto. Healey was holding the Hillmen alive with his looping goals but once he started to miss the Vets put the clamp on. Artie Guy, diminutive Vinegar Hill guard, exhausted from his subtlety in a game at Brooklyn earlier in the afternoon was strapped to the bench during the first half and did no good when he was put in.

The battling was actually even in the third stanza and also for about half of the final chukker, but then Vinegar Hill got excited and hacked away until the 15-point deficit had been deepened to 19.

There is little question but that the crowd of slightly more than 100 fans got a bigger bang out of the opener. Pelham experienced the same difficulty that it did in the semis—that of getting started. When the Suns did move they were on the short end of the count and had to work their way up. For a while it looked as if they never would make it but a couple of foolish mistakes by the Saints opened the gate. Four tallies ahead with 50 seconds to go, Tom Breslin passed up an easy layup to save possession and almost immediately Ed Abele stole the ball and dribbled in for a twisting layup.

From deep in the back count the locals attempted a long pass which Ed Brett intercepted and lanced off to Bill Baisley. The latter faked to the left, dribbled to the right and sneaked underneath for the game-winning basket. Sal Scalfaro of the Lancmonters had a last-ditch chance to save it for the host quintet but his excited one-hander from mid-court fell woefully short two seconds before the curtain fell.

Brett of Pelham and Mike Woods, southpaw hook shot artist of the Saints, tied at pointmaking with 19 each. Baisley led a parade of three other Pelham double-figure men while Larry Hennessey swished 15 for Larchmont. Breslin was magnificent at times with his blazing speed and passed off for numerous goals after dribbling free. Jerry Moye battled 6-8 Bill Carlson to a standstill around the basket but time blunders near the finish were the vital spots. It was apparent all through the tourney that the Saints could have used a playmaker of the Joe Connelly variety to blend all the individual stars together.

Vinegar Hill's tardiness was the only drawback to an otherwise smoothly run tournament. Most all contests were adequately officiated too. . . The quarter-finals, semis and windup frays were about evenly attended, with a slight disappointment for St. Augustine's officers . . . Prospect Park 'Y' of Long Island did not earn a berth to defend its '49 crown. Manhattan captured the initial local tourney.

SIENA NCIT CHAMP; O'SHEA ALL-TOURNEY

ALBANY, (AP) — Siena College played host to the national Catholic intercollegiate basketball tournament, and took the championship.

Iona bowed to Loras College of Iowa, 55-52, in the consolation round Saturday night. On the basis of standings Iona could be rated fourth in the eight-team field.

The Indians won the crown Saturday night by defeating St. Francis of Brooklyn, 57-50.

Third-seeded Siena had to tighten in the last 10 minutes to down the terriers, who had been rated lowest of the eight teams in the four-day, second annual tourney.

St. Francis ended the final by knocking off top-seeded Creighton of Omaha and second-ranked Iona of New Rochelle.

Siena, of nearby Loudonville, placed two men on an all-star team, selected by press and radio reporters.

They were Ed Lange, also voted most valuable player in the tournament, and Billy Harrell. Others were Jim McCabe of Juneau, Dubuque, Iowa; Roy Rearden of St. Francis, and Francis O'Shea of Iona.

CENTER RASSLIN' APRIL 14

Matchmaker Ed Cecolini of Tarrytown is expected to announce in the next few days the names of the headliners of the wrestling show at the County Center in White Plains Friday, April 14.

Spotlight On Sports

By DICK CARPENTER

Chanzin' The Subject

The annual Westchester County amateur basketball tournament was supposed to be an all-champion event such as the Section One schoolboy cage program turned out this will you take a look at the list of entries! No fewer than 99 teams are set to start elimnations this week. It's undoubtedly quite disheartening to officials like the local ones who sweated bullets arranging their playoff rounds so that Mamaroneck would be represented. We could have sent 20 teams and forgotten about the champ issue until later dates. The Colonials will defend the Friendly Village in the Senior Division, the Basketeers in the junior section and who knows what other local quintets may pop up in the other divisions.

This Four-Town Twilight Baseball League may be the start of a movement to revive interest in the hardball sport in Westchester. It's been too long since semi-pro and independent baseball was played in Westchester to any extent and many major-league or high minor-league prospects have gone down the softball drain. After all, how far has softball ever taken an athlete? It's just a dead-end. A great "out" for the exercise desires of middle-aged men who can no longer stand the strain that baseball requires. But that's all. The real crime of it all is that county youth are being deprived of the opportunity to prove their ability in a sport that could very well be their livelihood for a lifetime.

New president but just about the same faces and just about the same teams. That's the Mamaroneck Softball League which is about to embark on another season. The beginning of this circuit go back in the 1930s somewhere but perhaps we'd better not dig up too much on it after reeling out that piece on what softball hasn't to offer. Despite our own personal views on the game, softball is more or less here to stay so the only thing left is accept it. The interest is certainly high, involving perhaps more individuals than any other local sport. It can claim the most consistently large crowds so maybe that's what the majority want to see. Anyway it's again going to be a long haul down the seasonal path for the MSL and LSL. The amount of financial support that is necessary is hard to believe but either loop could put "a grand" to work and still have to go out and raffle off something to keep going. Once again, the community, in the form of individuals as well as organizations, will get the chance to chip in with a helping hand.

Al Barillari, our neighbor from New Rochelle who has been a minor league manager for three years and has brought in two pennants, is going to conduct a tryout school for county diamond hopefuls. Al refereed several games in the St. Augustine's basketball tourney and is quite a colorful guy. He piloted Port Chester to the Class B Colonial League flag in 1948 and followed the franchise to Bristol, Conn., retaining the crown with that club. Barillari may even keep some of the more promising boys for his '50 Bristol nine which is said to be in need of material if it is to keep up near the top.

Jet 'em Down

We've jotted down a few items that have come to mind during the past week and will now run them off for your pleasure, or displeasure — Accusing To Ed Peldt and Ed Pettie. In our season scoring article on Bellows' basketballers we listed Peldt Fourth in the point-making but labeled his fifth in the story. The husky Panther was fourth with 152 markers while Pauky Vitetta ranked fifth on 137. Pettie snapped the school scoring mark against Mount Kisco in the Section One Class C Tournament, not against Edison Tech as we erroneously stated last week. This is for the benefit of Bellows sticklers. . . Guido Cribari, sports editor of Westchester Publishers, is due to arrive back from a two-week vacation tomorrow. In true newspaperman style Gig had to interrupt his rest to pound out last Friday's "Once Over Weekly" column. . . . Don Dockerill seems to be out of the Mamaroneck Hi tennis picture too. His loss will be noticed since Don is probably the top schoolboy netman in Westchester. He anchored last year's unbeaten Tiger squad. . . Spring seems to be here and already the golfing bug is biting county linksmen. One public course is open and others will follow shortly. Twoot be long before you can spend a quiet weekend on the crowded fairways. . . . Bellows track squad is odds-on favorite to repeat as SWIAC king. Ed VanPelt, great half-miler has switched from Harrison to the East End school. . . . One big sports dinner per year is being planned for BHS athletes and fathers. After attending several Hilltop specials we heartily recommend the idea. . . . Steve Terry of Larchmont won a varsity hockey letter at Middlebury College after having a fine season with the Vermont six.

ENGAN LEADS KEGLERS

YONKERS — Ralph Engan of Yonkers bowled five 200-games in a row last night at the Empire Rec as he surged into first place, three points ahead of Emil Gmitter of Yonkers in the Westchester Individual Bowling Tournament. Engan earned 29 1-2 points in downing Clyde Soravilla of Larrytown, 4 1-2 to 1 1-2 in games. The tournament is being played under the Petersen point system.

YONKERS WIN AT SOCCER

YONKERS — The Yonkers Americans defeated the German-Hungarian Soccer Club yesterday 6 to 3 after two overtime periods of 15 minutes each. The Yonkers team now qualifies for the semi-finals of New York State Soccer Cup play. The winning goal was kicked by Jim Maxwell.

GRAPPLER McCANN LOSES

HEMPSTEAD — Don McCann of Yonkers was eliminated in the semi-finals of the 191-pound class of the national AAU wrestling championships at Hofstra College when he was defeated by Al Partin of Ashville, N. C., Saturday. McCann is the New York State champion.

DINGHY REGATTA TO ED RAYMOND

Three dinghies turned over and another broke a couple of rudders trying to battle the weirdly puffs which flashed over Long Island sound during yesterday's next-to-last regatta of the season off Larchmont Yacht Club. Despite mutifully clear Spring weather for the season, the winds which blew as fast as 25 knots, had all pilots on their toes through the entire program.

Ed Raymond captured three of the seven races with his "Snort" and stood first in point scores at 198. Jack Sutphen in "num Dum" had 186 markers after scoring high in every race despite an absence of firsts. Art Knapp in his "Agony" took third place on 174 counters. Bobby DeCoppet, sailing his "Zotom," captured two races while Pat O'Gorman in Dodge Em and John Parrett in "Contemration" sped home on top once apiece.

Dick Baxter was the first to encounter trouble as he turned over in the first race with Steve Cookery and Chris Gray duplicating later on. The snapping of two rudders was costly to Corny Shields, whose point score sank as a result.

The dinghies wind up at Larchmont next Sunday and then trek to Manhasset for the National championships which start the following Saturday, April 15th.

FORTY-NINERS TRUMP DEUCES ON 135 PTS.

Completing a successful campaign, the Forty-Niners mauled the Deuces by the heaping count of 135-33 Saturday night on Bellows School gymnasium floor. The landslide victors never tallied less than 26 points in any period and capped their scoring effort with 42 markers in the third stanza. The only fault in the Forty-Niners assault was 19 misses out of 11 tries from the foul line. They hit the target from every other spot on the floor.

Stuffing 38 markers through the hoop Charlie Haviland was the encounter's central scoring figure but Johnny Ryan collected 32 to run a close second. Zeh, another of the Forty-Niner wizards, racked up 20 tallies while the trumped Deuces were sparked by 15 from Anthes.

JACK JARVIS
Speaks At Bellows Tonight

Bellows Cage Fete Tonight

All arrangements for tonight's dinner in honor of the F. E. Bellows High School basketball team were completed over the weekend. Persons in charge of the event-first of its kind by a fathers' group-revealed that Ray Townsend of Ossining would be on hand to make Section One Tournament trophy awards to Coach T. A. "Jack" Hardy and his charges, who set a new BHS standard by capturing 18 of 19 games during the course of the '50 campaign. Mr. Townsend is a member of the Section One official committee.

Eastchester High School athletic director Jack Jarvis will deliver the principal speech while William C. Pitts of the Rye Neck Board of Education will serve as master of ceremonies. Jarvis, widely known in the metropolitan area for his basketball and baseball coaching jobs at Eastchester, is now president of the Southern Westchester Interscholastic Athletic Conference, of which Bellows is a member in baseball basketball and track. An unofficial presentation of the SWIAC court trophy will be made by the veteran mentor. Bellows won nine out of ten in league action during the season, splitting with Rye for a share of the 1950 championship.

Eight volunteers, all fathers of varsity players, have served on the arrangements committee and Miss Catherine McPhillips of the Bellows home economics staff will supervise the kitchen details. Mothers of players will serve. Due to space limitations, it has been necessary to restrict the dinner to players on the varsity and jayvee squads, plus fathers and a few prominent officials.

The fathers are working on a program whereby one or more sports dinner per school term would be held. This would be in honor of all boys who turned out for BHS teams, no matter whether winning or losing ones. Dick Joyce, former Bellows cage star and captain of this year's Yale quintet, is expected to attend this evenings fete which has a 7:30 o'clock starting time.

Schenectady Woman Tops Foes in State Tourney

She came out of the heavy weekend firing with a nine-game total of 1645, including 534 in the team event, 333 in doubles and 578 in singles.

Her 578 in Class A singles was only two points back of Jessie Schoenert of New York, who took over first in that division.

The Mount Vernon Gems lead the teams in Class B with a pin total of 2385.

Binghamton was selected as host of the 1951 tournament at the annual convention meeting, Jamestown and Watertown entered bids for the 1952 meet.

Casting Rodeo Finals Close Southern NY Sports Shows

Finals in the Schaefer Casting Rodeo brought to a successful close the first annual Southern New York Sports Show. Weekend business at the County Center in White Plains far exceeded expectations, according to Harold C. Kimball, president of the Southern N. Y. Fish and Game Association, Lou Pieri and Julian Olney, co-sponsors and Tom Brady, show chairman.

All-events recognition in the casting competition, went to Joan Savlat of the Paterson, N. J. Casting Club, who registered 252 points out of a possible 300. Another Paterson girl, Dorothy Vogel, was the runner-up with 217.

In the dry-fly casting event, the diminutive Miss Vogel scored a triumph with 99 points, one away from a perfect score. She missed on her seventh cast, just a foot from the mark circle, to lose her bid for the 100 club for the afternoon.

In the Westchester competition, Greenheart Rod and Gun Club of Tuckahoe, carried off most of the honors, with three of thei, members registering in the bass bug event, two in the dry fly and one in the 5-8 ounce plug.

Setting Dates for 1951

Before the show ended last night, arrangements were made by the SNYFGA and Olney with Jack Brown, manager of the Center, for 1951 dates.

Clayton Seagars, public relations director for the N. Y. State Conservation Commission, who was in charge of the exhibit on the Center state, praised the association's first show. He complimented the promoters and declared "the County Center is just about the finest place in the state to hold a show of this type."

The N. Y. State exhibit was one of the finest in the show and many times during the week Mr. Seagars was an obliging host, cooking beaver saddle which he served to all comers. "We've got a million beaver—and, make that millions—and I want you to know they make delicious eating," he told an interviewer.

CASTING SUMMARIES

Westchester Handball Doubles Play Revived

The Westchester Handball doubles championship, revived after a lapse of two years, will begin a busy five-day tourney April 10 on the new White Plains YMCA courts. The event last was held in 1947 at Yonkers. The White Plains combination of Nick Tambola and Paul Martinelli winning the crown.

Entries close Wednesday at midnight for the four-wall event, and must be turned in to the physical department of the White Plains YMCA by that date. Only residents of Westchester will be eligible for play.

TKO ON TOP, 46-38, OVER NMC COURTMEN

TKO basketballers got a quick jump on the NMC quintet at Murray Avenue School yesterday and stayed one-notch ahead all the way to register a 46-38 court victory. The winners were in front by 30-21 at halftime but only led by six points going into the final session.

The TKO hardwood pounders were paced by Dick Koch who cinvded 14 points with Dean Grider getting 11 and Bob McCarthy 10. The losing aggregation was sparked by Al Eckhardt, who also reached the double-figure level, and Doug Stewart. The various side showed a clear advantage in fouls as well as field goals.

More Praise Heaped On Broad Shoulders Of Bellows Courtmen

Bellows varsity and jayvee basketball players, some of their fathers and male relatives, plus a few school officials heard three notables speak last night at the BHS gym on supposedly different subjects but all ended up heaping additional praise on the already well-slapped backs of the Panther cagers. Jack Jarvis, president of the SWIAC; Ray Townsend, member of the Section One board, and Gabriel Wendel of Mamaroneck delivered the feature addresses before some 100 persons who gathered for the dinner and fete.

Jarvis, 32-year coach of Eastchester High School and now athletic director there, gave a brief history of the Southern Westchester Interscholastic Athletic Conference, told of its aims and listed the number of titles held by the six member schools. The amiable SWIAC prexy flatly named Bellows Coach T. A. "Jack" Hasley as one of the county's ranking coaching greats, bringing to mind the extensive court program that is now available in Rye Neck. Hasley's varsity quintet was the SWIAC co-champion, while the jayvee and Junior high teams copped crowns in their respective divisions. Jarvis then passed on to Hasley the Southern Westchester's 1950 co-trophy, a duplicate of which Rye High School has received.

Mr. Townsend, a former mentor at Peekskill and current principal of Ossining High, varied subjects in his talk. He ranged from delving into facts such as the relation between the lack of high school athletic background of most inmates at Sing Sing prison and the reason for many of those men taking the criminal path in life. The white-haired Section One official also injected a humorous note into ...is speech when he labeled the task of inducing home study habits "a battle to develope the student to keep one eye on the history book and the other on the television screen."

All of Mr. Townsend's theories were concurred to by the audience but his aim to revive the state tournaments met with the heartiest approval. He said that many of the barriers which led to the abolishment of those tourneys have now been torn down, leaving a clear path to success.

Officially representing the New York State Public High School Athletic Association, Townsend presented the Section One Class C and lower bracket Open Division trophies to Ed Feldt, captain of the East End Quintet. Sweater shields were given to all ten members of the BHS varsity.

Wendel, a graduate of Bellows and widely known sporting enthusiast, reminisced on the type of basketball that was played in 1920 when he and Malcolm Brown were members of the Rye Neck High School five.

Wendel related that court officials in those days were strictly volunteers who often didn't get the chance to finish out a game. Hence, it was a job in itself to induce anyone to attempt refereeing. Oddly, as he is more widely known to the sports clan, offered the statement that the modern game is much more strenuous and takes the average player's strength much more than in the game dominated by defensive setups. He ended by adding congratulations to the 1950 team which was being honored.

William C. Fitts Jr., who served as emcee through the program, had earlier introduced Hasley who commanded his squad for its conscientious efforts through the campaign, "working hard and getting results." He charged them to follow the motto of "win the next one" in everything they attempted.

After announcing that Ed Petrie had been elected captain of the 1951 quintet, Hasley called on statistician Al Herman who went over the bushel of records that the Panthers had established, much to the awe of the audience. Dick Joyce, former Bellows athlete who captained this year's Yale University courtmen, took a bow.

Winding up the enjoyable program, movies were shown in the gymnasium. The dinner arrangements were handled by Miss Catherine McPhillips with mothers and close relatives of players aiding.

STEALING HOME, runner Rob DiBuono tries to knock the ball out of catcher Al Barillari's hands with an upraised knee. This demonstration was part of the opening day session of the free baseball clinic sponsored by the New Rochelle Recreation Commission and the Bristol Owls, which will continue through the week at City Park. At right is Hank DeClemente, director of the Feeney Park Boys Club, and second from right, calling the runner safe, is Frank Solazzo, Bristol scout.

COUNTY CENTER BOXING RETURNS

Boxing returns to the County Center after a two week hiatus and the eight-round affair tonight will send welterweight Tommy Bazzano of Middletown, Conn. against Vic Cardell of Hartford.

Bazzano has been throwing bazookas of late having flattened Billy Wyatt and Pete Kennedy in his last starts at the Center. Cardell holds two decisions over his fellow Nutmeg Stater, but is expected to have his hands full in copping a third verdict.

Promoter Joe McKenna has lined up a pair of six rounders which pit Wally Doktor of New York City and Ernie Koutnik of Paterson, N. J. in a lightweight attraction and George Marino of Hartford and Larry Gassa of New York in a welterweight battle.

Martin "Sonny" Burke of Hartford, who won by a hayo in his last start here, tangles with Tommy Cunniff of Inwood in a four rounder. Two more fours send Tommy Coleman of New York against Whit Bowdin of Norfolk, Va., and Jimmy Dillon of Norwood, Colo. against Jack Randolph of Harlem.

Amateur Cage Carnival Is Set For Openers

The steady drum of basketballs on hardwood should become a somewhat monotonous sound before midnight tomorrow at the County Center in White Plains. By that time, some seven hours of action and most of 21 games on the Westchester amateur basketball tournament's first-day schedule will be out of the way.

The huge hoop carnival begins at 4:30 P. M. with a trio of contests on the Center's main auditorium floor. Thereafter, at intervals of almost every hour, another three games will be shoved into the spotlight in the mad rush to determine county recreation champions in six divisions.

All divisions with the exception of the midget and industrial are ticketed for activity tomorrow. The junior group starts the ball rolling with the first three tilts. The big show continues Thursday and Saturday night this week and concludes with more action on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Because all teams in the tourney are survivors of city and community recreation programs, there is little by which to judge relative merits in picking likely looking title contenders. Only one aggregation looms as a possible winner, and that is the Hastings Southside five which captured the open crown a year ago. The Southsiders are the only defending champions in the current event.

CITY TITLE TO ROSE HILL

YONKERS — The baseball title of the Yonkers Rec League went to the Rose Hill quintet which defeated the Sullivans last night, 43-35. The Rose Hills now qualify for the County Rec tourney slated to start at the County Center in White Plains tomorrow.

MAJOR PIN LOOP SHUTOUTS HIT 2

The most decisive keegling triumphs in Major League pin action at the Larchmont Rec Center last night were registered by the Depot Ways and Insulators. The latter, battling for the lead spot, could use the sweep most while the Bert's Boys and Pilnos had fine finishes to rack up 2-1 decisions.

A total pinfall of 574 took the high series honor with McDonnell of Bert's Boys supplying the arm duty but Manny Salasin swined the single laurels with a heaping 234 tally. That game was on top of six other double century figures, all of which were in the lower portion of the scoring circle. Jones, Nolan, McDonnell, Campbell, Splendido and Maeto furnished the others.

The unit single leadership went to the Insulators on a 928 score while the Depots toppled 2576 for group triple glory.

LOCAL PAIR SHADES NR DUCK-PIN SQUAD

Duck pin competition made its first appearance in this area in many-a-moon over the weekend when Mamaroneck accepted a challenge match and rapped New Rochelle in a doubles encounter at the Rogers Center in the Huguenot city. A five-game match, the tilt was watched tensely by a large gallery which saw the Friendly Village pair carve out a verdict on 1614 total pins as compared to 1597 for the losers.

Lou Pekrul and Johnny Smirga defended the interests of Mamaroneck, and did it with poise and authority. Smirga socked 835 timbers with Pekrul adding 779 in the pressure bowling. John Mastro Sr., sparked the home team's drive with a match high of 875 maples while Marty Donofrio slashed 722.

Mamaroneck owned a 29 pin advantage going into the final game but quickly slipped behind Mastro and his mate opened up. However, Smirga and Pekrul rallied with the chips down and paddled their frames well enough to earn the win.

With the closing of ten-pin bowling in the near future the duck-pin enthusiasts are already arranging for matches similar to the NR-Mamaroneck one. A return is now in the making with a local alley being the scene of action.

Hunting & Fishing Editor

So you want to do some trout-fishing this Saturday . . . eh sonny? And not far from home . . . is that correct? All right, Joe this information down. But you won't be able to do much without a car so you'd better win dad's support first.

Well, here goes. You can try what's left of reservoir No. 2 off Hutchinson Parkway in New Rochelle. The lake isn't as big as it used to be, because someone lowered the spillway. But there is a small hole there with some Rainbows in it in case you want to try your luck.

From there you can head to the upper stretches of the Bronx or Saw Mill Rivers. Below White Plains the Bronx River isn't too productive because of the pollution influence. Long before your timson, that stream was a crystal-clear course of water.

It could be that way again if some sportsmen's organizations wanted to bestir themselves and do something about it. (Let's hope your generation shows more interest in conservation and less in moving pictures.)

Want to give Rye-Kensico a try? Why not? There are still plenty of Rainbows and big LaKers in there to reward a guy with patience. Minnows may be the ticket . . . and the spots to try are the northern inlet to Kensico . . . the big bridge on the north side and Witzel's Cove near the airport. Drop us a card if you hook into anything.

Let's go a little further to Cross River. Some mighty big Browns and Rainbows were taken there last year. The east and west shores leading to the dam are good places to try your luck or the streams leading into and out of the lake.

* * *

Amawalk, near Yorktown is first rate but pass it by if you crave solitude.

Near the town of Cortlandt there's Croton outlet, highly recommended by our friend, George Simpson of Hartsdale. It's a pretty little spot and easy to fish in the early Spring.

Another stream you might consider is Peekskill Hollow Brook. Work it west from the Parkway.

In Putnam, just out of the County, in a geographical line are Croton Fall reservoir, Gilead and Gleneida. The latter two waters have been planted with trout tagged and fin-clipped by the Conservation Department. Should you take a fish there, whether marked or unmarked, advise the Department's branch office at Main Street, Poughkeepsie, specify dimensions and time caught.

And remember—Brooks, Browns, and Rainbows have to go seven inches to be keepers. Lakers—fifteen inches. The maximum number of trout you can take from a lake are three, and ten from a stream.

There is so too. All you need now to round out things is a good map. If the local filling station doesn't have one, try your tackle dealer. He should be able to help you.

* * *

Let's not forget that not all the joy lies in catching something. It's a privilege to be in the outdoors breathing oxygen you don't have to pay for and a greater thrill to live in a part of the country where some law doesn't tell you what bait to use.

P.S. to fathers—Why not give the youngster some company by bringing along another lad? The Yonkers PAL has a well-equipped group of embryonic Izac Waltons itching for the chance to go on an angling excursion. Call Capt. Eddie O'Connor, Yonkers 3-4900, for details.

* * *

Joe Friedman of White Plains is beginning to wonder if the pheasant has suddenly become a migratory water-fowl. He reports seeing scores in, of all places, the outskirts of City Island in the Bronx!

So—the birds we hunted in vain have been at the seashore all this time!

* * *

The Pennsylvania Game Commission has a problem . . . with Potter County sportsmen and area farmers. Seem that farmers have suffered untold damage to crops by wildlife, so they are asking for a two-week "any-deer" season, a second week of bear hunting, open wild-turkey season during the entire small-game open season and abandonment of all game refuges. Sportsmen, of course, don't want any extreme measures taken.

But shucks! They got no problem. All they have to do is ship their surplus game to this conservation-retarded state.

* * *

Conservation law violators in Westchester paid a total of $650 in fines to the State recently, according to a report just received from Albany. The heaviest fabs were paid by lads who have an acute disregard for the high cost of illegal vension.

Commissioner Duryea summed up the annual fine total of $112,821.45 by stressing that the continued high number of lawbreakers is evidence of a discouraging lack of good sportsmanship and plain common sense.

SAINT JUNIOR 5 SOCKS HARRISON

Although they pulled some tricky maneuvers along the way, the Junior Saints had too much plain basketball savvy as they hauled in their 16th consecutive court triumph, scorching the Lucky 13 at the Harrison Aranac's tiny gym last night. The Larchmont youthful quintet went into an 11-4 advantage at the end of one quarter and boosted it as they progressed. Both outfits had difficulty in the second quarter but a 21 point splurge by the locals in the third canto sewed it up.

Paul Fortuna, coach of the Saint Juniors, had his charges operating in a man-for-man defense in the first half and employed that style until the third canto had been concluded. Then, with a wide advantage to work with, the braintrust switched his squad into a zone which threw the Luckies all off key.

Pacing the Saint assault was tom Carino with 15 points, while Buddy Boyle and Leroy Carter tallied 10 each. Vic Placente and Dave Cvaniaca were the principal rebounders for the victorious side. Danny Caporrotta and Tony Donato aided in play-setting roles.

FRENCHMEN GUNNING FOR LAMOTTA TITLE

The boys—better known as Robert Villemain and Laurent Dauthuille — registered impressive wins last night, one in Philadelphia and the other in Pittsburgh.

Villemain, who has made it known that he intends to carry LaMotta's title back to France, took a unanimous 10-round decision from Philadelphia's Otis Graham.

Dauthuille, blond puncher who has been working out of Montreal since he came to this side of the Atlantic last year, kayoed Pittsburgh's Charley "Zivic" Affif in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Briefs From Citrus Circuit

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, says he isn't worried about the performances turned in by his pitchers. Not yet, anyway.

"But if it keeps up, then I will really worry," he said after three pitchers were bombed for 31 runs in three games.

"The fellows are throwing hard and their arms are loose. That's all I'm interested in."

Durocher's hurlers lost a 5-3 decision to Cleveland yesterday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Jackie Jensen, bonus beauty from the University of California, has begun to make the New York Yankees' brain trust sit up and take notice.

A mediocre .196 hitter in 10 previous contests, Jensen cracked out a single, triple and home run yesterday against the Cincinnati Reds. He scored three times.

In addition, the home run gave Jackie the club lead with four. Cincinnati won the game, 6 to 5.

HOUSTON, Texas—It appears either Gene Hermanski or George Shuba will be in left field for the Brooklyn Dodgers on opening day.

Hermanski, who hit .299 last season, has a stronger arm. Otherwise, both are on a par defensively.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—Pitcher Early Wynn and second baseman Joe Gordon, two oldtimers, have been performing for the Cleveland Indians on the grapefruit grind with the zeal of a couple of rookies trying to make the team.

Wynn, a big righthander who is thirty and has been in the majors since 1941, has won five starts and hasn't lost one. Yesterday at El Paso he allowed the New York Giants only six hits in seven innings as the Tribe won 5-3.

The thirty-five-year-old Gordon, who came into the biztime 12 years ago, clouted a 365-foot homer over the centerfield wall with a man aboard. He had a homer Sunday, too, and his total of five is only two less than that of Luke Easter who's been at bat about twice as often.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Outfielder Harold Stamey, bonus player drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals from the Philadelphia Phils' organization last Fall, has been claimed on waivers from Cincinnati.

LAKELAND, Fla.—It looks now as though Art Houtteman's mysterious arm trouble may prevent him from pitching the Detroit Tigers' American League opener.

The opener—against Cleveland April 18 this year—has been Hal's private property in the past.

However, Manager Red Rolfe is figuring on Freddie Hutchinson or Art Houtteman. He says "it looks like one or the other."

REVOLT LIKELY IN PGA'S RANKS

CHICAGO, (AP) — The Professionals Golf Association today awaited the aftermath of its firing of George Schneiter as tournament bureau manager. Open revolt of headline golfers from the parent organization may follow in the wake.

Schneiter came to Chicago yesterday as a player-representative to meet with PGA officials including Joe Novak, president; Horton Smith, secretary; Tom Crane, executive secretary; Harry Moffitt of Toledo, treasurer, and several members of the advisory tournament sponsors' group.

Schneiter was fired outright at the close of the session, reportedly because he negotiated the signing of contracts for the Summer tourney tour without complete PGA authorization. Officials said he was given a chance to resign. But apparently Schneiter, a playing pro from Utah who was named bureau manager in 1946 succeeding Freddie Corcoran, stood his ground until being ousted without reservation.

"At least the pressure is off," Schneiter explained. "I am no longer an employe (at $10,000 per year) of the PGA. I can now stand as representative of the tournament players. My dismissal is not a satisfactory answer to the player problems."

It is questionable today just how much force Schneiter has behind him. As player-representative, he presumably is backed by a "governing body" of stars who seek legislative power of tournament golf through sponsorship contract signing, control of funds and other administrative functions now dictated by PGA delegates, consisting of country club pros representing three districts in the organization.

A meeting of the PGA officialdom and the players is being contemplated following the Augusta Masters' tournament Thursday through Sunday.

Until the PGA meets with the players themselves in an attempt to construct an agreeable tourney program, no assurance can be made officially that future meets will be conducted as contracted. This includes the national PGA tourney June 20-27 at Columbus, Ohio, where Mayor James A. Rhodes declared that until the reported split in the organization has been healed, the sponsor's plans for the meet can be considered canceled and a guarantee of $40,000 withdrawn.

280—2 Score 'Should Win' Masters Tilt

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP) — With the likes of Hogan, Snead, Middlecoff, Palmer and Burke around, the picking of a Masters golf tournament winner is an order only the lucky and bold can fill.

But the picking of a winning score is a different matter. A duffer should be able to guess close.

Unless the field is fired up Thursday through Sunday, or unless its chilly, a 280 to 282 for 72 holes should win. The average winning score for 13 Masters lies between the two.

Record rounds were 279 by Ralph Guldahl in 1939 and Claude Harmon in 1948. The highest scores were 285s by Henry Picard in 1938 and Horton Smith in 1936.

Sam Snead's 282 won last year. The winning number was for Herman Keiser in 1946 and Gene Sarazen in 1935. Jimmy Demaret won with 281 in 1947.

Leaders Slate 'Is Presented For Camp Fire

Mrs. Robert Donaldson was renamed chairman of the Leaders' Division of the Camp Fire Girls Council of Larchmont yesterday at the April meeting at the home of Mrs. Sidney B. Cohen of 126 Hickory Drive, Larchmont.

The slate of officers was presented by Mrs. Clifford A. Roche, chairman of the nominating committee, and included Mrs. William Kohl, vice-chairman, Mrs. Cohen, assistant, Mrs. Bernard Altman, secretary and Mrs. Goldthwait Jackson, treasurer.

In the absence of Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Jackson, treasurer, presided. Mrs. John E. Woodbridge, executive director, announced that the annual meeting of the Camp Fire Girls Council of Larchmont Inc., will be held April 25 at the Chatsworth Avenue School at which time a report will be given on the recent Regional meeting held in Washington, D. C.

It was announced that the annual picnic of the leaders' division will be held June 20 at the Audubon Society with Mrs. Arden B. Crawford serving as chairman and Mrs. Jerome T. Adler, co-chairman. Colored candy baskets, made by the Wacankiya group of the Camp Fire Girls, were on display at the meeting and will be presented to the New Rochelle Child's Care Center. The work was done as a service project under the supervision of Mrs. George V. Quinlan, leader, and Mrs. Rudolph Nelson, assistant leader.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Mrs. Cohen, assisted by Mrs. Altman, co-hostess, who presided at the tea table.

Garden Guild Is Organized As New Club

Mrs. Jess Messing was elected acting president of the Garden Guild of Larchmont, a newly formed garden club, at an organizational meeting yesterday at her home, 33 Forest Park Avenue, Larchmont. Organized under the sponsorship of the Larchmont Temple, the group voted to become an independent club, with membership open to all interested women in the community.

Horticulture, floral and fruit arrangements, table settings and allied arts will be included in the plans to meet the second and fourth Monday of each month. Experts in the various fields to be covered will be invited to speak and demonstrate.

Those attending in addition to Mrs. Messing were Mrs. Albert B. Dorr, Mrs. Herbert E. Herrman, Mrs. Frank Morton, Mrs. Harold Denis, Mrs. William H. Hartley, Mrs. Raymond W. Ehrenberg, Mrs. Laurence Sobel, Mrs. Elliott A. Caplin, Mrs. Howard Fausty, Mrs. Louis Berrstein, Mrs. David Siegel and Mrs. Kalman B. Druck.

MISS MARGERY ANN LAUB —Wm. Russ

Margery Ann Laub Is Fiancee Of Samuel Bunker, Yale Senior

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Laub of 19 Dante Avenue, Larchmont, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margery Ann, to Samuel Emmet Bunker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Bunker of New York City and Putney, Vt.

Miss Laub, a graduate of Mamaroneck High School with the Class of 1949, is attending Denison University in Granville, Ohio, where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Mr. Bunker, who served with the Army during the war, is a senior at Yale University where he is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

Junior League Hears Talks At Health Center

Public health services were discussed last night for provisional members of the Eastern Westchester Unit of the New York Junior League by Miss Beatrice Benson, Director of Public Health Nursing in the New Rochelle Department of Health, and by Miss Rita Chisholm, staff nurse in the Mamaroneck district for the County Health Department, at a meeting in the Mamaroneck Health Center.

"The basic principle of public health services is the protection of the health of the people of a community and the promotion of better health for each individual," Miss Chisholm said. Among ways this is accomplished in Westchester and New Rochelle is by following the well child from birth to school age, providing immunization, advice to mothers and referral to doctors when it is needed, she said.

Miss Benson explained that every child born in New Rochelle is visited by a public health nurse to see that the mother and child are progressing satisfactorily, and assistance is given according to need. When the child reaches school age, school nurses, under the Board of Education, assume the responsibility.

Both Miss Chisholm and Miss Benson stressed the need for making families in the community sufficiently familiar with services of the Health Department available to them. Miss Benon pointed out that people will call upon firemen and police but seldom think to call upon the public health service which is maintained to protect and promote the health of everyone in the community.

Mrs. Richard C. Staelin of Larchmont, co-chairman of the provisional training course committee of the unit, introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Rabbott New Evening Section Head

Mrs. Donald Rabbott was elected chairman of the Evening Section of the Woman's Club of Mamaroneck last night at the Section's meeting and fashion show at the club house.

Other officers elected were Mrs. James Deer, secretary, Mrs. Miriam Baumann, treasurer, Mrs. Victor Tervola, programs, Mrs. Albert Tuttle, hospitality, Mrs. Paul Anderson, ways and means, Mrs. Cecil Loomis, membership and Mrs. Harry Harrison, publicity.

"Spring Fashions of 1950" was the theme of the fashion show and models were Mrs. Tuttle, Mrs. Harold Trottier, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Rushmore Houghton, Mrs. James Wentz, Miss Margaret Campbell and Mrs. John L. Sullivan. The show was presented by the Annette Shop of Mamaroneck under the supervision of Mrs. Anna Amico with Mrs. Rabbott as commentator.

Mrs. Harvey DuBois, Section chairman, introduced Mrs. Herbert Johnson, a new member; and announced that reservations for the Evening Section benefit dessert-bridge, to be held April 20, may be made with Mrs. Rabbott or Mrs. Roy Kriner. Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. John Starke and her committee.

Second Child is Born To Richard E. Osmers

Mr and Mrs. Richard E. Osmer of 330 Richbell Road, Mamaroneck, have announced the arrival of a son, Richard Robert, born yesterday at the Lawrence Hospital in Bronxville. The new baby is the brother of Lynne Ellen, one and a half years old. Mrs. Osmer is the former Skippy Hollmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Hollmann of 8 Fern Road, Larchmont.

DAUGHTER TO BENFORDS

Dr. and Mrs. David Benford of 12 Clark Court, Larchmont, have announced the arrival of a daughter, Kathleen Virginia, born march 23 at the New Rochelle Hospital. The new baby is the sister of David Jr., 22 months old. Mrs. Benford is the former Kathleen Tierney, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Tierney of New Rochelle.

Award Courts Are Scheduled By Girl Scouts

Mrs. Ralston Miller, first mate of the new Mamaroneck mariner ship, "Dancing Feather," was welcomed yesterday at the April meeting of the Mamaroneck Leaders' Association held at the home of Mrs. Paul Nacf, 724 Forest Avenue, Mamaroneck, with Mrs. William Glaser, president, presiding.

A special Court of Awards for Brownies will be held May 11, and the Court of Awards for Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts will be held May 21 at Daniel Warren School, it was announced.

Mariners will serve the Camp Fire Girls' dinner April 20 at the Methodist Church. The Westchester County Girl Scout Conference to be held April 19 at the Hotel Gramatan, Bronxville, will have as its theme, "Come Along With Us."

Mrs. Frank Buck read a letter from children in Holland, thanking her troop for filled cigar boxes. Mrs. Thomas Hartley asked that all school bags for overseas be ready by May 1. Mrs. John Davenport invited leaders to bring troops to her home to watch a demonstration of short wave radio transmission.

Mrs. Will Risk, Mrs. Benjamin Morrell and Mrs. Marcelle Peterka were appointed a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the next meeting to Mrs. Lawrence Fink, 726 The Crescent, Mamaroneck. Also be held May 2 at the home of present were Mrs. Fred Wellmann, Mrs. G. W. Robbins, Mrs. Eliot Beach, Mrs. Theodore Schwob, Mrs. Thomas Cluck and Mrs. Everett Ackley.

Hobby Groups Give 2 Plays For Assembly

"The Dyspeptic Ogre", a one-act play by Percival Wilde, was presented yesterday by the sixth grade dramatic hobby group of the Murray Avenue School at an assembly program for the upper grades. ## Films Precede Discussion At PTA Program

Mr. Claude L. Seixas, president of the Larchmont-Mamaroneck Motion Picture Council, led the discussion following "The House I Live In" with Frank Sinatra and "Make Way for Youth," two films shown last night as part of the Audio-Visual Education program of the Mamaroneck Avenue School Parent Teacher Association in the school library.

The various methods of making democracy work and removing barriers between races and religions were discussed. Mrs. Seixas, summarizing the general opinion of the audience, said that parents and religious leaders as well as teachers must combat prejudice at home, in places of worship and in schools by example and understanding.

Mrs. Ralph W. Robins Jr., chairman of the audio-visual program, planend the program, assisted by Mrs. Lorette Taylor.

May Luncheon Bridge Slated At St. John's

Plans have been completed by St. John's Guild for the annual May morning luncheon bridge to be held May 3 in St. John's Episcopal Church parish house, according to Mrs. Harry Langhorst, Guild president.

Miss Genevieve McKenna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McKenna of 25 Byron Lane, Larchmont, is vacationing in Bermuda this week with a group of 15 students from Endicott Junior College, where she is a senior. The group sailed April 1 from New York on the Queen of Bermuda and are staying in Hamilton at the Elbow Beach Surf Club for the official "College Week." They will return on the Queen of Bermuda in time for classes April 12.

Mrs. J. S. Baughman Will Head Slate Of Woman's Association

A slate of officers, headed by Mrs. J. Stanley Baughman for president, was presented yesterday at the annual meeting of the Woman's Association of the Larchmont Avenue Church at the church house, by Mrs. William H. Jefferson, chairman of the nominating committee.

The slate includes Mrs. Walter G. S. Fehr, second vice president, Mrs. Earl R. Bell, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Bennett Davidson, assistant treasurer.

Annual reports were heard by Mrs. Luther D. Pernald, president. The slate of officers was presented for two-year terms.

Guest speaker, introduced by Mrs. Clarence E. Goss, program chairman, was Dr. Helen A. Dickinson of the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York, known for her texts and translations made for her husband's series of ancient carols and motets. Her subject was "Collecting Sacred Folk Songs."

Dr. Dickinson gave a dramatic account of her travels with her husband, Dr. Clarence Dickinson, organist and choirmaster of the Brick Presbyterian Church and director-emeritus of the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary, into remote places all over the world, in their search for folk songs and religious service melodies. Her talk included many anecdotes of famous personalities encountered during their travels.

Several of the songs referred to the Camp Fire conference in Texas which lead never before been written down, passing from generation to generation by word of mouth, were illustrated by Mrs. Floyd McGuire.

Mrs McGuire was accompanied by Lawrence Blackman and Mary Ellen Hayes. The program included a hymn, "Lord Have Mercy Upon Us", a Serbian religious service song of Greek background, "Shepherds by Night", a Salonican song, "In a Stable", from the Island of Corsica, a three-note lullaby from Spain and Barcelona, "Hasten Children One and All, "Lord Jesus Entered the Garden", from Thun, Switzerland, and "In Joseph's Lovely Garden" from Leon, Spain.

During the morning session of the program Miss Mildred A. Neumeister presented her final lecture for the Lenten Bible classes, on the topic "The Psalmist Seeks a Messiah." The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. W. J. Denne.

Luncheon was served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Stanley Day, assisted by Mrs. Fehr, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. William E. Simpson, Mrs. William G. Hunter and Mrs. Peter R. Nald, chairman of the dining room committee. Mrs. Nold's committee was composed of Mrs. Gilbert Durbin, Mrs. W. N. Dean, Mrs. W. A. Hayman, Mrs. Paul W. Atwood, Mrs. J. W. Goonnue, Mrs. George Suddell, Mrs. Charles Dammann and Mrs. Paul Kite.

Dinner Plans Completed For April 20 Event

Final plans were completed yesterday for the Mother-Daughter dinner, to be held April 20 by the Guardians Association of the Mamaroneck Camp Fire Girls at the Mamaroneck Methodist Church, at a meeting at the home of Mrs. James Weatherly of 319 Union Avenue, Mamaroneck.

Mrs. Ralph Phelps and Mrs. Lawrence McAllister will attend the Camp Fire conference in Texas next week, it was announced. Mrs. James McBrien announced that the council has been lent a typewriter by Mrs. Leon Stowell of Larchmont. Plans were discussed for the Camp Fire Girls Summer camp. Gabriel Wendel, president of the Council will meet with a camp director in New York to make plans for a suitable camp. The date for the annual Council Fire was tentatively set for June 4.

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. Merrill Hodsdon, Mrs. Charles Wicker, Mrs. William Peiper, Mrs. James Horan, Mrs. Gabriel Wendel, Mrs. John Muehlke, Mrs. Frank Glatzl, and Mrs. Denise King, with Mrs. Robert Primrose, council chairman, as guest. Mrs. Ian MacDonald was co-hostess.

Mrs. Davidge to Attend Institute at Cornell

The executive board meeting of the Central School Parent-Teacher Association voted yesterday to subscribe to the Mamaroneck-Larchmont scholarship fund and also the Jenkins Memorial Scholarship Fund for teacher training at their meeting at the Central school. Mrs. R. C. Davidge will be a representative to the Cornell Institute in May. Mrs. Elina Joyner, who presided, announced the Metropolitan District Spring Conference May 24 in White Plains.

Plans were discussed for the next meeting to be held at 8:15 P. M. April 25 with Charles Ferguson, senior editor of the Readers' Digest, speaking on "What's New in Public School Education." Present at the meeting were Mrs. Philip Corbett, Mrs. Stanley Sapery, Mrs. E. Austin Byrne, Mrs. M. W. Searls, Mrs. Irving Stone, Mrs. Robert Marcus, Mrs. Marcelle Peterka, Mrs. Raymond Creckmore, Mrs. Stanley Rose, Mrs. Edward Taylor and George W. Brown.

RACK AT CORNELL

Miss Janet Heller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heller of 184 Hickory Grove Drive, Larchmont, has returned to Cornell University after spending her Spring vacation at home. Miss Heller is a sophomore majoring in home economics.

Biblical Play Enacted For OES Chapter

"Eye Witnesses of the Crucifixion of Christ" was presented yesterday by a group of young people from the Larchmont Avenue Church for the Order of the Eastern Star, Larchmont Chapter, at the Masonic Hall in Mamaroneck.

The play was directed by David Hamilton of the Larchmont Avenue Church. Biblical characters of 2,000 years ago were featured on colored slides with parts read by the following: Peter Wendell, John Hughes, William Bergen, Buddy Simpson, Donald Chatfield, Tilton Gartner, and David McGuire. Jane Ann Hughes accompanied at the piano.

Miss Hughes accompanied the group singing "Love Divine All Love Excelling", "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross", "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Mrs. Jorice Shaffer and Mrs. Virginia George gave a report on the OES dessert bridge and fashion show given April 1 at the Masonic Hall, where 25 tables were in play. The feature of the evening was the fashion show presented by the Annette Shoppe in Mamaroneck.

Models were Mrs. Frances Driver, Miss Helen Norton, Mrs. Alonso Kuntz, Miss Catherine Irwin, Mrs. Ella Bryce and Mrs. Irene Scheiner, with Mrs. Eleanor McCrotty as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Elizabeth Breckenridge assisting in the dressing room.

Baskets of white gladiolus and larkspur decorated the hall. Refreshments were served following the program by Mrs. Mary Hemling, Mrs. Martha Hooper and Mrs. Josepline Riddle under the direction of Mrs. Anna Turek and Mrs. Schneider.

Nancy Lauder Wed At Ft. Sill To C. T. Baker

Miss Nancy Jane Lauder, daughter of Mrs. George E. Viscuroux Jr. and Edward G. Lauder Jr. of New York and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Albee of Larchmont and Palm Beach, Fla., was married yesterday to Lt. Charles Thompson Baker, U. S. A., son of Comdr. Albert A. Baker, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Baker of Cambridge.

Rev. Russell T. Rauscher performed the ceremony in the post chanel at Fort Sill, Okla., and a reception followed at the Officers Club. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Edwin G. Lauder Jr., was matron of honor and Lt. Alfred E. Page was best man.

Mrs. Baker was graduated from Ashley Hall in Charleston, S. C., and is a senior at Hollins College. Her husband attended the Colorado School of Mines and served with the 66th Infantry Division in Europe. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy last year and is stationed at Fort Sill.

Cardell Casts Spell Over Bazzano Again

By HARRY DONSKY

If Tommy Bazzano, Middletown, Conn. welterweight, develops a frustration complex the cause can be attributed to a fellow Nutmeg Stater, Vic Cardell of Hartford.

For last night Bazzano, who was riding the crest of a terrific win and knockout streak, tried for the third time to whip Cardell and failed as Vic copped a split decision in the feature eight at the County Center in White Plains. Some 2,800 fans were on hand for the sterling card.

However, it was only the personality which afflicted performers that brought about the dividend verdict as Cardell, evinced a clear superiority in every phase of the ring art. Vic threw punches faster, harder and with more accuracy. He also finished much stronger than his opponent to rate the nod from Judges Steve Acunto and Ed Henry. Ref Lou Boughton gave each fighter five rounds, but as Bazzano the victor five points to four.

Early Rounds Closely Fought

Bazzano and Cardell had to be good to top off a fine card which saw three knockouts in the first four bouts. Employing basically similar styles the pair began mixing it from the opening gong.

The bout was close through the first four rounds with Cardell earning the first by a shade and Bazzano finishing strong to take the second by a slim margin. The third frame was vicious as each landed hard, Bazzano scoring with long looping rights and Cardell countering with short left hooks and sneaky fight crosses.

The fourth was the slowest as each battler sparred through the round. In the fifth, Cardell started to move ahead of Bazzano on points. He gained the edge again in the sixth. Cardell's best round, however, was the seventh, which he took by a wide margin as he battered his bewildered opponent around the ring. At the end of the seventh the two appeared stunned and the least marked.

The weights were Cardell, 147, and Bazzano, 145 2-4.

Semi Ends in Draw

In the semi-final, Ernie Koutnik, 133, of Paterson, N. J., weathered an early round blasting and finished strong enough to earn a six-round draw with Vince Murray, 134 1-2, of Hempstead. Murray unleashed a powerful barrage that floored Koutnik at the bell in the first and again early in the second.

Larry Gassa, 150, of New York City, won a fourth round TKO over George Maurino, 145, of Hartford, in a stirring duel that was slated for six-rounds. Gassa floored Maurino at the bell in the second frame and again for a 9-count to open the third.

Maurino arose from the second knockdown and fought on rubber-legs in a furious exchange that had the fans cheering wildly. But the game Hartford battler sustained a cut under the eye and the contest was halted after the third frame.

Burke Wins Another via KO

Willi Bonvin, 138, of Norfolk, Va., left-jabbed his way to a four-round verdict over Tommy Coleman, 135, of New York City, while Jimmy Dillon, 146, of Norwood, Conn., opened the show with a knockout in 1:19 of the second stanza over Jack Randolph, 149 3-4, of Harlem.

FRIENDLY VILLAGERS RECORD ONE SHUTOUT

The Expressettes took care of the lone shutout for the Friendly Village female keglers last night at the Mamaroneck Rec Center with the Four Eyes and Sal's Gals falling in line on 2-1 verdicts.

Sue Palmer of the Expressettes and Ethel Heyer of the blanked Cleavers shared the single honors when both hit the 200 pin mark squarely on the head. Elise Rhoads missed that figure by one pin but was the steadiest of the three challenging the superior tumors and copped the decision with a 509 total.

TROTTERS WILL RACE AT YONKERS IN '50

YONKERS—Definite assurance that the Yonkers Raceway would open on schedule came today from William Cane, President of the Yonkers Trotting Association. In reporting on the condition of the track, Mr. Cane said the racing plant would open without fail April 27 for night harness racing.

"When we announced a race program starting April 27," the association president said, "I was giving my word to the horsemen. And I don't like to break my word."

He pointed out that weather conditions and a one-week work stoppage hampered the program. But, contrary to rumors, the work is now going smoothly.

Some 7,100 grandstand seats and an additional 1,500 bleacher seats have been installed, while the track has already been surfaced and leveled off. The parking area, which will accommodate more than 8,000 cars, has been completely graded and is ready for black topping. The paddock will be completed in a week.

And a reminder from Mr. Cane for racing fans: The first daily double closes at 8:30 o'clock each evening.

MAZZARELLA—642 IN DT BOWLING

Shutouts turned up in three of the four Daily Times Bowling League matches at the Larchmont Rec Center last night with the Englishmen, Friendly Service and Taverners supplying the power pushes. The Cleaners took two out of three from the Oilers in the other encounter.

Backing up three straight games over the double century figure, Sal Mazzarella of the Englishmen poured out the enviable sinfull of 642. His opening game of 219 timbers was the top effort in that streak and also for the Times circuit's evening performance. In fact there were only two other games which managed to break the 200 mark. They rolled by Roger of the Oilers and Wally Grabarz of the Recs.

Larchmont Heads YRA Sked; Beach Point Club Joins Up

Larchmont, with six events including its traditional race week, heads the list of Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound club members in regard to total championship dates as a result of the organization's annual schedule meeting at the New York Yacht Club. A slate of 29 regattas plus a long-distance program of 2 races and cruises, was decided upon as representatives of member clubs attended.

Out of the gathering came the reality that 20 clubs will be represented in this year's regatta schedule, including one newcomer—Beach Point Club of Orienta Point, located in Mamaroneck Manhasset Bay, second to Larchmont in yacht racing importance, is runner-up to the LYC in total regattas with five while no other club can boast of more than two.

Beach Point will sprint into the Y. R. A. on Sunday, May 28. Commodore of the organization is one-time member of the Atlantic and International One-Design Classes, Arthur P. Davis. Race committee chairman and vice-commodore is Emil "Bus" Mosbacher Jr., who sails his sleek "Susan" in the International races and piloted an American vessel in the Bristol-American Cup series for six-meter yachts.

C. Ely Rogers of Larchmont headed a hard working group which made it possible to 20 press the starting schedule into one hour instead of the ninety minutes ordinarily required. The body accomplished this by eliminating some of the almost nonexistent delays and doubling up the groups which aren't too populated.

The slate, although somewhat streamlined, still contains all of the annual racing programs. Larchmont Yacht Club retains its Labor Day and Fourth of July events, as well as Race Week which will run from July 15 through the 22nd.

The complete schedule:

May—30, 31 N. Y. Y. C.; 27, Huguenot; 1 harbor race, Port Washington; 2, Manhasset Bay; 4, Oyster Bay; 7, Larchmont; 8, Manhasset Bay; 9, Riverside; 13, 14, 21, Larchmont Cup; Douglaston; 29, 30, Echo Bay.

June—3, Knickerbocker; 6, Indian Harbor; 12, Eastside; 13, Manhasset Bay; 19, Stamford; 20, Port Washington; 26, Stamford; 27, N. Y. Athletic Club.

July—4, Larchmont; 5, Port Washington; 6, Larchmont; 9, 10, Manhasset Bay; 16, Knickerbocker; 17, Knickerbocker Marblehead.

June—3, 4, N. Y. Y. C. Matinicock-Port Jefferson-Kettle; 10, Knickerbocker Y. C. 24-hour distance cruise; 19, Cruising Club of America, Bermuda race; 24, Huntington Y. C. day race.

July—1, Riverside Stratford Shoals race; 7, N. Y. Athletic Club Block Island race; 14-16, Indian Harbor Y. C. cruise; 21, Bayside Block Island auxiliary handicap; 28 to Aug. 1, American Y. C. invitational cruise; 30 to Aug. 7, N. Y. Y. C. cruise.

Aug. 4, N. Y. Y. C. Nantucket to Glen Cove; and Nantucket to Block Island race; 12, Huntington Y. C. Stratford Shoals race; 19-20, Port Washington Y. C. Manhasset Bay-Huntington Bay and return.

Oct.—2, New Rochelle-Stratford Shoals-Oyster Bend race.

The Beach Point Y. R. A. which now has a membership of 23 clubs and more than 600 yacht-sailors, set its schedule as follows:

Climax Of Baseball Clinic To Be Exhibition Saturday

By PAT McGOWAN

An exhibition baseball game between the New York Department of Sanitation and the ballplayers training in the clinic sponsored by the Recreation Commission and operated by the Bristol Owls will take place Saturday at 3:30 P. M. at City Park for the benefit of New Rochelle Hospital. At least two New Rochelle residents, left fielder Sal Sclafani and shortstop Bobby DiBuono, are certain to be the starting lineup of the clinic team.

The Sanitation team has won the New York City baseball crown for the past seven years from the Police and Fire Departments in the series played at the Yankee Stadium. Many former major league stars are on the roster, including Al Cuccinello, N. Y. Giants, Garton DeSavio, Cincinnati Reds, Wally Hallbourg, Washington Senators, Wally Singer, Chicago Cubs, Tom Zachary, Brooklyn Dodgers, Eddie Rutland, Philadelphia Phillies, Jack DiGrace, N. Y. Giants, and Bots Nelson, N. Y. Yankees.

Former minor league stars on the Sanitation roster include Jack Petrino, Atlanta Crackers, with Ron Har. Jake Ja. John Stanley and Timmy Adams, all Triple A. ballplayers.

The peppery manager of the Bristol Owls, Al Barillari of New Rochelle, arranged the game when he saw how well the clinic was going along. Coach Ray Condon of the Sanitation team gave his consent yesterday from a hospital bed in New York City, where he is recovering from a bad fall taken last Saturday.

Tomorrow's session of the clinic at City Park will be an all-day affair from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. About 30 ballplayers were on hand yesterday to hustle through a four-hour drill under a bright, warm sun.

The final session of the clinic on Friday morning will see an intra-squad game between 9 A. M. and 12 noon. There will be no afternoon session because it is Good Friday.

Barillari put his minor league prospects through a hard drill yesterday, making this most of the perfect baseball weather. The temperature went up to 75 degrees. Sonny Boy Funicello, a member of the Bonefro club and Nello Amori, a staff member of the Recreation Commission, assisted in Petunio-winning manager of the Owls.

In addition to Bristol scout Frank Sobolo, who worked with the pitchers, a Philadelphia Phillly scout was in the stands. Several of the boys are in line for minor league contracts.

Emerging head and shoulders above the rest, as far as fielding ability was concerned, was little Bobby DiBuono, the brilliant shortstop who did so well on an Army European Command team last year. Flashing around the infield with grace and speed, Bobby is already in fine condition and ought to anchor the team in Saturday's game.

A very odd note in the proceedings was sounded by the sudden disappearance of a pitcher who appeared on the mound for about twenty minutes and then left without notice. He muffled Joe Caccuri, the long-ball hitter of Monday's session and put down several other batters with ease. Two regular Bristol Owl pitchers took their turns on the mound, but they couldn't hold a candle to this boy, whose effortless delivery, smooth as glass, had the stands buzzing with excitement.

Frank Solazzo, the Bristol scout, couldn't recall the boy's name or the college he attended. "J. B." DiBuono, the Bristol trainer, had taken everybody's name except Pitcher X's. Now the Owls are fervently hoping the mystery man will come back for another session.

Holding WIAA Championship Is Tiger Nine's Heavy Duty

The biggest question mark at Mamaroneck High School these days, athletically speaking that pertains to whether the Hilltop could retain its WIAA baseball supremacy. Actually the Tiger diamond charges, their coach, Harry Harrison, and many close followers firmly believe that the title can stick here but naturally there is a tremendous amount of work involved.

At first glance it would seem that Harrison has a flock of material to work with. Actually he has the unpolished ball players who have the ability but need the surface polishing. The Tiger diamond charges were champs of a decidedly mediocre WIAA circuit but nevertheless they won out.

Of course Mike Bruno should again be the torpedo which the MHS mentor will try to build his pitching staff around. Bruno couldn't be stopped in league contests last year, winning seven and both playoff games. He lost just once all season, a last-inning heartbreaker at Greenwich. The stringy right-hander may get valuable assistance from Bunky Nask and Frank Valle this time although Harrison insists that they must show what they have just like the rest.

In addition to those returnees, Mamaroneck has Lou Rigano for first base plus Bonnie Paula, George Cheung, Joe Caporetta and Nick Condro for another year of front-line service. Pauls is being given a fair shot at shortstop while Condro remains at catcher with the other two at outfield berths. Cheung will be given every chance in left field. Coach Harrison also plans to use Johnny Staropoli at second base. He and Condro were reserves in '49 who saw spot duty.

Squad Now Shaved

Approximately 55 hopefuls turned out for the initial drill but the squad has been shaved to 32 and Harrison is contemplating a

Baseball Briefs

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Texas—Jimmy Russell, the transplanted Boston Brave outfielder, seems to have won himself a berth with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Assigned to Brooklyn's Montreal farm list, the thirty-year-old Brooklyn has been acting as coach regularly this Spring for the Dodgers. He is held in high esteem by Burt Shotton, the Brook manager.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Ed Lopat has been one of the New York Yankees' most effective pitchers this Spring.

The thirty-one-year-old left-hander, in 22 innings, has allowed only 15 hits and nine runs. He's walked only five men in winning twice against no setbacks.

Lopat worked the fit seven innings of yesterday's game, which the Yankees lost to Detroit, 9-4, despite Joe DiMaggio's three-run homer. Ed yielded seven hits and two runs.

HOUSTON, Texas — Bill Rigney is living up to his tag as No. 1 handy man of the New York Giants' infield.

The bespectacled utility player replaced Alvin Dark, the Giants' regular shortstop, in yesterday's game with the Cleveland Indians and played a sparkling game.

Rigney cracked a hit-and-run single, a double and a three-run homer. The Giants, however, lost their fifth straight, 7-6.

Les Mead Hooks 44-Inch Dolphin

Jack Cauliway of Pelham Manor shared top honors on the fourth and final day of angling as he caught a 21-pound grouper to the 10-pound Manoney of New York City.

Mead's catch is the largest dolphin caught in the 10 years since the trip to Key West was made. An annual affair, some 396 fish were caught during the trip, setting another record.

ANTLERS RIFLERS OUTFIRE LOCALS

Defeat came to the Mamaroneck Rifle Club for the second time this season last night at the Larchmont Armory's home range in Mount Vernon as the highly regarded Antlers Rifle Club of Pleasantville recorded a 1913 tally. The local unit totaled only 1878.

Antlers captured the nod because its "high five" were individually just a step ahead of Mamaroneck. Art Jackson, the widely known competitor, fired the high card of 293 and was followed by teammate Herb Steinberger who took credit for 287 points. The MRC's roster shows veteran Lew Hamilton with the second of 386 with Don Conklin runner-up in whole markers down the ladder.

The off-hand firing, naturally, gave everyone the most trouble. Pat Jackson only dropped seven. All but one member of Antlers had perfect tallies in the prone rounds while two Mamaroneck men failed to garner the full 200 points.

Bosox Appear Best AL Nine

SARASOTA, Fla., (AP)—Man for man the Boston Red Sox are the best team in the American League. Two years in a row they lost the pennant on the last day. This time they should go all the way.

Off the records, it is incredible that such a club should stumble off the starting mark three years in a row. With an early long lead in hand, they should run away briskly. That is the goal of their Spring training grind.

Sox' Six Big Sticks

How can you pick against a club with Ted Williams and Tris Stephens, each with 159 RBIs, in in center field, Bobby Doerr on second, Birdie Tebbetts catching? Sure the pitching is uncertain. That's why the Red Sox took 20

Backing up that combination, the Sox have two superlative great kid southpaws in Maurice McDermott and Chuck Stobbs.

Ferriss Back in Form

Dave Ferriss, twice a 20-game winner before felled by arm trouble, looks his best in two years. Walt Masterson, bothered by a sore elbow last season after his purchase from Washington, has been taking it easy. If Walt comes around, Sox pitching will be in fine shape.

Al Papai, knuckle ball pitcher acquired from the Browns, is sure to stick. One reason the Sox bought him was his effectiveness against the Yanks.

Of the newcomers, McCarthy likes Charley Schanz and Gordon Mueller. Bonus pitcher Frank Sullivan, another bonus pick, must be carried. Bob Gillespie, up from Sacramento with a 17-13 record, also figures.

Spots On Varsity Wide Open As Bellows Diamondmen Toil

Almost every position on the Bellows baseball team is wide open at this writing after more than two weeks of extensive work. Jack Pearon, whose fine directing of East East hardball clubs in the past few years has made the Panthers a perennial SWIAC contender, was rewarded with the presence of 35 boys when he issued the call for tryouts. Pearon has since weeded out almost half of that number and has a squad of 28, all of whom he hopes to keep for the campaign.

The Panther coach obviously would have enjoyed keeping all the boys on the squad but a group that large would make it impossible for him to give the attention to his varsity that will be necessary to develop a winner.

Unfortunately Bellows doesn't have too many vets back. Ed Feldt, who has been a pitching mainstay for three years now, should be the main cog with Ed Petrie staying at shortstop and Ken Bellner in the outfield. Petrie is an adequate fielder whose stickwork needs sharpening while Bellner can hit the long one but also stands to iron out flaws in his swing. The latter is a southpaw hitter.

Of last year's jayvee crop Pearon will be able to get another look at seven of them. However, their limited experience doesn't give them much of an advantage over the lads who are looking in on their first schoolboy baseball. Thus the conclusion that anyone can earn a regular role via a good showing in practice.

Record Turnout

The total of 35 which turned out for the first session is certainly a record for the space of time that Pearon has held the reigns and could very well be an all-time high. The only drawback is that the group is not a representative one. Almost the entire squad is composed of seniors and freshmen with an obvious lack of middle classmen. Thus Pearon either has to play for one-year or go to work on the younger boys in hopes of a well-balanced team in the future.

The schedule hasn't as yet been completed but right now the April 25th encounter with Blessed Sacrament at Harbor Island stands to be the curtain raiser. Pearon and Athletic Director T. A. Hasley hope to be able to arrange a few more, at least to equal the minimum of 15 games.

Harbor Island Field also presents difficulty for Bellows because of the extremely poor condition of the diamond. The Panthers are forced to drill there despite a bumpy infield. Just to make things perfectly easy for all concerned, Mamaroneck High is unable to use its new diamond as yet so the Panthers and Tigers take turns on the Island Field.

TEMPORARY CALM IN GOLFING WAR

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP) — The tempest within the PGA was temporarily calmed today but it's almost certain that things never will be the same again after a show-down meeting here Monday.

The meeting was originated by the PGA executive committee to smooth the touchy feelings of many of the nation's greatest golfing stars.

Although George Schneiter, spokesman for the unhappy linksmen, was not invited to the meeting, there are indications that several of his "board of governors" will attend anyway.

Little Representing Linksmen

Lawson Little, one of the governors representing stars who demand more authority in managing tournaments, said:

"There will be meetings and we'll get everything worked out. We touring golfers will get a bigger voice in running our own affairs."

Jimmy Thomson, another governor, added that he was invited as an individual and intended going to the meeting.

Horton Smith, as secretary of the PGA, says the pros can have added authority if affairs turn out well Monday.

He said 11 governors were invited but that the 12th, Schneiter, was not. Schneiter is both chairman and spokesman for the group.

Schneiter was slashed from the PGA payroll Monday as tournament director. Smith and PGA president Joe Novak charged the pretty, Utah golfer with failure to comply with PGA policies.

Late last night, just after arrival from the Chicago firing, Schneiter said he would not "force an issue on not being invited to the conference."

Calls for Revised Committee

Smith and other golfers are here for the 14th Masters tournament. Schneiter is not qualified for an invitation to play.

Smith's outline, which he said would square difficulties, calls for the formation of a revised tournament committee. Members would be three PGA national officers and four traveling professionals. The professionals would be elected from the ranks of money golfers.

A ways and means committee also would be formed entirely from the ranks to hear grievances and make suggestions. This committee would be a traveling body always at the disposal of golfers.

Smith said proposals to form the two groups were made by the PGA several months ago.

Basketeers Move Up In Amateur Tourney

By HARRY DONSKY

Cage pandemonium was slated to resume its feverish pace at the County Center in White Plains this afternoon as the Westchester amateur basketball tournament ground into its second day with 21 games on tap.

The tournament yesterday presented a three-court schedule from 4:30 P. M. until midnight as teams in four of the six divisions saw action. The floodlight-lagian spectacle easily rivaled the bedlam of a rodeo.

Both New Rochelle teams triumphed in the opening rounds of their divisions. The Indians of the Peeney Park Boys Club slashed the Pelham Pythons, 29-26, in the Junior Division while the Rosses of the South Side Boys Club easily trimmed the Mount Pleasant Terriers, 32-20.

The fact that both New Rochelle teams were from the Boys Club was accidental; they won the right to represent the city in the championships of the Recreation leagues.

Closest game of the opening day card was an overtime battle which saw the Harrison ABC quint cop a tight intermediate division 32-30 decision over the Port Chester Holy Name Wildcats. Another squeaker was the 42-40 verdict by the Croton Hellivivers over the New Castle Legion Juniors.

W. P. Kiwanis High Scorers

The outstanding display of scoring might for the program was staged by the White Plains Kiwanis who racked up a 71-27 triumph over the touted Pleasantville MacDowells in the open division. Sparked by the 14-point shooting of Foster Cooper, elongated forward, the Kiwanians coasted through the final half after blazing to a 41-14 margin at halftime.

Other victors in the open division were the Yonkers Holy Trinity Athletic Club and the Ossining All Stars who downed the Scarsdale All Stars 58-36, and Irvington Diners, 62-55, respectively.

Some Outstanding Teams

Outstanding teams in first-round action in the junior division included the New Rochelle Indians, Rye Bullets, Croton Screwy Five, Mamaroneck Basketeers, Hastings, Corels, and Peekskill St. Josephs.

Top notch victories were earned by Yonkers Pioneers, West Harrison Redmen, White Plains Ravens, and Hastings Southside Juniors in intermediate competition.

Six second-round battles are slated for the junior division today with a brace of intermediate tilts also included on the agenda. Action will speed up in the senior flight with eight contests on tap while the open division shifts into higher gear with four games carded.

Play in the midget and industrial division will not get underway until Saturday. No games are scheduled for tomorrow as the Tourney takes a one-day rest before swinging into the final stages which will be played Saturday and Monday. Wednesday, and Thursday of next week.

Finals in all divisions except industrial are slated for the final day of the tournament. The industrial crown will be decided Wednesday.

Yesterday results:

Junior Division
New Rochelle Indians 29, Pelham Pythons 26
Rye Bullets 38, Chappaqua Bracing 14
Croton Screwy Five 47, Millwood Tigers 23
Mamaroneck Basketeers 30, Dobbs Ferry Blue Jays 19
Hastings Corels 35, Montrose Harrisons 18

Baseball Briefs

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Texas—Dodger pitcher Bob Milliken's value has been shipped through to Brooklyn.

The rookie, who still belongs to the Brooklyn farm in Fort Worth, has impressed Manager Burt Shotton in Spring exhibitions.

"That theory about Milliken needing another year in a lotta hooey," Shotton said. "The way some of our pitchers are shaping up he could get plenty of work."

The righthander stopped a five-game losing streak in outlasting Bob Lemon to defeat Cleveland yesterday, 8-3.

Jansen allowed the Indians only four hits after a shaky start. The Giant ace always has started slowly in the Spring.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Joe DiMaggio bats are acting up again. This time it's a muscle pull.

He dropped out after the first inning in yesterday's 8-4 Yankee victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

3d Trip To Women's Sr. Swim For Barbara Cunningham, 16

Sixteen years is a pretty tender age to be going around looking for swimming titles but that's just what Barbara Cunningham will be doing when she arrives in Palm Beach Fla. for the Senior Nationals. A member of one of Mamaroneck's most active athletic families, Barbara will depart from Penn Station aboard the Atlantic Coast Line's "Champion" tomorrow, bound for the Everglades Hotel.

Six other members of the Women's Swimming Association will be traveling with the local girl, plus Mrs. Elsie V. Jennings, chairman of the Olympic committee, and Mrs. Marie Jardine, one of the team's coaches.

Despite her age Barbara is long on experience. This will be her third trip to the Nationals and probably the most memorable since she is riding as the WSA's outstanding athlete for 1949. Babs has the unbelievable distinction of owning the rights to 10 metropolitan swimming crowns and three national crowns, one on a record timing. She was high individual point scorer for Westchester Junior and senior women last year. Probably the greatest honor she has received in four years with the WSA was the PRAYER FOR TODAY—Restrain in me, and in all men and women, every temper that makes for conflict and war. I ask this, dear Father, for it is a time when men's tongues sometimes incline to be rash and foolhardy, and when careless words are as dangerous as careless deeds. May it be given me to withhold all ungenerous judgments, all inclinations which are rooted in selfishness and in headlong prejudice. May I never be personally an instrument for the promotion of misunderstanding, suspicion and hate—but rather may I generate love and fellowship and mutual good will.

NOSEY UNCLE SAM

MANY of our citizenry may be surprised and some will undoubtedly be resentful of questions being asked by 1950 census takers.

There are questions relating to the availability of toilet facilities, of what kind of fuel is used for heating, is there a kitchen sink, what would the house rent for, and the like. One must even tell how many wives he has had and when he took the last.

Most controversial, however, has been the question which is to be asked of every fifth person. "How much money did you make last year?"

To this, naturally, the quick response would be, "And how is that any of your business."

We do not propose to debate that point now. Earlier, it may be recalled, we objected to this query as an unnecessary invasion of privacy, especially since census-takers are local and since this information could be obtained from income tax returns. However, it is the law and must be obeyed.

Further, a survey of past censuses reveals that Uncle Sam has been even nosier. In 1850 one asked "What is the value of any real estate you own?" In 1860 a question read: "Are you deaf, an idiot, a pauper, a former convict?" And in 1880 "Are you sick or disabled, and if so, in what way?" In 1890, in fact, Uncle Sam asked of Negroes "Are you full black, mulatto, quadroon, or octaroon?"

Beyond this prying curiosity upon the part of the census is, naturally, some reason, presumably economic. And undoubtedly much of the information thus obtained will prove of tremendous value in planning for the future.

But, we hasten to add, we do not believe that absolute accuracy in prediction can be guaranteed. For much of the 1950 data is to be obtained by the sampling method. That is, questions will be asked only of a cross-section of the population considered representative, such as, let us say, every 10 persons.

That, it may be recalled, was the method followed by those who sought to learn the outcome of the 1948 Presidential election. And according to the findings therefrom, the initials of the Man in the White House are not H. S. T. but T. E. D.

IONA ISLAND PARK, PERHAPS

THOUSANDS of motorists on the winding eastern approach to Bear Mountain Bridge have upon occasion halted upon a convenient promontory to look down upon the Hudson River at that point. It is one of the most beautiful views in Westchester.

Down stream from the bridge is Iona Island, long a sort of hush-hush naval arsenal. So effectively has publicity of the use of the island been avoided that many motorists are unable, perhaps, to identify it. And for less a number has been aware of the actual experimentation and storage of secret weapons of war thereon.

Now, however, it is proposed that the Navy abandon use of Iona Island. Apparently, modern war has made its further use inadvisable. There is no need to press for reasons. Anyhow, Iona seems to be available again for civilian occupation.

Therefore, the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, which runs Bear Mountain and other parks in New York and New Jersey along the Hudson, has asked that the island be turned over and made into a public park. Westchester has no objections, and perhaps has no claim, since Iona lies within Rockland rather than Westchester boundary lines.

So, we trust that the transfer may be made, provided always, of course, that the Naval permission is forthcoming. For the northwest section of Westchester has long needed more parks and recreation areas. And this might easily help to fill that need.

WAS YOUR GRANDFATHER LAZY?

NOW that Spring is upon us, don't feel too guilty about that lazy feeling or your ready willingness to put off today what you'll probably put off tomorrow, too. Blame it on your grandfather, or someone on the ancestral tree, who got you out on the limb originally. For it seems now that some psychiatrists out in Chicago have discovered by tests on monkeys, no less—that laziness is hereditary.

It's a wonderful out for a lot of us and it doesn't have to be confined to Spring and cleaning up the house or yard. It's applicable to cutting grass in the Summer, raking leaves in the Fall and shoveling snow in the Winter. Who can blame you if your great-grand-uncle Zep had no zip?

It's an almost perfect World we live in today wherein one's conscience is perpetually salved by the knowledge that our foibles result from factors quite beyond our control, leaving us practically blameless.

In the case of laziness however there seems to be one glaring flaw in this moral Shangri-La. The darned theory apparently doesn't apply at all to the female of the species!

BUFFALO, (AP) — Governor Dewey is "gratified" by a movement among upstate Republican leaders to draft him this year for a third-term attempt.

Representative William L. Pfeiffer, State Republican chairman, reported Dewey's reaction last night in talking with a newsman. He said he talked with Dewey Wednesday and that the Governor "has not yet made up his mind" whether to run.

CITIZENSHIP

Question: A girl who was born in the United States was taken to Italy at the age of two. She married a European subject before she became twenty-one. Now this woman has come to the United States and says that she is a citizen of the United States. She is now about forty-five. Because she married a European, she lost her rights as a citizen, didn't she?

Did Europeans who came to this country in the early 1920's have to have someone back them up so they would not become public charges?

P. L. V.

Answer: If the woman married before 1922, she lost her citizenship. However, if the marriage took place after that date, she is still a citizen unless at some time she formally renounced said citizenship.

From 1921 and on, the law stated that immigrants had to produce evidence that they would not become public charges. This was usually done by having a citizen of this country swear out an affidavit that the immigrant could receive help if needed from the American citizen.

QUEEN FIRST

Question: Did Victoria become Queen of England before she married her husband? F. M.

Answer: Victoria became Queen of England in 1837 and married her first cousin, Albert of Saxe-Coburg, in 1840.

DATE

Question: Will you please tell me what day of the week Jan. 20, 1899 fell on? K. J. C.

WOMEN VETERANS

Question: Where does one write to apply for membership in the WAC-VETS Association? Ex-Wac

Answer: The address is 5201 Dakin Street, Chicago 41, Ill. The membership chairman is May P. Braendle.

GANDHI'S PHILOSOPHY

Question: First, I would like to know what the title Mahatma means? I am referring, of course, to Gandhi. Then I wish you would tell me what is meant by Ashima with regard to the religious belief of Gandhi. Mrs. G. F.

Answer: Mahatma means the great-souled, a name given to Mohandas K. Gandhi by his followers. Ashima was the doctrine of non-violence advocated by Gandhi in fighting British rule.

Col. Joe Bush Says:

There's talk about buildin' a new bridge across the Hudson somewhere around Peekskill. All we're afraid about is that if it's left up to the folks in Washington they'll build it lengthwise.

When the youngsters took over county government here recently, the lad who served as County Clerk went around all day with the Hon. Bob Field, the real Clerk. Bob told him everything he could think of, but the kid just kept mum. Finally, Bob asked him if there was anything else he wanted to know. "Sure," replied the boy, "just how do I go about gettin' a low-number license plate?"

One reason we stay up late at night and roister around a lot is because we're afraid to go to bed. Don't more people die in bed than anywhere else?

The Hon. Joe McCarthy, former White Plains Supervisor and former lighting company exec, postcards us from a place called Charlotte Amalie. We looked it up and find it's in the Virgin Islands. My, oh my! Why can't we retire too?

Joe didn't say whether he'd met Charlotte, but he did say he was playin' golf three or four times a week with a federal judge. That is surprisin'. We thought all federal judges everywhere was too busy tryin' Commie cases to have any other kind of fun.

About the worst thing that can happen in this season of the year to a ten-year-old boy is to crawl under a tent to see a circus and find out that it's a revival meeting.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Jane Cowl once attended a benefit performance of Hamlet in which John Barrymore was the shining star. Miss Cowl, bedecked in finery, occupied the stage box, and probably didn't realize that she was repeating many of the famous speeches in an audible voice, with appropriate gestures. To insiders' amazement, Barrymore preserved his equanimity admirably, but when he came out for his final bow, remarked courtely, "On behalf of Miss Cowl and myself, I thank you."

A current favorite on the borscht circuit concerns the henpecked husband who was at the wheel of his not-so-merry Oldsmobile with his wife breathing an endless series of warnings and directions in his ear. Stopped by a red light, the poor fish finally turned on his tormentor and suggested, "Let's change seats. I'll ride in back and drive for a while."

Truman Co.'s Morale Is Shaken Over Belief In Gen. Eisenhower

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—No recent incident has shattered the political morale of the Truman-for-1952 clique at Washington so violently as the willingness of Democratic legislators on Capitol Hill to boost the 1951 national defense budget over White House protests on the sole recommendation of Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower.

Although every knowing politician now believes that the World War II commander is a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination two years hence, with Mr. Truman as a possible opponent, even economy-minded Democrats in House and Senate prefer the Eisenhower to the Truman-Johnson estimate of military needs.

SUPPORT — Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, endorsed the Columbia president's proposal for a minimum increase of $500 million. Senator John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat and a penny-pincher, said that "If Eisenhower thinks we should spend more money, Congress will take his word and provide it."

It is probable that even such opponents of the administration's spending proclivities as Senators Byrd of Virginia and George of Georgia will support the Eisenhower boost, even in the face of Truman-Johnson opposition. Both men insist that their $13 billion total is sufficient for today's needs.

SIGNIFICANCE — Truman politicos' sole consolation is that Eisenhower let them down so easily. He asked only a $300 to $600 million increase for the Air Force for Alaskan defense, for expanding our intelligence system and further experimentation on new weapons. But he made clear that, in his opinion, a satisfactory budget should have been nearer $15 billion than the White House figure.

But the overall political significance is that, despite the political threat to Mr. Truman's reelection embodied in the general's prestige and personality, prominent Democrats built up a prospective GOP nominee instead of "tearing him down."

COALITION — The welcome which Congressional Democrats extended to the leader of our European forces assumes greater significance for reasons still generally unknown but, to their chagrin, available to the Truman-for-1952 campfire buddies. Originating among leading Southern figures of prominence, there is widespread talk of a "coalition" movement for Eisenhower's nomination and election.

It would be no surprise if, when the moment is opportune, the idea were openly advanced by two former members of Roosevelt-Truman cabinets now nursing their grievances—personal, ideological and political—against the so-called Fair Deal. Another Truman enemy likely to join the movement is that eminent adviser to Presidents, Bernard M. Baruch.

In fact, Gen. Eisenhower has told members of Congress that he has discussed with the former financier such problems as stockpiling and industrial mobilization for war. That revelation undoubtedly turbed the Trumanites, in view of the bitter break between the President and Mr. Baruch, who refused to give a nickel to the Truman election fund in 1948.

VOTES — The "coalition" scheme has been projected beyond the 1952 campaign, assuming that Gen. Eisenhower should be the Republican-Southern Democratic nominee and emerge triumphant. It contemplates the selection of a "coalition" cabinet for conduct of the cold war and progressive preparation for a shooting engagement.

INDEPENDENCE—Several serious defections among erstwhile Truman enthusiasts underwrite Republican leaders' private belief that it would be disadvantageous for their party to capture either branch of Congress in the November elections. They want to saddle President Truman with another two-year responsibility for making good on the all-things-to-all men role he assumed in 1948, and on the promises he has made since entering the White House.

The Chicago Defender, a leading Negro newspaper, recently expressed its disillusionment with the administration's inability to wrest civil rights legislation from a Democratic Legislature. Smaller organizations and organs of the Negro race are also breaking away.

At their recent convention here, the Americans for Democratic Action, the Roosevelt and radical annex of the national Democratic group, hinted at its dissatisfaction with lack of accomplishment at Washington. Over the objection of Presidential cronies, it reversed its 1949 endorsement, asserting its full independence of any political faction and striking out all eulogistic references to the party in power.

HAS GARAGE SERVICE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Motorists going abroad may now drive their cars aboard an ocean liner, park them in a garage and drive ashore on the other side of the Atlantic. The garage on the motor liner Batory of the Gdynia American Line is reached by a special ramp from the dock. The usual practice in shipping cars abroad is to lift them with a derrick.

Colonials Squelch WP In Tourney Overtime

By HARRY DONSKY

Senior Division play furnished the most excitement in the Westchester amateur basketball tournament which went through its second day of activity yesterday with 21 games at the County Center in White Plains.

With quarter-final brackets already filled in the senior and intermediate flights the tournament was slated to take a one-day respite before resuming tomorrow with a 27-game card scheduled to begin at 1 P. M.

Four of the eight games completed in the senior division yesterday turned into real donnybrooks with the White Plains Central-Mamaroneck Colonial tilt going into double overtime sessions before the Mams could sneak through with a 58-56 verdict.

Tarrytown's Purmacean copped an equally sensational decision from the New Rochelle Trotters as a technical foul shot by Bill Burns provided a 46-45 margin. With the count knotted at 45 all Burns was fouled in the act of getting off a shot just as the whistle sounded to end the game.

Foul the Deciding Shot

Both tries from the free throw line failed, but a technical foul awarded because of the furious Trotter protest of the foul, connected and the Tarrytown five moved into the quarter-final round.

Pelham's Hansons were extended to annex a tight 47-45 from the Port Chester Bialtos in another of the neck-and-neck thrillers within the division while the Ossining Red Raiders choked off the Montrose White Angels for a 42-41 triumph.

Other winners were Eastchester, Port Chester, Holy Name Hughes, New Rochelle Boys Club Indians, Rye Bullets, and North Tarrytown Globetrotters.

CENTURY CLUB PLANS FOR SOFTBALL, DANCE

The Century Club held a special meeting at its quarters, 987 Winfield Avenue, last night where the announcement of the club's acceptance to membership in the Mamaroneck Softball League was made. Mike Ciracio, manager of the Century softballers, revealed to the persons present that tryouts would be held Sunday morning at 10 A. M. with all members invited to join the squad. Plans were completed for the purchase of uniforms and other necessary equipment immediately after the submitted entry had been okayed.

Although the meeting was keynoted by the softball talk, most of the lengthy discussion was devoted to plans for a first-annual Spring dance. The affair is to be held on April 15th at the Carpenter's Hall and Joe Rigano was named committee chairman. Rigano accepted reports from committee members Gil Praioli, Will Petruzzo, Phil Rigano and Armand Ciracio. The rest of the discussion centered on entertainment, decorations and various service problems which are to be ironed out within the next week.

LOCAL POLICE ENTER COUNTY BALL LEAGUE

Patrolman Vito Fraioli, who was recently elected manager of the Mamaroneck Police softball team, will attend the organization meeting of the Westchester County Police Softball League at the White Plains police department Monday night.

The Mamaroneck team, which finished third in the eight team league two years ago, was not represented in the county competition last year. Beside members of the Village police department, several outstanding players of the Town police will again be on the team, Fraioli said today.

Trophies will be provided for both the winning and runnerup teams, as well as awards to outstanding players. Presentation ceremonies for these will be made at the annual dinner which follows the season's final games.

Larchmonter Co-Heads Willows Country Club

HARRISON — The Willows Country Club will officially open its first season tomorrow. The full membership of the newly-formed semi-private club and their friends are expected at the inaugural celebration.

The Willows, located on North Street between the Westchester C. C. and the Apawamis Club, has undergone a complete going over on its course, tennis courts, locker rooms and club house, besides a new golf shop.

The former Hasty Brook C. C. was bought this Spring by a syndicate headed by Mathew J. Scanlan of Tuckahoe and Walter E. Hager of Larchmont. Harry Desio of Port Chester is the club's pro.

NEW YORK, (AP) — Auburn quarterback Travis Tidwell will throw passes for the New York Giants of the National Football League next Fall. The Southeastern Conference's most valuable player signed a contract yesterday.

LCL PIN TEAMS SPLIT 3 FRAYS

The LRTs and Taximen pulled out 2-1 verdicts in Larchmont Community League kegling at the Larchmont Rec Center last night but the Plumbers, another first-division outfit, were stopped by the Patrol in another split tussle.

The top-honors were split too, with Tony Mirande of the Taximen supplying the most excitement. His series leadership was established with a fine 615 pinfall, just about the most impressive score of the night, while Bob Wilson of the LRT rollers finished off a 596 triple with the single-high, 226 maples. Mirande blasted 224 and Lou Scanza had a 223 to make it a real skirmish for supremacy of the honor. Mac McConville, Dave Burns, Manny Salasin, Johnny Guagi, Sr., Joe Masto and Wilson, who was the only man to rip the double century mark twice, furnished the other games of merit.

THREE ACRES UNITS POWDER PIN SWEEPS

Three-fourths of the Acres League bowling encounters at the Larchmont Rec Center last night swept up in sweeps with the Bassett, Sterling and Disbrow units doing the plundering. Tompkins copped a 2-1 victory in the other match. The Sterlings were the only winner to start from scratch in the handicap circuit.

Helgren of Tompkins took care of series high with his 576 pinfall, followed closely by Putterman of Bassett who compiled 569. Helgren and Campbell of Disbrow fired coleadership in the single-class with 213 tallies. Putterman boasted of a 212 while Greenbaum and Richbell entered into the running with a 211.

SOFTBALL OFFICIALS' SCHOOL ON SCHEDULE

Instructions for the Westchester Softball Officials School which will be held at the County Center in White Plains, beginning Tuesday night were announced yesterday by Charles H. Pease, secretary of the officials.

Al Buncher of Dobbs Ferry; Tom Pietrani of West Harrison; and John Schudy of New Rochelle, president of the WSOA, will conduct the three two-hour sessions scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday from 8 to 10 P. M. The examination session is slated for April 10.

A definite lack of approved softball officials within the county necessitated the organization of the school, according to Pease.

LILLIAN ELLIS BOWLS RECORD 679 SERIES

MOUNT VERNON — One of the highest bowling scores ever turned in by a woman was achieved at the Vernon Height Alleys last night when Lillian Ellis scored a torrid 679 series in Westchester Women's Merchants League action.

Miss Ellis fired games of 232, 232 and 215. The total shattered all previous highs in Mount Vernon, and is one of the finest scores ever reported in county league competition. Miss Ellis rolls with the Chippendale team in the Merchants League. A few years ago Lillian teamed with Mrs. Agnes Sawyer to annex the women's state doubles crown.

DISA 'N DATA ON COUNTY SPORTS

Unheralded, locally at least, a few short days ago, a Westchester-owned horse today looms as a big threat to cop the fabulous Kentucky Derby. Hill Prince, the profitable property of Christopher T. Chenery of Pelham, rocketed to the fore of the Derby picture Wednesday with his sizzling win in the $20,000 Experimental Free Handicap at Jamaica. The hottest thing on the turf at the moment, Hill Prince would indeed add a dazzling feather to Westchester's illustrious sports' cap should he grab the famed run for the roses next month. . . . The busiest sports enthusiast in the county these days is unquestionably the rightful claim of Yonkers' Sylvester Barker. Here's indefatigable Sy's present itinerary: President of the Pacoy Club, first veep of the Federation of Yonkers Athletic Clubs; member of the Recreation Commission; serving on committee for Joe Lapchick dinner; conducting a survey of recreational facilities in city; planning 10-mile handicap road race and track meet, and is planning bazaar for PYAC in effort to build city war memorial in form of new stadium. Oh, yes! Sy also holds down a regular job.

The remedy: lessons from Vernon Hills pro Toney Tiso . . . James Lee and Ed Peterson of the Yonkers Chippewa Club will attend the Boston marathon to sign runners for the Yonkers marathon . . . All Westchester goldom rooting for countyites Jackie Burke and Claude Harmon to gather in the winnings in the Masters tournament at Augusta. Fenway's Herman Barron predicting that Burke might grab this most coveted of all links titles. Burke's sensational 72-hole total of 264 in winning at Harlingen, Texas, last month still the talk of the Winter tour. The handsome Metropolis professional fired rounds of 66-67-66-65 to win that event, and mind you, finished only two strokes up on Skip Alexander . . . Mount Vernonites Andy Karl, the former major leaguer, and Mike O'Connell working like real troupers towards the success of their Little Baseball League in the City of Homes . . . The wonderful Snowbird golf dinner a glowing tribute both to Siwanoy Country Club and the tournament chairman Oscar Carlson of Mount Vernon. It's always a privilege to dine with those hardy Winter linksmen of Siwanoy, who are probably the pioneers of this unique golf event in the nation, having inaugurated their tourney some 43 years back. At the '50 windup banquet last Friday, Siwanoy member Anthony Cueva recalled that he played with club pro Tom Kerrigan on both occasions when the veteran linksman fired course record rounds of 62 and 61 at the Bronxville layout. Kerrigan, incidentally, is starting his 35th season at Siwanoy this week, which must rate second only to John R. Inglis' 40-plus years at Fairview in the point of service at one club . . . # SWIAC DIAMOND SKED RELEASED

The official 1950 SWIAC baseball schedule and the date for the 13th annual SWIAC track meet were announced today by Jack Jarvis of Eastchester High School, president of the Southern Westchester Interscholastic Athletic Conference.

The circuit's title track and field meet is again set for Rye High School stadium on Wednesday, May 24 at 3:30 P. M.

Each of the six teams in the circuit will play a 10-game schedule, culminating on Friday, June 2. All games, with three exceptions, will be played on the customary Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Hasley More Than Qualifies For Coaches' 100-Win Award

The newly formed Sports Trail Century Club in Chicago took on another member this week, according to word which arrived yesterday from the windy city. The honorary organization — which is open to all college and scholastic coaches whose teams have won 100 or more contests in any sport—made public that P. E. Bellows mentor T. A. "Jack" Hasley has been selected as an award winner on the basis of the 230 basketball victories his quintets have registered. That figure has bulged to 248 since Hasley's name was submitted as a possible recipient.

The Sports Trail Club was originally suggested by William Matthei, coach of Bayview High School, Milwaukee, in a letter to Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune. Matthei was the initial award-winner and the Bike Web Company has made the continuous flow of new members possible. The idea behind the club is to bring to light great sports directing jobs which ordinarily would be confined to one particular section.

Among the other coaches in the county who are members are Jack Jarvis, Les Beck and Carl Schilling. Others undoubtedly are eligible and may join the fold in the near future.

Hasley attended West High School in Rochester, N. Y. and moved to Springfield College, graduating in 1928 after slipping in a year at the University of Rochester. His first coaching job was at R. J. Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem, North Carolina where he piloted the soccer and basketball units. In his first and only year there, Hasley's Reynolds cagers went last far as the state finals after copping more than 20 wins.

The following year he moved to Bangor, Pa., High. He didn't coach basketball. Instead he had football, basketball and track. "Jack" claims that he hasn't really hit his tutoring stride until he hit Mt. Penn High School in Reading, Pa., where he was to spend 10 years.

Mt. Penn was where the affable T. A. likes to start counting his basketball successes, claiming that he had some of his greatest teams there. During one stretch, starting in 1941 and winding up the following season, Hasley-taught quintets won 27 consecutive triumphs, an amazing string in any type of cage play.

Moving on to a more lucrative job at Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, Hasley coached basketball for one year and had his worst season. Despite a below-.500 record, that Adelphi Academy team had Carl Braun as its standout player. Braun, who now is a star for the pro New York Knickerbockers and one of the National Basketball Association's top scorers, is tabbed by Hasley as one of, if not the, greatest court performers he has ever coached. Still, he doesn't go too far out on a limb, adding that Braun perhaps stood out more than other top-notch cagers because he was with a sub-par team.

Jack arrived on the local scene in 1943 and immediately established his cage coaching ability. His Bellows aggregation that season was sole holder of the Southern Westchester championship while scoring 19 and dropping five. No other BHS quintet has ever held the SWIAC crown. In seven campaigns here his basketball clubs have never failed to cop at least 10, the 1949-50 one topping the list with 18 out of 19 and a Class C title to boot. Also—other—as far as the records are able to determine—Hasley's Bellows record is 95 triumphs and 41 losses which is far better than par for the course.

Although he obviously enjoys every moment of each cage campaign, Hasley says that he is glad to sit back and enjoy his afternoons for a while, especially after some of the nerve-racking tussles his last edition went through.

In Brief

By The Associated Press

SHREVEPORT, La.—The New York Giants today were all even with their Spring exhibition foes, the count standing at 12-12.

Leo Durocher's men went ahead in their current series with Cleveland, five games to four, by taking yesterday's clash, 5-1. No one could say the two teams haven't been well matched over the years, for their all-time record shows the Indians ahead with 92 victories to the National Leaguers' 89.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Manager Casey Stengel admittedly would like a fifth starting hurler for his New York Yankees, but says "I like our pitching staff as good as anybody's."

"I'd say our pitching right now is our weakest link," says Stengel. "Nobody has control. Our pitchers have walked 150 men and have struck out only 87."

Casey still claims the pitchers need at least a week-earlier Spring training start than other players, saying there is not sufficient time for them all to get the work they need.

The National League champions have run into a lot of damp and chill weather which they feel all the more in night games. Some of the Dodgers are reported to feel that arc games on the exhibition trail can do more harm than good in the conditioning process.

AMATEUR CAGERS ARE BUSY TODAY

The Westchester amateur basketball tourney schedule swells to out-sized proportions this afternoon with 24 games booked for the three courts at the County Center in White Plains. The lengthy session is the heaviest ever slated for the county cage carnival.

All six divisions are due for action, and at least one will reach the title round. With only four teams entered, the industrial division needs only two semi-final contests tonight to move into the last round.

Making an appearance for the first time will be the midget division which has half a dozen games on tap this afternoon, leading off the day's program with three tests at 1 P. M. Two second round tilts and a trio of quarter-final scraps are booked for the junior division; four quarter-finals for the intermediate; five second-round and two quarter-final games in the open.

Roughest road during the day will be traveled by the winner of a 7 P. M. tussle between the Yonkers Unioneers and White Plains Kiwanis. Survivor goes against the Harrison Rec Five two hours later.

The tournament is scheduled to wind up with sessions Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Drygall Among Entries In Yonkers Marathon

YONKERS — The first team entry in the 10-mile Metropolitan AAU senior championship race sponsored by the Pacey Club in Yonkers, slated for Sunday, April 30, at Glen Park, is the Millrose A. A. of New York. The New Yorkers will be led by Victor Drygall, who was 1949 winner of the Metropolitan AAU's "Meritorious Award."

Drygall is also expected to enter the Chippewa Club's Yonkers Marathon. Drygall is 1949 winner of the national championship which will be held this year May 21, starting and finishing at the Yonkers Raceway.

Donoghue Set To Up String

Roger Donoghue, Yonkers' baby-faced, dynamite-fisted middleweight, places his string of 16 straight wins on the line Tuesday when he clashes with tough Eddie Edwards of Irvington, N. J. in the headline eight-rounder at the County Center in White Plains.

Donoghue, one of the best fistic finds developed in Westchester in more than a decade, will be making his third Center appearance Tuesday. In two previous outings he flattened Jimmy Demetries and Tommy Mack in impressive fashion.

Middleweights also grabs the semi - final spot with unbeaten Frankie Lentine, pitted against Frank Navedo of the Bronx over the six-round route. A second six will bring together Tommy Tupp and Abdou Ali of Arabia.

Three fours will complete the card arranged by Promoter Joe McKenna. In the definite pairing at the moment, Benito Pazzello of Jersey City tangles with Tommy Coleman of Yorkville.

LINEUP CHANGED IN BENEFIT GAME

Late changes in the starting lineup for today's benefit baseball game between the New York City Department of Sanitation and local ballplayers were announced last night by manager Al Barillari. Game time is 2:30 P. M., at City Park. A collection will be taken for the Cancer Fund.

Bill Kummerer of this city will be the starting pitcher for Barillari's squad of local minor league prospects who are winding up a week-long clinic sponsored by the Recreation Commission and operated by the Bristol Owls.

Six feet three inches tall, Kummerer will be asked to hurl three innings before being replaced by Frank Cleary or Don Hill. Last Sunday Kummerer pitched three innings against the Rushwicks and gave up only one hit.

Catcher Bill Doyle of Iona College, a strapping youngster from Waterbury, Conn., may see action. Patrolman Bill Skiff of this city, formerly of the Newark Bears, may also catch for a while.

The plate umpire will be Fred Cianculli of New Rochelle, a graduate of Bill McGowan's umpiring school in Florida.

Frederick W. Ingalls, vice-chairman of the New Rochelle Cancer Campaign, will speak over the public address system before the game.

White Plains Booters To Meet Greek Club

Booters for the White Plains Soccer Club will make a determined effort to break into the win column tomorrow when they take on the strong Greek-American club from New York City at George Washington School Field in White Plains at 3 P. M.

In their last six games the local 11 has lost only once, but has played to a tie in the other five contests.

Tennis Pros Slate Match At Yonkers

Bobby Riggs' professional tennis caravan, featuring the singles duel of world pro champion Jake Kramer and Pancho Gonzales, former U. S. amateur champion, will step off for a one-night stand in Yonkers next Friday night, April 14, at the State Armory on North Broadway.

This will be the troupe's second appearance in Westchester. Earlier this year at the County Center in White Plains Kramer defeated Gonzales and Pancho Segura downed Frank Parker.

In addition to the star Kramer-Gonzales match next week, Parker will take on promoter Riggs himself in the opening singles and for the finale Riggs will team with Kramer in doubles against Parker and Gonzales, Segura has drawn from the four.

The match will be played on a green canvas, stretched tautly on top of the Armory's wooden floor.

18 homers, 10 triples and 27 doubles for a slugging mark of .596, eighth best in the league. He was second to Jack Robinson in slugging among the Dodgers and third to Robinson and Gil Hodges in runs batted in with 196.

How They Look:

Dodgers Club To Beat

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Staff

VERO BEACH, Fla.—This story could have been written last Winter but it wasn't. You had to see Dodger Manager Barney Shotton to get his opinion and he was at Bartow, Fla., since the World Series.

After Shotton licked the flu germ and reported to Brooklyn's training camp at Vero Beach, one of the first players he spoke about was Carl Furillo—the new Carl Furillo.

I walked through two barracks and up a flight of wooden stairs to Manager Shotton's suite. He and Mrs. Shotton, also recuperating from the flu, were listening to a St. Petersburg exhibition game between the Cardinals and Reds.

"All of Bartow seemed to come up with the flu," Shotton was saying as we sat down in comfortable chairs at this former naval air base.

He talked willingly about every Dodger on the roster. He said "the Dodgers are the club to beat," pointed out why his hitting would be better and, with Don Newcombe good for 20 or 25 games, why the pitching would improve. He raved about the fine job Duke Snider and Roy Campanella did during 1949, the first full season for each.

But Furillo was the apple of his grey eyes. He would talk about Carl, go off on a tangent about Carl, come back to Furillo.

Catching—The best.
Infield—Best in league.
Outfield—Good.
Hitting—Better.
Finish—Club to beat.

Another Dodger, but always come back to his right fielder who has the best arm in the majors.

"Furillo has come a long way," Shotton was saying. "He was next to last in extra base hits on the Dodgers in 1948. Now he's right around the top. I'm proud of how he has improved."

The real story on Furillo is Shotton. Barney, who is 65 and knows a good baseball player when he sees one, wouldn't quit on Furillo when Furillo quit on himself.

Carl wanted out several times last season because he felt it was in the best interests of the team. If he didn't feel up to par he wanted to rest on the bench. But Shotton talked him out of it. "You will play and hit better by playing every day," said Shotton. "You'll hit the right-handed pitchers as well as anybody. Just stick with them. I'm sticking with you so don't quit on me now."

He sold Furillo on playing every day. As Dodger Road Secretary Harold Parrott puts it, "Furillo had just as much to do with our pennant victory by hitting right-handers as did Snider by hitting the lefties. Carl hit .426 the last six weeks of the season and without him—well, let's not talk about that."

Furillo hit .297 in 1948 and had only four homers, four triples and 20 doubles. In 1949 he hit .324, fourth highest mark in the National League. He pounded out 197 hits, 10 triples and 27 doubles for a slugging mark of .596, eighth best in the league. He was second to Jack Robinson in slugging among the Dodgers and third to Robinson and Gil Hodges in runs batted in with 196.

Olympic team and international smallbore king, check the value of shots while serving as judges of the Marlin Interscholastic Rifle Tournament at the 71st Regiment Armory in New York City. # BASEBALL CLINIC ATTRACTS LOCALS

At least six Mamaroneck and Larchmont baseballers have taken part in the diamond clinic which has been running for the past week at City Park, New Rochelle. They are catchers George Vladenides and Frank Costa, hurlers Frank "Duke" Cleary and George Van Valkenburg, and infielders Bruno Distefnani and Luke Di-Ruzza. The clinic has been sponsored by the Huguenot Recreation Commission, operated by the Bristol, Conn., Owls and will be climaxed this afternoon by a game against the NYC Sanitation Department nine. The Cancer Fund will benefit from the struggle.

Vladenides followed Costa in the catching department at Bellows High School while Cleary twirled there and is highly touted as a strike-out artist. DiRuzza is a first baseman while DiStefnani operates on the left side of the inner defense. Van Valkenburg, a Larchmonter, is a southpaw with an assortment of stuff. All, of course, aim to show what they have at the clinic in hopes of entering organized baseball.

Cleary fanned seven men while hurling the B squad to a 5-2 upset over the As Thursday and may get the starting nod today. Al Barillari, manager of the Owls and a New Rochelle resident, has not listed any of the others on his first string but all are fairly certain to see action. The Sanitation team has several former major leagues on its roster and laced Army 11-2 Thursday.

FROSBITE DINGHIES WIND-UP TOMORROW

LARCHMONT — The six months Frostbite Dinghy racing season at Larchmont Yacht Club comes to an end tomorrow with the final regatta of the Spring championship series.

Bobby deCoppet, who won both the Fall and mid-Winter titles, has to battle former national champion, Arthur Knapp and other leaders on the final day before the Spring crown can be decided. However, deCoppet is virtually a certainty to retain his over-all season championship, with Jack Sutphen the likely runner-up.

Next weekend Larchmont's skippers will be at Manhasset Bay participating in the national Dinghy championships. DeCoppet is defender in the interclub class.

Student Owl Fancier Will Be Heard On Air

Rod Durkin, fourteen-year-old Scarsdale High School student and hawk and owl fancier, will be a guest of Capt. Amos L. Horst on the Westchester Wildlife broadcast over WPAS and WPAS-FM tomorrow from 5:45 to 6 P. M.

HOGAN, FERRIER BELT RUMOR BUG

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP) — Jim Ferrier and Ben Hogan had ended, maybe temporarily and possibly permanently, two rumors about their golf as the tough third round of the Masters tournament began today.

Ferrier, a giant Australian with a kink in his swing, leads the Masters with 137 strokes which should rank among the most consistent in golf and stop stories that he's erratic.

Ethel Ben, a Texan, is second with 141. Hogan's great second round in 68 strokes proves again that the quiet, intense champion is far from finished with the game he commanded until a serious automobile accident in February 1949.

Ferrier covered the Augusta national's 6,700-yard par 72 course yesterday in 67 strokes.

One shot back of Ben at 142 at the opening of the third round is Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and one stroke further in the rear is Lawson Little, another Californian from Monterey.

Younsters Herchel Spears of Huntsville, Ala., and Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., are tied at 144. Three veterans trail them by a stroke—Henry Picard of Cleveland, defending Masters champion Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Texas.

SPORTSMEN WONDER: CAN CASEY REPEAT?

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — Can Casey Stengel do it again? Can the aging New York Yankees win another for the "miracle man" manager in 1949?

The jury goes out April 13. Maybe they won't arrive at a verdict until the last day of the season, just like last year. Before they go, let's sum up a few arguments pro and con.

On the "yes" side:

The Yanks still have that strong "bench" that won for them last year. Joe DiMaggio, despite the usual scare stories, is ready to go. Jerry Coleman, a rookie unknown last Spring, is an established big league second baseman. The pitching looks strong with Allie Reynolds, Ed Lopat and Tommy Byrne showing particularly good form. There seems to be no overconfidence, no tendency to rest on last year's laurels. Oh yes, Joe Page is still around, too.

Now on the "no" side:

Tommy Henrich, hobbled by a knee injury missed most of the training grind. It still is not certain that he will be able to open the season. Bobby Brown, reported late after finishing med school and may not be ready to jump from the barrier at full speed. Hitcher Jack Sanford has shown little to make up for the $100,000 he cost over a year ago. Bob Porterfield, despite a couple of fine efforts, remains a question mark because of his old arm trouble. Most important of all, the stand pat club is a year older.

You see there's a delicate balance between the two sides. Last year Stengel's inspired moves tipped the scales the right way. Old Case never made the wrong move.

It may be asking too much for a man to never make a wrong move two years running. Old Case would be the first to admit he was lucky in some spots. Maybe he had a few good breaks coming after those dreary years in Brooklyn and Boston.

Fight Results

TOPEKA, Kan.—Bob Spaeth, 182, Topeka, stopped Billy Strauss, 179, Gary, Ind., 8.

18 Crack Pacers Nominated For Yonkers Raceway Opener

Eighteen crack pacers have been nominated for The Inaugural the $5,000 first-night feature of the New Yonkers Raceway, opening Thursday, April 27, it was announced today by William H. Cane, president.

Medium Barely Qualified

Mighty Medium, the lone two-minute flat pacer in the field, barely qualified for the event. With the veteran Frank Safford the reinsman most of the time, the five-year-old black stallion by the great Volomite, captured nine out of 15 races last year, earning $16,497. The inaugural is a 14 Class pace restricted to horses which have not won $11,000 in 1949.

Nine others have been clocked in better than 2:05. They are Rudazar, six-year-old bay stallion by Volomite, 2:01 2-5; Scottish Pence, four-year-old bay stallion by Scotland, 2:02 2-5; Dale Grattan, eight-year-old brown gelding by Silent Grattan, 2:03; Sir Banor, seven-year-old bay gelding by Double Peter, 2:03 3-5; Chief Direct, seven-year-old gelding by Chief Abbedale, 2:03 4-5; Winsocki, six-year-old bay gelding by Chief Counsel, 2:04 1-5; Bonnie Volo, ten year old bay gelding by Bonnyvaille, 2:04 1-2, Minstrel Lad, four-year-old bay stallion by Guy Day, 2:05 and Nottingham Chief, a seven-year-old grey gelding by Prince Dale, 2:05.

Other Nominations

Other nominations are Follow Up, Harkaday, La Tosca, Reliance, Theo A. Abbe and Tokyo Express.

The Spring meet at Yonkers will offer more than $249,000 in purses, a record for the first meeting of any trotting track in the country. The 12 night Summer session still run from Aug. 15-26 and the Fall dates are from Sept. 25-Oct. 28 for a total of 63 nights.

ANGLING PROSPECTS DIM FOR TROUT RUN

ALDANY, (AP) — The regular statewide trout season opened today. But, prospects for good fishing were dim in most of the state.

Streams generally were running higher than normal. The weather was cloudy and cold.

In Western New York, however, some stream levels were dropping and the waters were clearing. Sportsmen expected fishing to be good, particularly in Allegany County where the Spring freshets were about over.

There also were adverse conditions in the Western area. Considerable snow remained on the forests in Chautauqua and Cattaraugus counties and many flat, slow-flowing streams were still over their banks.

Most streams in the Eastern and Central districts were high and roily.

The minimum length for trout is seven inches and the daily limit is 10.

Trout fishermen got an early start in the Finger Lakes region where 13 creeks, inlets and their tributaries were opened last Saturday, under a bill signed by Governor Dewey. However, anglers reported little success, because of swollen streams.

Majors' Briefs

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — Bobby Brown, New York Yankee third baseman who did not report to the team until the end of March because he was earning his M. D. at Tulane, was slated to play his first game today.

His initial appearance in the contest between the Yanks and New Orleans was certain to prove quite an attraction for Tulane admirers. There was also a chance that Tommy Henrich, who hasn't played since March 13, might finally see some action.

In last night's game here with Atlanta, won by the Brooks 9-4, Carl banged two triples and a pair of singles. He knocked in five runs.

Joe Hatten became the first Dodger to pitch the full nine innings this Spring. With better support, he might have had a shutout. Joe gave up seven hits.

The Senor walloped a home run on Thursday and in yesterday's 16-12 loss to Cleveland at Shreveport, La., Reyes came through with two hits and two runs batted in.

Skipper Durocher, giving Harshman a breather, wants the young man to loosen up. The kid hits a long ball—when he connects—but still must prove he's a big leaguer.

EASTER WEEK BASKETBALL

MOUNT VERNON—Seventeen teams, including varsity cagers from seven county high schools, will open the annual YMCA Easter Week basketball tournament here Monday. Ten of the quintets are entered in the junior division, while the others are seeking the senior crown.

HIGH ROLLER among women in Westchester this season is Lillian Ellis (above) of Mount Vernon who bowled a torrid 670 series on games of 232, 232, 215 in the Women's Westchester Merchants League at Vernon Heights Recreation Alleys in Mount Vernon this week.

Club To Offer Variety For Friday's Event

"The Changing Scene in Decoration" will be the subject of a talk Friday at 11 A. M. by Mrs. Emily Hunter of Schumachers, for the American Home Department of the Woman's Club of Larchmont, as a feature of Department Day, followed by the Spring Luncheon at the Larchmont Avenue Church house. Mrs. Henry M. Shields, chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Mrs. William J. Holding is luncheon committee chairman, with Mrs. Warren A. Kipp Jr., as vice chairman. Assisting are Mrs. John C. Van Gundy, Mrs. Sumner S. Kittelle, Mrs. Roy F. Miller, Mrs. Alfred L. Buffington, Mrs. James A. Taylor, Mrs. A. Parker Cupit, Mrs. Richard L. Marvin.

Mrs. Hunter is a graduate of the New York School of Interior Decoration and has done research in Europe and the Far East. She has had extensive training in the historical background of fabrics and will illustrate her lecture with selected designs.

Following the luncheon at 1 P. M., the International Relations Department under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry P. Truesdell, will present as its speaker, Darrell R. Nordwall of Larchmont.

Mr. Nordwall, a native of Iowa, attended the University of Southern California, and is now export manager of the Crane Company. In this capacity, and also as secretary and treasurer of Crane Export, he has traveled extensively in both North and Latin America, having visited every country in both Central and South America and the West Indies within the last five years.

He is a member of the Foreign Trade Council and the Export Managers Club, and was an official delegate to the Inter-American Conference on Commerce and Industry. Mr. Nordwall will discuss ways in which international trade affects international relations with the other Americas.

Mrs. Raymond P. Reese Jr., chairman of the Drama Department, will present Barbara Quintard Robison, actress and monologist at 2:15 P. M. She will give a program of light dramatic readings.

Born and educated in New England, Mrs. Robison has played repertory in Boston and stock in Newport, R. I. During the war she acted in plays which toured Army hospitals. Mrs. Robison has given programs at the Scarsdale Woman's Club, the Westport Woman's Club, the Darien Community Association and Spence School in New York.

Judges Named For Art Exhibit Of Larchmont Woman's Club

Miss Charlotte Whinston of Mount Vernon and Eugene Nadelman and John Newton Howitt of White Plains, will be the judges for the annual art exhibit of the Woman's Club of Larchmont to be held Thursday and Friday at the Chatsworth Avenue School, it was announced today by Mrs. Leo Fish, project chairman.

Miss Whinston, a member of the National Association of Women Artists and various Westchester Art organizations has had several one-man shows exhibiting her work in oils, water color and pen and brush. She received a special Water Color Award in the American Artists Professional League, several first and second prizes in Westchester club exhibits and numerous honorable mentions.

Mr. Nadelman, a self-taught artist and sculptor, is a past-president of the Westchester Arts and Crafts Guild and is now the Forum Chairman for the guild, in charge of sketching classes, attended largely by professional artists. He has received first and second prizes in oils and recently received honorable mention for his painting from the Hudson Valley Art Association.

Mr. Howitt, a painter and illustrator, has a studio in New York and also instructs a class in landscape painting at the Westchester Workshop. He attended the Art Students League of New York and studied under Frank Dumond, George Bridgman and other artists. His work has been reproduced in most national magazines, as illustrations and covers, including recent covers of "The Saturday Evening Post," "Liberty," "Outdoor Life" and "This Week." In line and ink he is known chiefly as a landscape painter, and also paints portraits and still life. He has had many one-man shows besides entries in large exhibitions and is a recipient of the Hudson Valley Award for oil painting, the Federation of Women's Clubs popular award and the Westchester Arts and Crafts popular award. He is a member of the Artists Guild of New York, director of the Hudson Valley Art Association, and a former member of the Society of Illustrators and the Salmagundi Club of New York.

W. B. Dalton of Stamford, Conn., will exhibit his collection of hand made pottery at the Woman's Club show. He is well known to members of the club from previous years when he judged ceramic exhibits in their shows. He attended the Royal College of London and was principal of the Camberwell School of Arts and Crafts for 20 years, specializing in his art. Many of his works are taken from the old Chinese. Ceramics will be accepted for exhibition only.

Judging will take place Thursday at 3:30 P. M. and the formal opening of the exhibit will take place between 8 and 10 P. M. the same evening. Mrs. William Del Hagen, chairman of the judges' tea, will be assisted by Mrs. May Holt Batchelder and Mrs. Charles Traendly. Mrs. W. H. Hubner, chairman of the receiving committee, has requested that artists pick up their entries on Saturday between 10 A. M. and noon. Assisting Mrs. Hubner are Mrs. C. F. Lloyd and Mrs. Joe Crites.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE

A luncheon, bridge and canasta party will be held April 26 at the Bonnie Briar Country Club. Luncheon at 1 P. M. will be followed by a fashion show at 2 P. M.

Reports Heard At Meeting Of Health Center

March visits made by the nurses of the Mamaroneck Health Center went along at "a regular and steady pace" according to the report submitted to the directors yesterday at their April meeting by Mrs. Mildred F. Burns, supervising nurse. A continuing drop in the birth rate of 1950 compared with 1949 was reflected by 40 visits to newborn infants contrasted with 72 in March last year. Visits involving nursing skills or bedside care increased from 175 last year to 234 this year.

Four child hygiene clinics were held during the month with 45 attending despite a run of rainy clinic days, Mrs. Burns reported. There were two chest clinics with an attendance of 39. Classes for expectant parents continued Monday afternoons for parents and grandmothers and Thursday evenings for both parents. The total class attendance was 53.

Mrs. Arthur F. Callahan, president of the board, presided. It was decided to continue the Summer camp program on a lesser scale than last year as funds for this project are curtailed.

A new education committee was appointed by Mrs. Callahan with Mrs. Charles S. Howard as chairman, to review new developments in public health work and to report to the board.

Mrs. John M. Spader, chairman of the sewing committee, reported the receipt of two large laundry bags and a number of towels made by members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mamaroneck Methodist Church.

Other members of the board who were present included Mrs. Paul Brasteam, Mrs. John F. Auer, Mrs. George W. Brown, Mrs. Frank S. Rathbone, Mrs. J. Roy Kriner, Mrs. Charles S. Howard, Mrs. Emerson O. Heyworth, Mrs. Malcolm D. Brown, Mrs. William F. MacDonald Jr., Mrs. Irving Marsland, Mrs. Thomas E. Heatley, and and Mrs. Winfield Huntley.

200 Red Cross Volunteer Aides Needed For Veterans Hospital

The need for 200 volunteers to work at the Veterans Hospital for neuropsychiatric patients as a "vital part of the treatment and cure of the patients" was told to the directors of the Mamaroneck Health Center yesterday by Mrs. George W. Brown, a director of the Mamaroneck Red Cross Branch.

Both men and women are needed, she said, every day in the week including Sunday. The hospital opens May 8 and is expected to care for about 2,000 men. Help is asked for by the hospital officials "to bring an atmosphere of normal community living into the lives of these men. The services that volunteers can give could not be purchased through paid workers", she stressed. "It is simple, friendly things."

Gray ladies are needed to carry on a provided program of recreational activities. Persons with arts and crafts skills are needed to assist the occupational therapist, necessitating staff aides to do clerical work, instructors for hobby groups and some educational subjects are all sought by the Red Cross field director. Motor service drivers, canteen workers are needed, and entertainers, both amateur and professional.

Mrs. J. Stanley Hare, chairman of the Mamaroneck Branch of the American Red Cross, is in charge of recruitment for Mamaroneck, and will give further information to anyone who is able to answer this call.

In preparation for duty at the hospital, located near Peekskill, at Crugers, Mrs. Lawrence S. Scofield of Larchmont, has announced a staff aide course to be given April 20, 24, 27 and May 1 at 2 P. M. at the Westchester Chapter House in White Plains. The course is for volunteers chosen from a screening test which will be given Tuesdays at the chapter house from 10 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M.

The estimated number of volunteer workers needed are 10 gray ladies, four staff aides, four production and supply service workers, and four arts and skills service workers per day, two library service workers per week and two motor service workers per week or as requested. Canteen service workers and entertainment and instruction service workers assignments are to be made when requested. All workers have been requested to supply their own transportation.

If the applicant holds a certificate granted earlier for the completion of the staff aide course, it will then be necessary to attend the Red Cross orientation course, only, to be given April 27 from 11 A. M. to noon at the chapter house. Larchmont residents who are interested may contact Mrs. Walter Burbank, chairman of the Larchmont Branch of the American Red Cross, or Mrs. Walter Hinrichs, chairman of the volunteer services.

AAUW Slates Medical Dean On Education

Roger Gay, secretary for the Foundation of Integrated Education and Assistant Dean of New York Medical College will speak on "Dynamic Education for Life," at a meeting of the Evening Group of the Westchester Branch of the American Association of University Women at 8 P. M. Thursday at the home of Mrs. P. R. Ciriello, 14 Wyndham Road, Scarsdale.

The discussion will be a projection of some of the proposals made in the report of the President's Commission on Higher Education and in President Conant's book, "Education in a Divided World."

Pilgrimage Is Described

An account of her trip to Rome and other points of Catholic interest in Europe with the group recently led by Francis Cardinal Spellman was given by Mrs. Joseph P. Hartnett, member of the Catholic Woman's Club of Westchester, at the club's meeting yesterday in the clubhouse, New Rochelle.

Mrs. Hartnett, who showed colored pictures and slides taken while abroad, emphasized the Cardinal's "charang of himself" with the various smaller groups of the more than 500 who made the Pilgrimage, and noted the daily Mass and evening holy hours throughout the trip. She also described shipboard religious activities as well as those in the cities

MHS Students Attend CNR Teen-Age Retreat

A group of Mamaroneck High School students were among the 80 high school girls from Westchester, New Jersey, Connecticut and New York City who attended the annual Easter weekend retreat for girls on "Teen Age Problems" at the College of New Rochelle. Miss Virginia Scully of Larchmont was alumnae chairman of the retreat sponsored by the Westchester Catholic Action group of the CNR Alumnae Association. The Rev. James J. # Donoghue Outpoints Ed Edwards; Ruffian Tactics Displease Fans

By GUIDO CRIBARI

The hackneyed expression, "nice guys finish last" never was more adequately exemplified than last night at the County Center in White Plains where Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, lost the plaudits of some 4,000 fight-fans but won a unanimous decision from "Gentleman" Eddie Edwards of Irvington, N. J. in the feature eight-rounder.

Displaying rinx tactics that belied his baby-face appearance, Donoghue gored, pushed, punched and hacked his way to win No. 17 without defeat. But in so doing he drew the ire of a good portion of his partisan following, who were rather taken aback by his marauding methods.

Close Balloting by Officials

Voting by the ring officials, who scored the fight considerably closer than the writer was as unexpected as Donoghue's attack. Ref Ray Millea saw two rounds even, three for each battler, but favored Donoghue, seven points to six.

Judge Nick Gemboli split the fight four rounds apiece but with Donoghue ahead nine points to five. Judge Artie Schwartz's card more closely reflected the Donoghue margin of superiority as he gave him the edge, six rounds to two.

However, this observer could not help but feel that Roger's ruffian role played a major role in influencing the voting as sentiment swung considerably to the "clean cut" Jerseyite, who took his licks like a true sportsman—but he still finished last.

Topping off a card which lacked the customary verve of recent Center programs, the fighters sparred warily through the opening round in a testy session of "feeling the opponent out."

The tempo remained quiet for the first three rounds with few Donoghue lacked his usual sharp fire and although he threw a tremendous amount of leather his percentage of "clean hits" was below the norm.

Rog Scores Knockdown in 4th

The Yonkers better finally came through with devastating blows in the fourth frame as he caught Edwards along the ropes with a two fisted barrage that sent the Jerseyite to the canvas for a nine-count.

A clubbing left hook that stung Edwards repeatedly was brought into play with effectiveness in the fifth stanza as Donoghue pressed the fighting taking an occasional overhand right to the chin, but than he was receiving.

Edwards games stand came in the sixth when he was backed into a neutral corner by a furious Donoghue and was being raked by a wild flurry. Edwards coolly weathered his opponent's assault and clipped Rog with three solid cuffs to the head.

Edwards opened with more confidence to start the seventh frame but Donoghue came back to remain a fierce though somewhat ineffectual aggressor for the remainder of the bout.

The Jerseyite thus became the first opponent to go the limit with Donoghue at the Center this season. Roger enjoyed a decided reach advantage but the fighters were even on the scales, tipping the beam at 152.

In the semi-final, Frankie Lentine, 149, of Yonkers, Ohio, spent two rounds solving the unorthodox attack of Frank Navedo, 149, of the Bronx, and spent the final four rounds in dishing out a terrific lacing to take the verdict, and remain undefeated.

40 Thieves Not Needed There

Abdou Ali, 128, of Arabia, won a close decision from Vince Murray, 135, of Hempstead, in another six-rounder that was decided in the final seconds of the bout as the Arabian flowed Murray for a nine count. Giving away a lot of weight, Ali evaded the heavier-socking Murray throughout the fight and scored heavily with a straight left.

GRINNING HAPPILY about the whole thing, the St. Augustine's cagers accept the trophy symbolic of supremacy in the League from William P. Kolbe, chairman of the Kiwanis Youth League. # Larchmont League Scheduled For Vital Parley Friday Eve

The second—and possibly last—pre-season meeting of the Larchmont Softball League has been called for Friday evening at 8 P. M. in the Village Municipal Building on Larchmont Avenue. Harry Alpier, who was returned to the presidency of the LSL after a one-year absence made the announcement and is hoping that a fine turnout will enable the officials to settle all pressing problems.

Managers, representatives, sponsors—in fact anyone connected with the circuit were requested to attend this vitally important parley. Already six complete teams, with names and sponsors, have been signed up and they may constitute the loop. However, Alpiar has the names of many other groups of players who are shy a person with managerial ability before joining up. The preaxy claims that there are sponsors available and that just these pilots who will have the time to run an entry are in demand.

The teams which already have inked pacts with the Larchmont circuit are: the Depot Ways, Cavaliers, Forgemen, Tavernets, Embassy and last season's champion Americans. The 1949 loop was a six-team setup but there have been many changes. Rosters are more confined to local players now and the move in the right direction has brought out many more native Larchmonters who want the opportunity to compete. Thus, the possibility of an expansion for the LSL in '50 is strong.

After the entry situation is cleared up, Alpiar hopes to be able to start drawing up the schedule. Opening day has already been slated for Sunday afternoon, April 30th, with a doubleheader. The inaugural will naturally be a league contest but officials want the feature to be a tilt between the Larchmont king Americans and the Mamaroneck champion Gaels. Negotiations with the Gaels are now under way.

If things run smooth enough during the early part of the confab, Alpiar is going to attempt to settle all of the other difficulties: such as entree fees, ground rules and the securing of umpires.

The Village has already included in its budget an item to insure the renovation of the Flint Park Field, where all league frays are to be played. This will include the installation of a drainage system, the lack of which has caused the cancellation of many games in past campaigns.

To accomplish all of those details in one meeting seems like an enormous task but Alpiar and his aides are confident that other pre-season gatherings will be unnecessary if Friday's attendance is good enough.

COLONIALS MEET ROSE HILL QUINT

The Colonials, champion of the Mamaroneck Recreation League 1950 playoff, are active on the County Center hardwood in White Plains tonight. The local rec kingpins square off against the Yonkers Rose Hills at 8 o'clock in one of the semi-final clashes in the senior division of the 20th Annual Westchester Amateur Basketball Championships. That tilt will be contested on court "A" of the County Center arena with all three courts seeing service during the mass cage jousts.

Thus far the Colonials have had rough sledding. They had to go through three overtimes before subduing White Plains last Friday night and were pressed on Monday evening before overcoming the Ossining Red Raiders by a 35-32 count. The Rose Hills gained the semis by turning back Pelham's Hansons, 46-44. Other survivors are the Tarrytown Furnacemen and Mount Vernon Brancas, who face off in the other senior tilt tonight on court "B." The Brancas and Tarrytown had comparatively easy times of it in their quarter-final tests.

Tony Lolacono and Joe Cullen carry the weight of the Colonial attack. Both meshed 14 markers Monday against Ossining and have been mainstays all the way through the season. Lee Gibson, a tall, blonde cager, operates effectively in the bucket plus Tony Carpino, Gene Crowley and Chuck Crowley have been helpful. The latter broke up the first round battle with a pair of free tosses under pressure.

Mamaroneck entered only champions, under the false impression that the tourney was to be limited to teams of that calibre. The Basketeers in the Junior section were the only other quintet that represented this area.

Baseball Briefs

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kas.—Larry Jansen loomed today as Manager Leo Durocher's choice to hurl the New York Giants' opener next Tuesday, against the Boston Braves.

Durocher indicated a week ago that Sheldon Jones would be given the honor of hurling the inaugural at the Polo Grounds. But Jones was whacked pretty solidly by the Cleveland Indians in a five-inning stint yesterday.

Jones was charged with nine of Cleveland's 10 hits and gave up three runs. Jansen, on the other hand, has been rounding into form after a slow start and has always pitched well against the Braves. Cleveland won the game, 6-1.

BALTIMORE, Md.—Carl Erskine, who has been having his troubles this Spring, selected an opportune moment to come through for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Erskine had a no-hitter until two out in the eighth. He faced only 31 batters, striking out seven and walking three. Erskine also got four hits in five times at bat as Brooklyn won, 22-0.

CINCINNATI — Big Johnny Mize, New York Yankees first baseman who has had a bad shoulder since last August, is due to try his arm in a game any day now.

Johnny has not been able to throw properly although he has appeared in pinch-hitting roles this Spring.

ENGLISHMEN TOP 'TIMES' KEGLERS

The feature of Daily Times League bowling at the Larchmont Rec Center last night came when the Englishmen slammed 996 pins into the pits to pull out a 2-1 alley victory. The Friendly Servicemen and Oilers also registered split decision wins with only the friendly guys being able to breathe easily in the final encounter.

Jerry English's club produced four games over 200 maples in that last mighty effort and during the evening took credit for six of the 10 games in that select category. It was particularly unusual because the Englishmen started off with a poor 700 pinfall, then rocketed to 934 to set the stage for the big finals. With those big tallies they were able to garner the team high total of 2630.

Sal Mazzarella and Joe Masto shared high triple laurels with identical pin collections of 587 while Giorgio took the leadership in one-game scores on his 219. Mazzarella was the only DT kegler to slip over the double century barrier twice during the matches. The other men who turned the trick once were Marty Fader, Tedesco, Walt Webber, Len Grosso, Flynn, and Roger.

The scores:

FORTY-NINERS SURGE SNUFFS OUT SPARKS

Tallying eight runs in the last five frames, the Forty-Niners surged ahead of the Sparks yesterday at Central School to triumph by 9-5. It was the Forty-Niners' second straight victory of the infant baseball campaign before anyone else has even taken the wraps off.

Pitcher Haviland and Bob Guinee were the batting heroes for the winning side. Haviland had a perfect day at the dish with three hits, among them a double. While Guinee made his lone bingle a three-run homer in the ninth inning which tore apart a tight tussle. Paul Cunningham, Tommy Zeh and Gorham Cowl each collected a pair of Forty-Niner safeties in a 14-hit assault. Cowl went all the way on the hill for the victory.

Henderson and Fanello garnered the only extra-base wallops for the Sparks-both doubles. Chandlers handled the mound chores in all nine-stanzas for the losers, whiffing four and passing six. Cowl struck out seven and walked a trio.

HANDBALL EVENT IN ROUND OF 8

White Plains teams again dominated play last night as the field in the Westchester handball doubles tournament filled remaining places in quarter-finals of the event being staged at the White Plains YMCA.

Five host teams were on the program last night, and four of them advanced into the round of eight. As it was, the tandem that failed to move up provided the biggest news of the tourney to date, pushing a winner to the full three games for the first time.

Bowing out only after a sharp rally, the combination of Roy Fee and Shelly Robertson was sidelined after running out of gas in the third set of a 21-14, 20-21, 21-9 loss to Carmine Pellignino and Nick Tamboia. The latter duo ran into trouble at the outset, before putting together a string for the first game. Fee and Robertson came back strong in squeezing out a one-point margin in the second, but the effort took all the steam out of their attack.

Other White Plains tandems climbing into quarter-finals berths were Harry Pascall and John DaPice, Vic Vinette and Ed Vetrano, and Lou Lifrieri and John DeLeo. The Pascall-DaPice team defeated Steve Sikonitz and John Petrosky of Yonkers, 21-14, 21-8; Vinette and Vetrano ousted Bill Byrne and Dave Hanson of Larchmont, 21-12, 21-9, and Lifrieri and DeLeo eliminated Jim Maloney and Jim Welsh of Yonkers, 21-15, 21-5.

The peregrino-tamboia twosome faces Baldo and Joe Castelli of Yonkers and Jack Weitz and Domenic Carpenito of White Plains go against Al Schwartz and Charles Robertson, also of Yonkers, in opening matches at 8 o'clock tonight. One hour later, Pascall and DaPice tangle with the Vinette-Vetrano due in an all-White Plains match, while Lirrieri and DeLeo meet Harold Alexander and Meyer Marcus of New Rochelle.

LOCAL SPIRITS CAGE PC TOURNEY ENTRY

A basketball team known as the Mamaroneck Spirits has been invited to participate in the St. Mary's of Port Chester Schoolboy Tournament which opens tonight in the Sawpit City. The local courtsters engage the Port Chester Holy Names in a first round fray at 8:30, the winding of a double-header program. Eight teams will battle it out for the tourney title.

The Spirits will use three members of the 1950 Bellows Southern Westchester League cochampion quintet, one Eastchester and one Blessed Sacrament hardwood pounder plus a 1949 BHS star. The boys who wore Blue and Black during the recently completed scholastic season are Ed Petrie, Panky Vitetta and Bill Cummings while Harvey Harriott is the other East End grad. Dick Abels, who set the SWIAC on fire when he transfered to Eastchester at mid-season, plus cousin schoolboy scoring king Horst Kluger of Blessed Sacrament complete the Mamaroneck club's roster.

Petrie paced the Panthers in total points, shattered the BHS scoring record for one-game as well as for one season, and was named to the Section One All-Tournament quintet after Bellows copped the Class 'C' and lower open crowns. Harriott has appeared with the Rye Pioneers, an independent outfit, during the most part of this cage season.

Fights Last Night

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI—Artie Towne, 158½, New York, knocked out Lou Gray, 160, St. Louis, 1.

Branca Leaves Brooks To Have Arm Checked

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Ralph Branca of Mount Vernon, N. Y., a mainstay of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitching staff for a number of years, will leave the club tomorrow night at Baltimore to be examined by Dr. George H. Bennett, orthopedic specialist at John's Hopkins Hospital.

Club officials announced the plans, noting that Ralph had been troubled with a sore arm all Spring.

Branca, in a recent call to his family in Mount Vernon, noted that his arm was all right. He had pitched only two innings in the Dodgers' training tour of the minors, and given up four hits on a very cold night in Houston. He said that "the 40-degree temperature doesn't do anybody's arm any good," in referring to his two-inning stint.

POLICE SOFTBALLERS MAP CAMPAIGN PLANS

Manager Vito Fraioli represented the Mamaroneck Police Department softball Team at a meeting of the County Policemen's League early this week in White Plains. Yonkers, New Rochelle, White Plains and Greenwich were among the other communities which were represented and all had strong teams to put up before the league for approval.

In fact, the opposition appeared to have so vast a source of playing material that Fraioli was forced to withdraw the local nine from the circuit. All of the other clubs were so strong that the local MGR feared Mamaroneck would be playing in a loop out of its class.

However, the local athlete-cops don't intend to disband. They've scheduled their first practice for two weeks hence at Harbor Island and plan to book area teams only. They also hope to be able to start a local league among police departments, fire departments, service clubs and fraternal organizations.

One thing is definite. The annual best four-out-of-seven series between the cops and post office will be renewed and D'Arco again will offer a trophy to the victorious outfit.

Steward Post Is Abolished

Position of steward at the five flat racing tracks in New York State, held formerly by the late Fred Graber of Tarrytown, assemblyman from the Second Westchester District, has been temporarily abolished by the flat racing associations of the state, it was learned today.

Announcement to this effect was made public today by Robert Kelly, public relations director for the five flat racing associations of the state.

Kelly reported that since the sudden death of Assemblyman Graber in Albany three weeks ago, no less than 74 applications for the position have been received. He added that the job of steward is so strong that the local MGR feared Mamaroneck would be playing in a loop out of its class.

However, the local athlete-cops don't intend to disband. They've scheduled their first practice for two weeks hence at Harbor Island and plan to book area teams only. They also hope to be able to start a local league among police departments, fire departments, service clubs and fraternal organizations.

Richard McCabe, Ex-Hurler, Dies

BUFFALO, (AP)—Richard C. McCabe, brewery official and former pitcher in major and minor baseball leagues, died last night. He was fifty-three.

A native of Mamaroneck, McCabe pitched for the Boston Braves and the Chicago White Sox, as well as for Buffalo and Jersey City in the International League, Port Worth in the Texas League and Hollywood and Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League.

He had been with the William Gluinon Brewery for 10 years and was made vice president in charge of sales three years ago.

FRIENDLY VILLAGERS STICK TO ONE SWEEP

One sweep per week seems to be the trend for the Friendly Village female keglers who roll each Tuesday evening at the Mamaroneck Rec Center. Last night it was the Cleavers who furnished the propelling force while the Expressettes and Sal's Gals back seats although they recorded 2-1 triumphs. The Expressettes had garnered the shutout last week.

The tightest scrape in individual scrambling took place in the series running when Ethel Heyer nosed out M. J. Downer with a 495 pinfall. The runner-up had one pin less to her credit. Mary Spero's 204 was much too high a single tally for anyone else to cope with and she waltzed off with the honors there.

In picking up three games for their win column the Cleavers toppled a nightly high of 1799 timbers but a 665 unit single by the Marketteas prevented the standouts from doing any further sweeping.

The scores:

JOCKEY SUSPENDED

Andrew Ponzi, Billiard Ace, Dies At 47

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andrew Ponzi, three-time winner of the world's pocket billiards title and one of the game's most popular players, died yesterday in Hahnemann Hospital. He was forty-seven.

Ponzi was stricken with a heart attack two weeks ago.

His death came less than a month after that of another famed cue artist in the same hospital, Ralph Greenleaf, fifty, one of the top players of the game and 14-times world champion, died of a cerebral hemorrhage on March 15.

Ponzi's wife, the former Madeline Bowles of the Ziegfeld Follies, and their three children, Dolla, fifteen; Louisa, seven, and Madeline, one, were notified of his death at their home in Salem, Va.

RYE TRACK DEADLINE FOR ENTRIES MAY 3D

Deadline for entries in the Third Annual Rye Invitation Track and Field Championships is May 3, meet director Paul Fairfield revealed yesterday. The cinder event—cosponsored by the Rye Board of Education and Young Men's Council, will be held at the Rye High School Field on Saturday, May 13th.

The event has been set to get rolling at 1:30 P. M. with 21 events included on the crowded program. The meet is expected to last through at least 4 P. M. It will be split into three divisions: AAU Senior, high school and elementary school. The meet has the approval of the New York State Public High School Athletic Association, the NPSHSAA, as well as the A. A. U.

WINGS IN FAST START IN HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

DETROIT, (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings were off to a flying start in the final Stanley Cup hockey playoffs today and it looked as if the New York Rangers would have a hard time catching them.

The Red Wings, playing without their two star forwards, Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe, whipped the New Yorkers 4-1 last night in a game that became one-sided after the first 40 minutes of play.

The victory put the Wings one up in the best-of-seven championship series which shifts to Toronto for games No. 2 and 3 tomorrow and Saturday night.

ITO Discussed For LWV At Two Meetings

The object and provisions of the International Trade Organization was the subject discussed yesterday by the Manor Group of the League of Women Voters of Larchmont at the home of Mrs. Herbert Klein of 9 Thompson Place, Larchmont.

Mrs. Isidor Greenwald, international Relations chairman, discussion leader explained that the charter of the ITO was adopted at Havana in 1948 by representatives of more than 50 countries, including the leaders in world trade. "It aims to increase the flow of trade between all nations and heal economic sore spots," she said. "By increasing well-being in all countries there is hope of helping to avert future wars. The charter is now awaiting ratification and all eyes are on the action of the United States. As soon as the U. S., who initiated and promoted the plan approves, other countries will follow. To date no action has been taken on this vital document."

Some of the provisions of the charter are that all nations receive equal treatment, that there be a gradual reduction of trade barriers in the form of quotas, tariffs, preference and monetary controls, she stated. Regulations are to apply to individuals and countries alike and economic aid is to be given for reconstruction of war devastated areas and to promote economic growth of underdeveloped countries, Mrs. Greenwald pointed out.

At present, she noted the only country to have ratified the charter is Liberia. "Although the United States was the instigator of ITO and its charter was submitted to Congress over a year ago by President Truman, so far no action has been taken," she concluded.

The same subject was discussed Tuesday by the Woods and Gardens Groups of the LWV of Larchmont at the home of Mrs. A. B. Fisher of Larchmont Acres Apartments, Larchmont. The two meetings were held to familiarize League members with the ITO.

Club To Open Saturday For New Season

The Hampshire Country Club will open for the season Saturday following complete remodelling, renovating and redecorating carried on under the supervision of Harold Frankel of Larchmont, chairman of the house committee in charge of club improvements.

New members now are Samuel Gottlieb, Herbert Noble, Jerome Siegel, Maury Medwick, William Curtis, Donald Goodman and Jerome Wanshel, all of Larchmont, Hyman Federman of New Rochelle, William Schwartzreich of Mamaroneck and Simon Kagan of Tuckahoe.

Officers of the club are Leo Berger of Mount Vernon, president; Samuel B. Magid of Mamaroneck, treasurer and Isidore Weltzner of New Rochelle, secretary.

Concert Ushers Named For Barnard's Benefit

Ushers for the Barnard-in-Westchester concert to be held April 19 at the Greenville Community Church in Scarsdale, have been announced by Mrs. Berthold Comeau of Scarsdale, ways and means chairman for Barnard-in-Westchester. The ushers, all members of the junior choir of the Greenville Community Church, and residents of Scarsdale, are Barbara Atkinson, Nancy Leeming, Patricia Chapman and Joyce Lewis.

Mrs. Elwood Lewis of Scarsdale is in charge of the group. Proceeds from the concert by the Reader's Digest Chorus, John R. Jones directing, will go toward the Barnard-in-Westchester scholarship fund.

SON TO BONOS

Polish Bass-Baritone Presents Program At Tooker Residence

Paul Prokopieni, noted Polish bass-baritone who has been described as successor to the great Chaliapin, entertained last night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Tooker of 19 Pine Brook Drive, Larchmont.

The distinguished artist, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pulaski of Rye, was accompanied by Basil Basilevsky, for his first appearance in Westchester. His selections ranged from a group of operatic arias to the "Carpathian Brigade," a patriotic song composed for him.

Blackstone Studios
MRS. OSCAR M. RUEBHAUSEN

Mr. Prokopieni recently returned from a tour of Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and the middle west and will perform his first concert in the Metropolitan area shortly before starting a Spring concert tour.

A protegee of Chaliapin and Tadeusz Orda-Zalewski and the son of poor parents in a tiny village in eastern Poland, Mr. Prokopieni was discovered by Orda-Zalewski while singing in a second-class restaurant and was taken to Warsaw. Under the patronage of Ryszard Wraze, the Polish writer and journalist, and the supervision of Orda-Zalewski, Prokopieni received his musical education, and sang in the Warsaw Opera House Choir. Later, he went to Italy where he studied under Professor Adolfo Fescia, and attended St. Cecilia's Academy in Rome. In 1932 he won the first prize in the International Vocal Contest in Vienna.

Prokopieni has sung bass-baritone roles throughout Poland, France, Belgium, Italy, Russia, and the middle east. In London he gave a Promenade Concert at Albert Hall accompanied by the Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Sir Henri Wood. He has appeared on the concert stage with such notables as Tito Schipa, Toti dal Monte, Benvenuto Franci, Beniamino Gigli, Maria Caniglia, Jan Kiepura, and Titta Ruffo.

During the war, as an officer in the Polish Army, he sang more than 500 concerts for the allied forces, for which he was awarded four classes of the Polish Military Order of Merit, one with swords for special service. As an exponent of his native music Prokopieni is quoted by the Polish "Kurier Warszawski" as "undoubtedly the best Polish bass, the only one capable of propagating Polish music abroad."

In addition to Polish honors, Prokopieni has received awards from the rulers of many European countries, including the Cross mandorlai corona d'Italia and the Greek and Belgian Commandoria. The Pope bestowed the Great Ribbon and St. George's Star upon him after he had sung at the Vatican.

Unable to return to Poland because of political conditions, Mr. Prokopieni has come to the United States where he received an enthusiastic welcome several years ago when he was here on a concert tour.

Guests who attended last night's party at the Tooker home were Mr. and Mrs. Pulaski, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Winslow of New Rochelle, G. Wilks Conaway, singer, Thomas Francis Ritt, of New York, author and critic and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darabini of White Plains.

U.N. Observer To Speak For Voters League

Mrs. Oscar Ruebhausen, official League of Women Voters observer at the United Nations, will speak on the International Trade Organization at the open meeting of the League of Women Voters of Larchmont Monday at 1 P. M. at the home of Mrs. Ralph L. Blair of 18 Linden Avenue, Larchmont.

Mrs. Ruebhausen, a graduate of Vassar College, worked as program secretary for the New York State League of Women Voters and did research in the administration of government for the Spellman Fund of New York between 1930 and 1941. She also did a short survey on strikes for the National Association of Manufacturers and worked for Standard Brands, Inc., during those years.

During 1941 and 1942, Mrs. Ruebhausen was secretary to the assistant secretary of the Navy for Air and during 1943 and 1946 she was on the staff of the United States League of Women Voters writing on the economics and foreign policy. She is first vice-president of the New York City LWV in charge of the finance drive.

At a business meeting preceding the talk Mrs. S. V. Hirsch, man, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the slate of officers for 1950-51. Election of officers will take place at the league's annual meeting on May 22. Progress reports will be presented.

Mrs. Walter Chudson has announced that Mrs. George Cobban Jr., of the Scarsdale League, will speak on the Federal Reserve System April 28 for the Economics Workshop, at the home of Mrs. White of 61 Woodbine Avenue, Larchmont. Local residents are invited.

300 Support CDA Annual Charity Bridge

Approximately 300 persons attended the annual Spring bridge held by Court Fidelis No. 91, Catholic Daughters of America, last night in the Blessed Sacrament School auditorium. Mrs. William Loock, general chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Grady, Mrs. Veryl R. Mellinger, Grand Regent, and a committee of more than 20.

The Rev. George P. McGrath, Chaplain of the Court, addressed the gathering and announced that all proceeds from the bridge will be used for charity.

Annual Reports Are Presented As Girl Scout Council Meets

Mrs. T. W. Nale took office as the new treasurer of the Larchmont Girl Scout Council yesterday at the Girl Scout House on Harmon Drive, during the regular meeting of the Council and reading and filing of annual reports.

A corsage was presented Mrs. George Nixon, retiring treasurer, by Council members. Mrs. Walter Reich, hospitality chairman, was hostess for the dessert luncheon preceding the meeting, with Mrs. Olney Steffens, commissioner, presiding.

Mrs. Arthur Brown, program chairman, announced the Hobby Show to be held May 7 and a Brownies Play Day to be held May 27 at Rye Park. Miss Ena Wormell, Play Day chairman, will be assisted by Brownie leaders.

A training session for leaders was announced by Mrs. R. K. Turner, camp chairman, to be held in conjunction with the May leaders' meeting as preparation for the week end camping at Rock Hill from May 19 to May 21.

Other Council members attending were Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. Mahlon Beakes, Mrs. Frank Booth, Mrs. Slater Barkentin and Mrs. Fred Mills of the Leaders Association.

A resume of annual reports of the Girl Scout organization, a benefactory of the Larchmont-Community Chest, showed a total of 346 Girl Scouts registered in Larchmont, with 47 adult leaders and Council members, four Brownie troops, three Senior troops and seven Intermediate troops.

Council activities planned by the program committee in addition to regularly scheduled troop activities include a family picnic at Saxon Woods, a pet show held in cooperation with the Humane Society, a Christmas party with all troops participating, a hobby show with collections of arts and crafts exhibited, mother-daughter tea and Court of Awards, and daddy daughter dinner and Court of Awards.

The reports showed awards given during the year as follows: 524 badges, 107 first and second class ranks and service awards, one 25 year pin, two 20 year pins, three 15 year pins, four 10 year pins and six five year pins.

Service projects covered holiday tray favors for the Blyinciale Home for Crippled Children, toys and games, parties for boys at Rhinelander Cottage of Childrens Village, gifts for the Salvation Army for the Aged, Jennie Clarkson Home, and Coburn Home, and Braille cards for the Batavia Home for the Blind.

Community service during the year included providing ushers for the early bird matinees sponsored by the Larchmont-Mamaroneck Motion Picture Council, assisting the Garden Club of Larchmont with projects for Grasslands Hospital, cooperating with the Camp Fire Girls in decorating the Larchmont Public Library, assisting with the Red Cross fund campaign, cooperating with the Lions Club in "Operation Democracy," assisting with philanthropies of the Woman's Club of Larchmont, and serving at church groups' dinners.

In the field of international friendship, members contributed to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund and participated in the national Girl Scout project of filling school bags for "Schoolmates Overseas."

Camp activities included 32 Larchmont girls who spent a total of 94 weeks at Rock Hill, Girl Scout camp at Mahopac, ten free half - campership awards and weekend camping and overnight trips.

Dr. Kraushaar College Clubs' Guest Speaker

Dr. Otto F. Kraushaar, president of Goucher College, will be guest speaker April 25 at the Spring luncheon of the Westchester Council of Women's College Clubs at the Bonnie Briar Country club in Larchmont.

The Council will hold a business meeting and annual election of officers at 11:15 A. M. in the club lounge and the luncheon is slated for 12:30 P. M. All alumnae of the 21 member colleges are welcome to attend the luncheon and may make reservations by April 19 with Mrs. Harry R. Jackson, 15 Crescent Road Larchmont.

Dr. Kraushaar, who became president of Goucher two years ago was formerly professor of philosophy at Smith College. He is a native of Clinton, Iowa, and was educated at the State University in Iowa receiving his A. B. degree in 1924 and his A. M. in 1927. He took his Ph. D. at Harvard in 1933 and has since received his LL D. from Smith and Dickinson Colleges.

After serving as a high school principal in Iowa in the 20's, Dr. Kraushaar became a lecturer at the University of Iowa and, from 1927 to 1930, was an assistant and instructor at Harvard and Radcliffe Colleges. He joined the Smith faculty in 1933. He has also served as visiting professor at Amherst and Mount Holyoke and conducted a series of public lectures for three years at Harvard Summer School.

During the war Dr. Kraushaar served as education officer for the 9th Air Force in Cairo, Egypt, where he organized the Middle East branch of the U. S. Armed Forces Institute supervising Army educational activities in the Middle East, Iran, Iraq and Africa. He returned to this country in December, 1944, to help organize educational programs in Bermuda, Newfoundland, Labrador, Greenland and Iceland. He then went to the Pacific Theater to serve as chief education officer under Gen. Douglas MacArthur first in Manila and then in Tokyo where he organized the Army's post-hostilities educational program which is still in operation. He holds six war decorations including the Legion of Merit medal.

Dr. Kraushaar is the author of many articles on philosophy as well as Army education program manuals and is associate editor of the Journal of Philosophy. He is a member of numerous educational organizations including the American Association of University Professors, and the National Education Association and is a member of the Executive Committee of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association.

Mrs. George Lysle of Scarsdale, Mount Holyoke, will preside at the business session assisted by the following officers: Mrs. Adrian Massie of Rye, Sweetbriar; vice chairman; Mrs. Arthur C. Chapman of Scarsdale, Mount St. Vincent, secretary; and Mrs. Frederick Terry of Larchmont, Wells, treasurer.

Mrs. J. R. Williton of Larchmont, Wilson, is in charge of plans for the luncheon. Her committee includes Mrs. Jackson Wheaton, Mrs. Lester Coll of Larchmont, Wilson, and Mrs. Norman McDonald of Scarsdale, Connecticut College.

'Silly' Question Needs Answer: Laugh It Off

By EMILY POST

The following complaint has many supporters: "What may I tactfully say to people who ask me when I'm going to get married? Usually, they bring up the discussion at very conspicuous moments. It is most annoying, sometimes even embarrassing — particularly since I've never given anyone the slightest reason to think I had any intention of getting married."

This question is the counterpart of the comment to every child "My! how you've grown!" Anyway, the best way to "take it" is to laugh and say, "When I find him"

Question: What do you consider the first thing to teach young girls in preparation for being hostesses? These girls are members of a Brownie Troop.

Answer: Teach them to cultivate the habit of noticing what other people seem to like.

Question: According to etiquette which is better form, to call your mother-in-law "Mom" or "Mother Jones" or some other pet name, or to call her "Mrs."?

Answer: Find out what she would like to be called and call her that.

Question: On a strictly formal occasion, is it still considered correct for a woman to wear long white gloves? I'm thinking of such an occasion as being presented at the Court of St. James'

Harvard Student Hurt As Bomb Wrecks Sill

The blast injured one student, endangered others and threw 150 freshmen into an uproar. It shattered more than a score of panes of glass and blew out a window frame.

The bomb apparently was made of dynamite. Yard police Chief Alvin Randall said he believed it was the work of pranksters.

FENCES MENACE DRIVERS

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) —Unpainted corrugated aluminum sheets used on roofs and fences are proving a menace to motorists here. Blinding flashes of light during certain hours of the day were a great danger to motorists, said the Municipal architect, Mr. C. O. Jennings.

Growing Child May Need Help Of Special Kind

By ANGELO PATRI

John George is thirteen years old and as big as his father, who is no small specimen. Lately John George, who has a very high I.Q. and of whom very high marks are expected by his teachers and parents, has taken no interest in his lessons. He sits by the radio listening to the ball games whenever he gets a chance and that is about the only interest he seems to have. His school marks grow worse and worse but John George does not turn a hair.

For seven to eight years John George worked diligently at his lessons, did everything his father and mother and teachers asked him to do with good will and fine results. "All of a sudden he changed."

He changed—but not all of a sudden. You see, John George has to take time out to grow. Nature has made that his chief business and who can fight Nature once she takes over? Certainly not the thirteen-year-old boy whose muscles, nerves and blood must feed expanding organs, so that none is left for such exacting things as problems in mathematics. John George is tired.

During this period a boy like this requires extra nourishment, extra sleep, plenty of play to use his growing body (if he will play) and the understanding help of the family physician. No pressure of work should be placed on this overgrown lad. Wait for him to catch up to himself and he will make up all the lessons, all the learning that is necessary.

"But he will be behind his class," plead his parents. What of it? He is ahead of them all in growth, isn't he? Doesn't that count? He has a very keen intelligence. What do you suppose he is going to do with that? Give him time. Help him through this period of fast growth of body and in time he will be able to enrich his mind to his and everybody else's satisfaction.

This boy whose body is maturing so fast is still a thirteen-year-old child. He will be as childish as his age would imply, cry easily, fly into a temper without provocation, relapse into sullen silence, overeat, want food that is good for him, or in excess of what he should have. He is a complex problem and his father and mother will need all the help the physician can offer them, and all the patience and sympathy their love for him supplies. In time, not too long, he will change again. He is changing every day. Lend him a hand. Now, when he needs it most, and never mind the school marks for a while.

No More Snow Ahead, Weather Bureau Says

The snow this morning was just an after-taste of Winter, the Weather Bureau said—no more is in immediate prospect, although it will remain unseasonably cold.

In fact tonight may be colder than last night with a low between 25 and 30. It will continue cool tomorrow, the forecast said, with highs 45 to 50.

Fire Acropolis, Aide Urges; Federation Takes No Action

MOUNT VERNON — Charges against John Acropolis of Yonkers as president of the Westchester Federation of Labor and a demand for his removal from office were presented last night by Henry Chartier, secretary-treasurer, at a meeting of the federation at ILGWU headquarters.

While Mr. Chartier today declined to elaborate, explaining that he desires that the dispute be kept within the federation, it is reported that the charges contend that Mr. Acropolis, who is president of Local 456 of the Teamsters Union, "overstepped" his authority in a recent controversy with the operators of the New Yonkers Raceway.

Mr. Chartier is delegate to the federation from Local 32-E Building Service Employes Union, with which the track operators signed a contract. This action led to a dispute in which the federation and the Westchester Building and Construction Trades Council picketed the track.

The picketing was halted by a court order and later a settlement was reached between the unions and the track.

The charges and the demand that Mr Acropolis be unseated were read to the delegates representing the 40 unions in the federation, but no further action was taken last night. It is said the customary procedure is for the executive board of the federation to set a date for a hearing on the charges.

Both Mr. Acropolis and Mr. Chartier have held their respective posts in the federation since its reorganization in May, 1948.

POLICE FORCES GROW

CHICAGO (AP) Cities are building up their police forces. The International City Managers Association says cities of more than 10,000 population now have an average of two police employes for each 1,000 residents. The wartime low, in 1945, was 1.58.

McAloon, Mrs. Gloria Minerd was appointed kindergarten teacher at the Barry Avenue School to fill the post pacated by Miss Zita Cullinan who will be married this week. Mrs. Minerd is a graduate of William and Mary College and has had five years' teaching experience.

Mr. McAloon announced a School Board Institute April 18 at Teachers' College, Columbia, on the topic "The School Board Looks at the Educational Program"; also a meeting of the New York State School Boards Association May 8 in the White Plains High School cafeteria.

A meeting of the board acting as a committee of the whole is slated for Monday at 8 P. M. with Dr. Herbert P. Landry who is studying problems of the Rye Neck district.

Commenting on the fact that no fire drills were held last month, Trustee Burchell suggested that one should be held once a month, especially in the Barry Avenue building. Mr. McAloon explained that, since the pupils are trained to pass out of the building quickly without hats or coats, the drills are usually skipped during the Winter months.

Mrs Livesey reported that she had visited the Barry Avenue School, had met the new kindergarten teacher and was impressed with the art work the students have done.

Reporting for the Planning Committee, Mr. Burchell said he thought the Community Educational Planning Committee would be expecting some acknowledgement of the content of its recent two-volume report from the board. Board President Raymond T. O'Connell suggested that the administrative staff and the board plan a series of meetings to study the report section by section.

Clerk Edward Julier distributed information concerning dates and hours of registration and voting and the qualifications of voters. Voters will register April 21 and 22 from 1 to 9 P. M. at Bellows High School. The annual district meeting will be held May 2 at 8 P. M. and the election of trustees will take place May 3 from 1 to 9 P. M. at Bellows.

FIVE CASES SLATED BY ZONERS TONIGHT

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing at 8 o'clock tonight at the Mamaroneck Municipal building. The variance application of George B. Nichols, who proposes to erect an automobile service station at East Post Road and Wagner Avenue, is slated for consideration.

The Shell Oil Company's routine request for a variance to replace its present frame service station at West Post Road and Old Boston Post Road with a modern building will also be considered.

Meffert and Company asks a variance to permit the erection of a two-story addition to its present non-conforming structure at Palmer and Maple Avenues; and Sidney Milwe is asking permission to extend a non-conforming enclosed porch at Wood and Grove Streets to 14 feet from the property line.

Sebastian Pettinato of Harbor Heights is requesting consent to the conversion of his present two-family dwelling for three-family occupancy.

TIN PRICE DECLINES HIT EXPORT TRADE

BANGKOK (AP)—A decline of world tin prices has severely hit Siamese tin exporters. Tin dealers who sold tin to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation when the price was $1.03 per pound and received advances of 85 per cent now find they have to make refunds because the price is down to 74½ cents.

The R.F.C. makes its purchases on the consignment basis paying at the price ruling 30 days after arrival of the shipment at Galveston, Texas. Shipments from Bangkok take about two months in transit.

Amateur Cage Finale Beckons To Colonials

Basketball will draw its final gasp in Westchester tonight with the final battles in five divisions of the County amateur tourney slated for the County Center arena in White Plains.

Action will get under way at 4:15 o'clock when the New Rochelle Rockets meet the Peekskill Midget Aces for the midget division and the program is packed right down to the windup engagements at 9 P. M. in the older age brackets. Senior division play is slated to function at 7:30 when the favored Brancas tackle the Mamaroneck Colonials.

Last night the Colonials made the Yonkers Rose Hill quinte: their latest victim with a 40-35 semi-final victory. In the other end of the senior battling the standards scored by 75-74 over a taller Rye Pioneer quintet. Eddie Prett and Peanuts Leviness paced the Mt. Vernon squad with 23 and 21 markers, respectively while the latter's brilliant action in the waning moments turning the tide. The latter lumber tossed in 18 for the Rye cagers.

Tony Loiaconi set the pace for the Mamaroneck combo, lone local rec champion to make the round of finals. As her usual. Tony's play-setting and outside shooting were instrumental as the Rose Hills succumbed in a rather listless encounter.

The other Mt. Vernon quintet, the Branca, downed the Tarrytown Furnacemen despite Bill Byrne's scintillating performance. The Yonkers Unioneers won their third consecutive "close squeeze" by advancing over the Hastings Doughboys 69-64.

One championship was decided last night when the 42d Military Police of Mount Vernon romped to a top-sided 59-28 victory over the Port Chester Bakers to copp the Industrial Division crown. Jimmy DiLieto, of the MP's set a tourney individual scoring mark as he paced the victors with 41 tallies.

In reference to finalists White Plains, Yonkers and Mount Vernon have placed two apiece. Peekskill, New Rochelle, Eastchester, and Mamaroneck have filled one slot each.

Attendance at the tournament reached its lowest ebb last night as fewer than 150 spectators were on hand for the succession of stirring contests.

Jaspers Rout Holy Namers In Tourney

The St. Mary's of Port Chester Tournament opened last night and the highlight of first round fray occurred when the Mamaroneck Jaspers steamrollered the Holy Namers 105-52.

The other encounter last night saw the New Rochelle Braddock AC trip the St. Rocks of Greenwich 50-40. Mamaroneck now must tackle the Hugnonots Friday evening in the semi-finals.

Holy Name furnished trouble for the locals only in the opening session. The scouts was 9-8 at the end of that canto but the Jaspers blew the lid off with 30 markers in the second quarter and left for the rest period with a 17-point bulge. After that it was just a question as to how high the count would go.

Dick Abele, the Eastchester High scoring ace, topped the Jaspers with 30 points. Ed Petrie trailed with 26 while Harvey Harriott collected 24. Panky Viletta was the fourth local double-figure man with 18 markers.

Harriott and Petrie were rejoined in their patented fast-break specialty after a year's layoff since the former graduated from Bellows High School. With that deadly weapon those two looked like the flashiest of a well-poised Mamaroneck entry.

BAUER GIRLS PLAN TRY AT PRO GOLF

Marlene, sixteen, and Alice, twenty-two, said yesterday, through rather Dave, they were giving up their amateur standing to join the professionals.

They will enter their first tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., April 29 under the management of Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Women's Professional Golf Association. Opponents will include pro's Babe Didrickson Zaharias and Patty Berg.

Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U. S. Golf Association, said the Bauers have the best wishes of the USGA because "they are a nice family."

The USGA said last month it was investigating the amateur standing of the two youngsters and there was talk of barring them from future tournaments. Dey refused to say yesterday on what charges his group was checking the girls. The USGA now will drop the investigation.

TURCO HITS 300 IN PISTOL DRILL

Town of Mamaroneck police picked up their pistol practice firing yesterday in the Headquarters Range and for the first time in three outings Officer Lawrence McAllister had to step aside to a superior performance. McAllister, the department champ who swept both the Wullschleger and Messersmith Trophies last year, missed a perfect card by one point for the third straight day and saw Patrolman Louis Turco turn the trick on precision shooting from the long range plus rapid fire. The last 300 card was turned in by McAllister in 1949.

A total of 15 members of the force turned out to the preliminary rounds yesterday. Pressing the top men were Set. Francis Waterbury with 294, Officer Christopher Lovejoy one more point behind and Patrolman John Caputo with a card showing just nine imperfections.

Next Wednesday the qualification trials will be held, followed by trophy competition Thursday and Friday.

FIXTURES MAKE BID FOR BOWLETTE LEAD

Forging into the season stretch drive, the Fixtures made their bid last night at the Larchmont Bowl by trumping the pace-setting Pharmacists to draw within three lengths of the Bowlette League leadership. The Jewelers, Sparks and Realettes also had sweeps to deliver during the six-match program while the third place Apparels copped a split verdict to inch within four games of the top rung.

The rolling of a 198 single furnished the padding for Fran Vanderheuen to garner both individual honors. Her three game pinfall was 510, the only half-century total of the night.

BRANCA SAYS WING IS "A LITTLE STIFF"

By BILL ROACH

Reports from the Dodger swing through the Texas-Georgia area boosted Ralph's chilled mound misles into a "very sore arm."

"It's nothing of the sort," says Ralph. In a telephone conversation with his family yesterday, Ralph said "this arm felt good. I was throwing hard today and it didn't bother me," he explained.

"The arm has been a little sore from my elbow to the shoulder. But I'm sure it's nothing more than a cold," he assured.

It was 50 degrees in Baltimore yesterday where the Dodgers were listed for a game with the Orioles. Even so, Ralph reported his arm much looser.

He was to be examined today by Dr. George H. Bennett orthopedic specialist at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. The Mount Vernonite said, "I just want to have the arm checked, and I'm sure I'll be ready in a couple of days."

The tall right hander was due to arrive home this evening. He expected to make the trip to Boston with the club and hopes to pitch in one of the games in the opening series.

RALLIES BRING WINS IN HANDBALL EVENT

Two teams resting in semi-finals slots today were very near elimination last night before powering to victory in the Westchester handball doubles tournament at the White Plains YMCA. In each instance, the winning combination dropped the opening game, then warded off determined bids in the final two games.

Ear-marked as one of the title favorites, the Yonkers duo of Al Schwartz and Charles Robertson actually trailed Jack Weiss and Domenic Carpenito of White Plains in the second and third games before pulling the decision out of the fire. The Plainsmen surprised by going ahead, 21-11, at the outset, but couldn't continue the pace, despite late advantages in the next periods. Schwartz and Robertson rallied at this juncture to win, 21-16, 21-18.

Much the same situation existed in the all-White Plains match between Harry Pascali-John DePice and Vic Vlachic-Ed Veriano. The latter grabbed the opening game, 21-14, but fell out of step thereafter losing by 21-17, 21-12.

Carmine Pelligrino and Nick Tamboia qualified for an upper bracket berth by disposing of the Yonkers brother tandem of Baldo and Joe Castelli 21-3, 21-12. The fourth spot went to Harold Alexander and Meyer Marcus of New Rochelle, with a 21-18, 21-14 triumph over Lou Lirrieri and John DeLeo of White Plains.

There's A Touch Of Texas Golf In Them Thar Metropolis Hills

There's more than just a little touch of Texas these days around the Metropolis Country Club in White Plains where Houston-bred Jack Burke Jr. holds forth as the club professional.

For in addition to Burke who was the sensation of the Winter golf tour with his brilliant subpar golf, there are two new assistant pros who also hail from the Lone Star State.

Assisting Burke this year will be Joe Moore Jr. of San Antonio and Bob Watson of Wichita Falls. To round out the Texas contingent is Bob Mason, pro shop manager.

Nevertheless the drawled A is not the only unique feature of the Metropolis coterie for fine golfing background is also very much in evidence. Burke's outstanding play during the current campaign has received considerable attention as he has fought nip and tuck with Sammy Snead and Jimmy Demaret for the top spot in prize winnings, Vardon Cup average and Ryder Cup points.

Burke Has Pocketed $10,800

At this stage of the tour Burke has earned $10,800 in purses, and boasts a 69.30 average for the Vardon Cup besides accumulating 244 points in the Ryder Cup competition.

Only twenty-seven years old, Jack laughingly points out that he has had but 26 years of golfing experience. The son of a famous Houston pro, who died several years back, the Metropolis pro cannot remember when he was not playing golf. Newspaper pictures dating back 15 years show him swinging under the watchful eye of his father and the caption tell of golf rounds in the low 70's for a youngster of only twelve years.

In picking out the three particular items which have accounted for his recent success, Burke credited Craig Wood with a suggestion that changed the hand grip; Kay Mangrum with pointing out the proper psychological approach to golfing, and practice swinging with a weighted club a la Gene Sarazen.

A Mental Hazard Eliminated

Wood's suggestion changed the position of Burke's left hand and eliminated what the young pro described as the "fear" of hooking. This fear, according to Burke, is as great a hazard as the actual "hooking." Two full years of practice followed the original suggestion before the dividends on the change over were reaped.

Mangrum's idea which furnished a solid psychological basis for golf involved a simple routine of setting an attainable goal. Too often, Burke pointed out, a golfer sets some impossible goal such as a 66 for which to aim. A bogey or two makes it impossible and the resulting frustration often leads to rounds of 78 or worse.

A Master Psychologist

By setting "reasonable" goals Burke seldom found himself in the poor mental frame of being several strokes down to a goal which was practically impossible. In further developing this theme, Burke emphasized the need for playing each individual hole rather than visualizing an entire 18-hole round. The concentration resulting from this sort of play is often all that is necessary to reduce scores.

In reviewing the Winter tour, Burke said that he felt his best golf was played in the Los Angeles open where he finished a stroke behind Sam Snead and Ben Hogan who tied for first at 280. This golf he displayed at the Riviera layout, according to Burke, even surpassed the record-smashing 264 which earned him $2,000 first place money in the Rio Grande open at Harlingen, Texas.

A 64 His Turning Point

Burke's plans call for a number of tournaments in the Spring and Summer with the next stop at Virginia Beach, Va., where he will be driver for one of the teams in a unique specialist tournament.

Not nearly so much in the national limelight but exceedingly capable linksters are the two new Metropolis assistant pros. Moore is a former infantry lieutenant who saw action in North Africa, Italy, France, and Germany. After the war he attended Louisiana State University where he captained the golf team that copped the National Intercollegiate Team championship in 1947.

Tied Stranahan in Texas Open

In addition to holding the course record of 62 on the 71 par LSU layout, Moore has annexed innumerable golfing titles in his native state as well as the Southeastern Conference golfing title. In 1939 he won the state junior title and tied with Frank Stranahan with a 276 in 1947 to share the amateur record in the Texas open.

Watson's list of achievements is equally impressive. He copped the Southwestern Conference championship while playing on the U. of Texas' golf team. He also lists a number of conquests in the South and West, plus a war record as a B24 crew chief. They're All Bachelors

The list of features which each have in common in addition to the drawl and the golfing ability also includes the facts that each is about twenty-seven years old and single. To round out this timeination of factors in which they are in complete accord—all three are in harmony about the most essential feature of the golfing game.

ROCCA-MAZURKI TIFF IN WRESTLING SHOW

Mike Mazurki, who meets Antonino Rocca in the top match, is an old hand at show business, having been schooled in the Hollywood version of make-believe for the past 10 years. The screen star combines acting and wrestling very nicely. In fact, it was Mazurki's dramatic ability in the ring that helped launch his career as a badman in the movies.

For the pseudo Californian, tomorrow night's showing at the Center will be in the nature of a homecoming since he used to be a mat attraction in the days before World War II. Rocca, the foot-happy Argentinian, is unbeaten in half a dozen Westchester appearances this season.

The program will open with Mike Pardonis of Greece and Lou Vertucci of Cleveland in the first match. Irish Mike Clancy of Boston and Jim Amferiet of Passaic tangle in another test, and Tony Martinelli of Italy and Jack Dillon of Boston square off in the remaining match.

MSL EX-CHAMPS STAND IN DRAFT

Of the Mamaroneck Softball League crop of ten entries, only one stands unsponsored at this date and oddly enough it's the club which has almost completely dominated the circuit in the last half-decade. That would be the Freedmen without doubt, and the label which has stuck with that scrappy band of softballers may be cast aside by the time May and the season opener checks in.

The already backed aggregations are the Mamaro, Century AC, Washingtonville Young Men's Club, Chieftons, Sportsmen, Legion, St. Vito's Holy Name Heathcotes and Grippo's Stars. Five of those outfits are being sponsored by organizations on the fraternal—or non-profit-side, which could lead to complications when it comes time to fork up the entry fee. So there stands the ex-Freedmen out in the cold with their hands in deep pockets looking for a little cold cash to stay alive with.

Besides being one of the most popular softballing groups in Town, the spontaneous diamond men also are the most winning. When they bowed out in last season's playoff round it was the first time in five years that they had failed to trek off with the MSL crown and various other honors. In other words they had the title four years running, retiring one gigantic trophy.

However, all is not lost as yet. Manager Art O'Neill and several energetic aids are on the scout for a new backer and, if they don't find one before the curtain rolls up, some local merchant is missing out on a fine bit of steady advertising.

Baseball Briefs

Associated Press Staff

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Cold weather threatened to force postponement of an exhibition between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Yankees today.

Casey Stengel said if the weatherman permits, he will start Ed Lopat. Manager Billy Meyer nominated Bob Chesnes to oppose the American leaguers.

Big Johnny Mize's first 1950 appearance as the Yankees' first baseman ran true to form—he still can slug, but is slow in the field.

The veteran played five and a half innings yesterday against Cincinnati and in the first of his three times at bat, walloped a two-run homer.

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — The New York Giants' roster was down to 28 today.

In optional young second baseman Doby Hofman to the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League yesterday. Skipper Leo Durocher's squad was cut to just three above the major league limit.

Shotton still figured on using big Don Newcombe against the Yanks, but he added the word "probably." For Saturday's game at Yankee Stadium, Preacher Roe looms as the Dodger starter.

MAMARO, IOOF 'B', MANZONI SWEEP

Mamaro's crafty Foxes, the Odd Fellows B men and Manzoni Lodge keglers fashioned shutouts in Fraternal League matches as the Mamaroneck Rec Center lanes last night while the Legion team made a determined comeback to shade the Kiwanis 2-1.

Seven individual games passed over the double century barrier and yet the top one was 216 pins from Tommy Parker Jr. with Hennessy of the IOOF hitting 214. The Foxes contributed three of the high tallies while Hennessy rapped out a pair by himself, letdown in the final game prevented his triple total from reaching great proportions but he still took the honors with 562 mark.

Mamaro put together the best team single, one that was good for 928 timbers. The other Fraternal keglers who rounded up the numbers for good-sized tallies were Joe Barile, Walt Webber, Al Hanrahan, Palazzolo and Puonessa.

Yonkers Host To Net Pros

It might be a different tale tomorrow night when Jack Kramer and Pancho Gonzales make their second Westchester appearance at Yonkers State Armory. When the Bobby Riggs pro tennis barnum made its first stop at the County Center late last year, Kramer had things pretty much his own way.

The tide has changed since March 26 when Gonzales smashed past Kramer. Although Jack is far ahead with a 72 mark to 25 of Gonzales, Pancho has won the last two out of three matches. Tonight they meet in Binghamton.

Riggs will meet Frankie Parker in the preliminary at 8:30. Kramer will team with Riggs to play Gonzales and Parker in a match following the Kramer-Gonzales setto. Riggs took over from Pancho Segura who dropped from the entourage.

Promoter Bobby has only recently returned to activity. The former two time national champion says, "I am playing in the best form of my career."

Since his victory March 21, Gonzales has appeared stronger. Early losses in the tour were because of injuries while Kramer played without flaw. It is evident that Pancho has either corrected these faults or has caught up to Kramer's style.

The preliminary Parker—Riggs match will present an interesting picture of contrasts. Parker is a baseline player, preferring to make accurate shots and generally play a waiting game. Riggs, however, is a net rusher, incidentally, using forcing tactics and roaming all over the court.

Cops Softball League To Start Play May 28

An opening date of May 22 was set last night by the Interstate Police Softball League in an organizational meeting at White Plains' Police Headquarters. The circuit will operate as a six-teams loop again this season with teams entered from Stamford, Greenwich, Port Chester, Mamaroneck, New Rochelle and White Plains.

Roland Castildo of White Plains was named president of the organization. Tom Daly of Stamford is the new secretary and Hubert Heperling of Greenwich, treasurer.

Ishmael Wins Popular Award At Art Show Of Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Larchmont opened its finest art show to date last night in the library of the Chatsworth Avenue School, offering an outstanding collection of the work of 58 adults and 25 teen-agers, with more than 100 entries in the show, which remains open until ten o'clock tonight.

In the pastel class, first prize went to Marjorie G. Hay for her pastoral study entitled "October, Gatineau, Quebec," with honorable mention to Rigmor Gabriel Jensen for her "Zinnias."

Florence R. Brown, Murray Avenue School teacher and member of the Pen and Brush Club, was awarded first prize in the water color class for her attractive composition entitled "Rainy Day," a New York City scene on 47th Street with the statue of Father Duffy, looking toward Times Square. Charles Kinghan's "After the Swim," picturing two boys homeward bound through the woods, and showing great depth, took honorable mention.

Judges, who were entertained at tea preceding the opening of the show, were Miss Charlotte Whinston of Mount Vernon and Eugene Nadelman and John Newton Howitt, both of White Plains.

Mrs. Leo Fish, art project chairman, was cochairman of the show, which was excellently staged and of high artistic quality, gaining in effectiveness through this year's ruling of limiting entries in size.

Mrs. Walter Del Hagen was hostess for the judges' tea, assisted by Mrs. May Holt Batchelder and Mrs. Charles A. Traendly.

Attracting considerable attention at the show were exhibits of ceramics. Artists represented in the collections were W. B. Dalton, Dorothy Fish, Dorothy M. Carter, Miss Edith Jensen, Carlota Henriques, Barry Wright, Margaret Roston and Lula M. Rogers.

Professional artists and amateurs alike turned out to enter exhibits in the show. R. J. Schaefer entered "Shadow and Substance" and "Litchfield Hills." H. W. Butterfield exhibited "Spring in Westchester" and "Vermont" and Juanita Brown showed her "Winter" and "Grandmother."

Edmond Fitzgerald exhibited his "My Wife" and "Schooner at Evening" and Katherine S. Kirkman entered her "Court of the Two Sisters," a painting of her home in New Orleans. Other exhibitors included Maurice Libby, with "Sue" and "Weighing In," E. S. Wilson, "Adirondack Afternoon" and "Morning Waters," Joseph Cisar, "Competition" and "Motif Number One," Helen Krieger, "Inland Waterway" and "Florida," George Brill, "Still Life" and "Winter Scene."

Robert Hallock Jr., "Sand Dunes" and "Garnet," Natalie Baker, "Home From the Market" and "Jeffrey," W. S. Gould, "In the Kitchen" and "Pavlova, Pennsylvania," Charlotte Brush, "Payette Valley" and "Mt. Shuskan." Elsa Dunham "Still Life" and "Vigil," Margaret Roston, "Moonshine on the Sound" and "Spring Color Symphony," Irma Louise Spitzer, "Across Port Pond" and "Montauk Yacht Club," Nan Lewis, "Betty" and "Sri Girl."

Mae Marshall, "Chrysanthemums" and "Snow Scene," Laura Brower, "Lincoln" and "On Lilac Lane," Allen Glicksman, "Girl with Green Scarf" and "Russel," Emily Gantner, "Still Life" and "Downtown Providence," John Hay, "Clouds, Ottawa River" and "Low Water, Ottawa River," William Greenlee, "Still Life" and "Water Color Study," Beverly Waltner, "Pussy Willows" and "Neighbor's Back Yard," O. R. Gantner, "Old Pine in Vermont" and "Arizona."

Also, Evelyn Clark, "Larchmont Harbour," Mrs. Richard Schabacker, "Saranac Lake," L. E. Flandreau, "Swampscott," Mrs. Joseph Yoder, "Teton Range," Helga Chu, "Chinese God," Julie Marshall, "Flight Archer," Peppi Nicoletti, "Still Life," Marjorie Clark, "Rock Garden," Elizabeth Tigner, "The Old Ice House," Mrs. B. S. Parr, "Still Life" and "Swamp Life," Ralph Hawkins, "Guardsman" and "Wintry Sunset," David Moffat Myers, "Edgar Town Dock," W. W. Clindelinst, "Pastorale," Barbara Waltner, "Philadelphia Scene," Julia Steere, "Jean," Bob Van Beever, "Gloucester," and Virginia Tapley, "Spring Pastel."

Also exhibiting in the show were Florence Smithburn, Mrs. E. M. Stroh, Laurie Katelle and John Strauss.

Mrs. Wright studied art as a hobby under Mimi Jennewein Van Der Horst, and Mr. Ishmael who studied at the Cleveland School of Art, has illustrated stories for "Cosmopolitan" "Woman's books and magazines including Home Companion" and "Holiday."

American Theater Wing Show To Feature Pre-School Meeting

A community education program for parents of pre-school children, open to all residents, will be presented Tuesday at 8 P. M. at the Weaver Street Fire House under the auspices of the Colonial Nursery School of Larchmont; Mrs. Arthur G. Haslam, director.

The American Theater Wing Players will offer a play entitled "Scattered Showers," dramatizing the effects of intelligent cooperation between parent and child, and emphasizing the importance to children of achieving self discipline in adult life through parental love and understanding.

Dr. Frances Wilson of the Bureau of Guidance, Board of Education of New York City, will lead a discussion following the performance. The American Theater Wing project, according to Mrs. Haslam, is the result of months of cooperation between the National Commission for Mental Hygiene and the Westchester County Mental Hygiene Association, with the guidance of such experts in the field of mental health as Laurence K. Frank, Mrs. Jean Chick Grossman and Miss Marion McBee.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. Haslam who has been active in many mental health and early childhood education groups. While serving professionally as a case work consultant and acting director of Greenwich House in New York, Mrs. Haslam was for two years chairman of the lower West Side Council of Social Agencies, devoted to the prevention of juvenile delinquency in that area.

"Scattered Showers," according to Mrs. Haslam, will show parents "a concept of discipline as a means of helping the child achieve self discipline in adult life rather than as a means of merely exacting obedience. These plays try to give parents reassurance that loving and understanding the child is the best way to help him grow up and that under this treatment children can be trusted to live up to accepted ethical-moral standards.

"This love must be accompanied by the kind of authority which teaches a child that there are governing principals which set limits for his behavior. "Scattered Showers" will show how love plus a relaxed state of mind, plus a wise authority in contrast with the results of a totalitarian concept of authority and, in the other extreme, a complete absence of authority, can affect a child.

Strict Rules Passed By Larchmont League

The Larchmont Softball League for 1950 was stabilized at six teams as a result of a meeting of managers in the Municipal Building last night. Harry Alpiar, president of the LSL, presided over the parley which was attended by approximately 30 persons interested in the function of the circuit.

All six teams, which had submitted their entry slips two weeks ago, were represented at the confab and took active parts in the discussions, which led to the ironing out of many important league matters. They are: Lou Sganga of the Embassy, Jim Carcano of the Forgemen, Cary Carpino of the Taverners, Tommy Abrahamsen of the Americans, Tony Loiaconi of the Depot Ways and Bill Peterson of the Cavaliers.

Most of the talking centered around the setting up of binding rules for the LSL but one other action concerned specific individuals. That was the naming of official umpires who turned out to be Vinnie Crowley, Phil Kunitzky, Chick Conte and Joe Milone. Crowley has been tentatively set as umpire-in-chief.

Right off the bat the motion was passed limiting the loop to no more than 10 teams, with all additions, if any, subject to approval by the board of directors. Competition will be run in equal halves with the season champion determined by a best two-of-three playoff between the winner of each half.

It was decided that team rosters will have to be submitted on or before April 22. The board will pass judgment on the eligibility of all players and managers will be notified if any should fail to pass. Of course, no player will be permitted to play in more than one circuit in the Town of Mamaroneck but can change teams within the LSL, with the approval of the board.

When the rosters are submitted, an entry fee of $25 must accompany it, $5 of which will be put into escrow pending the possibility of a forfeiture due to not fielding a team of at least seven men for any game. That sum will be forfeited if the team does not appear before 6:45 P. M. and the game itself will go down the drain if the seven men don't put in an appearance by 7 o'clock. The bond will have to be replaced immediately, also.

All games are to be played under official ASA rules. The deadline for trades with the consent of managers is June 1. Should a player request transfer and have it objected to by his former manager the board will hand down the final decision. Protests must be made at the time of a disputed play and then a written one submitted within 48 hours. There will be games four nights per week with Friday open for previously postponed tilts. The president will decide whether the field is in playable condition at 5 o'clock the day of the contest.

The executive committee will gather on April 26, four days prior to opening day, for final arrangements.

JASPERS BATTLE INTO CAGE FINAL

The Jaspers were gasping for air for a while in the St. Mary's basketball tournament at Port Chester last night but a third quarter uprising carried them to a 75-62 triumph over the New Rochelle Braddock AC. The win vaulted the Mamaroneck quintet into the tourney finals Sunday afternoon. They will oppose the White Plains Kiwanis cagers who trampled the host St. Mary's outfit, 76-45 in the other "round of four" fray. A consolation engagement will open tomorrow's program at 2:30 P. M.

The Huguenots held the lead throughout the first half, pacing 29-21 at halftime. But a well-rounded Jasper attack in the third period, highlighted by some accurate outside shooting, gave the locals the bunting and they refused to let go. It was 47-40 at the three-quarter mark and Mamaroneck strode out in the final chukker.

Dick Abele, the Eastchester Hi flash, again sparked the Jaspers, this time with a 26-point total while Harvey Harriott, ex-Bellows standout, rimmed 23 markers. Ed Petrie completed a brilliant scoring trio which carried the quintet.

For the losers Larry Callamore collected 18 to top a group of four Braddocks who alternating taking pop shots at the basket. While copping the other windup berth the Kiwanians were spearheaded by George Reis who threw in 14 tallies.

IONA GOLFING TEAM HAS LOCAL TALENT

The newly-formed Iona College golf team will play its first match Monday against the University of Bridgeport at Fenway Golf Course, White Plains. Fenway will be the home course for all Gael matches.

Johnny Mastro Jr., of New Rochelle has been elected captain of the team. Approximately 30 men turned out for tryouts, and eight will be chosen for the squad.

Louis Eithler, a New Rochelle lawyer and head of the Business Law Department of Iona College, is the faculty moderator.

Among those who turned in low scores in the first week of practice are Joe Tirone, Frank Henderson, Dave Villecco, Dick Fletcher and Joe McBulness of New Rochelle; Lee Caddell and Butch Coughlin of Larchmont; Stew Lahey of Mount Vernon, and John Cullo and Jim Kowalski of White Plains.

In addition to Bridgeport, other matches will be held with Columbia, St. John's Fordham, Manhattan and Queens colleges.

TMP FIRE MORE IN PISTOL TESTS

Patrolman Christopher Loveley led the way in practice pistol firing for Town of Mamaroneck police yesterday with a score card of 200 out of the possible count of 300. Chief Paul Yerick, a perennial top-notch marksman, tied with Sgt. Francis Waterbury and Det. Chauncey Smith for the runner-up slot on identical scores of 296. A total of 18 men were listed on the report which closes out this week's firing on the Headquarters Range.

The first three days next week will be devoted to the finishing off of practice firing and then the trophy shooting on Friday and Saturday will follow the qualification round. Patrolman Lawrence McAllister will be defending the pair of titles he garnered last year.

McAllister shot a 295 yesterday, his lowest card of the preliminary tests, with Patrolman John Leonard next with a 293. Officers Jim Staropoli and Jim Knox plus Sgt. Phil Millheiser had cards of 290 or better to offer.

TOWNCOS BAT OUT 3 IN LADIES KEGLING

The Towncoes battered their Larchmont Ladies League kegling opposition for a sweep at the Larchmont Rec Center last night with the Embassy, Expressettes and Toddlers applying 2-1 victories in the other encounters. The Towncoes supplied the largest pinfall, 1742 maples but the Toddlers took the top honors in single recordings via 609 timbers.

The scuffling for individual recognition was close and hotly contested as Nancy Fortunato scoured through with both laurels. Her leading tallies were 196 and 499. Ethel Heyer had a 488 triple, Elsie Stein a 405, Millie Leone ended up with 482 and Maud Morgan was a step ahead at 484.

TO FETE PELHAM HIGH '5'

PELHAM—Coach Carl Schilling and his State Section One Pelham High School basketball champions will be honored at a testimonial dinner by the Rotary Club at Pelham Country Club Tuesday night. Former players from Schilling's past 28 varsities will be on hand.

A SMILE and a handshake between Jack Kramer, left, and Richard "Pancho" Gonzales are the start of hostilities between the pair last night at the State Armory in Yonkers. Kramer copped the match 12-10 and 6-4. In the other singles match, tour promoter Bobby Riggs tripped rank Parker 7-5 and 8-6—Staff Photo

JR. SAINTS SNAP BACK FOR 21ST

Bouncing back after the shock of their first loss in 21 starts this season, the Junior Saints of Larchmont pounced upon their tormentor, the Harrison Question Marks, to the tune of 66-58 yesterday at St. Augustine's gymnasium.

This victory was made possible largely through a great performance by Dave Cvaniga who poured 21 field goals and a pair of free tosses through the hoop for a personal high of 44 points. Dave hit on numerous jump shots and hooks of the pivot and his springy leaps made it possible for the locals to control the backboards. Buddy Boyle placed second for the Junior Saints in regard to tally-producing with 20 markers while Bill Braddock concentrated on help on the rebounds.

Marchione paced the losing side with 18 points, trailed by Mitrano and Hicks who meshed 12 each. Mitrano, who jammed in 21 counters when the Marks snapped the Saint streak with a 52-45 win on Thursday, again was the driving force in the Harrison attack, handing off for many more baskets than he tallies personally.

A third, or rubber game has been scheduled for next week in Harrison where the Larchmonters hope to stretch their victory batch to 22.

BADMINTON RETURNS FOR COUNTY TRIALS

After a long period of dormancy dating back to 1941, badminton will finally have its day again tomorrow with the staging of the Westchester championships at the County Center in White Plains.

Some 87 players representing 17 communities will vie in mens, womens, and mixed doubles competition on nine courts at the spacious arena starting at 10 A. M.

The mens doubles will have 24 teams competing for the title. Because of the long inactivity of the meet, there is not sufficient information on the teams for accurate seeding. However, a number of former winners are entered and bear watching.

Two of the more highly-touted teams are those of Ken Macdonald and Frank Williamson from Bronxville and the Bert Frost-Carl Palmblad tandem, Frost, of White Plains, is chairman of the tournament committee and was a member of a winning doubles team in 1941. Palmblad hails from Denmark and is rated of top-notch caliber.

Alert Lodge Keglers Host To Puritan Unit

Two bowling teams from Mamaroneck's Alert Lodge will entertain a pair of alley-active groups from the Stamford Puritan Lodge, IOOF, tonight on St. Thomas's drives. The matches will get rolling at 8:30 o'clock and will be the first of a three game series between the two fraternal organizations. The next encounters will be bowled at Stamford where the Mamaroneck men captured the lone meeting last year. The rubber match, if necessary is to be contested here.

Ed Julier has been named captain of the Alert Lodge "A" outfit while Emil Stuchgaber will captain the "B" unit.

Fabulous Hole-In-One Total To Credit Of Art Wall, Jr.

By GUIDO CRIBARI

BRONXVILLE — Never had a hole-in-one, you say? Well listen to this almost unbelievable tale of Arthur Wall, Jr., of Siwanoy Country Club's new assistant golf pro. Walls story might appropriately carry the title "Ace of Clubs."

It all started some 12 years ago in Honesdale, Pa., when a skinny kid of fourteen, with a natural penchant for golf, rocked links circles in the Quaker State by tagging no less than seven holes-in-one over a period of a few months.

By way of proving that it wasn't all beginner's luck, this slim youngster, now a handsome and strong six-footer has added 22 "aces", to rank as the world's most prolific producer of the elusive hole-in-one.

King Of Aces

At twenty-six Wall today commands one of the most unique distinctions in all sportdom. It's a fabulous story that defies explanation. When you consider that some of the greatest names in golf never had a hole-in-one, you simply can't pass off Wall's remarkable feat lightly. Twenty-nine holes-in-one are not all achieved via "luck." It must've required another force, but what it might be even Wall, the King of aces himself, can't say.

Art, who is also a powerful driver, has turned in aces with practically every club in the bag from the blaster to driver. In fact the ace with the driver is one of his proudest, a 340-yarder at the Hillandale course in Durham, N. C. Strangely enough more than half of the 29 aces were achieved via the No. 8 iron, now his favorite club.

A graduate of Duke University last June, Wall became a pro in October. He was selected for the Siwanoy job by Tom Kerrigan, veteran head pro of the Bronxville Club.

A Course Record-Breaker Too!

At Duke, Art captained the golf team, won the intercollegiate driving championship and was named one of the three outstanding athletes at the college for 1949. His golf ability does not cease with his dealing aces alone. He holds or has tied no less than seven course records, twice equalling Byron Nelson's competitive score of 65 at the Hope Valley Club in Durham. He is a two-time winner of the Pennsylvania State amateur crown in 1947 and '49 and holds the blistering course record of 58 compiled on his home layout in Honesdale.

A veteran of three years service in the air corps during the war, Art expects to be married sometime during the next few weeks and will make his home in Mount Vernon.

He may or may not develop into one of the great players in the game, but he certainly qualifies as one of the most spectacular at the moment. Art Wall Jr., he of the 29 holes-in-one, will be the target of the galleries around Westchester courses this Summer, you can count on that.

Never had a hole-in-one, you say? Try it now! But remember the magic words "Art Wall Jr."

Branca Takes Hush Surgery

At the suggestion of Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital, who okayed the Mount Vernon ballplayer after a complete examination in Baltimore Thursday, Ralph had abcessed nerves and roots of an old tooth injury lanced and removed by a Brooklyn dentist yesterday. The operation required five stitches to close.

In advising Branca to see a dentist, Dr. Bennett summarized that perhaps Ralph's arm soreness could be attributed to deep-rooted abscesses of a lower front tooth that was injured years ago. It developed yesterday that Dr. Bennett's diagnosis was correct. And Ralph is confident that this has been the cause of all his arm soreness of the past season. For thorough X rays at Johns Hopkins produced nothing, and Dr. Bennett assured the big Mount vernonite that whatever was causing the soreness was trivial.

Aside from this Branca reported he felt "excellent, and raring to get going on the mound." He is at perfect pitching weight of 218 pounds. Ralph said he expected to be ready to pitch in "about a week, or as soon as we get some warm weather."

NEW YORK THEATERS

Refreshed by a week's vacation, the cast of "South Pacific" headed by co-stars Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza, resumed performances at the Majestic Theater. Miss Martin spent Holy Week in Bermuda. Mr. Pinza in Florida.

Billie Worth takes the place of Sandra Deel, who has left "South Pacific" to join the "Miss Liberty" company on tour. Miss Worth will play the role of Ensign Janet MacGregor, one of the Navy nurses in the show. In addition, she will be Miss Martin's standby.

Miss Worth played the soubrette role of Winnie in the National Company of "Annie Get Your Gun" starring Miss Martin. When Miss Martin, after a year, left the company in June, 1948, Miss Worth replaced the star in the title role, which she played for eleven months on a tour embracing forty cities and towns.

Miss Worth has been seen on Broadway in "Seven Lively Arts," "Very Warm for May," "Higher and Higher," "Bright Lights" and "Jack Pot." She has sung principal roles in operettas produced by the St. Louis Municipal Opera and the Pittsburgh and Detroit Civic Light Opera Companies, appeared in London in "Anything Goes" and at Grosvenor House, and toured Australia for two years in a repertoire of five musical comedies.

OBITUARY NOTES

MRS. LOUIS FERRERI

Mrs. Mary D. Rutulante Ferreri, sixty, wife of Louis Ferreri of 572 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck, died today at 7:35 A. M. at St. Agnes Hospital, White Plains, after a brief illness.

Born in Capistrano, Italy, March 12, 1890, she came to Mamaroneck 44 years ago and had lived here since that time. Her husband, to whom she was married 40 years ago in Mamaroneck, was a contractor who built Columbus Park, near the Mamaroneck railroad station. Now retired, he was also the builder of many Mamaroneck and Westchester County highways. Mrs. Ferreri was a member of St. Vito's Church. She attended local schools and was graduated from Central School.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Flora B. Cuce of 623 Mamaroneck Avenue; two sons, Frederick F. Ferreri of the home address and Louis G. Ferreri of The Bronx, a sister, Mrs. Elvira Rinaldi of The Bronx; a brother, Raymond Rutulante of Bridgeport, Conn., and four grandchildren.

High requiem mass will be held at 10 A. M. Thursday at St. Vito Church. Interment will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, New Rochelle.

FRANK E. HANSON

Frank Emil Hanson of 3600 Naomi Avenue, Seaford Harbor, L. I., step-father of Carl A. Hanson of Larchmont, and former resident of New Rochelle, died last night in Swedish Hospital, Brooklyn, following a short illness. He was eighty-one.

Born in Sweden, Mr. Hanson operated the Hanson Boat House in Hudson Park, New Rochelle, for a number of years. Before opening it he was a ship captain. He retired about 25 years ago.

A resident of New Rochelle for 40 years he moved to Seaford Harbor three years ago. He was a member of the Lutheran Church.

He also leaves a second stepson, William E. Hanson of New Rochelle. His wife was the late Amanda Olson Hanson.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 P. M. Wednesday in the George T. Davis Memorial, 14 LeCount Place, New Rochelle, by the Rev. Walter C. Hanning, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, New Rochelle. Interment will be in Beechwoods Cemetery.

FREDERICK MCKNIGHT

Frederick McKnight of 899 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck, a cab driver for the A and A-Taxi Service, New Rochelle, died yesterday in United Hospital, Port Chester, following an illness of two weeks. He was forty-four.

A resident of Mamaroneck for six years, Mr. McKnight formerly resided in New Rochelle for ten years. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Mamaroneck, Xenia Lodge 50, F. and A. M. of New Rochelle and St. John's Chapter 26, Royal Arch Masons, Mount Vernon.

Born July 16, 1905, in Franklinton, N. C., a son of James I. McKnight, who survives, and the late Sarah McKnight, he was educated in Franklinton schools. He had been with the A and A Taxi Company for three years.

Surviving besides his father, who lives in Franklinton, are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Warren McKnight; a son, James Wilson McKnight, a student at Howard University, Washington, D. C.; two brothers, James of Mamaroneck and Arthur McKnight of Durham, N.C., and a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Pollard of Durham.

Funeral services will be at 9 tonight in the Barney T. McClanahan Funeral Home, 30 Winthrop Avenue, New Rochelle, with the Rev. T. J. Garland of First Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in Franklinton.

JOSEPH MCNEILL

Joseph McNeill of 17 Addison Street, Larchmont, retired New York City lumber dealer, died yesterday at Grasslands Hospital following a long illness, at the age of seventy-two. He was admitted to Grasslands last Wednesday.

Mr. McNeill headed his own lumber business, Joseph McNeill Company, in New York City, before retiring ten years ago. A resident of Larchmont for 35 years, he was a member of Larchmont Avenue Presbyterian Church and was past master of Polar Star Lodge, F. and A. M., in New York.

He was born Sept. 27, 1877, in Philadelphia, the son of the late Robert and Martha Porter McNeill.

EDWARD T. BATCHELDER

Born in Salem, Mass., Mr. Batchelder attended Harvard College and later Harvard Business School. He was vice president and treasurer of the Association of National Advertisers, and also served as director of the Hampton Manufacturing Co. and of the Brand Names Foundation.

He had been active in Boy Scout work in the county and was a member of the Harvard Club in New York City.

FRANCIS W. DECKER

HAROLD M. DRURY

SCARSDALE—Harold M. Drury, fifty, Scarsdale postmaster for the last 15 years, died at his home, 6 Barry Road, at 2 A. M. Saturday.

Chief's Emergency Plan To Hold Annual Dinner

The annual dinner of the Fire Chief's Emergency Plan of Westchester County, will be held Wednesday, May 17, at the Larchmont Shore Club, the Board of Directors announced today.

Lost Plane

The life raft, its food containers empty, was found by the little British freighter Beechland about 45 miles east of Stockholm, Sweden. The spot is 200 miles north of the Latvian city of Lepaya (Libau) where the Soviets say their fighters chased off a U. S. bomber.

Moscow Asks Base For Salvage Work

COPENHAGEN, (AP)—Russia has asked Denmark for permission to establish a base for salvage operations on the Danish-owned island of Bornhold in the Baltic.

This was disclosed today by Admiralty sources and confirmed by a Foreign Office spokesman. There was no indication that the request—made orally late in February and renewed recently on a formal basis—has been granted.

Last week the controlled Soviet press accused the United States of "occupying" Denmark while searching for a missing patrol bomber in the Baltic. U. S. planes used Kastrup Airport near Copenhagen as base in the search for the plane, which disappeared the day the Russians charged an American plane exchanged fire with Soviet fighters near Lepaya.

Mrs. Reilling will install the officers for the Harrison Auxiliary April 27 and at the Ossining Auxiliary April 29. The next auxiliary meeting will be held April 24 at the Post rooms.

Paint and Paper Store Moves to New Location

The Brill Paint and Paper Supply Inc., which has occupied the store at 125 Mamaroneck Avenue, reopened Saturday in its new location at 270 Mamaroneck Avenue.

Jack Brill of 121 Prospect Avenue, owner of the paint and paper business, stated that several articles would be distributed free to customers at the new store to help familiarize customers with the present location at 270 Mamaroneck Avenue.

BREAKS FINGER

Peter P. Clark, nineteen, of 49 Woodbine Avenue, Larchmont, suffered a compound fracture of the ring finger of the left hand about 7:30 P. M. yesterday when a tire iron slipped and crushed the finger against the wheel rim while he was changing a tire on his car at Dietz's Service Station, Boston Post Road. Detective Sgt. Thomas Boyle of the Larchmont police rushed Clark to New Rochelle Hospital for treatment.

SHROUDED BODY of a middle-aged red-haired woman discovered off Hamilton Avenue in Greenwich, Saturday noon, by a ten-year-old neighborhood boy still has Greenwich police puzzled as to the identity. Viewing the corpse above are Det. Cpt. David Robbins and Medical Examiner Dr. Ralph Crane, at right, who was unable to determine the cause of death. to $3,875; and the identification officer from $3,525 to $3,725. Ten first grade patrolmen will be increased from $3,475 to $3,675, and three patrolmen will be advanced to second grade and raised from $3,178 to $3,426.

Small salary increases have also been granted in the general fund to a senior stenographer, two intermediate account clerks, the harbormaster, intermediate typist, intermediate law stenographer, junior stenographer, court clerk, junior civil engineer and the election inspectors.

Salary increases have also been granted the sweeper operator, the incinerator operator, the garbage collectors, two sewer maintenance men, street tree and park maintenance men for a total budget increase of $6,815 in the compensation item for the Public Works Department.

The budget committee knocked $820 off the manager's estimate for fire fund insurance for a total of $1,980; and added minor amounts to the election expense fund and the general fund insurance.

The only other change in the budget as proposed by the Manager is an increase from $5,000 to $7,500 in the capital reserve fund for water extensions and replacements.

The Budget Committee was composed of Mayor B. J. Santoro, the trustees, Manager Johnson, Village Engineer Claude A. Latimer, Corporation Counsel Anthony Sansone and Treasurer-Clerk Frederic H. Bull Jr.

store. Three years ago it was rented by Fletcher's to Alfred Frank, also for use as a furniture store but Frank moved out this Winter.

The building and property are assessed on the Mamaroneck Village roll at $100,000. It is air conditioned, fireproof and equipped with a sprinkler system. The contract for the purchase was signed Saturday afternoon.

Houghton Associates have represented I. A. Fletcher since he purchased the building in 1945. At that time, Hopkins Associates, of which Clarence B. Litchfield of 800 Grove Street, Mamaroneck, is a partner, supervised the complete modernization of the interior.

Temple Leaders Report Dance Plans Tonight

A progress report on the Larchmont Temple Dedication Journal and dance will be presented at 8:30 tonight at the Larchmont Temple, 75 Larchmont Avenue, Larchmont, when chairmen, vice-chairmen and committee members meet.

Dinner-dance Co-chairmen Laurence Sobel and Mrs. Jerome Siegal have completed final arrangements for the event, scheduled for June 3. The evening's entertainment will include a program of top-ranking night club stars. Attractive gifts will be presented to the women.

6 Blazes

A. M., when Mrs. Frank Buck reported a brush fire near her home at 1323 Harrison Avenue. It was subdued by Halstead Manor Hose Company with Chief Lombard in charge.

A brush fire reported at 10:58 A. M. near the end of Franklin Avenue, between Halstead Avenue and West Street, was found to be in Harrison jurisdiction by Chief Lombard. The Harrison Fire Department was notified.

Columbia Hose Company 2 responded to an alarm at 1:53 P. M. from Louis Hehl of 537 First Street for a brush fire at First and Meadow Streets. Chief Lombard reported no damage.

Walter S. Webber, former Mamaroneck fire chief, reported a brush blaze at 3:15 P. M. at Rockland and Woodbine Avenues. With Chief Lombard in charge, Mamaro Engine and Hose Company was cleaning up this fire when Ray Ruffner of 214 Rockland Avenue reported brush burning at the village dump, Rockland and Woodbine Avenues.

Police headquarters relayed the alarm to Chief Lombard via radio. The Chief and Mamaro firemen then moved to the scene of the new blaze nearby and soon subdued it.

Columbia Hose Company 2 responded to the only alarm Saturday at 11:18 A. M., when Mrs. Robert Helm of 721 Shore Acres Drive reported a grass fire on her lawn was beyond control. No damage resulted, Lt. Marshall Sarles reported.

Warden Healey expressed his appreciation to everyone who had cooperated with him during his term as Columbia's captain, remarking, "it was the best year of my life". He also thanked The Daily Times for its thorough coverage of fire department news.

Also introduced were former chiefs Harry T. Primrose, John Wendlekin, Robert Lemon, Mr. Donnelly, Mr. Will, Frank Cunningham, Edward Livingston, Richard Grainger (chairman of the dinner committee), former warden John Grainger, H. Richmond Campbell, editor of The Daily Times, Police Chief Arthur W. Martensen, Corporation Counsel Anthony Sansone, Engineer Claude A. Latimer, village mechanic Emilio Poccia and Electrician John Pokorny.

Beside thanking the 10 members of Halstead Manor Hose Company who served as waiters, Deputy Perschke helped serve them afterward, together with other Columbia officers.

Among the guests were former Trustee Henry Anclam, who recently became an active Columbia member again after being on the inactive list 25 years and Police Sgt. Charles Schlierer, who was a Columbia member 16 years before joining the police department.

RUSH OXYGEN TANKS

Lt. Louis Testa and Fireman Earl Mellor answered a rush call at 10:40 A. M. Saturday for oxygen for George Beck, severely, who had suffered a heart attack in his home at 133 Rockland Avenue. Using two oxygen tanks, the firemen accompanied Mr. Beck to New Rochelle Hospital by ambulance at the request of Dr. Charles Weller Jr., Mr. Beck's physician.

FEW COMPLAINTS GIVE COPS QUIET WEEKEND

Mamaroneck police experienced a more or less routine weekend, despite the mild, sunny weather which attracted many motorists to Harbor Island Park as well as the thousands of Sunday drivers throughing the highways.

Complaints about dogs running at large, unmuzzled or damaging lawns and gardens, were numerous but no official action was taken. Several residents registered complaints about two dogs owned by a Beach Avenue resident, with some morning complaints repeated in the afternoon despite police warnings to the owner.

Two groups of three teen-age youths were the subject of complaints for using abusive and offensive language. One group of three youths were reported to have annoyed girls who were trying to leave in their car from an Orienta Beach Club parking area.

Patrolman Dominick Pinto noticed the cracked glass of a rear door window at the Leading Jewelers Inc., 139 Hoyt Street, at 12:52 A. M. today. Checking the door, he found it unlocked and notified the manager, Ralph Polcini, who reported that nothing appeared disturbed. He said a gust of wind had slammed the door yesterday, breaking the glass.

to be a member of the Communist Party. Lattimore already has testified under oath that he never has been a Communist or a fellow traveler.

Morgan handed a subpoena to Budenz at his home, Manhattan Avenue, Crestwood, Yonkers. Budenz renounced communism in 1945 and now is on the faculty of Fordham University.

Budenz said he and Morgan did not go over "any possible testimony at all."

No Comment on Columnist

Budenz declined comment on a prediction by columnist Drew Pearson that he would testify he never knew Lattimore as a member of the Communist Party.

Pearson said on his weekly radio program last night that Budenz would tell the committee that a third person, a Communist, had informed Budenz that "Lattimore had been used, perhaps unwittingly."

Lattimore said in a Philadelphia speech Saturday night that the U. S. should "disavow approval and support of the old government of China" headed by Chiang Kai-shek.

At the same time he said this country should not recognize the new Communist government of China.

Lattimore proposed that those members of the United Nations which wish to do so be allowed "to vote to unseat the old Chinese delegation to the U. N. and seat a new one."

DOG BITES MISTRESS

man, president of the Health Center board. Other contributions from three other individuals, when added to funds the Health Center had available, bring the total in the camp fund to $327, she reported. All contributions of any size are welcome and may be sent or left at the Health Center on Stanley Avenue, marked for the camp fund.

Boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 16, selected for campership, are chosen on the advice of the local school nurses. Beside the benefits of regular health supervision and attention to needs for rest and a well-planned, balanced diet, they enjoy a program of soft ball and other sports, swimming, handicrafts, and woodcraft. They live in either the girls or boys encampment on the wooded hillside on the shore of the Hudson River. They are divided by age into tribal groups and sleep in wooden cabins. Boys and girls meet in the big Rec Hall for movies, television, and square dances; also on Sundays for Mass and Divine Worship. The program is varied with evening song fests beside the campfire and special hikes and excursions.

About $500 is required by May 1 to secure reservations for all of the 18 youngsters. This will cover $466 for camp expenses and allow a little extra for clothing and bedding emergencies. Transportation is provided by volunteers from the Health Center Board, usually with the cooperation of the Red Cross.

MADISON AVENUE ELOODED

A burst water main flooded Madsion Avenue about 12:30 A. M. yesterday. Patrolman John Leonard found water spurting from a huge gap in the center of the street. The water department shut off the water at 1:35 and repaired the leak at once.

ANNIVERSARY MARKED BY POWER SQUADRON

Thirteen members of the Sheldrake Yacht Club Power Squadron marked the 13th anniversary of the unit Thursday with a dinner at the Orienta Beach Club, Mamaroneck, in honor of Harry Nightingale of White Plains. Capt. Bliss Woodward of Mamaroneck was master of ceremonies.

Nightingale, who is instructor of the squadron's AP Class, was given a pair of chromium fire extinguishers by his assistant, Daniel Mallette. Mr. Nightingale was also given a scroll by R. S. Barton, advanced grades chairman of the Sheldrake Yacht Club. A 12-verse toast to Mr. Nightingale was inscribed on a marine chart by Commodore Ray Crosby. It bore the signatures of the 13 power squadron members, all of whom passed his course at Bellows High School and received certificates for completing it.

BARBARA CUNNINGHAM

Community Set To Welcome Swim Star Miss Cunningham

Miss Cunningham, who resides with her parents at a Ruchmore Avenue address, will be officially greeted by Mayor B. J. Santora semi-officially by the fire truck and members of the Mamaro Engine and Hose Company—who promise to set off the welcoming with a siren-salute. Barbara's father is a member of that company of the Village Volunteer Fire Department.

Due to changes in the operation of the New York women's swimming group, the local girl and the six WSA members who accompanied her, were forced to supply their own transportation and other expenses for the trip. Despite her age, Barbara has now represented the WSA in three national meets. She is the holder of 10 Metropolitan and three national records and has been labeled an Olympic possibility.

The water shortage—and the closing of pools which followed—hurt Miss Cunningham's training schedule during the Winter and she was not at peak condition for the Nationals. Still she and Marie Corriden were the only New York entrants to get past the qualification trials.

On Friday Barbara swam a leg of a relay event in which the WSA team finished fourth and then she was eighth in the 200 yard individual medley. Although a gruelling race, Miss Cunningham seems to prefer these longer distances. The following day she took a sixth place in the 220 yard breaststroke and swam with the New York medley relay combination.

An unprecedented list of 471 entrants was on hand for this year's Senior Nationals, a wide bulge over last year's event which was held at Daytona Beach. Miss Corriden, Barbara's swimming mate, saved some glory for the WSA by staging a major upset on Friday. Chicago's Town Club collected 41 points for the team crown.

Betty Mullen and Lorna Dooling, ex-members of the New York club now competing for other organizations, earmered places during the four-day meet which closed yesterday. Miss Mullen was third in the freestyle. Both competed for the Lafayette, Ind., Country Club, near Purdue University where they are students.

Talent Turnover Plus Fate Equal Strange Opening Day

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Staff

Big league baseball returns tomorrow with all 16 "contenders" poised for the openers after healthy talent turnovers.

New we'll get first hand proof on who outsliicked whom in the New York Giants-Boston Braves deal when the Giants at Detroit is as good as it looks. If the "experts" were right in predicting a Brooklyn Dodger-Boston Red Sox World Series.

It will be a strange opening day. No Hal Newhouser pitching for Detroit. No Bobby Feller for Cleveland. No Rip Sewell for Pittsburgh.

Joe DiMaggio, usually a Johns Hopkins Hospital patient at this stage of the game, will be in center field for the New York Yankees. The Yankee Clipper missed nine of 14 previous openers.

Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Buddy Kerr—three boys who never played for any big league club except the Giants—will be at the Polo Grounds as enemy Boston Braves. Alvin Dark hoisted from a college campus by the Braves, will be playing on the other side for the Giants.

Two old friends are back as managers. Bucky Harris at Washington and Luke Sewell at Cincinnati. Both are considered to last place or thereabouts.

Most Extensive Radio Coverage

Conceivably new millions will see and hear the games by television and radio. Two networks, Mutual and Liberty, will air a "game of the day" daily, the most extensive regular radio coverage ever given.

American League
New York at Boston 32,000
Detroit at Cleveland 60,000
Philadelphia at Washington 26,000
St. Louis at Chicago 18,000

National League
Brooklyn at Philadelphia 32,000
Boston at New York 30,000
Chicago at Cincinnati 32,000
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night) 30,000

First Night Opener

You'll note the "night" after Pittsburgh at St. Louis. That's something new. Never before has a major league club opened the season under the lights. President Fred Saigh, a confirmed believer in night ball, is the pioneer. It will be a healthy box office move.

That is only the first of many, many night games listed. The cards will play practically all their weekday games after dark. So will the St. Louis Browns and Washington. In all, 409 night games have been scheduled, a new high.

To make night ball easier, the National League has done away with its curfew and will allow twi-night double-headers. The National also permits the lights to be turned on to finish day games when darkness intervenes. Only in late season will the American follow suit. The American also retains the curfew.

Advance ticket sales for this jubilee year of baseball indicate continued high attendance. Last year the majors drew a total of 20,215,365 only 3 per cent behind the 1948 high. If it drops only 3 per cent again, all will make money. The National is starting its 75th year, the American its 50th.

Mamaroneck Softball Team Pilots to Meet

Bill Kuritzky, president-elect of the Mamaroneck Softball League, announced this morning that a meeting restricted to MSL managers would be held tomorrow night in the American Legion Post 90 Clubhouse on Prospect Avenue at 8 o'clock.

This will be the third important parley for the Mamaroneck circuit which has about two more weeks before opening day. Kurlitzky stressed the importance that every team leader be present and added that just one more meeting might be necessary before the 12-team loop is released for its 1950 battling.

Big Ten Colleges Bar TV at Football Games

CHICAGO, (AP)—The powerful Big Ten, whose athletic policies usually keynote the trend for the nation's other major conferences, has barred live television of all its 1950 football games.

In the first concerted move to prohibit-on-the-spot video, the Big Ten concluded that the entire future of intercollegiate athletics is endangered by TV.

The decision of athletic directors figures to cost the Western Conference and its member schools an estimated $500,000 in TV revenue rights that could have been scored up in 1950.

Some of this, however, may be recovered by the new policy of allowing complete films of games to be televised the following day. Movies of Saturday's contests could not be released before 6 P. M. on Sundays.

Significantly, the three-man TV study committee of the NCAA sat in on the Big Ten parley.

QUINN COACHING NYAC

ANTLERS RIFLERS COP 3-WAY TILT

Antlers Club, chief tormentor of the highly-regarded Mamaroneck Rifle Club, edged the locals in a triangular match at Lost Battalion Hall on Elmhurst Ave. L. I. over the weekend. The winners scored 1927 points to Mamaroneck's 1907 while Richmond Hill was on the bottom with 1879. Each marksman fired 20 shots in the prone position and another 20 off-hand.

Walt Tomsen shouldered second-fiddle right down the line in the "High-five" bracketing. Art Jackson of Antlers, national smallbore champ, dropped the targets for 294 points out of a possible 400, dropping all six points in the nerve-racking off-hand shots. However, that was as close to perfection in that department as anyone came. The MRC, with 10 entrants, had the most perfect scores in the prone shooting but everyone faltered in the tough firing. Otto Kolb, perennial king of the local range, was second with the MRC and second in the entire match with a card of 388.

Bob DeCoppet Dinghy King Of Larchmont

Bobby deCoppet of Larchmont, who captured the season Dinghy championship at Larchmont Yacht Club for the second successive year after six months of competition ending last week, earned the crown with a percentage of .898, according to official statistics compiled by Dinghy Chairman Clifford M. Bell.

DeCoppet sailed his Zotom to five regatta triumphs in the 21 races held during the season, and captured the fall and mid-winter series crowns en route. A year ago he had won with a mark of .919.

Runnerup for the season with .864 was Jack Sutphen of Mamaroneck with his Rum-Dum. Cornelius Shields of Larchmont with Dainty at .840 and Arthur Knapp of Larchmont with Agony at .837 followed.

Shields also won on five occasions, Sutphen four, Knapp and Ed Raymond each twice, Pat O'Gorman, Alfie Keenan and Bob Ravier each once.

Final figures for the Spring series, released simultaneously found Sutphen the champion with a percentage of .902. Knapp and DeCoppet, who were tied for the lead until the last race of the final regatta, when both touled out, tied for second at .897. Shields was next with .896.

A total of 43 Intercluib Dinghies participated during the racing season. Long Island skippers will spend the next several weeks conditioning their racing craft for the arduous Summer season ahead. Pre-championship competition among the larger yachts will begin Sunday, May 7 at Larchmont Yacht Club.

Yonkers Trot Track Ready

For the first time since full-scale operations began to transform old Empire City into a modern, night harness racing track last Dec. 29, Yonkers Raceway President William H. Cane was able to look forward today to a definite completion date prior to the opening of the season April 27.

Barring unforeseen weather developments, Cane said the entire plant will be tested next Monday, when the lights will be turned on for the first time.

Cane listed three major items of the $1,500,000 renovating project which are expected to be completed before the end of the week. They are floodlighting for the half-mile track; parking areas and street; grading and blacktop-surfacing of the roads to the club, the laying of the water-repellent top soil for the track.

The drivers' shed, blacksmith shop, racing secretary's building, farrier sheds, harness shop and stable improvements in the paddock area are finished.

The concrete outdoor terrace for season box-seat holders is complete as are the interior repairs in the club house. Alterations to the main entrance with the exception of the installation of the admission booths and the turnstiles are finished. Ninety per cent of the roofing and painting work on the club house is done.

The new seats in the grandstand have been installed and all the steel reinforcing for the standee terrace is finished.

The hub rail and the seven-foot fence around the track is up. The cocktail, which had been reduced from a mile track, has been leveled.

Cane explained that the finishing touches to the many offices in both the club house and grandstand will be ready available during the first meeting which runs for 21 nights through May 20.

BADMINTON PLAY IN SPORT SCENE

Badminton made its return to the county sporting scene yesterday with the staging of the first county-wide tournament since the war. The Kenneth F. Macdonalds of Bronxville and May Hellwig of New Rochelle seized the lions share of the glory in the tourney which was played at the County Center in White Plains.

Macdonald teamed with Frank Williamson of Bronxville to win the men's doubles title and joined with his wife in forming the runner-up team in mixed doubles competition.

In addition to placing second in the mixed doubles, Mrs. Macdonald paired with Miss Hellwig to the women's title while the New Rochelle player shared in another first when she teamed with Sonny Oppenheim, also of New Rochelle, for the top position in the mixed doubles.

In copping the men's crown, Macdonald and Williamson defeated Bert Frost and Carl Palmbiad of White Plains, in straight sets, 15-7, 15-3.

Mrs. Olive Jennings of White Plains, and Mrs. Alice Dockrill of Mamaroneck, were the defeated finalists in the women's play dropping sets of 15-5, 15-5 to the Miss Hellwig - Mrs. Macdonald tandem.

Oppenheim and Miss Hellwig were pressed to take a 15-13 opening set from the Macdonalds in mixed doubles play but came through with a convincing 15-5 second set for the crown.

In a consolation flight for teams eliminated in the first round, Frank Engle and William Carlson of White Plains, defeated William J. Doyle and Charles Ellis, 15-9, 12-15, 15-8. 15-4 for the men's title.

Mrs. Grace Bogart and Mrs. Mildred McFarlane of White Plains, joined forces to defeat Mrs. Marion Robinson and Mrs. Margaret Rogers of Mount Kisco, for the women's consolation crown, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sampers of Yonkers won the mixed title by defeating Mrs. Trudi Huebner of Valhalla and Frank Engle of White Plains, 15-8, 15-9.

Frost was chairman of the tournament committee which was highly gratified with the outcome of the event and plans to make it an annual affair.

Jaspers Capture Cage Title In Port Chester Tournament

Anchored by four members of the 1950 Bellows quintet the Mamaroneck Jaspers emerged with the championship of the St. Mary's Tournament yesterday in Port Chester by halting the White Plains Kiwanis unit 80-78 in the wind-up clash. The Jaspers grabbed the last tally of the joust, a foul-shot with 12 seconds to go which assured them of no worse than a tie and they were able to hold the bunting in the fleeting moments.

In the consolation fray which preceded the title test, the New Rochelle Braddock AC trimmed the host St. Mary's team 51-41. The Braddock's had extended the Mamaroneck quintet in the semi-final Friday evening. The consolation victors were sparked by Bill of the same name who meshed 17 points.

Eddie Petrie, BHS schoolboy flash, Eastchester luminary Ed Abele and Harvey Harriott carried the heavy point-duty for the champs. Petrie and Abele netted 25 markers apiece while Harriott collected 20. Pasky Vitetta and Bill Cummings rounded out the Jaspers' squad. George Reis headed a battling White Plains outfit with the game-high of 27 counters.

Mamaroneck got off to a slow start but dunked 25 points in the second quarter to assume a 38-33 halftime spread. The margin diminished to three-tallies in the third stanza and some cool operating in the frenzied rush saved the verdict.

FANCY SCORES LOOM IN OHIO TOURNAMENT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (AP)—This American Bowling Congress tournament has 58 days to go after yesterday's second-day firing, but already it looks like the scores will be heavy.

The scoring yesterday, first day for minor events, was unusual for so early in the tournament.

Four teams went over 2,700. Bill's Five of Elmira, N. Y., leads with 2,802.

John Strobel of Milwaukee took three firsts in the minor events—helped greatly in the doubles by Carl Ray. Strobel's 1,847 in the all-events is nothing to be sneeze at. He shot 575 with the team, 593 in the doubles and 679 in the singles.

Flood Draws Rough French Boxer For 8

Jimmy Flood, chunky scrapper from New York's Yorkville section, returns to the ring where he first gained prominence in the middleweight ranks when he tackles tough Germaine Caboche 160-pound Frenchman, in the feature eight rounder at the County Center tomorrow night.

The bout will mark Flood's first start since losing to Charley Fusari at Madison Square Garden last month, and his initial appearance at the Center since last Fall when he won via a disqualification from Armand Amanini of Italy.

Willie Leake, promising Yonkers light heavyweight, draws a semi-final shot tomorrow night when he meets Charley Dawson of the Bronx over the six round route. A Second six pile Hank Risk, Toledo welterweight, against Carlin Scott of the Bronx.

In the three supporting fourrounders, Sonny Bruke of Hartford tests Gene Smith of Staten Island; Jimmy Monahan, Bronx, faces Billy Renard of Hartford, and Chet Zamorski Union City, opposed Jimmy Elby, another Bronxite.

EYE BROS. ANNEX PIGEON OPENER

Close to 1,000 birds took to the air lanes yesterday after being liberated at Wilmington, Del., for the first "old bird" pigeon race of the year. The Mamaroneck Pigeon Club had 102 entries in that flock as the local fanciers began their seasonal competition along with the Port Chester, Norwalk, Stamford, New Hope and Westchester Hills clubs.

In the clocking of Mamaroneck members, the John Eye & Bros. Loft took the initial first place when one of its swifties covered the distance of 127 air-miles in an average speed of 1294.26 yards per minute. Skyway Loft, owned by Ed Kayner, took charge of second-third and fourth places as three of the Skyway pigeons checked in together. Len Milewski & Son landed in fifth place of the 13 Mamaroneck clubs represented.

The birds were liberated at 7 o'clock with a slight tail wind aiding their flight. Eye clocked his victorious bird at 9:35 and most of the other lofts were busy making their recordings shortly thereafter.

Next Sunday the pigeons will be again sent to Wilmington for a 125-mile event and races are scheduled for weekends all through the Summer months.

| Loft Owner | Time |
|---|---|
| 1—John Eye & Bros. | 1294.26 |
| 2—Skyway Loft | 1289.96 |
| 3—Skyway Loft | 1288.39 |

50 Years of Fashion

Conditions of Times Mirrored in Gowns

1900 1913

Fashions in women's apparel have mirrored the conditions of the times down through history. The beginning of the 20th Century, when grandma was a young lady, was no exception.

In 1900, Paris was the center of fashion for the entire world. This was the age of elegance, of fabulous luxury, great skills, beautiful workmanship and rich, interesting fabrics. The costumes were characterized by exquisite detail and feminine softness. It was a period when French models were slavishly copied in each minute detail by dressmakers throughout the world, the customers demanding exact reproduction.

The costume chosen for this period (1900) is of chiffon and lace, but there were also similar models, some without trains, made of the finest batistes and voiles trimmed with Irish crochet and Valenciennes lace.

By 1913, there had been a complete change in silhouette. The skirt had become straight in many cases smaller at the hemline; some were draped and crossed in the front. The clothes had a more sophisticated look.

By 1919, the French dressmakers were trying to introduce a shorter skirt, but the more conservative Americans clung to the lower line. This dress, worn at Palm Beach with a little Summer fur, has a formality difficult for us to associate with sand and salt air.

The more style-conscious women of Paris had stopped wearing corsets before the war, but the unlined dress of softer contour was not adopted generally until the early twenties. It was during this period that Paris found again a faint touch of the gracious gifts of the East and Near East. In this dress of 1923, the cut in the sleeve is oriental and the ornament is Near Eastern in character.

The Parisian "robe de style" was ageless. Although introduced in the early twenties, it still was in style when the Nazis invaded Paris. By 1926, the skirt was short; for evening the beaded sheath had won its popularity.

Orienta Holds 'Roaring 20's' Dinner Dance

About 200 members of the Orienta Beach Club and their guests attended the "Roaring Twenties" dinner dance Saturday night at the club, with Fred Lightfoot of Larchmont as chairman of the entertainment committee.

Decorations and costumes were in keeping with the theme of the 1920's and feature of the entertainment was a presentation by the Mamaroneck High School "Flapperettes" who repeated their successful comedy routine from the annual concert of the MHS Glee Clubs.

Members of the "Flapperettes" were Barbara Timm, Joan Gannon, Caryl Posner, Noel Henriques, Susan Van Noppen, Noel Roth, Judith Warren, Alice Beatman, Betty Ann Sampson, Dorothy Farrell, Carol Lightfoot, Bettina Cooper and Arlita Holt. Sally Stowell was accompanist and choreography was by Sharon Kelly.

ENTERTAINING tomorrow for the Parent-Teacher Association meeting at the Murray Avenue School are "The St. Mary's Horseshoers" of New York, pictured above. Named New York City champions five times, the Horseshoers were acclaimed Westchester County champions at the 1949 County Fair. Election of officers for the PTA will precede the program.
