Reflections

Recognition

Mrs. Schonfeld has shown her true dedication to Rye Neck seniors through endless hours she has spent counseling, filling out applications and reports. She is often in school well before it starts in the morning and stays long after most of us have gone home. During the twenty four years Mrs. Schonfeld has been at Rye Neck, she has guided many classes; each of us has been fortunate enough to have been given her personal attention. We will always remember the care and concern she has shown for us. Looking back on this year we offer, our thanks and gratitude, to Mrs. Schonfeld.

We are now witnessing the two hundredth anniversary of our nation. Two hundred years ago a few brave men believed enough in an ideal to fight and give their lives for it. We are the ones who must work to see that those ideals so consecrated with their blood do not die.

The country, its problems and aspirations will soon be placed upon our shoulders. We must assume that responsibility to maintain and support the principles of freedom, liberty and democracy they so willingly gave their lives for. We hope that with these things we may find a lasting peace and an understanding of our fellow man.
