Blending Colors Give Harmony To A Home

Planned color harmony can put old furnishings to their most effective use as a decorating scheme for a room or an entire house.

The problem of blending the foyer into the pattern of the other rooms is a common one for all homemakers. One effective way of meeting the problem is with alternating shades for walls and floors from one room to the other, such as gray walls and woodwork in the dining room harmonizing with the gray ceiling and mosaic covered walls in the foyer.

Adding to this color variation is the selective use of such accessories as an old Chinese porcelain screen and a pair of early 19th Century creamware candle

Paint being a large part of this decorating scheme, the plan is not only attractive, but inexpensive.

Of course, anyone faced with the problem of inoperative but attractive furnishings must make effective use of the functional styles so popular today.

Mid-Summer furniture sales offer a variety of bargains in cabinets, desks or storage units.

The new reclining and contour chairs are among the most comfortable as well as most attractive items to be found in the functional furnishings. Not only are these chairs a pleasure to relax in, but they are easily adaptable to almost every room in the house.

Wasps Have A High I. Q., But They Sure Don't Act It

A wasp-watcher such as I have recently become could, I realize, be adjudged completely mad by the casual onlooker.

Not that I am as devoted to my watching as a certain pal identified only as Mr. and Mrs. Peckham.

These studious Peckhams for whole weeks in scorching Summer weather lived in a bare patch, throwing themselves on the ground and scrambling on their hands and knees in the desperate effort to keep the wasps from view as the insects went about their regular business of hunting something to eat.

But even the Miarre Peckham record was eclipsed by that of the daughter of the great French naturalist, Henry Fabre, who once pursued a wasp specimen until sunstroke laid her low.

My wasps, I am afraid, are only social ones, much less exciting than hunting wasps, each variety of which searches out a different kind of food, i. e., caterpillars, bees, spiders and flies.

The hunters, which live alone and like I, have more individuality and temperament than other insects and, according to one authority, "a degree of intelligence which with the doubtful exception of the higher mammals approaches most nearly the human."

I used to be a wasp-watcher and had a pretty good record for social wasps, at least. I realize that they don't particularly like to sting humans. I've let them alone in the hope they'd just amble over surfaces and not hair heads against obstacles, to no profit that I can remember.

Though they can get into my screened porch, they can't seem to get out. What they want there anyway I can't imagine and they evidently don't know either, though they seem to be in a frenzy until they slip in somehow.

I believe I'll go back to bird-watching. Birds at least can't get inside my porch and they fly by the specific direction when I come close.

"BABY BLOTTER" is handy to have for blotting the new arrival, especially in hot weather. Make yourself some cord tied in loops of terry cloth, wear them while bathing baby, then use them as a hooded wrap to blot baby off when you scoop him up from the bathroom. The blotting is kinder to heat rashes, top.

IN PLANTING, turn your garden hoe into a yardstick and you'll never lose time hunting for a ruler. Just mark off six-inch intervals on the handle with sumptuous tape, and your rows will be spaced off neat and even.

IF WALL PAINTING is on your vacation agenda, remember these pointers: never overburden the brush when you dip it into the paint—apply the paint from the end of the brush, not its sides—wax the smooth back and forth strokes that work the paint into the surface—begin in the upper left-hand corner if you're right handed, other wise reverse the procedure, and swing your brush to the right, as far as you can reach comfortably—paint a strip from top to bottom, then begin again at the top—and complete one wall before you start another, so paint can dry evenly.

Peabody Coal Losing Listing On Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange has taken steps to drop from its list a Chicago coal mining company because the firm failed to get specific stockholder approval of a merger.

Exchange governors yesterday turned down the Peabody Coal Co.'s application to list 6,422,100 shares of new common stock which were to be used to acquire a group of coal companies.

Then the governors suspended trading in Peabody shares already listed and announced they would move to take away the company's "Big Board" listing entirely.

Peabody had sought to acquire the "Sinclair Group" of coal companies. Last April it had gotten stockholders to authorize an increase in common stock to require additional properties.

Stockholders were given full information about the Sinclair transaction in a letter dated June 6.

Keith Funston, president of the Stock Exchange, said the company was advised as early as last March that the Exchange required specific stockholders' approval of any major acquisition.

Mr. Funston said another reason for the governors' action was that Peabody had changed its plan to acquire without the change approval. However, he made it clear this failure to refer the Sinclair deal to a stockholders' vote was the key issue.

Faulty Furnace Blows 6th Time

Fires Twice In 2 Days

A faulty oil-burner of the Knolls Apartments at 116 Richbold Road, Town, which yesterday blew out for the second consecutive day, and the sixth time, will be either replaced or entirely replaced, the Knolls management promised Deputy Fire Chief Edward Leone this morning.

The burner, which Sunday was declared defective by Fire Chief Donald J. Ferris after his men had extinguished a furnace-room blaze, flared up again yesterday at 11:14 P.M.

Ferris, who took the time to inspect the burner, which he said was again required to handle traffic in the heavily trafficked Richbold Road, Palmer Avenue area.

The same scene, which occurred Sunday and at least four other times during the year, Mr. Leone said. All six instances were traced to the defective furnace control, according to Ferris.

The apartments are owned by the Larchmont Properties, Roger Green, one of the managers, told Deputy Chief Leone that the engine burner unit would be replaced if possible. Otherwise the chief reported, the unit would be overhauled.

Fire officials pointed out that not only is the burner a menace to the apartment dwelling and its residents, but there is always a hazard to firemen responding to the scene when it gets out of control.

"Town police also cited traffic hazards during fire calls of this nature."

1,500 KOREANS CROWD TROUBLE AREA IN LARCHMONT

700 G.I.'S Standing By; Demonstrators Injure Seven U. S. Soldiers

SEOUL (AP)—Twelve hundred Red-hating Korean railway workers reached Larchmont from Seoul today to reinforce some 300 demonstrators besieging the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission billets on White Plains Road.

About 700 U. S. soldiers are guarding the island, scene of General MacArthur's 1950 landing of 1950.

Earlier today, seven U. S. soldiers were injured when the demonstrators broke through the barricade on the causeway leading to the island. That brought to 22 the number of American servicemen injured since the riot began Saturday. None has been seriously injured.

Rhee Gives Ultimatum

MEAL OF HONOR was pronounced a war crime last week to Lt. (jg) John Kelvin Koshak of "Briarcliff Manor, N.Y. Navy helicopter pilot for his heroic efforts in the rescue of a fellow pilot who had been downed behind enemy lines during the Korean War. He was killed by the Reds but captured and interned in an enemy prison camp. Lt. Koshak died there three months later from malnutrition. His crewman and the injured pilot were repatriated two years later and told the story of heroism. The medal was presented by Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas to the pilot's mother, Mrs. Henry A. Koshak of Los Angeles.

Today's demonstration was broken up by tear gas bombs and black shells, the latter fired to frighten the Koreans.

Some of the enraged demonstrators threw a U. S. guard bomb at one causeway way from the island. Others tried to storm the island from the sea. They, too, were repelled.

Nine Koreans were reported injured in the White Plain, three seriously. An ROK Army spokesman said one had received a wound on the head with a rifle bullet, and the third had been shot in the leg. There was no confirmation from U. S. sources.

1,000 Demonstrators

In Pusan, scene of the most violent clash, an estimated 1,000 to 1,500 demonstrators yesterday made several attempts to break through the American soldiers and 20 Korean demonstrators.

They were repelled with tear gas bombs and black shells. A plane was shot down in an air battle with the Communist forces and the word of several key personnel leaked to the press.

Demotestations, ranging from a peaceful to a violent protest, continued their sit-down protest in Pusan, Taegu and Kangnung on the East Coast.

The U. S. Air Force spokesman said "Everything is quiet elsewhere."

The demonstrators stem from an ultimatum handed by the ROK government to the NNSC Sunday demanding the group's withdrawal from the island.

Bill Stern's Condition

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Stern of Purchase, ABC network sports commentator, was injured today by the crash of his automobile against an abutment on Henry Hudson Parkway at the 20th Street overpass.

Connie drifts Up Coastline; Alert Issued

Major Storm Heads Toward Carolina; Aiming Northwest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were hoisted from Cape Lookout, N. C., to Norfolk, Va. today as Connie, first big tropical storm of the year, moved westward along the Atlantic coast.

Northeast storm warnings were up from Wilmington, N. C., to the Virginia Capes for tonight. Shreeve Warned

All pilots were urged to be rushed to completion immediately for the protection of life and property against dangerous winds and abnormally high seas in the area of hurricane and storm warning today; the noon advisory.

South Carolina and Georgia appeared in the clear as Connie moved north-northeastward at a forward speed of 10 to 11 miles an hour, swirling in a circle around the center.

The great storm was expected to continue on the same course and at this speed for another 24 hours, perhaps veering slightly to the north.

"This course would bring the center near a short distance from Cape Hatteras tomorrow morning," said the Weather Bureau advisory.

Connie has traveled a greater distance but now is following the approximate path of three hurricanes which took heavy tolls of life and property in northeastern states last year.

South of Hatteras

The Weather Bureau's storm warning service, in a special 3:00 A.M. information bulletin on the storm, said Connie was moving toward the north-northeast at about 10 to 12 miles an hour and was centered at that hour 470 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla., and only 270 miles south-southwest of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

It was expected to continue on a north-northeast to north course at about the same speed for the next 12 to 18 hours with little change in size or intensity.

The next 12 to 24 hours will be the most critical for the Carolina and all islands in this area should remain on the alert for further advisories today and tomorrow. Said the special bulletin.

High Tides Due

Rough and abnormally high seas were predicted from Massachusetts southward along the Carolina coast and "seas will become progressively rougher and higher as the hurricane moves northward, especially in the area from the Carolina Capes to Cape Cod," it added.

Connie Plans To Drop In On Westchester

The weatherman said today that Westchester will feel some effects of hurricane Connie tomorrow night or early Thursday, coming on the tail of what should be three pleasant days.

Yesterday the county enjoyed its best weather in more than a month. Today and tomorrow the same was on tap.

But the weatherman says that it will become cloudy tomorrow and about one inch or more of rain will fall tomorrow night and early Thursday as the result of Connie.

The county was also warned to look out for abnormally high tides.

Yesterday's high temperature at Westchester County Airport was 79 degrees. Today morning temperatures hit only one degree higher than at corresponding times yesterday.

 CHICAGO (AP)—ARMED forces' weapons support among the nation's governors today for President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia.

Mr. Blasen, former Minnesota state executive, circulated an affidavit among his fellow governors as the 47th annual Governors' Conference prepared to meet in a discussion of arms and highway safety, sponsored by a discussion group.

Mr. Eisenhower's bond-financed building program.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower has sent his plan for reciprocal military inspection of Soviet military installations was regarded as in some quarters as indicating the plan will be refuted or postponed even as the forthcoming meeting of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

Dieting 'Rough' Mostly Mental
 BY IDA JEAN KAIN
 On this Summer slimming course, get out of the rough and on to the railway by tossing out all your previous notions about dieting. The rough is mostly mental.

The common error is to regard diet as a restriction—depriving you of favorite foods. This very attitude sets up an inner resistance which makes resisting an ordeal.

Now the mental gymnastics you do in this summer slimming course are designed to help you think of diet as a healthy, normal, planned low calorie diet. Take from now the idea that dieting is a punishment, as enabling you to achieve your goal—normal weight. Concentrate on the rewards and you can be enthusiastic about calorie curbing.

When the two of you set out to lose weight, one of the other must agree down on the power source. Analyzed, you will find that the most powerful power is mental attitude in normal weight is whoehearted. You can't lose weight unless you have a mental attitude that you will not gain weight.

With the right mental attitude, you can lose weight.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1955

BURGLARS OOT EMPLOYEES LOCKERS IN BATH BREAK
 County Workers Report $360 Outdoor Stolen; Take Undetermined

An undetermined number of outdoor workers were stolen last night from the locker room at Barry's 2001 East Post Road, Mamaroneck public school. This was the first burglary of a Mamaroneck building in six weeks.

The theft was discovered by two employees of the Westchester County Health Department's Division of Sewers, when they went to their locker to get a 125 horsepower motor to start the day's work. The motor is valued at $300.

They called Henry Rita, in charge of the livey, who called police who he discovered in a padlock on 30 to 55 lockers had been forced open.

A count of all the forced lockers by police revealed that nine older and smaller motors had been taken, police reported. Mr. Rita said he would be able to state the number taken until the stolen motors could be identified.

Mr. Robert Stoddard he had locked up about 12 P.M. The door to the locker room was not locked, he said. The pane of glass had been broken. When Stoddard saw the police, he turned off three appliances on a pole along the edge of the concrete platform that lights the platform and locks. The locker room is left open, he said, for the convenience of early-morning commuters.

At 5:15 A. M. Anthony Harris, of 309 Baitland Avenue, Saratoga Springs, called to report a burglary of his locker. He said he did not enter the locker room until 5:30 A. M. He saw six-sallon auxiliary sea tanks for outdoor workers. He saw the concrete platform, he said.

Mr. Rita said he arrived about 7:30 A. M. but did not go to the locker room. He saw the six auxiliary tanks he told police and wondered why they were there.

The two County men who discovered the break are Frank Kingman of 213 Charles Street, and Joseph J. Fanning of 213 Charles Street.

Mr. Harris said police told him that the break occurred last night without paying a bill for merchandise and gasoline. He reported the car's license number to police yesterday afternoon, he said.

Mrs. Burbidge On India

Syrups and Spices Featured At Gay Country Fair in Delhi

(Fourth in a Series)
Attending a fair in India and a fair in Westchester have quite a bit in common: it's the people who make it interesting.

Mrs. Leonard Burbidge, former Larchmont resident, is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joan Macintosh and their daughter, Lindsay, in Delhi, describing going to a fair with her daughter and the nurse, or "ayahs."

"One day," she writes in her letter to Mrs. William C. Lawton of Chatsworth Cottage, Larchmont. "Joan, Lindsay, Ayan and I went to a small fair that was being held only a short distance away at the tomb of a holy man whose death, 700 years before, was being celebrated. It was most interesting. There were still keepers with their wares laid on the ground, chiefly consisting of toys, imitation jewelry, ornaments and fruit and food of all kinds, usually highly spiced savouries, hot from the frying pan. Men were busy making mixtures of syrups and spices with their fingers, which they then spread on pan'leaves and daffily rolled. These delicacies were finding a ready sale."

"But as usual it was the people attending the fair who made me interesting. Crowds of cool dhotis, of course, all wildly excited at such fun, and at times it seemed that my hearing aid was distracting their attention from all the other fun of the fair! Not for long, though, I'm sure, with such exciting things as side-shows and a real merry-go-round, to say a rather primitive one, turned by a wooden handle, also a giant wheel consisting of four wooden cars (boxes) also worked by a wooden handle, and as the wooden cars grooved with the strain, the car at the top clungly dropped to a lower place, while another car with much label from the man at the handle rose to replace it."

Anyhow, everyone seemed very happy. The only thing that distressed me was the sight of the Moslem women in their shawl, make long shapless garments which covered them from head to foot and trailed in the dust. Those I had previously seen had a slit for the eyes about two and a half inches above the other, and when seen worn by a solitary woman or two together, the horror of the costume had not struck me quite as much as it did with so many women congregated together. It really is an awful custom and costume. Those I saw at this fair did not even have the wide eye opening, that I had previously seen but these had little peepholes for each eye, perhaps two inches square, and even these were criticized in many instances with narrow slits to further conceal the wearer.

Path Of The Hurricanes

T WAS a bit ironic last weekend to hear a Westchester resident say he was thinking of moving to Florida to escape his hurricanes.
For there was a time—not so far back, here—when here in the East we read with complacent glee of the winds and waves which swept across Florida's usually sunny strands and which brought destruction to multi-million-dollar citrus crops.

ANGELO PATRI Visit By Children's Friends Requires Advance Planning

We have a fine new lot of children. They are living in the new housing developments. Their parents are young people who like to visit each other, which makes for pleasant relations in the neighborhood.

Refreshments are part of the entertainment. If the children can have a table by themselves, under the eye of the hostess, so much the better. If they can have dishes reduced to their size, they will enjoy that, too.

For The Salad Dressing Fanciers There's Nothing Like One's Own

By ANN CHESTER
Creativity at the best, and its worst, comes out in the food fancier who attempts to make his own salad dressing.

With the growing interest in gourmet dishes, more and more men and women are losing together every herb and condiment on the shelf, adding oil, vinegar and water in assorted doses, and presciently dousing the waiting greens.

New Fabrics Give Curtains Crisp Look

New synthetic fabrics give curtains a crisp just-purchased look regardless of how often they've been washed.

They can be damp-dried and hung without ironing, starching or stretching. They dry instantly. These new fabrics not only don't have to be dry cleaned, but are best cleaned by hand washing.

These easy-to-care-for fabrics are now available in a wide variety of colors and patterns that can be sewn together at home or purchased ready-made.

In addition to their other advantages, they can be easily cleaned by shaking them off or simply running a vacuum cleaner over them. Also, they will not mildew, sag or burn.

Use Warm Water

For best results in washing these curtains, wash gently in warm water with load of suds without rubbing fabric. Rinse twice in clear water, roll gently in a towel to remove excess water, hang damp at the window. Any creases that result from folding or wringing can be removed easily by fingertip adjustment.

A more functional consideration for adequate lighting in the kitchen. Not only is a lack of proper light in the kitchen frustrating but it often quite dangerous.

Good lighting can be relatively inexpensive, particularly in the long run through the use of fluorescent units which are easily installed and outlast conventional light bulbs.

Generally, cool-white fluorescent is preferred for the kitchen because it is easy to see by.

Light Needs Shield

All kitchen lighting should be shielded so that none shines directly into the eyes.

Wall-bracket lighting fixtures can double as shelves if protective covers are set over them. Protective fabric can be placed over tables and raised or lowered according to the particular kind of light required.

Tax Plot Term Waits Lawyer Of Mt. Vernon

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal court jury has found a former liquor company official and two lawyers guilty of conspiring to defraud the government by impeding tax collections.

The conviction yesterday was the outcome of a case in which they were originally charged with evasion of some $174 million in taxes on the profits of a wartime liquor business, said to be the biggest tax case ever filed by the Internal Revenue Service.

During the trial the tax evasion charges were thrown out. Convicted on the remaining conspiracy charge were Thomas Harvey Klein of Los Angeles, former liquor firm official; Maurice Haas of Mount Vernon, a lawyer and tax consultant; and Morris O. Aprin, of Brooklyn, also a lawyer.

Sentence was not set until Sept. 23. Each of the men faces a possible maximum penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

At the time the men were indicted the U. S. attorney said they had set up at least 16 separate corporations in Cuba and Panama to siphon off their profits under a U. S. Office of Price Administration order permitting sales at a price greater in excess of that which should have been earned.

After they have been washed many times. Capable of being handwashed and hung without ironing, they are available in white, eggshell, blue, rose and yellow.

G. I. Charges Red Drills At Child Camp

NEW YORK (AP)—Legislative investigators have heard testimony that children at a Summer camp in Dutchess County were drilled in Communist propaganda.

Directors of twin camps for children and adults invoked the 5th Amendment yesterday as a joint legislative committee opened hearings on alleged Communist influence in children's Summer camps.

The hearings, continue today and are expected to last a day or two more.

The committee's general counsel, Bernard Tompkins, former Republican State Senator from Queens, indicated that about a dozen camps in the state would figure in testimony.

Yesterday's session was concentrated on Camp Kinderland, a 180-acre camp for children near Hopewell Junction in Dutchess County. The camp is a part of Camp Lakeland, which is for adults.

Former Guest Testifies

The committee, headed by State Senator Edward P. Larin, Mass. Republican, heard a former guest at Camp Kinderland testify that Communist songs, lectures and pageants were featured at the camp when he attended in 1947 and 1948.

The witness, Pvt. Stanley Wechsler, who recently also acted as camp counselor, Howard Gussman, indicated he attended courses at the Communist-operated Jefferson School in New York City and to join the Young Communist League. Pvt. Wechsler, who is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., testified that he cut these ties before the war in Korea.

5 More Suing Over County Liberal Slate

WHITE PLAINS—Five additional Republican candidates have begun suits challenging validity of petitions filed by the Liberal Party for the Sept. 12 primary.

The new suits are to be heard in State Supreme Court before Justice Arthur D. Brennan Tuesday.

A suit started earlier by Sheriff John E. Hoy of Yonkers was to be heard before Justice Brennan tomorrow but probably will be adjourned until Thursday to comply with the new schedule.

The new suits are brought by District Attorney Joseph P. Graziano, County Clerk Edward L. Krush, Warren, Yonkers Mayor Kristian, and Robert Meyer.

All are identical with Sheriff Hoy's suit. Attorney Philip J. O'Brien represents all the candidates in the names of all countywide and citywide candidates, leaving out the countywide judicial race.

The Liberal petitions for four Democratic candidates for four countywide offices and council supervisor and municipal candidates in Yonkers, New Rochelle and Ft. St. Vrain.

The suits say the petitions, "among other things," are not numbered consecutively if the suits are upheld, Liberal envelopes would have to write in names of those to run in Fall races.

Wrong Shoes Can Damage Child's Feet

Four out of 10 children are wearing shoes that are ill-fitting and can cause permanent injury to their feet before summer rolls around. These grim statistics are based on a survey conducted during the school year just ended by a national foot health organization, which warns that both parents and schools are neglecting care of children's feet.

Here are a few rules prepared by the organization as a guide to mothers embarking on a back-to-school shopping operation:
1) Patronize a reputable shoe retailer who is trained to fit children's shoes.

2) Do not pass on an older child's shoes to a younger brother or sister. No two children's feet are identical - squeezing a younger child's foot into a shoe already molded into shape by another child is dangerous. The shoe will not give - but the foot will, with unfortunate results.

3) Check the construction of shoes you buy. Foot doctors recommend a shoe with supple leather uppers and flexible and resilient leather soles. Leather provides the firmest and most desirable support for young feet.

On the style side of the picture, you will find children's shoes in more than 25 colors, smooth, rough or suede leather, and hundreds of styles to flatter, fix and protect their feet.

Mrs. Burbidge On India

Rigors Of Travel Described At Religious Festival Time

Seventh In Series
Traffic problems are troublesome whether in the busy villages of Mamaroneck and Larchmont, or in far away India.

Mrs. Burbidge wrote while on an extended visit with her daughter, Lindsay, Mrs. Macintosh, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joan Burbidge.

In the early days of my visit to India there was a religious festival which every year causes a four-day business holiday. In addition, with one of two friends and I to make use of his shopping pass and I followed the next day which we did. It was an interesting experience.

Menagerie Without Bars
Our destination was 120 miles away and most of the run was through country which to me provided the interest of a menagerie without bars, with colonies of monkeys, many water buffaloes, and other animals.

Difficulties of Travel
Because of the religious nature of the holiday, festivals were being held in every village. It was back from the main road a three mile road (one called "the first") for some miles into Delhi had been covered.

7 County Golfers Qualify For U.S. Amateur Tournament Play

Initial Bellows Grid Practice Tomorrow; Debut Slated Oct. 1

Cy Lynch, new head football coach at F. Z. Bellows, announced that initial tryouts for the Panther squad will be staged tomorrow, with all candidates required to report to the Bellows gym, 9:30 a. m.

Candidates are scheduled to go through a physical examination which must pass before being placed on the roster. Lynch expects to distribute some equipment after the physicals and begin training tomorrow.

Assuming Lynch in the coaching demerit will be another recruitment in Bellows. Bob Polz, who started with Lynch in the High School at St. Bonaventure a few years ago, Polz, head football coach at Catholic High School in Geneva last year, will handle the line.

Continuing Lynch and Polz in an encouraging assignment. The duo will have to take what is left of last year's schedule that if they want that material, but they will have to deal with numerous changes who have the potential to become top-notch athletes.

Basilio Wants Olson Match

ALEXANDRIA RA (AP)—Welterweight champion Basilio wants to take on Carmen Olson, the middleweight contender, for a match which Basilio says he can win.

Basilio landed the challenge yesterday. He is training here for a non-title bout with Gil Turley at the War Memorial stadium in Syracuse Sept. 7.

Joe Nitro, Basilio's manager, plans to negotiate with Jim Morris, head of the International Boxing Club, for a match with Olson in January or February.

The Baltimore Orioles have had the largest turnover of players this year. Of the 40 on their roster of Dec. 1, 1954, only 14 players are on the team.

MISL TITLE TO BE DECIDED TONIGHT AT HARBOR FIELD

The championship of the Metropolitan Baseball League will be decided at Harbor Field tonight when the Vipers clash with the Coverts.

Expanding to whip the Coverts Monday, 7:40, the Vipers led the best three-day record, 2-0, setting the stage for tonight's classic.

"If these fellows decide to continue being characters," Lynch said, "I'll be out the first day on. Even before winning, we're interested in building the characters of our boys and not our boys' characters. If they decide to play ball and they show us that they can, we'll use them."

Basilio is scheduled to continue his fight with Lynch in the following day at the Daniel Warner Field in preparation for his fight at home against Knoxville Oct. 1.

YOUTH MOVES TO 'FORE' IN AMATEUR GOLF TEST

HOUSTON—Teddy Red Top, 20, of Houston, Conn., and Paul Rogovin, 18, of Houston, Conn., were the winners of the 1955 U.S. Amateur Golf Test.

Results of yesterday's sectional qualifying rounds in 30 locations throughout the nation showed moving to the front and center those who in the middle of the kids appeared the name of Jimmy Dawson.

It takes a veteran to remember that Dawson, now a fifty-year-old real estate broker in Napa, Calif., was a top-flight amateur golfer back in 1927.
