Pfc. Saloman Tells Of Drive Into France

From Demfront on Aug. 14, the rest of the way. Pfc. Saloman writes that the enemy was in full retreat and that the Americans fought rear guard action all the time, adding: "Our planes came through gloriously this time." By the 25th they were ready to march into Belgium, "but the actual crossing of the border was accomplished Sept. 4, near Merland. He describes one humorous incident on the 31st when a bottle was found by one of the soldiers in a hole in a garden. They all set to digging and found about 20 bottles of wine and champagne.

"I put three red wines in my pack," he writes, "hiked 15 miles with them, pushed the enemy back, and then drank a toast to our victory!" They crossed Belgium and were ready to enter Holland by Sept. 10. "Nothing could stop us now." After six days in Holland, "resistance was getting heavy and furious from here onward," he continues. "Still we kept pushing. Then came the big crash! Sept. 19, crossed over border into Germany. It was fierce! Still we kept going! Germany! We crossed the Worm River and pushed on."

The final entry is dated Oct. 7 when they were "still moving into Germany." Pfc. Saloman, who entered the service about two-and-a-half years ago, has been overseas two years. He was stationed in England before the invasion. He is a graduate of Bellows High School and was a senior at the University of Alabama before he entered the service. His wife, the former Eleanor Kissinger, and their two-year-old daughter, Carolyn, reside in Buffalo.

Pfc. Saloman's brother, Seaman J. Matthew Saloman, was wounded in action recently in the Pacific and is now at a base hospital in Honolulu.

Police Wound Young Thugs After Chase

WHITE PLAINS—Two young thugs who held up a White Plains taxi driver shortly after last midnight at the Metropolitan Country Club, stole $30 and cab, were captured by Greenburgh police after a chase in which both were wounded by police gunfire.

Paul E. Kennedy, 18, of Linden, N. Y., and Joseph E. Smith, 20, of Cassville, Mo., were formerly employed by a carnival in Florida, they told police. They left Florida ten days ago and hitch-hiked north.

Frank Clark, of 288 West Post Road, the taxi driver, was approached by Kennedy and Smith at the taxi stand near the New York Central depot. They wanted to be taken to the Country Club on Landers Road, Fairview, to "see a friend," they told Clark.

En route the cab was flagged on Hobbs Ferry Road by Armand Alzamora, 16, of 63 Main Street, Tarrytown, who asked to be taken home. Clark told him he would take him to Tarrytown after dropping the other passengers at the Country Club.

Finding the clubhouse closed, Clark drove out to Doodia Ferry road and stopped, but Smith and Kennedy persuaded him to enter the grounds again, insisting they could find their supposed friend.

Near the clubhouse Kennedy produced a revolver, held it to Clark's head and ordered the driver and Alzamora out, Clark told police. They took about $30 from him, Clark said. They searched Alzamora and found nothing. Then the pair drove off in the cab.

Clark hurried to a telephone and notified police at 12:15 A. M., giving a description of the two youths and the license number of the cab. An alarm was sent out at once over police radio and teletype.

Eight minutes later Patrolman Horace Page and John Hagen, cruising in a patrol car on Central Avenue near the White Plains line, saw a car answering the description in the alarm they had just received. The officers followed the car and sounded the police car siren. The cab sped up. The chase proceeded south on Central Avenue over the lay pavement. The officer fired six shots at the left side of the cab, which skidded to a halt near the home of Evangeline Booth.

Ordered to leave the car with their hands up, Kennedy and Smith were taken into custody and the revolver, a fully-loaded .32 caliber weapon, seized. Both were taken to the hospital, where Kennedy was treated for a wound in the left leg and Smith for scalp wounds.

For A Brighter Year—

No one can tell whether 1945 will bring the greatest happiness which could come to mankind—the end of the terrible career which has bloodied the face of Europe and made odious the waters of the Pacific. We learned in 1944 the danger of too-early optimism and we shall not, we must not, make that mistake again.

Col. Joe Bush Says—

The more we read the headlines about the Germans the more we realize the trouble they're in. We've got a bulge ton.

Just across the state line in Connecticut, merry-makers tomorrow night must cut drinks under Sunday's ban at 9 p. m. and start up again before midnight. How many bleeds for the unfortunate plight of our neighbors?

Just to remind you, however, that you've got to make out a income tax statement in March, and section 879, and division B-4637, line 8, reads: "Where were you on the night of Dec. 31, 1944?" (Add 10 per cent higher tax.)

Anyhow, we hope everybody's good line tomorrow—for it's your last chance this year. And still do you good because you get remember the only difference between a rut and a grave is the dimension.

Sheriff Eddie Gantley, after all his 91.00 majority and swarvin' in and so on, discovers that the supervisors forgot to file his salary and approve his bond, so he won't be effective before next Tuesday at the earliest.

And to all of you—here's wishin' you good huntin' with your '45!

A Glance Backward—

A DECADE AGO (From The Daily Times)
Year-end surveys revealed better business prospects for 1935... the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the murder of Charles Lindbergh son was set to start in Flemington, N. J.

RESOLVE for the New Year to KEEP EXTRA FUSES ON HAND

PLACING TOO MANY electric appliances and lights on one line on a circuit may cause a fuse to "blow." A worn, frayed wiring cord or defective appliance also may cause a fuse to blow.

The Counselor—

PLEASE tell me what amount will be withheld from a person's salary, effective Jan. 1, 1945, earning $38, $40 and $45. Also, why would one have to pay more on his salary next year than last. I know a person who informs me she has figured on $1 a week more starting Jan. 1, and she has the same salary as last year.

The Forum—

THANK YOU, Editor, The Daily Times: Dear Sir—My sincere "thank you" for the editorial which expresses so well the sentiments of those on the home front this season of the year.
