

Emotional Education Urged By Youth Guidance Lecturer

Emotional education must be taught as well as intellectual education, according to Dorothy Waldo Phillips, lecturer in the field of youth guidance speaking last night at a meeting of the Daniel Warren Parent-Teacher Association.

Stating that the realm of attitudes is very important, since that is where everything has its beginnings, Mrs. Phillips went on to say that although we cannot indoctrinate for democracy we can make a community a place where children can be rich in social heritage. The other half of your child, the emotional half, is the part which parents are most often not acquainted with, she said, and stressed further the therapeutic value of laughter.

Speaking of the "three Cs" of adolescence, choice, change, and conflict, Mrs. Phillips emphasized that "doing what you want when you want it is not freedom, but all but you take the reverse. Define barriers, set the limits, set and adhere to them. This makes one free." She stated that there is a great difference between repression and restraint. The former is undesirable; the latter is not. She went on to say that in dealing with children we deal too much in words, and they don't listen. They can tell more by one and facial expression than adults realize, she stated, and it is in this manner that parents do a great deal of unintentional teaching. The best teachers, she said, are the ones who can "take truth and slip it and give it and make it understandable." She stressed the value of dramatizing and capturing the imagination, and she said, brings about a rapport and a working relationship.

Rotary Told Plans of Port Authority

Highways, bridges, docks, and harbors are some of the main considerations of the New York Port Authority expansion program, according to Walter J. Moran, representative of the bi-lateral organization.

Mr. Moran yesterday told the Mamaroneck Rotary Club at a luncheon that current projects include an aerial road improvement program covering a 5-mile radius around New York City, plans for second deck to the George Washington Bridge, expansion of docks in Brooklyn, and the creation of a new terminal building at International Airport.

Mr. Moran said costs of new highways alone are estimated at $45 million. Other projects include a third tube for the Lincoln Tunnel and a 10-mile wide to the Narrows. The authority is also experimenting with the use of land reclamation to accommodate commuters.

The new air terminal will accommodate 150 planes, Mr. Moran said. Cost of the project has been set at $65 million.

Mr. Moran was introduced by James P. Sullivan, program chairman. President Melvin Gouldman presided.

Visiting Rotarians were John J. Conroy Jr., Gerald P. and Joseph Ryan, all of Bronx; I. Sylvan Schwartz, of Yonkers; and Ames Phillips of Sussex, N. J.

ACCIDENT AT STATION

A standing car operated by Alex Hoff of Scarsdale at 10:30 A. M. yesterday received a dent in the right rear fender when the car was struck by a car backed from the Mamaroneck railroad station platform.

Inspector J. J. Peterson of 310 Central Road, Mamaroneck, police report, the automobile was not damaged, police said.

would be feasible evidence to support the charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal Reserve Act. The Federal Reserve Act is a criminal statute which prohibits the theft of government property. The FBI's jurisdiction is based on the fact that cash checks, postal notes and United States money orders of the Federal Reserve Bank and the Federal Reserve Administration district office in Boston were the property of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Mr. Hoover said the men up-loaded their loot at the home of one of the participants in the Boston district and was divided among the men several weeks later.

During the last investigation, three men named yesterday, except Faherty, had been questioned at one time or another by investigators. Some of the men even went before a federal grand jury investigating the Brink's robbery about four years ago, but that jury failed to return any indictments.

Charles James C. Allen, one of the Brink's employees surprised by the robbery, has been interviewed by WNEF for a comment which was made about the FBI's announcement that the case was being re-opened.

There was no comment, either from Herman B. Pfaff of Thomas & Co., or from the other employees who work for Brink's, when they were interviewed by the FBI.

BRIDGES BANS STATE 'CORNER'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Bridges, R., N. H., said today he will fight any attempt to "corner" New Hampshire's Republican delegation for another candidate if President Eisenhower is re-elected.

Mr. Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP House Committee, today reported that if appointed to the White House to replace Mr. Eisenhower, he would name a slate of his own in the March 23 state and to corner the delegation in his own name as a delegate candidate.

WV Fund Campaign Seeks $900 For Community Service

Mrs. P. Warren Green, chairman of the 1956 finance drive for the League of Women Voters Larchmont, announced today a complete list of working and driving captains as team members.

The drive with a goal of $900 continues through Jan. 18. Campaign funds provide the League's quota to the national state and city leagues, and are used for monthly service projects, a distribution of "Facts for Voters" and "Voters' Guides" and for candidates' meetings.

Names of workers and captains follow: Mrs. James O. Green, captain, and her team: Mrs. Ernest Horstheimer, Mrs. Mary Hopworth, Mrs. Philip W. Wern and Mrs. Bert Winston; Mrs. Martin Stern, captain, and her team: Mrs. J. W. Moran, Mrs. John J. Goldsmith, Mrs. C. S. Sheri Pope, Mrs. Benno Ekan.

Mrs. Richard Green and Mrs. Richard Friedman, Mrs. Odlin Anderson, captain, and her team: Mrs. Fred Gardner and Mrs. Paul Guertner.

Mrs. Alfred Moccia, captain, and her team: Mrs. Ray Smith and Mrs. Robert Crowe Jr.; Mrs. Lincoln Polite, captain, and her team: Mrs. Warren Storm, Mrs. Milton Rosenberg and Mrs. T. J. Morrison Jr.; Mrs. Paul Lytton, captain, and her team: Mrs. Charles Eckwelder, Mrs. Augustus P. Myers, Mrs. Myron Wilson and Mrs. John D. Brewer.

Mrs. Green stated that the League hopes, if the drive proves successful, to issue again its booklet on Larchmont, including the information on the new election district.

The League of Women Voters always has open meetings; any person interested in the announced topic or speaker for any meeting will always be welcomed. The League's membership is open to any woman citizen of valid age.

Stoles Steal Spring Spotlight With Hoods And 'Sleeves'

NEW YORK—Remember those oversize, hem-long fleece stoles which became an enormously popular success when Anthony Blotia introduced them last fall? Our good Tony has even better stoles in store for Spring.

His new version of it is well named: the "chaperon." It is smaller, lined, has sleeves as well as pockets, and often a deeply cowl-neck, can tassel, for conversion to a hood over the head. It is shown with its hair-embroidered, circle-banded both at the hem as well as at the new-looking neckline.

Its sister "snail" and its arm, as a cashmere throw with long tubular ends worn doubled back and then pinned in front of the shoulders so they look for all the world like tied cardigan sleeves. Which, Mr. Blotia points out, is the way we wear our warm weather cashmires anyway, so he has done away with the knotting and pre-shaped the shoulders.

Tiered Caplets. His third important cover-up is called a "caplet." It looks like a rounded and tiered little caplet, its collar set coolly away from the neck, but is in fact the top part of one of those snugly buttoned waist-deep boleros that run throughout all the top Spring collections. There are also real caplets and many quite there are, in a heavier "twin-tweed" than the dress.

All the caped tops are worn over Blotia's new "candle" silhouette semi-fitted blouses that miraculously contour the body's outline without accentuating any part of it. Most of these also are in hooded hems, even when they are not hem-banded. And his suit jackets are the shortest yet, end with wide banding immediately below the loose, semi-fitted waistline. All white collars and bolero linings button off most washing.

Most dashing silhouette (lumped under the general term "slim") in Christian Dior's New York collection is, by all odds, his revival of the Dolman coat, with its armhole at waistlevel. One I loved especially wrapped over in front, and was made of a wool-and-cotton tweed.

His fitted coats are very wide, with large, low, slanted caped flaps that are set slightly toward the front as they are in his suits. One of the suits is slim in front then is padded out and stiffened so it bellows out in back. Again, very dashing.

Jackets Shorter. Dior's suits have, in the main, shorter jackets, and slim skirts have panel backs contrasted with a single unpressed pyramidal pleat so large it covers the entire back. Many suits have crisply pleated skirts again.

There's a new button-on "sleeve" here which is really a short de-aze (you remember the word now) below which wraps over to button at the left side, stunning caplet-like collars on shoulder-wide fronts; many "pencil"-upsetting necklines almost at shoulder width, and a good many loosely fitted shirts.

His cocktail and late day frocks are short, low-cut, and very, very luring skirted—the circles in the stoles, which Dior will favor over his formal; most of the latter are a lifted quite high in front, then fan out in back to trail the floor.

Newly Hired. But attention—at least this reviewer's—was focused on his many new-hired, very trimmed, straw clothes with different color or fabric slipovers that button on over crowns, very feminine

COFFEE HOUR LECTURE More than 75 women, some coming from Pleasantville, Larchmont, Hartsdale, Pelham and Mount Vernon as well as New Rochelle, attended the first of five coffee hour lectures sponsored by the New Rochelle Council of Church Women. It was held yesterday in Trinity Episcopal Church Parish House.

He shows much black silk from Italy; elbow caplets, a huge blouse, puffed sleeves, many chiffon stoles over strapless frocks; he continues the real and fake drapery boleros launched in his recent resort collection. And shows unbuttoned but well shaped jackets that have happily un-hackneyed look; for evening, he shows suits that are, and sometimes fringed, sheaths.

Further reports on the Spring openings will continue next week.

DAVID WAYNE STARS IN "THE FONDER HEART"
WEEK-END NEWSLETTERS
THE PLAYRIGHTS COMPANY with "ACT ON A HOT TIN ROOF" has led attraction these current winter months

Naturally we report this as good news for the PLAYRIGHTS COMPANY, Mr. Wayne and all other concerned. Mr. Wayne seems to have an orbit of success if he can maintain it.

And making the waiting FOR GODOT tried out the same week (as noted above) and New York indicates there are some strings to be unraveled. It seemed that on one date Michael Meyerson confirmed the report that the play which is alertly successful in London, was not to find its New York commitments. There a bulletin from the same production that the Deti Leahy Tom Ewell starter will yes indeed come in to New York but with a replacement to take Mr. Ewell's place.

Bellevue, Mamaroneck Win 1st Cage Tilts of Season

Bradt's 31 Too Much For Hastings, 72-55

Dom's Sweep Take 12-Game Lead In WML

Mams Top Roosevelt In WIAA Win, 61-52

A stellar 31-point effort by Lin Bradt sparked P. E. Bellevue to its first victory of the season last night at Hastings, where the Panthers topped a 72-55 SWIAA decision.

Bradt drilled the hoops with 12 field goals and seven free throws as Bellevue registered its best performance of the campaign.

It was the first triumph after five setbacks for the Panthers, and it came over a team which had beaten Harrison Tuesday, 74-65. Oddly enough, Harrison was the quietest which had bothered the Panthers in their debut, 32-31.

Whether or not Coach Jack Fisher's tongue-lashing at the end of the first half was the cause of last night's victory is difficult to say, but there is little doubt that Bellevue was a much improved team.

Patrols a Unit
Working as a unit, Bellevue soaked good shots, fouled them, and capitalized on them. Bradt did most of the capitalizing as he hit on 12 of 20 shots from the floor.

Bellevue, meanwhile, connected with 26 of 31 charity flares in pulling one of the major upsets of the campaign. Not only did the Panthers topple a team which had conquered Commerce, Kateshewer and Harrison, they accomplished this in the Hastings gym—which means upsetting the Yellow Jackets by an additional 10 points.

Mostly instrumental in the triumph was Walt Schmidbauer, who worked with John Finelli to control the boards and restrict the outside play. Schmidbauer also found time to contribute four field goals and eight free throws for 15 marks. Finelli tallied eight.

Bellevue moved to a 12-10 first-period lead on Bob Macdonald's basket just before the buzzer. With the tie at 12-12, Schmidbauer hit on a creaker, Finelli followed with a jump shot and Bradt clicked on a set to propel Bellevue to a 26-25 advantage late in the second half. Bradt held a 30-26 halftime lead. The Panthers widened their

Fetchik Trails Souchak By 1 In Coast Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Souchak was cracking the whip in Bing Crosby's national pro-amateur golf circus today, but semi-retired Ben Hogan at Memphis denied Dr. Cary Middlecoff were landing him on the favorite rolls.

Souchak rode a string of six birdies and an eagle to an eight-under-par 64 in yesterday's opening round of the $1,000 tournament being played on two of the three courses which crowd the Monterey Peninsula. Tomorrow's final, involving the 60 low scorers, will be played on the Pacific Ocean-buzzing course while his two foes tackled the inland links.

Middlecoff carded a 31-64 and Hogan a 35-32-67 at Cypress, which plays 37, 35-72. Actually, though, they were running third and fourth in the race for the money behind Mike Fetchik, a young Yorker, N. Y. boy who trailed Souchak by only one stroke with a 33-33-67 at Monterey. He, too, was firing today at Cypress Point.

Hogan, who insists he has retired from competitive golf and is playing this tournament only for fun, was paired yesterday with men host, Crosby, and the two regaled a gallery of 3,500 with sparkling golf. So sparkling was it, in fact, that they led the best-ball field with a slim 31-72.

W. P. Defeats MHS Keglers

Stephan's bowling team posted numerous fine scores to spoil the debut of the Mamaroneck High Schoolers at the Larchmont Bowl yesterday at the Larchmont Bowl.

Top roller for the Mams was Mike Guadagnola who clicked with guads of 180 and 170 to compile a two-game 359 series.

The Dom's Four continued its surge in the Women's Motor League last night at the Larchmont Bowl, defeating the Knights, 3-0, to widen its lead to 12 games over the second-place Custard Kids.

Dropping a 547-507 opener to the Norma Jeans, the Kids were forced to win the final two games to cop a 2-1 decision. The

Also outstanding in the Bellevue victory was Rick Burcell who scored seven points—all from the foul line.

Trailing 23-32 at the end of three periods of play, the Panthers rallied to tie the game at 32-32. Pete Koch paced the taller Yellow Jackets with points. Jim Kelly, Mike Scaturella and Roger Lewis led BES with eight, seven and seven points, respectively.

Bellevue is scheduled to continue SWIAC competition at Kateshewer Tuesday, 3-64 P. M. The box scores:

been made to understate revenues so as to enable the administration to come up later in the year with surplus laws which would be enough to justify tax cuts.

Mr. Humphrey said, however, that it "significantly" raises revenues of perhaps $2.5 billion to $3 billion if the deficit, he would be for a tax cut.

Explaining the estimate that corporation profits before taxes will stand at about $13 billion in 1956 and next, Mr. Humphrey said "some price competition" is likely to develop. This is in line with the fact that the company with wage and other cost increases, he said, might make for an era of "profitless prosperity" as far as business is concerned.

Fluores in Open

"I honestly think that if corporation profits are as good as they are, as last it will be pretty good. I have nothing buried in these figures, for the purposes of the budget," he said.

At a separate session with newsmen, Budget Director Rowland Hughes said he would not describe the projected balance as "precarious." He conceded, however, that it could be jeopardized by the possibility of many possible changes in the program, including refusal of Congress to increase spending by $30 million dollars.

Mr. Hughes said Mr. Eisenhower participated "very much" in preparation of the budget, making discretionary changes in it.

Increase for Defense

Mr. Eisenhower earmarked $900 million for almost two-thirds of the increased spending to be provided for national security programs.

He said most of this increase would be used for the latest weapons, including guided missiles, which could be brought to bear in an enemy.

In addition, he laid new stress on continental defense to catch any attacks on the West Coast by a nuclear powered Navy cruiser and a sixth giant "Fleet" class aircraft carrier.

He emphasized the Administration's solid bank plan for cutting down surplus spending by the government and shifting concentration as a major home front program.

On Guard
In planning such great security programs, it is clear that we must never permit ourselves to be panicked by temporary crises or besieged by a campaign of misstatements and lies.

Grassroots
In discharging the responsibility for fostering a growing prosperity that is widely shared, I have been mindful of two principles. First, we will proceed fastest by relying on private initiative in the maximum degree possible for all.

Partnership
A corollary of these two principles is that where federal action is warranted, it should be taken, if possible, in a way that need not entail large or continuing expenditures.

Spending Authority
The fiscal year 1957, recommended new authority to incur obligations of $6.5 billion is about 10 per cent greater than estimated expenditures.

Minimum Wage
To improve economic safeguards for the worker, I recommend that the Congress extend the protection of the minimum wage law to additional workers.

Aid to Schools
The educational problems of the nation are acute. School enrollment is growing, and classrooms are overcrowded.

Unemployed Forces
The unemployment problem is a national one. It is a problem that we must solve by increasing our production of goods and services.

Research and Development
Research and development expenditures will be somewhat higher in the fiscal year 1957 than in the current year.

Public Housing
Continued Federal assistance for public housing is necessary in 1957 to meet the most critical needs of low-income families.

Aviation
As a step in meeting the immediate problem of air traffic congestion, I am recommending new authority to borrow $40 million in 1957.

Veterans' Aid Is Urged By Auxiliaries

Eyes of the American Legion veterans are nearly one million veterans are being lowered Capitol Hill this month as Congress begins consideration of research projects advocated by the American Legion.

Study and support of the American Legion's legislative program is an important activity of the Auxiliary throughout the nation during January.

We believe that this section of Congress will prove highly important to veterans and their families and to the entire nation.

So You May Better Know Your County

SUED as a special supplement of this newspaper today, is our Commerce and Industry Edition.

We consider this to be Required Reading. It is informative, accurate, and we trust, entertaining.

Today's Commerce and Industry Edition is the first of its kind to be issued since June of 1954.

There should be no need to emphasize this fact. Any person with good eyesight can easily grasp first-hand evidence of the tremendous expansion within recent years of our industrial and residential areas in Westchester.

With these advances in business and housing, the cities and towns and villages of Westchester, as well as the county administration itself, have kept well abreast.

MGA Allows Dropping Age For Junior Play

NEW YORK—Lowering of the age limit for the Metropolitan junior golf tournament from twenty-one to eighteen years has been approved by the executive committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association. The MGA limit conforms to requirements of the U.S.A. Junior Chamber of Commerce, and "Bears" junior tournaments.

In announcing the change, officials for the tournament, the MGA stated it "did not consider that its junior championship was justified simply as a vehicle for displaying the prowess of young men who have matured sufficiently to play in men's championships.

"Rather, they (the executive committee) considered that its objective should be to indoctrinate young men and boys during their formative years."

Stimulus to Youngsters

In pointing out that the elimination of eighteen, nineteen and twenty-year-olds from its championships should not cut the entry list to any considerable extent, the committee commented . . . it was felt that the step would act as a stimulus to boys of younger ages who would no longer have to compete with those who had really reached manhood and that this stimulus would result in more entrants in the younger age groups.

"It is interesting to consider that the USGA Junior Championship with the 18th birthday as its upward limit had entrants as young as eleven years of age," the announcement continued. "In 1953 three thirteen-year-olds reached the fourth round of the National event. Our best chance of developing future golfers and sportsmen with a healthy attitude towards the game comes from working with them at these early ages."

The 1956 tournament will be played in New Jersey July 17-18, and the USGA Jr. at Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 8-11. Boys who have not reached their eighteenth birthday by July 19 will be eligible for the Met.

Louis White, Conservation Commissioner, is making good on his promise to do something about the predator situation in New York.

Last year when we asked him to brief us on his program he wrote that predator control would be instituted where needed. Now, it has just been announced by Albany, a full-scale war is being launched against the Adirondack brush wolves which are seriously menacing deer herds as well as domestic livestock.

The brush wolf, sometimes euphemistically referred to as a "wild dog" or "coyote" has been on the increase for more than 10 years.

In appearance it closely resembles the wolf and is considerably larger than the Western coyote. Wildlife authorities have yet to provide an exact identification.

A wolf-control program was begun during the administration of Perry Duryea. White's predecessor, but trapping efforts were so limited they were ineffectual in stopping the growth of the wolf herds. Under the present plan the number of trappers will be increased and attempts are to be made to enlist active cooperation of sportsmen. Stations will be set up to teach trapping techniques.

The size of the "coyote" population is indicated by the fact that one trapper has accounted for 38 of the big predators. Standard by trap were used as well as the highly lethal cyanide gas traps. Special scents were developed to attract the wolves while at the same time repelling dogs.

An early sighting of the predator danger was aired in this corner five years ago. Accompanying one column was a photo showing a state trapper in Herkimer County with some of the wolves he had bared in a single day.

The animals, examined by the writer, looked like anything but hybrid coyotes. They more closely resembled German police dogs, the first or two wolves. Those we saw weighed about 45 pounds. In the West a No. 2 trap will spread a five and a half inch law spread is an effective coyote-geller.

FUEL TRUCK COMES TO GRIEF WHILE MAKING DELIVERY IN YONKERS

UNAFFECTED by the strike of 3,000 truck drivers in New York City, fuel oil deliveries continued at a normal pace throughout Westchester yesterday.

The only interruption reported had nothing to do with the strike—it occurred when a truck of the Adlee Fuel Service, Mount Vernon, came to grief while making a delivery on Prospect Street in Yonkers. Asphalt paving gave way under the left rear wheel of the 15-ton vehicle. A municipal tow truck was called and pulled the truck from the cavity. Meanwhile, Anthony Porcetti of Mount Vernon, the driver, was able to make his delivery. Right photo

Kindergarten Registry

It is time for children who expect to enter kindergarten next September in the Mamaroneck School System to be registered, according to Dr. W. J. Wood, superintendent of schools. Registration should be made immediately by parents at the office of the elementary school in their district and the child's birth certificate should be shown at the time of registration, Dr. Wood stated.

Any child who becomes five years of age before Jan. 1, 1937 may be admitted to school this September, and children eligible for kindergarten will be assigned to groups in the order of registration.

First Time in Chair

Chauncey E. Smith, president of the Masonic Club of Larchmont, will preside over his first meeting at 7:30 next Wednesday at a corned beef dinner at Seven Pines Restaurant.

The entertainment will consist of a showing of the 1935 World Series movie.

In the meeting notice, Mr. Smith reported that $200 from the proceeds of the Corned Beef Dinner has been contributed to the Masonic Brotherhood Fund.

Cadet Promoted

Cadet Vincent J. Indivri, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Indivri, of 13 Evilla Drive, Larchmont, has been promoted to Cadet A-2 class, according to an announcement by Col. Milton M. Tower, professor of military training at the U. S. Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Detachment 225, Notre Dame University, West Point, N. Y.

Cadet Indivri is a sophomore at the College of Commerce at the University of Maryland in advertising. His promotion is recognition of his proficiency in the discharge of his duties as a cadet.

He was born in East Haverhill, N. I., and moved with his family to Larchmont five and a half years ago. He was graduated from Iowa Prep School, New Rochelle, in 1933. While there he played basketball and baseball, and was on the bowling team.

At Notre Dame Indivri has continued his bowling, and as a freshman played shortstop on the baseball team.

HARRIMAN CALLS FOR 56 MILLION TO BUILD ROADS

Legislation Asked To Appropriately Fund For Speedy Construction

ALBANY (AP)—Governor Harriman asked the Legislature today to appropriate $56,253,253 immediately to speed highway construction in the state.

His request was included in his annual deficiency appropriation bill to cover expenditures not met by appropriations for the current fiscal year, ending March 31.

The bill asked for a total of $76,192,028.

Mr. Harriman said in a memorandum that the appropriations were needed immediately to cover "critical needs" of the state.

Appropriation of the money for highway construction is necessary to meet its share of the cost of forthcoming federal-state road program, ending March 31.

The Federal Government is committed to paying a matching share now, the state could not share with construction without waiting for the federal money.

HANSON TO LEAD RED CROSS DRIVE

Chairman Selected For Larchmont Campaign

Nils Hanson has been named chairman of the Larchmont Red Cross drive, which will be headed by William C. Hyatt, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Larchmont Branch.

Mr. Hanson is with the European Sales Division of Thomson Submarine Corp., New York City. He is a graduate of Mamaroneck High School and Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill. A resident of Larchmont since 1922, he has his parents at 10 Look-out Circle.

Mr. Hanson is a veteran of World War II, having served with the U. S. Marine Corps in Iwo Jima, Southwest Pacific Theater.

Jobs, Care, Homes Aim

Harriman Requests $100 Million To Help Aged

ALBANY (AP)—Governor Harriman presented to the Legislature today a $100 million program to help the aged and solve problems of employment, medical care, housing, education and rehabilitation.

The program, outlined in a special message, called for:

1. Additional counties to help older people find work.
2. State aid for school districts to provide educational services and recreational activities for aged and aged persons.
3. State aid on a matching basis to local public welfare districts to establish and operate day centers for the aged and aged.
4. Improvement of institutional care, nursing-home care and facilities, expansion of medical and research services, broadening of rehabilitation services and launching of experimental projects for detection and treatment of the chronically ill.
5. Study of ways to supply suitable public and private housing for older people.

The program would require $500,000 in new appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30. The remainder of $500,000 needed would be embodied in budget appropriations for state agencies called upon to implement his recommendations.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

What most kids object to about school is the principal of the thing.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Former Governor Earl Long stumped down the comeback trail to landside victory in the Louisiana Governor's race today, leaving the administration of pro-Eisenhower Governor Robert Kennon in the dust.

Mayor Deleseppe Morrison of New Orleans, the only candidate in the live-man field in the Democratic primary who could have forced the race into a Feb. 21 runoff, conceded at 2 A. M.

Building his lead constantly as late rally voters trickled in, the sixty-year-old Mr. Long rolled toward the majority vote needed to avoid a runoff with the second-place candidate.

Unofficial returns from 1,725 of the state's 2,039 precincts showed:

Francis Grevenberg	50,710
Earl Long	340,770
James McLemore	38,843
Deleseppe Morrison	150,105

Blast Dead Put At 16, Tanker Still Flaming

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Cities Service Oil workers today wearily battled swirling flames and choking smoke that may conceal the bodies of at least 16 seamen in a blazing tanker.

Loaded with a full cargo of 120,000 barrels of gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil, the tanker Salem Maritime exploded late last night.

A crew of 41 was believed assigned to the vessel. Cities Service officials did not know how many were on board at the time of the blast.

Firefighters picked up pieces of clothing this morning. St. Patrick's Hospital here treated eight seamen, one in serious condition. A Cities Service worker also was burned seriously.

3 Missing, Says Fire

A spokesman for Cities Service, which owned the tanker, estimated the missing at 20. A seaman, who had been on board before the explosion, put the figure at 16.

The Salem Maritime's blast set two loading docks afire at the U. S. Marine Corps in L. I.

The ship and the docks, according to the company, were a complete loss. No damage estimate was given.

About 1,500 workers attempted to douse the fire and succeeded in containing the flames to the ship and docks, away from the huge adjoining refinery.

At 3 A. M. (EST), a tugboat surveying the cracked, flaming Salem Maritime cracked a flashlight waving at the rear. Pulling alongside, the tug found three seamen. They jumped overboard.

Trapped for 4 hours by the three-Frank Tote, twenty-five of Brooklyn, N. Y., George Emley and Fred Gentry (ages and addresses unavailable)—land trap in the tanker's engine room for four hours. When they climbed out of the engine room and onto the deck, there they signalled the tug.

REEVES TO HEAD FUND FOR HALLS

Group Set Up To Find Home For Family Of 11

Rosser Reeves of Cedar Island, Larchmont, was last night elected chairman of the Hall Family Fund for Halls.

The organization was created through the efforts of the Daily Times to help Mrs. Dorothy Hall of 2028 Palmer Avenue, Larchmont, find a suitable home for her family of 11 children. The organization's headquarters are at St. John's Episcopal Church, Larchmont.

A temporary repository was set up at the Larchmont Post Office for contributions to the fund.

Also elected were Mayor Deleseppe Morrison of Larchmont, treasurer; Mrs. Arnold Belchert of 30 Walnut Avenue, Larchmont, secretary; Wain Carrington of 605 Ely Avenue, Mamaroneck, recording secretary; and John Hershey of 323 Weaver Street, Larchmont, secretary.

Decision on repair work to one of the houses, both condemned by the Village as uninhabitable unless repaired, awaits a sub-committee report.
