Parade Hi-Lites

New Vantage Point

The parade review stands in one last night, at least for one spectator: who for years has viewed the fireman's march.

John V. Kennedy of 208 DeLancey Avenue decided he'd look at this one as it passed the Mamaroneck Avenue and Post Road intersection.

"Every other year," he said, "I watch it somewhere over the avenue, but down here you get not only the parade but also the traffic action which is a show in itself with cars and trucks piled up both ways along the Post Road as men manning to get through between parade units."

"These cops really do some job," he concluded, particularly after he had viewed police not only during the parade but immediately after when long lines of cars were jammed not only along the Post Road but also out of Harbor Island while crews were trying to cross the Post Road.

Tight Squeeze

Police Chief Jeremiah Geary didn't draw an easy breath all day yesterday as he planned police assignments for last night's firemen's parade.

From 5:30 P.M. he was afraid that Post Road traffic between Mamaroneck Avenue and Fairfield Road would have to be handled in two lanes because of road construction.

"This'll be a nightmare," he said yesterday morning, "but at least enough when we have all the lines open and the parade has to pass."

Last-minute work on the part of road crew, however, got the blocked down, and they labored overtime to get it thoroughly rolled. The roller was working up to 3:30 o'clock.

Chief Geary heaved a sigh of relief at 5 P.M. hours just before the parade was due to start because he was only then informed that the fuel pump on the road could be used for traffic.

Sheriff's Men Laundered

Pronounced "very helpful," Police Chief Jeremiah Geary ordered last night's parade of volunteer firemen were 25 members of the Sheriff's Emergency Force who helped the parade lines with their lead, patrol cars, and who helped keep order afterwards on Harbor Island where the carnival played to a large crowd.

The men were led by Capt. Henry Kimball of Yorkers, Sgt. Olive De Roma of Mount Vernon, and Sgt. Frank Randall of Yorkers.

These men serve as auxiliaries of the sheriff's office at their own expense and on their own time. They are always willing to respond to such calls for assistance as last night's parade, and are on call at all times for emergencies by the sheriff's office.

Line Of Duty

Apparently when volunteer firemen want to parade they make about eight of a fire.

Before last night's parade was scheduled to start, Eastchester Fire Department reported its members had just returned from fighting a fire and might be a little late.

However, they were on hand when the starting gun was sounded, and while they had little to say about their fire, they let it be distinct that they stood that they wasted no time in putting it out.

Special mention was made of this from the judges' stand and later at the carnival when copies were awarded to honor the distinction of coming in second to Larchmont for the most men in line.

Law And Order

It took a total of 83 policemen to handle last night's 1,000 crowd which witnessed the Mamaroneck Fire Department parade.

There were 14 officers from more than half the local police department, 33 auxiliary police, and 30 Sheriff's Emergency Force.

Nothing Open Tomorrow But Celebrations

All public offices and most stores will be closed tomorrow in celebration of the Independence Day holiday.

There will be no postal deliveries and no window service at the Mamaroneck and Mount Vernon offices but the office lobbies will be open.

The Daily Times will not be published.

All-day celebrations of the 180th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will be held at Mount Vernon in Larchmont and at Harbor Island where firemen will conclude the holiday observance.

THE WEATHER

Much more comfortable weather this afternoon than yesterday with mostly fair and temperatures rising to the low and middle 80s. Clear sky with a few light clouds and some slight rain with lowest temperatures around 70. Fair and pleasant tomorrow around 80 degrees.

The clock thermometers have been effective, they should be used, they are intended to decrease the number of "moving violations" such as speeding, run-down, and "sped clocks."

RECOVERY CREWS FIGHT OUT VICTIMS OF AIR DISASTER

Fresh Attempt Made To Reach Second Plane; 70 Bodies Removed

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—A new attempt was made today to reach the wreckage of a United Air Lines plane, one of two that crashed into the Grand Canyon three days ago carrying 128 persons to death.

Recovery crews, meanwhile, completed their work at the grisly wreckage of the TWA transportation plane which shattered on a canyon ledge.

Recovery work continued under dangerous and difficult conditions as pressure mounted to find the cause of the disaster. Presumably to have been a collision between the two planes.

The crews flew out 26 rubber bags containing the remains of victims and the wreckage of the plane when it crashed.

Helicopters landed on a sandbar in the Colorado River at the base of a sheer cliff below the spots where the planes fell.

Experienced mountaineers were trying to make the 1,000-foot climb to the main part of the wreckage.

Remains are being taken to Flagstaff for possible identification.

There were three other developments:

1. A recovery team and a group of investigators started out on the jagged ledge where the plane was wrecked.

2. The wreckage of the TWA plane was being moved to a sandbar in the Colorado River at the base of a sheer cliff below the spots where the planes fell.

3. Experienced mountaineers were trying to make the 1,000-foot climb to the main part of the wreckage.

PLANNERS TO ACT ON SHOP CENTER

$3 Million Project Argued In Larchmont

The Larchmont Village Board, which wanted last night to reject a plan for a proposed shopping center on the site of the present Larchmont Nursery on the Boston Post Road, Larchmont, followed the advice of Attorney George P. Forbes Jr. instead and referred the matter to the Planning Board for study and recommendation.

The proposal made by Attorney Frank Gagliardi was for a 100,000-sq-ft center, with a parking lot of 200 spaces and a building for a fruit and vegetable market. Mr. Gagliardi said the new center would be an L-shaped building worth $3 million.

He said the entire 17 acres on Boston Post Road between Winans Street and Kilmer Road would be zoned in accordance with the plan of the neighborhood. A 50 to 100-foot buffer would be set up with evergreen and shrubby planting, he said, and the area would be paved and landscaped.

The zoning board would be asked to change the zoning of the area.

Mr. Gagliardi said Hartung Street could be developed as a secondary entrance to take some of the traffic away from the Post Road.

He submitted photos and a site plan to the Board, copies of which were given to the Planning Board. A member of the Pinebrook Park Association, which owns the property, was present.

Trustees Vincent Monte-bano and Edward White argued the plan was in violation of the zoning ordinance and that the site was not suitable for a shopping center.

Mr. Forbes, however, pointed out the petition for the center should go first to the Planning Board for recommendations.

He said the Planning Board could act on the petition before the Aug. 6 meeting of the Village Board.

Opposition to the plan was indicated by Mr. Browne and Mr. White. The Planning Board would be asked to change the zoning of the area.

LAOFFS SPREAD IN STEEL STRIKE

Thousands Of Railroad Workers Made Idle

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Railroad and other freight haulers led the growing economic impact of the nationwide steel strike today as thousands of workers were laid off.

Steelworkers and the basic steel industry marked time awaiting talks with the government's chief labor mediator.

The Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads reported further notices yesterday affecting 100,000 steelworkers, total immediate rail layoffs may involve 30,000 or 35,000 workers.

The railroad dependent on steel industry for much of their business, cut operations sharply following the walkout of 65,000 steelworkers at midnight Saturday.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation Service, said he had called the industry and labor leaders in an attempt to get the negotiations underway again.

Due to lack of steel, basic steel mills at several points in the country are idling parts of their plants.

The Great Lakes one—carrying 300,000 tons of steel—has been idled since Saturday. Reports of other mills idling are expected to follow.

The American Steel Warehouse Association said it will contribute one-fifth of the nation's total steel production to small businesses, valued at $100 million, from the normal supply due to scarcity of plates and structural Pickering Quilets.

Small groups of pickets patrolled the gates of steel plants. All was quiet.

Joseph L. Block, president of Inland Steel Co., said yesterday in Chicago, the industry wants an agreement which will not be "unilateral."

The National Association of Manufacturers said that the strike may result in another spiral of inflation if numerous raises in steel costs are forced on the companies.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said in Washington, the steel industry justifiably is considering a lockout. He pledged full support of the labor movement.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., ousted Alheha Gibson's hopes of being the first Negro to win a Wimbledon tennis singles championship today when she defeated the New York girl, 6-3, 6-4, in a quarter final match.

The victory sent Miss Fry into the semi-finals against top seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills Calif. and first Briton, Shirley Bloomer, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3.

County Board Votes Day For $4 Million Airport Expansion

Master Plan Adopted Over Opposition

REJECTING appeals from the towns of Harrison and Rye for a public hearing, the Board of Supervisors in its pre-fourth of July firework accord adopted a master plan for the Westchester County Airport yesterday. The vote was 5-10 for the plan. The dissenting 10 were Democratic.

Supervisor James M. Landa, D., Harrison, former chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, was the chief spokesman against the plan. He argued that the proposal for the expansion of the airport could be "served easily and reasonably" by present facilities.

He questioned the moving of the administration building from the north side of the airport to the southeast side, pointing out the impact traffic would have in residential Purchase.

The Board lacked the airport plan telegrams were received from 10 individuals and groups who live or have interests in the area. All demanded a public hearing.

They included Howard S. Cullman, chairman of the Port of New York Authority Board; Mrs. Arthur Lehman, sister-in-law of Governor W. W. Averell Harriman; Whitlaw Leland and Mrs. John Lewis; all residents; Albert M. Morris, a Communist representing nearby Fairfield County, Conn.; and the Civil Aeronautics Board, represented by Douglas L. Barrett, Bedford, chairman of the Airport Committee which guided the plan through the Board of Supervisors. It is in favor of it. Basically, the plan is a 500-acre expansion of the airport to 10,000 acres.

The federal government is providing $2,150,000 in public improvements and changes. The State will contribute $4 million and the County Airport Commission $1.5 million.

Before federal funds could be distributed, a master plan would have to be submitted.

Mr. Landa said that 65 percent of the New York Airport was in the town and two runways provided takeoffs over Harrison. He said he was opposed to a continental type airport which would carry traffic to places like Los Angeles, San Francisco and other cities. He said that the County Airport Commission, which was created in 1953, had $15,000,000 in realty it would pay the year.

PSC Grants Rate Hike Telephone Co. Dials $15 Million—Gets It

ALBANY (AP)—The New York Telephone Co. will put a $15.754, 000 yearly rate increase into effect on Thursday.

The board, approved yesterday by the Public Service Commission, involves monthly increases of: 30 cents on party-line, home and rural telephone.

25 cents on private home telephones.

50 cents on business phone.

About 4 1/2 million subscribers are affected.

Need Proved

The PSC said in its decision that the company had "reasonably proven" that it needed a rate increase to meet costs of employment pay boosts and other increases in expenses.

The commission noted that the increase would give the company a return of slightly more than 2 1/2 percent in 1956. The commission said that it had found that factor supported the "reasonable" nature of the company request.

Keith S. McHugh, president of the company was pleased that it had been allowed the "moderately higher rate" than it had asked for.

He said that since the previous year New York Telephone Co. rates had gone up less than 2 1/2 percent, "the lowest total increase of any state in the Union."

County Chiefs All but Unanimous Police Back Teen Drink Limits

By E. L. MAXAY

Are eighteen-year-olds too young for drinking? Should New York State raise the drinking age to twenty-one?

Do New York bars say open too long? Would a midnight A. M. closing law make drinking safer, saner and more respectable?

Westchester's police invariably vote "yes" on all these questions.

They agree that New York law is too liberal on drinking. It allows a 16-year-old to buy alcohol in New Jersey and Connecticut. Many bars are open until 2:00 a.m. to anyone under twenty-one.

They also close bars and taverns at midnight and 1 A. M. respectively.

Because of their pressure to New York, those states have run into trouble, it was reported at the recent conference of mayors called by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City. Eighteen-year-olds can't drink in Greenwich, so they drive a few miles and buy in P. O. stores.

"No Judgment Show"

Police Chief Francis Moogan of North Putnam says:

"Midnight closing on Saturday should be 'muzzled' collector I. A. M. reasonable on other days. I favor the minimum age of twenty-one for drinking because our biggest trouble is with young people who can't take it. What's set into lights, and who show no judgment after a few drinks."

"Habitly-nudged" of raising the drinking age and earlier bar closing a Police Chief William P. McDonald of Mount Vernon. He said:

Police Back Teen Drink Limits

I think teenagers tend to overdo their drinking and they are too young to be drinking. As for the closing time for bars, I think most are open after midnight because others do. Midnight closing would be better for everyone.

Police Back Teen Drink Limits

I think teenagers tend to overdo their drinking and they are too young to be drinking. As for the closing time for bars, I think most are open after midnight because others do. Midnight closing would be better for everyone.

Do New York bars say open too long? Would a midnight A. M. closing law make drinking safer, saner and more respectable?

Westchester's police invariably vote "yes" on all these questions.

They agree that New York law is too liberal on drinking. It allows a 16-year-old to buy alcohol in New Jersey and Connecticut. Many bars are open until 2:00 a.m. to anyone under twenty-one.

They also close bars and taverns at midnight and 1 A. M. respectively.

Because of their pressure to New York, those states have run into trouble, it was reported at the recent conference of mayors called by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City. Eighteen-year-olds can't drink in Greenwich, so they drive a few miles and buy in P. O. stores.

"No Judgment Show"

Police Chief Francis Moogan of North Putnam says:

"Midnight closing on Saturday should be 'muzzled' collector I. A. M. reasonable on other days. I favor the minimum age of twenty-one for drinking because our biggest trouble is with young people who can't take it. What's set into lights, and who show no judgment after a few drinks."

"Habitly-nudged" of raising the drinking age and earlier bar closing a Police Chief William P. McDonald of Mount Vernon. He said:

Citizen Project Winner

Stevenson Sees Fear Hiding In Patriotism

First prize winner in the Manamomeck High School Citizenship Project Contest, sponsored by the Larchmont Rotary Club and for which Charles E. Greenall is club representative, was William Stevenson of 21 Villa Road, Larchmont.

Stevenson, who is sixteen and a half years old, was born in Larchmont Aug. 27, 1939. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln L. Stevenson. His father is a construction in New York City.

An honor roll student, Stevenson was a member of the glee club, a capella choir and took part in several school plays. He was president of the Larchmont Temple Youth Group a few years ago.

A Boy Scout and Explorer, his hobbies are gardening, swimming and horseback riding. He enjoys handicrafting, has a flat for dramatics and a deep regard for animals.

Stevenson has an older brother, Jackie, who was graduated this year from Yale University and will enter Yale law school in the fall. A younger brother, Ruffly attends Manamomeck Junior High School.

Stevenson's winning essay, titled "Americans Are Afraid," follows: Americans are afraid. In spite of the traditional spirit of pioneering and fearlessness which has helped to build our nation into the most powerful in the world, many of us are allowing ourselves to become frightened and timid. We are losing the love of much of what we do to day, and we are afraid to speak up for what we know to be right.

This is not democracy as we know it. Democracy has always stressed the importance of the individual; democracy recognizes the privilege of the people to set the course for the nation as a whole. It is not the dictation of the policies of the government, but the consent of the governed.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Show Shotgun Papa You Do Right By Nell

BY ANN LANDERS

Question: I'm in deep trouble about your buddy I suggest you wipe the sweat off my forehead. I love a great deal. Her father never liked me. He's the suspicious type. He made it plain if I ever got out of line with his daughter he'd "fix me." My girl is scared to death to tell her folks of her condition. We don't know where to turn. I love and respect this girl and we planned on getting married—eventually. Believe me, my intentions were strictly honorable.

Answer: Honorable intentions—like babies who cry in church—should be carried out immediately. If the girl is not of age you'll need parental consent. Any other chance you'll have to take your chances. Shotgun father's ability to control himself. Apparently papa had your number. He's in a bad mood. You're going into that town. You'll never know how he feels until you have a quiet talk with your father.

Try to make up for this bad start by being a perfect husband and father. In time, if her parents see you are making their daughter happy, they may forgive you.

Question: My problem has nothing to do with broken hearts—just broken furniture. I live on a C. I. allotment. We have a furnished apartment and the real estate with rats, mice, ants and roaches of every size and description.

When you try to rent a place the first question they ask is "Do you drink?" If a person didn't drink how could he stand to live with all the stuff that crawls in these furnished flats? Who's the Board of Health, anyway?

R. G. Answer: Maybe if you didn't drink you wouldn't see so many things crawling around.

If the situation is as bad as you say with all means get on the stick and call the Board of Health. That's one of the things you get for your tax buck, Miss.

QUESTION: A friend of ours says he's in love with, and wants to marry, a divorcee with four kids. The gal is a little doll, in her twenties and half the stage in town are chasing her. Plus the fact she's a lot more brainy than most people suspect—a real man-rapper.

We think our buddy would be a sap to take on the responsibilities of four kids, not his own. We hate to see our pal get messed up for life. Please give him a real "come to your senses" talk, Annie—like only you can do it. B. V. V. S. Army.

Answer: You sound like you might be included in that "half" of the stags who are chasing her. If I'm wrong I owe you an apology, and you've got it. If you're seriously concerned kid who smokes, drinks and has been in trouble with the law. He has a record a mile long. I've done everything I can to make him leave me alone but he continues to pester me. Can this boy ruin my reputation?

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

J. M. Answer: Not unless you help him. You know how to say "no" don't you? Well, if you mean it, say it that way and he'll get the message. The trouble with some girls who claim they can't shake a guy is they say "no" and make it sound just like "maybe."

Many have written to ask what the "confidential" means at the end of the columns. Some letters are too hot to handle in print. Other correspondents would prefer not to get a letter in the mail. Still others fear their problems would be recognized by friends and family if they appeared in print. We try to accommodate all these people by handling their problems in "confidential."

Confidentially: Terry J. Forster and forget, he's young and inexperienced and he deserves another chance.

IT ALL WENT FOR NAUGHT when the 20th John G. Anderson Memorial golf tournament at Winged Foot G. C., Mamaroneck, was victimized by yesterday's downpours. At left, club president Walter Koll, left of Mamaroneck and former club president Homer Johnson of Larchmont, center, look over the field-leading card of 68 which had to be crossed off when the postponement was called. Lewis Kilber of Bronxville, who had the score jointly with Bob Gardiner as representative of the Cavalier Club of Virginia, early displays the nullified score to the officials. In center photo, Elminster's Willie Turnesa, former U. S. and British champ and a three-time Anderson winner, makes mockery of the weather by using the day's predominant "club"—an umbrella, for some practice putting in the club hallway. Watching the go in amusement, left to right, are Knollwood clubmate Fred Malara Jr., of Elminster and Fred Fire of Harrison, who formed one Knollwood team, and Jack McAliff, Turnesa's partner. At right, Pete O'Connor, left, of Montrose and Edmund H. "Eddie" Briggs of Bronxville, one of Sissy Hollow's teams, disgustedly turn their outstretched palms skyward outside the clubhouse to see the rain still falling. Fresh start in the tournament will be made by the 100 teams today.—Staff photos by John Marston and Paul Byrne.

Winged Foot Golf Club, already announced as the scene of the 1956 United States Open golf championship, apparently has decided to adhere to the old axiom: ladies first.

This is how Harmon recounted the details yesterday. "I realized early in the match that Burkemo had most of the Detroit money with him. But I just never expected anything like the 'reception' that awaited me at the final hole.

Area athletes between the ages of 10 to 16 are already preparing to participate in the Playground Olympics which are slated to open in 10 days.

Eye Neck opened Monday, and Director Jack Hatley has been stressing conditioning for the Olympic events. Even yesterday's rain didn't interrupt workouts which were switched indoors as close to 100 athletes participated.

There will be six playgrounds where area athletes will be competing. They are Murray Avenue, Chatsworth Avenue and Flint Park in Larchmont; Mamaroneck Avenue and Central Avenue schools in Mamaroneck; and Belvois Hi in Rye Neck.

Larchmont, Mamaroneck and Rye Neck compose three-fourths of Section VI in Westchester County, with New Rochelle the fourth division in this section.

Competition will be conducted in four classes during the Olympics. There are the middle, junior, intermediate and senior

What's more, the defeat left the Braves only three points ahead of the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were rained out in their last home stand, the one scheduled in the loop.

They've lost six of their last nine, including three-of-four from the Braves, socked Milwaukee and Detroit in the final game of the season.

Today's 32 low scores will qualify for match play, beginning with two rounds tomorrow. The 36-hole finals now will be played either on Monday or the following Sunday, with the decision left up to the two teams involved.

The Braves lost 10 of 15 and tumbled from first to fifth before catching fire with an 11-game winning streak on the road. They've lost two of three on the current home stand.

They've lost six of their last nine, including three-of-four from the Braves, socked Milwaukee and Detroit in the final game of the season.

Today's 32 low scores will qualify for match play, beginning with two rounds tomorrow. The 36-hole finals now will be played either on Monday or the following Sunday, with the decision left up to the two teams involved.

Another former winner, Tommy Greenwood of Westchester competing as Pete O'Connor and Ed Briggs, and James Hand and Dave Maning of Sleepy Hollow, Tom Robbins and Mark Stuart, Joe Gagliardi and Artie Lynch, John Smith and Ed Vaughan of Yonkers, and Walter Peek and club champion Spensky (5-6) vs. Gross (11-0).

Harmon will never forget the match with Burkemo. It involved one of the most unusual occurrences ever witnessed in a major golf championship—the shrieking sound of rooting for a home-town

Here's hoping Harmon has a day to remember come July 24. After 10 straight attempts; three times as far as the sun, he's deserving of a shot at the final. Would make quite a final at that. Doug Ford V, Claude Harmon.

What's more, the defeat left the Braves only three points ahead of the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were rained out in their last home stand, the one scheduled in the loop.

Truck Drivers On Strike

Railroads Take Over Shipment Of Autos At Tarrytown Plant

TARRYTOWN — Picketing was still going on at the Anchor Motor Freight N. Y. Corp. today, regardless of a temporary restraining order entered by the court...

All shipment of cars has been by rail since the strike of drivers on Wednesday night.

The Chevrolet division was forced to cut its shifts in half the men working four hours each. All last night cars were loaded for rail delivery.

Anchor does the hauling for the Chevrolet division. The Chevrolet division was forced to cut its shifts in half the men working four hours each.

They will be loaded until midnight tonight, Mr. Browne said, and it is hoped that Monday's shifts will run longer than four hours.

The Anchor firm yesterday afternoon obtained a show cause order from State Supreme Court Justice Elbert T. Gallagher with a temporary restraining order picked up by Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The 25 individuals are listed as those picking Anchor office. Among them are Theodore Daley, who claims to be secretary-treasurer of the local, the company says if others are employees, two are former employees and two are unknown.

Raymond M. Gregory, vice president of Anchor, said, in an affidavit submitted to Justice Gallagher, that there has been no dispute for some time between factions within the local.

He said previous company negotiations have been with Lester Sicking as secretary-treasurer and Philip Mastello as business agent and that his firm has not been notified by the International Union that anyone else has been elected.

Mr. Gregory said the company has a contract with the locals which limits strikes to certain hours of their day.

In addition to the 13 employees, 89 drivers were warned to repair defective license equipment.

Complain of Delay

Moni drivers were "very cooperative," Chief Lander reported, but some complained of being held up for too long. One Tarrytown driver said he was in favor of the checks, but I've been in this darn line for 15 minutes now.

Actually, an observer with a stop watch reported, no car took more than five minutes to go through if everything "checked out," but as a police officer observed, "when you're sitting there in the car it feels like hours."

Among those pulled over were Phillips, fifty-two, who also was imprisoned three years in Red China, The Roman Catholic priest, both of San Francisco, are the first Americans freed by Peiping since two Presbyterian missionaries were released last December. Eleven other Americans still are imprisoned in Red China.

What will it cost? How will it be paid? He will have the news of youthful offenders be handled.

These and other pertinent points will be presented in a three-act series beginning Monday.

Tarrytown provided five men led by Sgt. Joseph Vincent.

Another Call Awaited By Weinbergers

WESTBURY (AP)—Two men were in police custody today as detectives pushed their search for five-week-old Peter Weinberger, kidnaped from his carriage on July 27 last.

Police were close - mounded about the two except to admit the call was traced. The second was a Police spokesman quoted Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell as saying the town "had no direct connection with the kidnaping."

It was reported, however, that he telephoned the parents of the missing child and presumably the call was traced. The second was a Police spokesman quoted Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell as saying the town "had no direct connection with the kidnaping."

MAN EXTRADICTED IN ABANDONMENT

Sentenced For Failure To Support Family Here

WHITE PLAINS — George Davis, forty-two, extradited from Washington, D. C., to face an abandonment charge, was given a one-year suspended sentence yesterday and told to pay $25 weekly support for his wife and children.

Davis, an auto mechanic, pleaded guilty to the charge of failure to support. He was put on three years' probation.

The defendant was charged with abandoning his wife, Grace, and three children, three, nine and twelve. They live at 731 Old Mamaroneck Road, Mamaroneck.

Arthur Fraetz, assistant district attorney, said the matter was sent to the prosecutor's office by the County Department of Welfare when the wife applied for public assistance.

It was the first time in several years that a husband was extradited from one state to face such a charge. The prosecutor's office indicated it would not hesitate to extradite in any similar case.

Davis and Grace were married in 1942 in North Carolina.

Barrier Required

Notwithstanding the conditions attached to the approval are that a vehicular barrier must be erected between the sidewalks on the Post Road, Monroe Avenue, and Thompson Place, and that only two entrance drives, each not more than 45 feet, will be permitted, both on the Post Road.

Teachers, In Upward Assail Merit Ratings

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A wildcat fire fight with charges of "subversive" and "dilatory tactics" crackling over the public address system, enervated sessions of the annual serene convention of the National Education Association.

The convention ended last night after declaring itself opposed to merit ratings for teachers on the basis of any existing set of standards. This is what happened before the final vote was reached.

Mary R. LeMay of Ottawa, Ill., proposed a resolution that the NEA, after a consolidated vote on the subject, should oppose merit ratings for teachers on the basis of any existing set of standards.

The resolution was finally adopted but only after frequent calls upon the parkmaster and lubricants and accessories.

Bid-Opening Slated

Moving rapidly toward the start of the new Rye Neck Junior-Senior High School on the Palmyra tract, the set of bids for the building has set July 24, at 9 P. M., at Bellevue High School for the opening of bids on the project.

Sealed bids on the $1,195,000 project will be received in four categories: general construction, plumbing, heating and refrigeration, and electrical.

Following opening of the proposals the Board will select the bids and is expected to award contracts.

Not Even Half-Safe

"The area became very strong raining us to abandon the area for a while."

This read the battle report turned in yesterday by Pit George C. Milroy, chief of the Town of Mamaroneck police force.

The area was a window well in the front of the residence of Hal Ottolenghi at 41st Street, West 100 Drive.

Lodged to a depth of three feet in the window well was a baby skull.

"We tried to trap the skull," reported Pit Milroy, "but the cramp muscles were unable to do so."

The patrolman returned to the odorous area and fired three 38 revolver shots into the skull.

"I then scooped the remains from the well and buried same," the report concludes.

59 Parking Tickets

Enforcement of Larchmont Village's no-night parking ordinance went into effect last night when 59 cars left in the area around the Bevan Hotel and Hotel Inn were ticketed by Larchmont police.

The ordinance prohibits parking between 7 and 6 A. M. on any village street.

Police for two weeks have issued warnings against such parking.

The Bevan has no facilities for non-parking and there are no public off-street lots in the vicinity. The nearest off-street lot is the Gilder Street lot which has a $5 monthly fee for parking.

One Under Par?

Caddying might be a tough and tiring business.

Audie Fiedler, forty-nine, a caddy at Winedale Park, went to sleep last night at the Mamaroneck Playhouse, despite the fact that the show was of the "horror" genre.

Mr. Fiedler, who gave his address as New Rochelle, was seen in and this morning gave the horses to Mrs. Edna Vasa, a housewife.

Mrs. Vasa called police who ascertained that Fiedler was tired and had no money to go home. He was sent on his way after questioning, according to the police report.

Two Women Hurt In Post Road Crash

Two Post Chester women were injured at 10:30 P. M. yesterday in a two-car crash on the East Post Road at Frank Avenue, Mamaroneck, police report.

Miss Stephanie V. Carris, forty-four, of 7th Avenue, was the driver of one of the cars, suffering a possible fractured hip, according to police.

Miss Lillian Kelly, thirty-one, of 22 Irving Avenue, was the driver of the other car, suffering a possible fracture of the jaw and contusions and lacerations of the forehead. Mrs. Kelly was a passenger in a car operated by Michael J. Tartaglia, forty-one, of 178 Elden Avenue, Port Chester.

According to police, Mr. Tartaglia was traveling east on the Post Road and Mrs. Carris was attempting a left turn from Frank Avenue on to the Post Road. Mr. Tartaglia, in a statement, said that Mrs. Carris pulled directly in front of his car. Mrs. Carris, police say, refused a statement.

Both injured women were taken to United Hospital Post Chester, in the Mamaroneck Village police ambulance.

The right turn and side of the Tartaglia auto were badly smashed, as was the left rear side of Mrs. Carris' auto.

Decal-Meter Parking Proposed For Depot

A proposal to install parking decal meters at the station would be considered at July 23, a meeting at the Municipal Building.

Metering of upper and lower levels at the station would depend upon permission of the railroad. The surrounding village-owned lots would be reserved exclusively for residents at $4 a month.

Residents would, therefore, have the choice of purchasing the decal or depending on the availability of metering at a cost of 25 cents per day.

Pointing out that a restrictive use of station parking areas would be discriminatory, railroad officials have objected to setting aside lots immediately adjacent to the station for the exclusive use of residents.

Board members, who have presided with the station parking committee, believe that the only way to assure residents of parking space is to issue decals, which would be prorated at 40 per cent of the entire supply.

Dr. Brumfield said that this restriction of parking in the county-wide which the county redistributes to doctors would be as much as any previous year. He said most persons in the county have been vaccinated in the health district and that many persons are now receiving second shots.

Dr. Brumfield plans several clinics for children of foreign families who cannot pay the doctor's fee for the injection.

The charges cover all crimes—felonies and misdemeanors—and offenses of disorderly conduct, vagrancy and a disorderly person.

Felony cases are now prosecuted under grand jury indictment in County Court. Almost all misdemeanors cases and offenses are now prosecuted in local courts around the county.

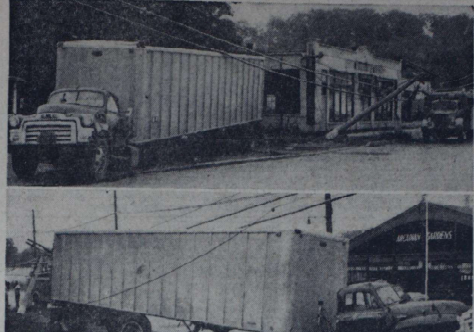

The Youth Court will have jurisdiction over all proceedings leading to adjudication of youth as youthful offenders, wayward minors or adolescent drug users (under the Public Health Law).

The judge of the court will be the County Judge Westchester in the second County Judge. The law says one judge must be designated as the presiding judge of the Youth Court.

A youth over sixteen but not yet eighteen, if charged with one of the offenses or with a crime not punishable by death or life imprisonment, may be adjudicated as a youthful offender.

At present, no arrests are made of youthful offenders. Youth over sixteen are presently arrested as juveniles and police do not make their names public.

WESTBURY (AP) — A longshoreman and a railroad clerk face up to 25 years in prison if convicted of tormenting Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger with a false claim they held her kidnapped by boy.

The two, unemployed, were charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from the neurotic mother and giving false information about a kidnapping.

The case was the first since the five-week-old Peter Weinberger or any solid evidence he is still alive. The blue-eyed baby was snatched from his carriage at Westbury home last Wednesday.

MERCHANTS CALL FOR PARKING LOT

Mamaroneck Ave. Setup Held Bad For Business

The Mamaroneck Village Board last night moved to hold off a plan to set up a parking lot for the commercial Mamaroneck Avenue parking problem but did hear testimony from several merchants who said the current lack of a solution is ruining business.

Barney Epstein, real estate broker at 155 Mamaroneck Avenue, said that the current lack of a solution is ruining business.

Merchants' Cars Two merchants, Harry Berson and Jerry Stone of 283 Mamaroneck Avenue, said that the merchants themselves are taking up the Mamaroneck Avenue parking spaces.

Mr. Stone said he had counted as many as 13 merchants' cars parked along the Avenue.

Mr. Epstein has several times urged the Board to consider purchase of properties running in back of Mamaroneck Avenue.

Board members, led by Village Supervisor William J. Epstein, have hesitated to initiate such a move because of the costs involved and because the Mamaroneck parking lot has not situated the Mamaroneck Avenue situation.

Mr. Johnson said again that the Mamaroneck Village Board should purchase a block west of Mamaroneck Avenue. He is never failed to call for a solution.

Mayor Edwin B. Dooley suggested that the Mamaroneck Village Board should purchase a block west of Mamaroneck Avenue.

Both brothers of Mrs. Mary Comble of 122 Washington Street, Mamaroneck, met their sister for the first time last week when they arrived in the United States from Italy for a short visit.

The meeting took place at Mrs. Comble's home where the two brothers are visiting before they return to Italy.

Both men told tales of service in the Italian Army during the war. They were in 1939 and during World War II.

Paquale, the older of the two, was among a group who refused to fight with the Germans during World War II and was taken prisoner in 1941. He was later captured by the Russians and sent to a concentration camp.

Executive Says He's 'As Well As Before' His Heart Attack

CITTINGBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower today said he was "as well as before" his heart attack.

Republican Senate Leader Knowland disclosed this at a dramatic news conference on the Gettysburg College campus today.

James C. Hagerly, white house press secretary, stood by Knowland as he spoke.

Mr. Knowland said the President told a meeting of Republican congressional leaders he feels in better shape than he did when he made his Feb. 29 announcement that he would seek reelection.

"We are looking forward to very vigorous and active campaign under his leadership," Mr. Knowland said.

"Are you telling us," a reporter asked, "that the President is going to keep his hat in the ring?"

"I'm telling you precisely that," Mr. Knowland replied. "Let me doubt in anyone's mind" that he will run again despite the June 18 Presidential election.

Under questioning, Mr. Knowland said the matter of a Vice Presidential election was not decided.

Mr. Eisenhower himself appeared before reporters and photographers before and after an hour and seven minute strategy session with the Capitol Hill leaders.

In Search of Sally
Anybody here know Sally? The Sally we mean is a young lady reported to live "somewhere in Larchmont" who sat Thursday on a New York subway, struck up an acquaintance with a Billy Mantel of The Billboard, 1544 Broadway, New York.

By MAXINE RANDALL SCARBOROUGH—When Mr. and Mrs. Walter "Red" Barber of Scarborough were students at the University of the Sacred Heart, they were a favorite wisecrack of the radio announcers. Overlooking Hudson

Two acres on the crest of a hill in Scarborough, with a view of the Hudson River, provided the site for the contemporary house that Mrs. Barber planned in detail, and proceeded to decorate. The furnishings are a subtle blend of antiques and contemporary pieces acquired through the years and throughout their travels.

The young Consultation Service of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, which helps girls, occupies much of Mrs. Barber's time. She serves on the board, and is a member of the Y. C. S. She does all the cooking at home, and Red claims she's trying to make a meal, a Spanish rice and seafood fete. She says she prepares it differently every time, "so the recipe is still in the formative stage." One of her specialties is Spanish omelets.

A baseball fan, Mrs. Barber attends many games at Yankee Stadium where her husband broadcasts with Mel Allen and Jim Woods. Asked if she enjoys active sports herself, petite Liv Barber shot back, "I don't do anything I can't do in high heels."

ZEBRA FLOWER POT, won as a bridge prize at a party given for her by a friend who Mrs. Jack T. Williams now of the Garth Woods Apartments, Eastchester, and her husband moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1940, has grown into an impressive collection. The new little plant holder so charmed Mrs. Williams she decided to make "zebra" collecting a hobby. She is pictured in her home with a few items, the large picture above the sofa, the p-quant stuffed model beside her, the hostess stacks she is wearing, and the figurines in assorted sizes and shapes on the table. Another, and smaller zebra plays Brahms' "Lullaby" when wound up. Two chairs in her living room are covered in zebra fabric and she has zebra picture boxes and many other items in her home carry out the theme of her hobby. Mrs. Williams has zebra looking boxes, a blouse, a scarf, an apron, and even three pairs of hose with zebras painted on them especially for her friends remember her hobby as they travel and frequently add to the collection. Not long ago some things returned from an African safari, bringing her a small pouch purse, made of real zebra hide. And Mrs. Williams thinks it would be real nice if someday she can get to Africa and see what zebras really look like in their native habitat. Staff Photo by Warren Dugless.

IT WAS LIKE THIS . . .
YONKERS—Joseph Conlan of 24 Croton Terrace avoiled his wife—she needed cash to pay taxi fare. Said he had been robbed of his pants, shoes and wallet when he fell asleep in a city park. Wife was quite understanding, police claimed. Meanwhile other police received a call from a woman who reported a man had dropped in a nearby alley. Patrolmen found a pair of pants, shoes and a wallet containing identification of Joseph Conlan. They gave them to his wife.

LOVE FINES A WAY
YONKERS—Miss Barbara Rais of 215 DeVos Avenue pleaded guilty to hugging the white line while driving along Bronx River Parkway. Judge Martin Fay fined her $5. The arresting officer then mentioned Miss Rais would become a bride on Sunday. Judge Fay, a bachelor, then struck a blow for Cupid, suspended the sentence and returned the $5 as a wedding present. "But drive carefully on your honeymoon," he advised.

BIRDWATCHERS CHEER
MOUNT VERNON—The City's onslaught of powerful searchlights against the pesky grackles has been canceled. Seems the brigade of the birds has come down—anyway, police and city officials claim there are fewer grackles (starlings) spreading noise and filth in the swank Stuyvesant Plaza area. In previous years, grackles drove residents wacky, rattled fire hoses, shotguns, phoned out to other officers to oust them.

Y-I-P-E-I
OSWING—Taxes here have bikes in tax rates: $6.80 per thousand in 1957-58, $9.20 in 1958-59 then gradual decrease by 1965 to $6.40 over present rate. Silver limit assessment roll will jump from $10 million to $19 million by 1964.

OUTGROWN VOLTS?
MOUNT VERNON—Board of Fire Underwriters says the city has "outgrown" its dependence on volunteer firemen, suggesting more paid men be added to department. Board claimed average of seven volunteers responded to each alarm, also hit selection of volunteer officers as a tribute to popularity, not to fighting knowledge. It suggests weeding out retired, inactive firemen from vol's roster, asks more paid officers at company level. It would not abandon use of volunteers, it said, but would lighten its organization.

STORE CLOSING
WHITE PLAINS—Mayor Edwin O. Michaelson has invited the Civic and Business Federations and the Merchants Association to suggest methods of persuading, or forcing firms to be closed. The child born today may be endowed the unusual business ability for which success seems assured.

Contract Bridge

By R. JAY RECKER
 (Top Rated Bridge in "Master" Individual Championship Play)

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
 3 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now with each of the following four hands?

- ♠A852 ♣972 ♢K943
- ♠Q7643 ♣J63 ♢K82 ♣5
- ♠AK984 ♣743 ♢K882 ♣5
- ♠AK97 ♣06 ♢03 ♣A975

1. Five clubs. Three club bid approximates a hand with six or seven good clubs and a high card point count around 16 or 17 points. The jump rebid urges, but does not command the responder to bid again.

The responder reacts by passing if his first bid was of the meager variety; by bidding four clubs with club support; if his hand is worth around 9 points. Thus, if the king of clubs were missing, a four club raise would be in order. But when, as in the present case, there is an excellent trump suit, a four club bid is a slam invitation. Several 9 and high card points, the values are shown by leaping to five clubs. The opening bidder is invited to continue to a slam if he has the wherewithal.

2. Pass. The opener is asking for additional strength beyond that shown by the first response. The answer should be "Principally sorry, old boy, but I just don't have it. Better luck next time."

3. Three diamonds. Game is sure, but we just can't tell where to play. The diamonds are the best contract is in spades or no-trump. By bidding three diamonds the opening bidder is given an opportunity to bid three spades if his hand is suitable, in which case we will bid four spades. Also, the three diamond bid may enable him to say three no-trump on a hand where he has heart strength and diamond weakness.

4. Six clubs. Instead of using point count, quick tricks or playing tricks, a better prediction of the potential can be obtained by asking ourselves what kind of hand partner is likely to have. If we start partner provisionally with six or seven clubs to the king-queen and two side aces (13 high card points), we are already up to ten or eleven winners.

He will have to have more than that to justify his three club bid. Perhaps another three points in high cards, or pronounced distributional features which we can only guess at.

In looks, too, Ford's out front—with styling that only the Thunderbird could inspire

Ford goes First!

In Performance
 At NASCAR's Speed and Safety Event at Daytona Ford won the Manufacturers' Trophy for the best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8, one day, smashed 10 world speed records at Kingman, Arizona. No wonder Ford is the world's largest-selling eight.

In Safety
 When the editors of "Motor Trend" unanimously voted Ford's safety program "the top car advance" of 1956, they had in mind Ford's Lifeguard Design . . . a whole family of safety features, including a deep-center steering wheel and double-grip door latches, to help protect you in case of accident.

In Economy
 In this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Customline V-8 with Fordomatic won over all cars in its class. The sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitor car. . . . "Sixes" as well as "eights" Ford proved itself a regular gas miser.

The way a Ford performs, the way it saves, the way it protects you, go hand-in-hand with the way it looks and lasts. Ford's look was inspired by America's most exciting car, the Thunderbird. Its rugged K-bar frame and carefully-built body give it the endurance and reliability traditional with Ford. These are the facts behind Ford's reputation as the car that's worth more when you buy it. . . . worth more when you sell it, too! Come in and let us show you!

You will never be able to buy a new Ford for so little

Soundside Glances

By RUTH B. TAUD

ORLEANS, Mass.
WE SEE BY THE PAPERS that Race Week didn't get off to good start, wind-wise, and we were wishing we could have seen some of these marvelous Can-Cod breezes Long Island Soundward. Sailing and racing are popular here, too, of course. The Cotuit Mountain Club is having its fifth regatta this week. Lis Corning and her Fleet Captain husband must have been proud of young Tyrer. We were pleased to see he came in first Sunday in the odd-numbered Blue Jay class.

MANY OLD FRIENDS, home town folks, have long been identified with the Cape, 400 square miles of pure enchantment to our way of thinking. Among them was Neils and Roger Lyon, who have a charming house in Barnstable (you pass it on Route 6-A). Fred Greenwood, the genial gentleman who heads our advertising department, and Mrs. Greenwood have a house on Route 6A, too.

THE LYONS moved here some years ago from Larchmont. Neils is one of that efficient band of women who have served as presidents of the Garden Club of Larchmont and she managed to get back now and then. She was at the June luncheon. Incidentally, it was at that luncheon program that Mrs. Gregory Abbott, "Litterbug" chairman of the Garden Club, distributed the "litterbugs" which we have found invaluable this trip. Hanging handsly inside the car door, it makes a wonderful receptacle to keep the car tidy, (you know how you collect the inevitable "travel trash"), to say nothing of keeping our highways clean. It is of course the purpose of the club's "litterbug" campaign. We're all in favor of it. (end of commercial!)

Marilou Williams Engaged To Gerald Malloy Of L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dunne of 192 Larchmont Avenue, Larchmont, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marilou Barbara Williams, to Gerald Patrick Malloy, son of Mrs. Edward Malloy and the late Mr. Malloy of Roslyn Heights, Long Island.

The future bride is a graduate of the Trinitine School in New Rochelle, class of 1954, and is a senior at Marymount College, Tarrytown.

Mrs. Malloy attended Roslyn High School and is now a senior at Manhattan College. A former Metropolitan two-mile champion, Mr. Malloy is captain of the Manhattan track team.

A June wedding is planned.

Women's Club Juniors Map County Plans

Plans for the year have been discussed for the Junior Division of the Westchester County Federation of Women's Clubs, Inc.

The plans include a board meeting next month at all Junior meetings, one in the Spring and the other in the Spring and the Division's board members, two conferences, one in the Fall and another board meeting. All will be staged at the Woman's Club of Harrison of which Mrs. Samuel Delantoni of 510 River Road, Larchmont, Division chairman, is a member.

The discussion for these events was held Wednesday night in Mrs. Berlant's home, at a body-packing meeting, where the old board turned over its records to the new board.

The new board includes Miss Jean Madison of Gosholms, vice chairman; Mrs. William E. Harrison of New Rochelle, secretary; Mrs. John P. Ryan of Larchmont, treasurer; Mrs. Edward G. Harrison of Mamaroneck, philanthropic chairman, and Miss Madeline Calcaterra of Tarrytown, publicity chairman.

The retiring board members are Miss Virginia Kell of Mount Vernon, outgoing chairman; Miss Barbara Pellias of Scarsdale, secretary; Miss Madeline Harrison of Larchmont, treasurer, and Mrs. Edward Olson of Harrison, publicity chairman.

NEW ENGLANDERS

are traditionally fine cooks and some of the best we've ever known. Cape Codder, weekly publisher, you might like to have a few Cape recipes (here we go something with our own Tuesday "From Our Local Kitchens" department).

Cape Cod blueberry pancakes, for instance, one and one quarter cups all purpose flour; two and a half tablespoons baking powder; two tablespoons granulated sugar; three fourths teaspoon salt; one egg; one and one fourth cups ripened, liquid sour cream; one cup evaporated milk; three tablespoons melted butter; one cup margarine or fat; and fresh or unshaved frozen unsweetened blueberries. Into mixing bowl, sift flour with baking powder, sugar and salt; beat egg well; add milk and salt oil; slowly add to flour mixture, mixing only until dry ingredients are wet. Heat electric skillet or sandwich grill or griddle, lightly greased or not, as manufacturer directs.) With tablespoons drop batter onto heated skillet, spreading each cake only lightly with back of spoon to form round about four inches in diameter. Cook until puffed, full of bubbles, and cooked at edges. Then sprinkle each pancake with one teaspoon blueberries; turn, cook other side (turn only once) and serve at once. This makes about 12 cakes.

interest you? Take two cups of canned salmon, one tablespoon each of minced onion, chopped green pepper and chopped parsley; (the last optional) one-half teaspoon salt, and pinch of pepper. Pick over and flake salmon and combine with other ingredients. Season with salt and pepper and shape into eight 1 1/2 cakes; coat with flour and brown quickly on greased hot broiler pan containing chunks fat to cover bottom generously. Lift out patties and place on a slice of cranberry sauce.

4 Fontana Girls Set Rome Awhirl With Eye Clothes

By Beria Mohr
ROMPE — The most applauded collection here is the lovely Fontana sisters. Mico, Giovanna and Zoe are now joined by Zoe's seventeen-year-old daughter Gioia, who has contributed four models to this stunning collection.

Although they are chiefly noted for their elaborate and dramatic evening clothes, the Fontana make news with two outstanding new silhouettes in coats and suits. Their coats have knee-deep shawl collars similar to a man's tuxedo. These are rounded at the bottom where the coat then buttons. The collars come in black cloth on red or blue coats and are all cut loose and ample. Or they are in a fur of contrasting color, such as a white knit knee-deep collar on a black wool coat.

For trimmings, ensembles with matching wool dresses are made with sleeves of matching striped taffeta.

Suit Jackets
The Fontana's new suit jackets have tunic length backs similar to tailcoats. The wide cut aways in front are like men's frockcoats. These buttoned closures are at a slightly scooped midriff, and the cutaway starts just below the waistline. The greatest applause went to a black-bound long, red tunic called "Prince Valiant" to be pictured in this column shortly.

These longer-in-back cutaways are a truly tall order — and enormously dashing. They heighten the figure and, at the same time, are much easier to wear than all-round, even length tunics.

Cutaways and back pelmings come in varying length and shirred and shape. They come in mosaic and brocade patterns — especially brown on black and black on brown or blue. When suits are provided with satin blouses, they have deep, dark color. These tailcoats are also shown in gold brocade for the theater.

The wools here are smoother and thinner than in other Rome collections, hence they are better suited to the American taste.

For late day, the Fontana show the smartest sheaths in Rome — although they are really slim dresses rather than sheaths — not skin tight, but with a touch of softening drape, and they are mostly in glistening black or dark satin.

Evening Style
The Fontana's evening style is dramatic black and white. The black silks and velvets have wide awag drapery and floating panels of white malle crepe. Others have soft crepes caught up with harem blousing into the top of a spiraling hemband — these panel drapes fitted to the waist under the belt. Only the loose ones are allowed to float from the bodice top, this never is there an awkward line.

3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead—jack of diamonds.

The opening three notrump bid specifies a balanced hand containing 25 to 27 points, with strength in spades in four suits. North, of course, passes, delighted to learn that his poor hand is faced by an enormous margin.

Most mistakes in the play of the cards are of the common garden variety. The player who errs generally knows better, but for one reason or another fails to function correctly. Errors in judgment are frequent, but the analysis or skill of the holder is not the number of good plays or bids he makes, but by the infrequency of error.

Examine, for example, South's failure to make three notrump in today's deal. He here, it is felt, leads with the ace and led the ten of diamonds. When South was right on his feet and stepped up with the king to return the ten of diamonds. When South won it, he led the jack of spades. West grabbed it and called. This was a very fine trick set. What went wrong?

Let's see what the approach should have been. First, we count the sure winners, as we always do in notrump hands. There are eight hearts, two diamonds and three clubs.

Where can we get a ninth trick? Only in spades.

What combination of cards held by the opponent can defeat West's bid? Just one—where West started with five diamonds and the ace-king of spades.

How can we handle this situation, if it exists? By refusing to win the first diamond trick, because East will not have another diamond to take if he has. West cannot take it. He has. West cannot take it. He has. West cannot take it. He has.

What if East shifts to a heart or a club? Nothing, because the spade trick can be established in plenty of time for the ninth trick.

All precautions against defeat are complete if the diamond king is ducked. There is no reason to just until tender; drain. Meanwhile melt butter in eight-ounce saucepan over low heat. Cook and stir. Mix with draining beans and cream. Add salt and pepper to taste. Reheat if necessary but do not boil. Makes six servings.

Unofficial Survey Good

A quick unofficial survey of bids received last night for the construction of the new Rye Neck Junior-Senior High School on the Palmer tract seems to show that low offers fall well within the $2.15 million bond issue authorized by the district and this building of the structure is approximately assured, George Garfunkel, president of the Board of Education, stated at a meeting in Bellows High School.

The involved bids in four categories are being collected, looked by Perkins and Will, architect, and the Board will meet at 8:15 today in public session to hear their report.

There were 14 bids received in the general construction category, six under plumbing, six under heating and venting, and seven under electrical work.

William McCoy, representative of Perkins and Will, made the rapid calculation after the bids had been read by Edward Juller, school clerk.

JORDAN - ISRAELI SITUATION TENSE AS GLASS FLARES

Troops Exchange Shots West of Jerusalem

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan and Israeli troops are firing at each other across the demarcation line west of Jerusalem, the situation is "very tense," a Jordan military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said United Nations observers rushed to the scene following an urgent request from the Jordanian authorities.

He said Israeli positions opened fire from small and medium automatic weapons and three inch mortars on three Jordan villages this morning, and firing was resumed on July 23 P.M. local time.

Preliminary reports from Jordanian Army headquarters indicate that the Jordanians killed one man and suffered some casualties.

Israel Blames Jordan (An Israeli Army spokesman in Jerusalem said Jordanians started firing Israeli workers in the settlement of Mevaseret Yerushalayim. He said Israeli frontier police returned the fire and there were no casualties.)

At Gaza on the Israeli-Egyptian border an Egyptian military spokesman said six Israeli soldiers crossed the demarcation line and fired on an Egyptian patrol. He said the Egyptians did not return the fire and no casualties were suffered.

Yesterday Maj. Gen. E. I. M. Burns, the U. N. truce supervisor in Palestine, called on Israeli and Jordan to refrain from military actions in the Mount Scopus area north of Jerusalem. This followed a clash between Israeli and Jordan troops on July 23. Jordanian troops were on the Mount Scopus and the wounding of two Canadian truce observers in a Jordanian action.

The Israelis have charged Jordan with repeated violations of the armistice agreement in recent weeks. Outrageous excitement was caused by a Jordanian action at the West Wall in Jerusalem, which the Israelis recently over reports that Israel was making troops near the West Wall. The Jordanians, however, the spokesman said, were not substantiated.

Mammarokhöld Told Premier David Ben-Gurion that the Jordanian situation is in a position to approve, disapprove or request modifications or to make a decision regarding federal funds.

House Buries Democrats' Atomic Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 400 million experimental atomic power program sponsored by President Eisenhower was dead today, smothered by an avalanche of Republican votes in the House.

The program, launched by the Atomic Energy Commission on July 13, was designed to develop power for government installations. The plan was to demonstrate the feasibility of producing commercial power from the atom.

Democrats, who sponsored the bill, argued that the program was a 49-40 vote, contended that only the government could afford the risks and the costs of such a program. They said it was needed to pave the way for eventual widespread use of atomic power and to keep the United States in the lead in the world race in that field.

Republicans countered that the AEC already was making progress in the commercial power field, that the United States was ahead in atomic energy, and that to force the new program on the AEC would jeopardize the atomic energy programs which have top priority.

Bus Hit Car Or Vice Versa?

7 Witnesses View Crackup But Vary In Their Versions

There were plenty of witnesses at hand yesterday at 10:30 A.M. when a bus and car crashed at Vandenberg and Chatsworth Avenues, Larchmont, but it still is a question whether the car hit the bus or vice versa.

The driver of the car, a 1955 Chevrolet, gave his version of the crash which demolished the front end of a car operated by Richard T. Clark Jr., sixteen, 407 Pinebrook Drive, Larchmont, and damaged the right side of the bus driven by John J. Berta of White Plains.

The drivers disagree since young Clark states that the bus was traveling north on Chatsworth Avenue and the bus was traveling south on Chatsworth Avenue at a high rate of speed. The bus driver, however, said the bus was entering the intersection on a side street.

White Plains Springs Daylight Auto Check

WHITE PLAINS—Westchester's first daylight road safety check was held this morning.

White Plains police began checking northbound cars and trucks at 7 o'clock at Central Avenue, between Battle Hill Avenue and Cleveland Street. By 10:45, 200 vehicles had been checked. A summons was given the driver of a trailer truck and six warnings to operators of private cars.

All previous roadchecks made by county police departments in cooperation with Sheriff John H. Hoy had been made on weekend nights. Today's daylight operation—prevent traffic fatalities—was not a "saturation" inspection. Police described it as a "spot check" survey that stopped twelve cars at a time and allowed others to proceed.

Police, supervised by Lt. James J. Breen, were checking drivers' licenses, vehicle registrations, and car equipment including windshield wipers, lights, brakes, horns and directional signals.

Lt. Huff described the first hour's operation as "a very good success."

"Drivers had their registrations ready. There were few violations and no complaints of delay on the part of motorists," he said.

The checkpoint was to be maintained for two hours, until noon.

Westchester's road safety check program began here June 17, an official said.

Combing The Town

Aboard Stockholm

Miss Judith Dillenberg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Dillenberg of 735 Forest Avenue, Mamaroneck, formerly of 4 Carlton Avenue, Larchmont, is a passenger aboard the liner Stockholm which is returning to New York after its crash last night off Nantucket with the Italian liner Andrea Doria.

Miss Dillenberg was en route to Edinburgh, Scotland where she expects to study at the University of Edinburgh.

A 1934 graduate of Mamaroneck High School she has studied for the last two years at Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Reported by a local resident to be aboard the Andrea Doria was Archie M. Stevens of 539 Prospect Avenue, Mamaroneck, who was returning home after a year stay in Paris. No official word of his presence on the ship has been received.

Winfield Ave. Closed

Winfield Avenue in Mamaroneck between Old White Plains Road and Mamaroneck Avenue was closed today to all except local resident traffic by construction buildings the New England Thruway.

Notice to this effect has been sent by the village manager's office to the Police and Fire Departments and the Department of Public Works.

This action probably will wipe Winfield Avenue from village maps, Claude Lattimer, village engineer, said today. The entering and leaving Rock Ridge will continue to use the present street, he explained, although it will be uncomfortable and unpleasant, until a new side street is built from Old White Plains Road to Thruway contractors. This must be done, Mr. Lattimer explained, because residents in the area have an easement across Thruway property.

Bids Wanted

All mail boxes in Mamaroneck will be painted in the red, white and blue colors recently authorized by the Post Office Department and the Mamaroneck Post Office is seeking bids for the job.

There are 28 large and 19 small boxes to be painted, according to Postmaster Ladore F. Litchman. Prospective bidders may secure further information at the Post Office.

All bids must be submitted by 2 P. M. Aug. 3, according to Mr. Litchman.

In mid-September he expects to move to Atherton, Cal., with his former platoon leader and stay with his aunt, Mrs. Ralph Kane, until January. He plans to return to Miami University, Ohio in January.

Mr. Livesey was graduated in 1933 from Bellevue High School where he won his letter as a guard on the football team. He was also art editor of the school annual.

4 Meet Death, Many Are Hurt In Sea Tragedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Two great transatlantic liners, laden with thousands of carefree passengers, collided with a rending crash in fog off Massachusetts last night. One—the Italian liner Andrea Doria—keeled over and plunged to its doom in the ocean depths at midmorning today.

But before the luxurious Andrea Doria vanished beneath the gentle swells of the relatively calm sea 45 miles south of Nantucket island, its 1,634 passengers and crew were snatched to safety by other ships in history's greatest rescue operation.

The rescue fleet bound for New York is headed by the Ile de France, due at 4:15 P. M. to remain at quarantine. Other ships will arrive during the evening and the Stockholm tomorrow morning.

This succession of radio messages from a Coast Guard cutter at the scene gave this dramatic picture of the multi-million-dollar liner's final moments:

"Setting rapidly", abandoned by captain and handful of senior officers who fought to the last to save their ship.

"Sinking. Just her funnel is showing."

"S.S. Andrea Doria sank in 225 feet of water at 10:09 A. M." The crash did not come to the Coast Guard here until 10:55 A. M.

The Andrea Doria went into the water deep in just a little less than 11 hours after the collision.

There were indications of a fourth ship in the accident.

A Coast Guard message said a cutter at the scene was "retrieving a body alongside the Stockholm."

The submerged Andrea Doria, pride of the Italian fleet, was built at a cost of more than $29 million, and made its maiden voyage in 1933. It could accommodate 1,241 passengers.

The crash slammed the big ship on its side, and water began cascading into its hull, nearly eight hours later, its pumps reportedly had stopped the incoming sea—

But then, two hours later, the flood of water overwhelmed the vessel and she went to the bottom. She had drifted about two and one-half miles in her stricken condition before the Coast Guard said tenders would be sent to pick up the stranded passengers.

The deaths were reported following the rescue.

The Stockholm was damaged but not dangerously, and aided in the rescue of Andrea Doria's personnel.

Doria Had Radar

With limited radio communications, the cause of the staggering collision remained a mystery.

The Andrea Doria, it was reported, was equipped with modern radar facilities which ordinarily would have enabled it to spot another vessel miles away, even in fog.

Its skeleton officer crew managed to start pumps going and for a time managed to halt the increase in its starboard list. But the effort finally failed.

The captain and a handful of

Ships' Radios Give Drama Of Collision

BOSTON (AP)—Some of the drama surrounding the collision of the Italian liner Andrea Doria and the Swedish liner Stockholm was contained in the following radio messages picked up by the Coast Guard last night and early today:

11:22 P. M. (from the Stockholm): We have collided with another ship. Please, ship in collision.

12:08 A. M. (from the Stockholm): Collided with another vessel in position 43° N 69° 45' W. But still undetermine our damage.

12:09 A. M. (from the Stockholm) badly damaged. Full now cracked. Our No. 1 hold filled with water. We have to stay in our position. Help if you can.

12:22 A. M. (from Stockholm to Andrea Doria): Lower your lifeboats. We can pick you up (disturbing). Impossible to put boats over side. Please send lifeboats immediately.

1:05 A. M. (from the Doria to Cape Ann): Vessels near the scene, we shall be here at 1:45 A. M. What can I do to help?

1:10 A. M. (Cape Ann to the Doria): He says immediate need for lifeboats for about 1,000 passengers and crew.

1:12 A. M. (Cape Ann to the Doria): We have dispatched two lifeboats.

1:38 A. M. (Stockholm to Andrea Doria): We are launching all available life boats.

2:25 A. M. (apparently from Stockholm): The Andrea Doria has begun to abandon ship.

3:05 A. M. (Stockholm to the Doria): Our foremast damaged. Our number one hold flooded. Otherwise ship all right. Will try to proceed to New York at slow speed. If you will try to proceed with passengers from Andrea Doria can we keep company?

3:07 A. M. (Cape Ann to Stockholm): Will proceed New York full speed when all rescued. Please ask another ship. My scheduled imperative.

3:27 A. M. (unidentified ship to Stockholm): Did you get company for us?

3:28 A. M. (Stockholm replies): Not yet but now think we will proceed New York as soon as we get our lifeboats aboard. Please stand by.

3:30 A. M. (Ile de France to Cape Ann): How many rescued people have you on board?

Senior officers struck grimly with the driver, Italian vessel, for hours but finally in mid-morning were forced to abandon ship.

Ship's Boat
A Coast Guard cutter radioed from the scene at 10:15 A.M. Andrea Doria setting rapidly. Not possible for the vessel was careening away to its starboard side at an angle of 45 degrees or more.

One of the dead was identified as Alf Johansson, thirty, crew member of the Swedish liner. He died after being flown by helicopter to Manhattan Island, about 45 miles north of the crash area. He was one of five persons, including a seven-year-old girl, taken off the Stockholm by helicopter.

At 10:05 A.M. the New York Coast guard received a message that all had been rescued by the Doria.

At 10:12 A.M. the Coast Guard cutter Evergreen at the scene radioed: "S. S. Andrea-Doria is sinking. Just her funnel showing."

The 30,000 ton Andrea Doria was the pride of the Swedish merchant fleet. The other ship was the 198 11,000-ton Swedish liner Stockholm.

The Andrea Doria, sending out frantic messages for help immediately began tilting over on its starboard side.

As the ship's list grew worse the Andrea Doria advised it was unable to lower its lifeboats. Rescue vessels were dispatched and sent their lifelines riding over relatively calm waters to the stricken vessel to take off the passengers.

De France Helps

Among the rescue vessels was the French liner, the Ville de France. A coast guard plane hovering over the scene saw "foggy dawn broke" and "imagined" the ship might sink.

"Seven hundred thirty survivors aboard Ile de France, May 19, a few hours."

The Stockholm, which sailed from New York yesterday morning aboard about 425 of the Andrea Doria's passengers. Other vessels gathered in the vicinity of the Andrea Doria was inbound from Genoa.

Early morning reports told of injuries to only five persons, one of them a child.

Army and Coast Guard helicopters removed them from the Stockholm and whirled away

Board Asks Hearing On School Road

A request for an early public hearing on the proposed highway leading to the new Rye Neck Junior-Senior High School will be made today to the Mamaroneck Village Board. The board was unanimously in favor of the highway, which is to be built on contracts for the new building were approved.

The action followed the report of Perkins and Will, school architects on the site study, which included such items as water, electricity, gas and street lighting.

If the roadway is not accepted as a public street at the time, with bond posted for completion of proper surveying, George Carfagna, board president, will call Russell G. Pelton, and Judge Henry T. Hornidge, attorney, pointed out, the School District will have to pay for all utilities.

If the Village Board cooperates and accepts jurisdictional dedication of the street, the utility companies will install a meter at their own expense. It was stated "Bids covering such items will be included in contracts to be awarded by the Board." It was pointed out, the Board will be from 45 to 60 days from the date of contract signing to decide what to purchase.
