Airplane Just Misses Ship, Pilot Sought

An investigation was being conducted today by Westchester County Airport authorities, State Police, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Coast Guard in connection with a plane believed to have been from the County Airport which flew dangerously low over a Coast Guard vessel off Stamford yesterday afternoon.

The Coast Guard reported that the plane, an Aeronca Champion, dove on one of their vessels three miles south of Stamford Harbor at 3:30 P. M. yesterday, breaking off part of the ship's antenna and nearly hitting Lieutenant C. E. Schupe who was on deck. Crew members reported that they were unable to take the plane's identification numbers because it was "going so fast."

State Police queried the Westchester County Airport where there are several planes of the type reported by the Coast Guard. Frank Ward, operations officer at the airport, said that a Valhalla plane owner was being questioned in the matter, but that he had denied any connection with the case.

Ward added that he would do his utmost to determine whether the plane had been from the Westchester Airport and that if so the pilot would be barred from flying there again.

Harrison Man And Wife Saved By Tug Crew

A boat ride which might have had a tragic ending was averted by Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Gromer, proprietors of Gromer's Training School for Dogs, 590 Harrison Avenue, Harrison, yesterday when they were rescued on the Hudson River approximately two miles north of Tarrytown by a tug-boat "Russell No. 2" of New York City, at 5 P.M. when the propeller shaft of their new 16 foot boat fell off causing the boat to leak.

Four fingers of Mr. Gromer's right hand, held in four holes for over an hour, stopping the water from seeping in, were credited with keeping the Gromers afloat.

In relating the incident today, Mr. Gromer said that he recently purchased the boat and he believes that loose bolts and nuts of the shaft holding the propeller shaft caused the mishap.

While trying to obtain help, Mr. Gromer said, planes flew over several times and even though he made an effort to inform them of their plight, it was to no avail. Finally, he said, the tug came along and the crew noticed a piece of cloth being waved by Mrs. Gromer.

"We are glad to be home and alive," Mr. Gromer said today, for if we had much more water in our boat we may not have been so lucky."

Notified of the rescue by the Coast Guard, Patrolman Harry Taxter, aided by Revere Trevillian and Thomas Taxter, no relation, of the Tarrytown Boat Club put out in a speed boat and picked up the Gromers from the tug.

Friday 13th Holds No Fear For 13th Child In Family Of 13 Born On 13th Of Month

Friday the 13th is always a busy day for Nick Matsoukas of 127 Carroll Avenue, Mamaroneck.

Mr. Matsoukas is executive secretary and founder of the National Committee of 13 Against Superstition and Fear, which is meeting today in New York City to launch plans to debunk and expose some 80,000 superstitions which have shackled people for hundreds of years.

Organized 13 months ago, the committee will hold a series of public demonstrations to prove that triskaidephobia (fear of 13) is sheer nonsense. Since its founding, the committee has done considerable research on the subject, coming up with 80,000 strange beliefs and fears that the average man holds with no rational explanation for them.

Mr. Matsoukas, who is public relations director for Skouras Theaters, is ideally fitted for the work of the committee, since he was born on the 13th of the month, the 13th child in a family of 13. His name has 13 letters and he first arrived in America on the 13th of February, 1917.

He appeared (by recording) on the High Jinx program at 9:30 this morning, featuring Jinx Falkenberg and Tex McCrary, along with Dr. Claude de Lys, social anthropologist and international authority on superstition who was recently elected president of the National Committee of 13 Against Superstition and Fear.

Tonight, at 9 o'clock, Mr. Matsoukas will appear on a special Friday the 13th radio program over Station WNEW to acquaint the public with the inside story of superstition.

Auto Industry Labor Peace Seen Nearer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's labor scene took on a brighter aspect today with settlement of strikes that had idled 16,000 workers and announcement of a new wage agreement.

The Hudson Motor Car Co. set up production lines again after a two-day halt, announcing it had reached a "basis of settlement" with the CIO United Auto Workers on demands of 600 clerical employes whose picket lines had kept 15,000 production workers out of the plant.

Hudson's statement came on the heels of a Packard Motor Car Co. announcement that it had granted its 8,000 UAW-CIO workers a flat 15-cents-hourly increase in return for the union's agreement to dismiss back pay claims of $45,000,000.

Earlier the UAW-CIO workers in the continental motors corp. Detroit plant had ended their one-day sitdown strike.

Only one dispute—a continued strike of 3,800 Ford Motor Co. foremen — still clouded the labor picture.

Mamaroneck Ave. Cave-In Reported

A road cave-in directly in front of 960 Mamaroneck Avenue was reported yesterday by Lt. Louis Giancola of the Mamaroneck Village police. The local street department placed a barricade around the hole and notified the Westchester County Road Department, which will make the necessary repairs.

The cavity was described by officials as about eight feet square and from eight to nine inches deep. It was apparently caused by improper filling after a gas connection had been laid under the road.

PIE-FACE—Bernice Trueheart, pictured above, was one of the contestants who really got her teeth into her job yesterday in the pie-eating contest which was one of the featured events at the second Play Day program at the Mamaroneck Avenue School. Local Groups Urged To Give Calendar Data

Larchmont and Mamaroneck's 237 organizations have been invited by the Mamaroneck-Larchmont Parent-Teacher Council, to share in the use and benefits of the Community Calendar, organized several years ago by Mrs. Aubrey S. Cornwell and Hoyt D. Smith, and of proved value to the groups which have used it.

The calendar committee, headed by Mrs. Cornwell, has begun compiling forthcoming dates of events for the club season opening in September, and local groups, social, civic, educational and religious, are urged to furnish their program schedules for inclusion. Mr. Smith is serving as co-chairman.

The Community Calendar is a unique and comprehensive compilation of organization meeting dates, indexed and cross-indexed in order that a conflict of events may be avoided merely by consulting it, at The Daily Times office, where it will be available for reference after Sept. 1.

Letters containing calendar information and requesting the cooperation of all local groups are being sent to the 237 organizations from the Council.

Village Wars On Mosquitoes And Ragweed

The Village of Mamaroneck has embarked on its Dutch elm, ragweed and mosquito control program, Manager William H. Johnson disclosed today.

The $1,500 appropriated for the program in this year's Village budget will be devoted to experimental work of three kinds, Mr. Johnson said. A fog applicator which treats a given area with D. D. T. will be used, along with the Village-owned D. D. T. spray, operated by municipal employes. The third method is to place oil in ditches around the more infested regions.

The salt marshes were described by the manager as the areas where the greatest infestation takes place. They will be treated with insecticide throughout the warm season and, if results warrant it, a larger appropriation will be made next year for the program.

Yesterday Village workers sprayed Harbor Island Beach with D. D. T., with satisfactory results.

Labor Experts Call Taft Bill 'Unworkable'

WASHINGTON, (AP). — Government labor experts who have been analyzing the Taft-Hartley Bill will advise President Truman that the measure is "unworkable" and will not stop a coal strike.

This was learned today from officials who have seen the analysis but who asked that their names not be used.

There have been equally reliable reports, however, that some other presidential advisers are urging Mr. Truman to sign the measure.

This group is said to contend (A) That the bill does give the Government some means of dealing with the threat of a new coal strike next month and (B) That Congress is virtually certain to enact it into law in any event.

The Labor Department experts are reported to have concluded, among other things that the measure awaiting Mr. Truman's decision follows more nearly the original version introduced by Rep. Hartley, R.-N.J., than what they called the less restrictive measure sponsored by Senator Taft.

Here are some of the specific reasons they cite as arguments for a veto:

1. The provision exempting work stoppages resulting from "abnormally dangerous conditions" would make it possible, in their opinion, for John L. Lewis to bring about a nationwide or partial soft coal strike in mines which have become "unsafe" during the 10-day vacation the miners will take from June 27 to July 7.

Lewis staged a "safety shutdown" of soft coal mines early in April but later ordered the men back to work. The analysis says he could order another such walkout, and the bill would leave the Government powerless to intervene.

2. "Yellow Dog" contracts would be revived under a section guaranteeing employes the right to self-organization or to refrain from organization. (Yellow Dog contracts are those employers make with individual workers pledging them not to join a union).

3. Industry-wide bargaining would be dealt a blow by the requirement that workers involved in a contract dispute vote secretly on accepting their individual employer's last settlement offer, as stated on the ballot.

The reasoning here is that if a substantial number of workers voted to accept the final offer, the union would have no basis left for continuing negotiations for a better offer.

4. A provision limiting payroll deductions for union dues after July 1, 1948, to workers who have submitted individual authorizations to the employer, could force wholesale cancellation of contracts. The anlysis says that while contracts may call for continued dues check-off, the Supreme Court has held that when a major section of a contract fails, the entire agreement may be reopened.

5. The bill permits the National Labor Relations board to seek court injunctions on the basis of unfair labor practice complaints filed by either unions or employers without the formality of a board hearing on the complaints themselves. The analysis says this makes it too easy to take labor disputes into Federal Courts and threatens to raise the "bugaboo of government by injunction."

6. The NLRB's general counsel, who could decide on his own authority who should be prosecuted for unfair labor practices, would become a virtual "czar of labor relations."

7. Frequent bargaining elections provided for in the bill could disrupt production. Four elections could be held within three months and six elections in the course of one year, under the bill, the analysis holds.

8. The democracy of elections might be threatened by the requirement that a majority—51 per cent—of all voters in a given plant must decide which union is to be a bargaining agent. Thus those absent would cast the equivalent of a "no" vote.

DOG BITES BOY ON LEG

Ewell Lang, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lang of 35 Beach Avenue, Larchmont, was bitten on the calf of the right leg last evening by a dog owned by Frederick G. Stroh of 3 Maple Avenue. The Lang boy was taken to New Rochelle Hospital and had his wound cauterized by Dr. William H. Conway. Mr. Stroh was notified by Larchmont police to confine his dog for a period of 10 days. The County Health Department was also notified.

House Committee Approves Outlay Of 8 Billion

WASHINGTON, (AP).—The House Appropriations Committee trimmed $130,884,220 from Veterans Administration funds today in approving an $8,498,409,759 bill to finance 33 independent government agencies next year.

The total cut amounted to $330,540,732, or 3.9 per cent below the amount President Truman asked. This brought to approximately $3,380,000,000 the claimed savings of House Republicans in their drive to chop $6,000,000,000 from Mr. Truman's 1948 budget of $37,500,000,000.

The Veterans Administration, however, was pared only 1.8 per cent in getting $6,944,457,080 for its work during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Among major recipients covered by the bill are the Office of the President, not cut at all; the Atomic Energy Commission, reduced 30 per cent; the Civil Service Commission, cut less than one per cent; the Federal Communication Commission, trimmed 17 per cent; the Federal Power Commission, cut 12 per cent; the Federal Trade Commission, reduced almost one-third; the Federal Works Agency, cut 12 per cent, and the Interstate Commerce Commission, trimmed 10 per cent.

Even the President's own budget bureau was cut, receiving $33,392 less than the $3,470,000 it had asked.

Jewish Relief Contributions Now Flowing In

Contribution to the United Jewish Appeal for Europe's 1,500,000 underprivileged Jews are flowing in at a gratifying rate, Mamaroneck Chairman Barney Epstein announced this morning. He thanked the public for its cooperation with the drive's initial stage in the Village.

Mr. Epstein said that about 30 campaign workers attended a dinner Wednesday night in the Lawrence Inn to discuss the drive and hear an address by Franz W. Bibo, a prisoner in German concentration camps during the war.

Mr. Bibo, who arrived in the U. S. in December, 1946, through the United Service for New Americans, has been touring the country in an effort to impress the public with the desperate plight of the Jews in Europe. He told his Mamaroneck audience that starvation, improper living facilities and persecution were only a few of the hazards confronting the Jews in Europe today.

Born in Berlin, Germany, in 1922, Mr. Bibo was seized by the Nazis following Hitler's ascent to power. He spent the war years in both the Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps and at one time was branded for the Buchenwald crematories. His talk dwelt first on the wartime atrocities perpetrated against the Jew and later on their present plight in Palestine and elsewhere in Europe.

Housewife's Friend—

WE CONSIDER that the housewives of Westchester, along with those in the rest of the country, owe a substantial debt of gratitude to Representative Ralph A. Gamble of Larchmont and we suggest that in propriety they should let him know they are appreciative of what he has done for them.

Over the past year the Representative from New York's 28th District has been studying the sugar supply and associated factors of international distribution. Last Fall he came to the conclusion that sugar rationing for the American home was largely a hangover from wartime. He attempted then to have rationing ended but failed.

Then this week he obtained other information. As a member of Influence of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, he introduced a resolution on Tuesday to end sugar rationing insofar as the American family consumption at home is concerned.

It went through the committee overwhelmingly and undoubtedly would have found an equally prompt and impressive reaction in the House at large, as well as in the Senate. It is doubtful if President Truman would have vetoed it.

However, the Department of Agriculture, aware that Mr. Gamble and his committee had incontrovertible facts on their side, decided to jump the gun and seize the credit for the Truman Administration. That was why the announcement came so unexpectedly from Secretary Anderson on Wednesday afternoon.

We doubt that any observant American will be deceived by Anderson's tactics. For our part, we give credit to Congressman Gamble and we believe Westchester housewives will agree with us that—pardon, please—it was very sweet of him!

Dad Has His Day, Too—

FOR some reason, Americans never have been as openly sentimental about fathers as they are about mothers. There is, in fact, a tendency to hide our affection for the male parent, as if this were in bad taste, or as if it were an affectation. Contrary to European custom, here one rarely sees a son kiss his father.

Our songs and our stories and our radio sketches are full of somewhat bombastic, cloying emotionalism where mothers are concerned; but where fathers are mentioned they appear more or less as incidental figures of the family, biologically necessary, perhaps, but nevertheless comparatively inconsequential. Consider, if you will, the number of comic strips in the newspapers and the number of family skits on the radio wherein the father is made to appear pompous or pedantic, sometimes even clownish, while it is the mother who brings the realistic touch, the common-sense approach, the real down-to-earth character. Isn't that because the authors know it is safe to ridicule the male parent, but hesitate to infringe in even the slightest degree upon the orthodox acceptance of a mother as an inviolable person possessed of sacro-sanctitude?

Oh, well, perhaps that is all for the best. At any rate, there is no reason to quibble or cause to cavil with what is the accepted procedure. All we wish to point out is that next Sunday has been set aside, by whomever such things are managed, as "Father's Day," and we suggest it is not too early to begin thinking how the day can best be commemorated.

Our own suggestions is that presents alone won't do the job. Neckties and cigars and golf clubs are all very well, undoubtedly, but are they enough? How about something even better—just going to Dad and telling him in your own way that you're proud to be the son or daughter of the finest man in the world and you want him to know it!

Col. Joe Bush Says—

We ain't quite sure whether this business of takin' sugar off the ration list is a good thing after all. Most of the gang we run with are already overweight and with plenty of sugar they'll forget all about girth control.

o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o

On the other hand, maybe this'll ease up the consumption of sugar. Lots of housewives in Westchester bought more than they needed because they wasn't goin' to let any stamps go to waste. So the sugar went to waist, instead.

Course, there's people who get fat from too much likker, too. Which reminds us we saw statistics yesterday that the Shmangest state in the Union is Nevada. That is on account of Reno, where so many drop a spouse and take on a souse.

o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o

We hope the Westchester gals don't read where Missus Babe Didrikson Zaharias switched from shirts to slacks to improve her game in the British Amateur Championship. It's hard enough as it is to get American trousers back in to the right closets. And while slacks may improve the score on the card, it don't help the other kind of figger at all.

o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o—o

The tournament Babe played in was over in Scotland. Over there, they tell us, it's easy to spot the clubhouse shower bath. It's the room without a roof.

The Counselor—

LET SPIDERS ALONE

While waiting for a bus near my home recently, I leaned against a wooden telephone pole and suddenly I noticed a blackish spider sitting in what appeared to be its own burrow in the pole.

The spider was about two inches from my face and really looked evil, with two black, beady eyes and two tiny yellow walrus-like tusks. The furry legs were grayish and yellow-striped. I poked it gently with a grass stem, and it darted back into the telephone pole, and then I discovered several other holes in the pole that might have been hacked out by an insect.

I watched for the spider after that on my daily trips past the pole. Five days later I saw it again. This time, too, it scurried back into the same hole and out of sight. I'd like to know if there are wood-chewing spiders and if this one lives in the telephone pole?

B.S.

This probably is a hunting spider, that springs upon its insect prey. Those "tusks" are antennae and we don't know of any wood-chewing spiders. This one probably does live in the telephone pole crevice, made by some other insect or other means. Incidentally, it's surprising the spider didn't leap at you when you poked it, since the hunting spider usually gives battle when attacked.

MODERN OLD AGE

I am "pushing seventy"—and not happy about it. Some time ago a book was called to my attention and now I have forgotten the title. Something like "Age With Success." Can you supply the correct title and the author's name?

M. K.

It probably is "Aging Successfully" that you refer to. The book was written by George Lawton and published in 1940 by the Columbia University Press.

It is reviewed in the May, 1947, issue of the American Journal of Public Health, published by the American Public Health Association.

The reviewer says "Aging Successfully" is not "about sick old people, but rather about just people who grow older with all their existing complexes and psychological problems." He believes "the ten hints given in the epilogue are golden rules of behavior for those who wish to grow old successfully."

NATURE WALKS

My husband and I would like to go on some conducted nature walks. Do you know where we could join such a group?

F.L.

You are just too late for a Spring field trip series conducted by G. L. Wittrock, custodian of the New York Botanical Garden's herbarium. But make a note of this for next September, when on Saturday afternoons, Mr. Wittrock will be conducting another group through natural woodland areas bordering the Bronx River, and in and adjacent to the New York Botanical Garden in Bronx Park.

On a typical trip in the series just ended, Mr. Wittrock, whose specialty is plants used by American Indians, led a group of about 20 men and women to wildflowers, grasses and ferns the Indians used for charms and medicines and to eat. The group walked past a marshland, climbed a rocky trail, and hiked through a bit of the Botanical Garden's famous 40-acre hemlock forest.

SHADY CHARACTER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A horse pulling a mail wagon on a northbound one-way street retused to go any way but southbound. The result was a traffic jam and a curious crowd — but nobody knew the cause until the farmer in the crowd stepped out and observed that the sun was hitting the street.

"That horse is afraid of his shadow, that's all," he commented.

Inside Washington—

Central Press

WASHINGTON—Look for revival of talk about President Truman planning to visit some of the nation's sister American Republics during the coming recess of Congress. The chief executive at present is in no mood to discuss the matter, but many Latin-American experts believe that such a journey would be advisable.

The recent exchange of visits between Mr. Truman and President Aleman of Mexico have done much to revive the good will built up between the two countries that observers believe the program should be extended. They note that the presidents of most of the Latin-American countries paid visits to the United States during the war. It would be perfectly proper for Mr. Truman to return the calls.

As an added argument, they point to the fact that there has been much handshaking along the borders of Uruguay, Brazil and Argentina among the chiefs of state of these countries. Merely to maintain American prestige, it is argued, Mr. Truman should extend his travels.

As it is, Argentina stands to gain great prestige in the orbit she considers her own, while United States influence in the area may diminish unless the president finds it possible to journey there.

TAFT STOCK RISES — Colleagues of Senator Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio, GOP Senate policy chairman, say his stock has risen as a result of his deft manipulation of the labor bill through the Senate and the Senate-House conference.

Taft got pretty much what he wanted. He was able to convince House Labor Committee Chairman Fred A. Hartley, Jr. (R), New Jersey, that the only way to get new labor legislation—either by presidential acceptance or by overriding a veto—was to adopt the Senate bill.

The Ohioan smoothed out a number of rough spots. While Hartley went along on the idea of moderating the bill, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R), Michigan, flared up over the House "surrender."

House conferees also were angered by news stories emphasizing the "yielding" by their group. Taft then was reported to have pounded the table and declared that if the conference so instructed him he would make no statements to the press on developments.

However, Taft warned that "leaks" would occur, and said that he made any statements they would be fair and accurate.

Both House and Senate members of the conference committee agreed that Taft had done a good job and strengthened his position as a 1948 presidential possibility.

These political veterans said Taft's success more than offset his earlier loss of ground, including his failure to hold the Senate labor committee in line on several tough provisions.

TYDINGS FOR VICE PRESIDENT?—There are whisperings these pre-campaign days of a vice presidential boom in Maryland and southward for the current "favorite son" of the Free State, Democratic Senator Millard Tydings.

When the Democrats hold their national convention next year, the Maryland delegation, and several other delegations from Dixie, will be talking Tydings harder than ever.

Backers of the lanky and eloquent Marylander point out that he would be a geographical and political balance for President Truman, who is certain to seek to succeed himself in the White House. They say that in an era of world unrest, when experience is the keynote, the soldierly Tydings would be an impressive running mate for Mr. Truman.

Tydings, a senior member of the new armed services committee, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross in World War I. Politically, he is a middle-of-the roader, a restrained internationalist, and a powerful orator who uses words as a surgeon uses a scalpel.

So—do not be surprised if the Maryland whispers become increasingly audible and mount in a roar by the time the Democratic gavel raps next year.

Grading Starts On Addition To Playground

Grading of the area between the Bellows High School playground and Boston Post Road is under way, Trustee Edgar G. Burchell, chairman of the maintenance committee, informed the Rye Neck School Board Tuesday. The new area will be used to supplement the existing playground.

Clearing of the land has been in progress for several days. The job, which includes the cutting of tree trunks into two-foot lengths for cordwood to be used in starting school furnaces and for other purposes, was awarded to the Aitchison and Robins of Mamaroneck, whose bid was $265. Other bids ranged all the way up to $1,200.

All small trees in the area are being taken out. Mr. Burchell said, but four trees (one elm and three maples) will be left undisturbed at a corner of the property on the Post Road side.

A thousand yards of fill, purchased from the Circle Construction Company in White Plains at a cost of $1,050, is being used to grade the new area. It is possible, said Mr. Burchell, that more fill may have to be purchased to complete the project. Boulders on the property will be sunk in a large hole and covered over with fill.

A grade study, to determine the best method of making the new area level with the old, will be made by Ralph Pronquist, a civil engineer.

Mr. Burchell presided in the absence of President Raymond T. O'Connell.

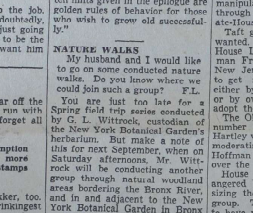
Type Of Loot Changes Detectives's Opinion

YONKERS — The petty thefts reported in five offices of the Proctor Building had been labelled "kid stuff" until police learned the type of loot taken from one. J. P. Cage who operates the Westchester Civil Service Institute from an office in the building reported thieves had taken 15 to 20 copies of Alexander's textbook, "The Laws of Arrest." The book, Work of Clarence Alexander, a Yonkers attorney is popular in connection with police training courses. It retails for $3 a copy.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WE ALL CAN BE FOOLED

EVEN THE best of players are hamstrung occasionally by a smart opponent who bamboozles them out of a good result on a deal by fooling them with a particular bid or play. Sometimes it is a combination of them—unorthodox bidding followed by a fast-card on some early trick which makes his hand seem different from what it is. After you have fallen for such an artifice, it may develop that you should have protected yourself against the chance that he was trying monkeyshines. When that is the case, you feel worse than ever about it, though you must admire him for putting it over.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♥
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

More orthodox bidding led all but a few of the North-South pairs into 4-Hearts on this duplicate deal, and nary a one made the game, as two tricks were lost in diamonds and one each in the black suits regardless of whether North or South was the declarer.

In the bidding shown above, South's venturesome bidding, followed by a tricky play, produced a whopping big score. He later defended his first No Trump bid by saying the strength showed by North's free bid of hearts must have included some spade strength to stop that suit.

If West had led his unbid spades, it developed that South could have scored game with two tricks there, four in hearts and three in clubs. But West decided to lead the diamond 4. South studied plenty before playing from the dummy, and very intensely after East put on the 8. He decided that, if he played the J, West would know he had the K and might drop it with the A. But if he took his trick with the K, West would probably reckon East might have the sequence of the 8-9-10-J originally, so might lead low the next time. Hence he played the K.

South led to the heart A and finessed the club Q to the K. Just as South hoped, the diamond 6 was returned to his J. He threw upon ran his hearts, clubs and the spade A to make an extra trick. West is still kicking himself.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

After West leads the spade 10, how should South seek maximum results in his 3-No Trumps contract?

Volunteers Seek More Members To Aid In Work

Artists, dancers, singers, "scavengers," receptionists, office workers and nurses' aides are among the volunteers needed by the Westchester League for Volunteers in carrying out its program of service in hospitals and children's institutions.

The Westchester League for Volunteers, formed last September as a clearing house for volunteers in County institutions, now supplies volunteers regularly to White Plains Hospital, New Rochelle Hospital, Blythedale Home for Convalescent Children and Cedar Knolls, the home for delinquents in Hawthorne.

Concerned about the serious shortage of trained personnel in these institutions, a small group of young married women formed the Westchester League. Now there are 65 women working in various capacities in the institutions.

The league seeks to enlarge its membership so its services can be extended to other agencies and institutions.

Mrs. Allan E. Shore, 145 Griffen Avenue, Scarsdale, is in charge of recruiting nurses' aides.

New Phone Union Leaders To Get $33,600 A Year

MIAMI BEACH, FLA., (AP)—The Communications Workers of America, the nation's newest labor union, has elected Joseph A. Beirne, 36, to a two-year term as President at an annual salary of $33,200.

The handsome, dark-haired labor leader was chosen unanimously at the CWA's first convention late Wednesday, to the office that will pay him $1,200 a year more than he received as president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, which was dissolved Sunday.

The CWA also elected John L. Cruil, 43, of Wichita, Kas., as vice president, and Carlton W. Werkau of Chicago as secretary-treasurer. Each will receive $10,200 a year.

The CWA claims 161,000 dues-paying members.

In three resolutions, delegates denounced "unconstitutional invasion" of their civil rights by state-sponsored legislation curbing public utilities strikes, urged more stringent child labor laws, and supported federal aid in public schools.

No mention was made of a possible affiliation with either the CIO or the AFL.

The Sports Spotter

By THE SPORT EDITOR

Finished

Both Mamaroneck and Bellows High School closed their scholastic sports program last Tuesday and closed it with a fittingly tight diamond scrap between the two. Both schools had successful years with the Orange finishing over the .500 mark in practically every sport, while Bellows, playing outside of its class in every sport, didn't have quite the record but performed creditably in every field of endeavor. Had the Bellions stayed in Class C we venture to guess that they would have had quite a record. That guess is based on the fact that in football only Tuckahoe was met in Class C and Tuckahoe was defeated. All four Class C basketball games played by the East Enders were won, and in track it was Bellows which took the class District One title. However, most of the Blue and Black competition was with schools with Class A and B ratings, that is with much larger student bodies, and the Panthers naturally took their lumps.

But we didn't start out to write about school records. Sort of got side-tracked from our main idea for a moment. The end of the school sports program until September means that local fans will begin missing two familiar by lines: Pete Taub's of Mamaroneck High and Al Chioda's from up Bellows way.

The boys have been high school reporters for two years and have turned in an outstanding job. High school sports have been covered, and well covered. Both are being graduated from school this month. Taub will head for Harvard in the fall and we don't know as yet just what plans Chioda has made.

We're sorry to see the boys go and wish them luck in whatever their future endeavors may be! While they've been on our sport staff they've been a credit to themselves and their schools.

Home for Summer

Willie Carter, well-remembered Mamaroneck High basketball star, has just finished his freshman year at State Teachers College in Fayetteville, North Carolina. Carter entered college after his discharge from the Army Air Force and played first string basketball on the school team which won 26 and lost four. From the right forward position he tallied over 200 points for the season.

He expects to return to school in September.

Firemen Down Myrtles, 7-3, In Larchmont Softball Loop

Schmidt Yields Three Hits As Town Dept. Scores Easily

The Town Firemen backed up Schmidt's three-hit hurling with some timely hitting last night and although they smacked out only five safeties, managed to score seven times to whip the Myrtle A.C. by 7-3 in a Larchmont League game at Flint Park.

The Firemen wasted only one of their five hits, a single by Iandolo in the sixth. All other hingles came at opportune moments with Neal hitting safely in back of Miranda's life on an error to set up one run in the first, Librande lining one to left right on top of Preston's walk to set up another in the fourth, and Burton coming through with a single following Neal's walk in the fifth. Schmidt's single came after two walks and an error. So the Firemen wasted nothing.

The losing Myrtles, on their part, had difficulty in solving Schmidt's slants with only Joe Masto having any real success. He smacked out a two bagger, the game's only extra base hit, to open the Myrtle fourth and scored on a pair of infield outs. His sixth inning single was wasted.

The only other Myrtle safety came in the seventh when Miranadi singled to drive in Ehret for the loser's second and last run.

Walks paved the way for the only real rally of the night, the Firemen's seventh inning three-run splurge. Derby opened the inning by bouncing out, Masto to Ehret. Burton strolled. Preston was safe on an error and LiBrande got a free ticket to first. Then Schmidt came through with the inning's only hit to score two and LiBrande came in a moment later on an infield out.

Lower Grade Dads Lick Upper Grade

Pop tried to show junior how to play softball last night at Mamaroneck Avenue school. And Pop had a lot of fun as the lower grade fathers of pupils in the school licked the upper grade dads by 13-10 in a nine inning game. Junior, however, didn't learn much about the game as he sat on the sidelines as he watched his dad cavorting on the diamond, collecting lots of hits, amassing a terrific total of errors, pulling impossible plays, and limping home with a pair of chasley horses and a sore arm.

Originally scheduled for seven innings the game went nine and the upper grade sires are sorry they permitted the extra two innings. At the end of the seventh they were leading by 9-7 and agreed to play two more frames. It didn't work as the fathers of lower grade kids rose up and showed their youngsters a couple of rallies which were climaxed by Garby Wendel's ninth inning smack which sewed up the game.

Nursing sore muscles today are the fathers of the upper grade: Walt Ficke, Toni Perri, Bert Hyman, LeRoy Matthews, Bill Papa, Steve Guthrie, Bill Cunningham, Ben Sands, Ed Lisker, John Muelke, and Roy Storm.

Just as sore but happier because they were victorious are the lower grade dads: Same Nole, Garby Wendel, Ralph Vitro, Joe Brice,

Orange Squad Names Whitton 1947 Captain

By PETE TAUB

John Whitton, three - letter man at Mamaroneck High and half of the Tiger pitching staff this year, was elected honorary team captain for the 1947 season by his teammates.

Lanky Whitton, a speedballer, won four games while dropping two during the course of the season which was completed last Tuesday. The twirler struck out 33 opposing batsmen while walking 33 and yielding eleven earned runs in the six games he worked. Victims of Whitton's pitching included White Plains twice, once in extra innings, Bellows and Albert Leonard while he bowed to Port Chester and A. B. Davis. As a hitter Whitton got four hits in eighteen trips to the plate for a .222 average. Whitton has also earned letters in football and basketball; he came to the Hilltop last year from Salisbury. He is scheduled to play with the All-WIAA squad tonight when they tackle the Hudson River Valley league all-stars.

Other Orange diamond men who made their last appearance in a Rongal uniform last Tuesday include Howard Braithwaite, Henry Rosenberg, Dick Morrison, Abe Codino, Bob Flinn, Sid Nordenschild and Frank Paonessa. Orlando Ciraco coached the Tigers and George Verrilli managed them.

Laronecks After 4th Straight In Game With Gas House Gang

Heartened by the crowds which have been attending the games and intent on keeping their season slate clean, the Laronecks will send Carl Kniesch to the mound tomorrow night against the Port Chester Gas House outfit in an Interstate Coast League fray under the Harbor Island lights.

The Laronecks, fresh from a 10-7 victory over the Pelham Hanson's and showing a record of 1-0 in league play (their games against the Hanson's and New Rochelle Lighthouse were non-league affairs) plan to keep the streak alive by putting the strongest possible lineup on the field against the visiting Sawpit squad.

Although the batting order is indefinite it'll probably be Nick Matteo at first with Bob Cassin handling the keystone chores. Tony Carpino and hard-hitting Phil Quarelo will be in right and left field, respectively, with Bill Raineri taking care of the hot shots down the third base line. Albie Hunter at short, Paul Abrahamson in center, Roy Talgo back of the bat and Kniesch on the mound complete the probable starting lineup.

The Port Chester squad will probably open with J. Lovallo in the box and Baron as a reserve hurler, should the Laronecks bats begin booming. T. Lovallo and R. Lovallo are Scarsdale two-thirds of the Gas House outfield with Don Sapione the other gardener. The infield will be made up of Arturi at first, DeCarlo on second, V. Sapione doing th sehort stop sing and Vaccaro holding down the hot corner. Passerelli will be back of the platter.

The Laronecks league victory came over the Harrison Vets by 16-3 in the season opener. Since then they have defeated the Lighthouse by 4-3 in eleven innings and the Pelham Hanson's by 10-7. Charlie Gronberg and Harry Talgo, business and field managers of the outfit, confidently expect a fourth straight tomorrow night.

The umps will get the battle under way at 8:45 P. M. and all that's needed is a decent break from the weather man.

Giants Give Voiselle For Mort Cooper

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

George Munger pitched the St. Louis Cards to another victory last night when he had a 3-0 whitewash job against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who still are regarded by the Red Birds as "the team to beat."

The New York Giants were idle, but the league leaders contributed the biggest news of the day, a pitcher swap with Boston by which Bill Voiselle and an unannounced sum of cash went to the Braves for Mort Cooper. Thus the old Cooper brothers battery, Mort and Walker, was re-united.

The Braves' Red Barrett, like Munger recovering from early difficulties, racked up his fifth straight win, throttling Pittsburgh, 6-2, in the opener on Boston's second western tour. The result, and Brooklyn's night loss, moved Billy Southworth's men into third place.

Chicago elbowed into second place, a half game back of the Giants by a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia.

With Detroit's night game in Washington rained out, the New York Yankees blew a chance to close in on the American League leaders when they bowed to the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, in 10 innings at the Yankee Stadium.

Boston's Red Sox dedicated their new lighting system with a 5-3 victory over Chicago before a capacity crowd of 34,510.

Bobby Feller took over the strikeout lead with 67 and posted his eighth win but required relief help from Ed Klieman in pitching Cleveland to a 5-4 night game decision over Philadelphia.

"It Happened on Fifth Avenue," now at the Rivoli Theatre, a gay, romantic comedy laid in New York City, is one of Hollywood's most ambitious undertakings, and has been selected as the first picture to be released by the newly formed Allied Artists Corporation.
Sparkle was added by a cast headed by Don DeFore, Ann Harding, Charlie Ruggles, Victor Moore and Gale Storm, with Grant Mitchell, Alan Hale, Jr., Eddie Ryan, Dorothea Kent, Cathy Carter and Edward Brophy in supporting roles.
The story, an original by Herbert Clyde Lewis and Frederick Stephanie, took a year to prepare before being put before the camera. Lei Ruth bought it from Frank Capra, who had planned to produce it, but found his 1946 picture commitments would prevent his completing the picture while its subject's housing shortages still had the important element of timeliness.

$1,000 Great Dane Shot

"Bonnie of River Brook," a handsome thoroughbred Great Dane valued at $1,000 and owned by Sperry H. Zahm of 80 West Garden Road, Larchmont, was shot between the eyes with an air gun shortly after midnight Saturday, the Town Police reported today. The shot fractured the dog's skull.

Mr. Zahm told police that at 1:30 A. M. Sunday he took Bonnie and one of her puppies out while he walked a sitter home. He stated that Bonnie ran off and when she returned home a short while latter her face was covered with blood. He took her to Maurice F. Sterling, II, a veterinarian, at 6 Weaver Street, where she is still under treatment. As a result of her injury, Bonnie, who has won many prizes and holds three points towards a national championship, may never again be used for show or breeding purposes.

Police believe the dog was shot with a pellet from an air gun, which differs from an air rifle in that it is almost as powerful as a .22 calibre gun. Detective C. E. Smith is investigating.

"Butch", Dr. Weller told Town Police at 5:45 P. M. had left the house at 2 P. M. with the maid, Miss Flossie Price, to go to the lake. They had not returned, he said, and could not be found.

Shortly afterwards, however, "Butch" and the maid were home and safe. It turned out that "Butch" didn't get to see the ducks at all. He had taken a train ride with the maid to 120th Street, New York City.

Gale Upsets 3 Yachts; 6 Rescued

American Yacht Club's Launch Speeds To Aid Of Mamaroneck Sailor

NONE ARE INJURED

Six persons were rescued from the waters of Milton Harbor Saturday afternoon after a sudden wind squall came up at about 3 P. M. and upset three yachts within minutes of each other.

None of those dumped into the harbor suffered anything but a thorough drenching and none needed medical care.

Three of the victims were rescued by the American Yacht Club launch and the others by a boat put out from Hen Island by a White Plains man.

The first yacht to go over was the 12-foot sailboat, Judy Anna, owned and sailed by William C. House, Jr., 27, of 1191 Post Road, White Plains, with Miss Charlotte Cox, 26, of New York City, as a passenger. The ship upset near the Scotch Caps.

Police were notified of the accident by Mrs. Harry Oppenheimer, of Stuyvesant Avenue, Rye, at 3:25 P. M. and the American Yacht Club launch was called to the rescue.

While the launch operated by John Conceybear, assisted by Richard Savage and Whitney McBride, all of Mamaroneck, was picking House and Miss Cox up, two other boats went over.

One was a 22-foot centerboard sloop, the Yankee, being sailed by a man identified by police as A. Goodhue, of Mamaroneck. He was picked up in minutes by the launch.

The other was a 19-foot Lightning class sailboat, Glissando, sailed by Philip Oppenheimer, of 195 Crestwood Avenue, Crestwood, with Henry Grunebach, 21, and his brother, Richard, 16, both of 11 Brayton Avenue, Scarsdale, as passengers. This boat overturned near Hen Island.

The youths' shouts for help were heard by Howard Griffen, son of the White Plains fire chief, and Miss Dorothy Shock of Court Street, White Plains his guest. Mr. Griffen, who was working on a bungalow on Hen Island, and he and Miss Scheck put out in a boat, picked up the three and took them to the Shenorock Club where they were given hot coffee and dry clothes.

Those picked up by the American Yacht Club launch received dry clothes at the Club.

Police Report Outbreak Of Glass-Smashing

A second story window was smashed by an intruder who entered the old Westchester Yacht Club at the south end of Barry Avenue, Saturday night and invaded every room in the building, the caretaker reported yesterday to Mamaroneck Village police. He said nothing was missing because the building has been unfurnished for years. Detective Jerry Cox discovered traces of the intruder and notified officers of the post to be on the lookout for another entry.

Three other window-breaking incidents in the Village were under investigation Saturday by Detective Sgt. William O'Neill and Detective Geary. The two officers disclosed that the bulletin board glass at the Mamaroneck Hebrew Institute had been smashed by vandals early the same day, along with two large windows in the Camotone, Inc. building on Halstead Avenue. Also reported was a broken side window at the Carlone Food Market, 365 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck. According to the detectives, someone threw a large brown jug through the window during the night.

"Butch", Dr. Weller told Town Police at 5:45 P. M. had left the house at 2 P. M. with the maid, Miss Flossie Price, to go to the lake. They had not returned, he said, and could not be found.

Shortly afterwards, however, "Butch" and the maid were home and safe. It turned out that "Butch" didn't get to see the ducks at all. He had taken a train ride with the maid to 120th Street, New York City.

Three-Year Old Boy Bitten In Abdomen

Freeman Butcher, three-year-old son of Mrs. Marjorie Butcher, 38 Chatsworth Place, New Rochelle, was bitten in the abdomen by a dog at 7:40 P. M. Saturday. The Butcher child was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Butcher of 211 Myrtle Boulevard, Larchmont. He was taken to New Rochelle Hospital where the wound was treated.

James Powell, of 209 Myrtle Boulevard, Larchmont, owner of the dog, was notified by Town Police to confine the animal for 10 days. The County Health Department was also notified.

State Appoints Jennie Hopson To Labor Post

Mrs. Jennie Hopson of 534 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck, has been appointed to an important position in the New York office of the State Labor Department with the possibility that she will be assigned to Westchester County duties, according to an announcement made this morning.

Republicans Party leaders pointed out today that her appointment is the first of such consequence given to anyone in the Town of Mamaroneck by the State in many years and marks a "distinct honor" for Mrs. Hopson, who has served for more than 10 years as Second District Republican committeeman for the Second District.

Mrs. Henry R. Dillon, Republican state committeewoman, said today that Mrs. Hopson's extended experience of several years with the Red Cross and her exceptional work in handling during that time hundreds of G. I. cases admirably fit her for her new duties.

"Mrs. Hopson's position with its enlarged duties and responsibilities will very naturally extend her opportunities for service and materially increase her usefulness in Mamaroneck as a Republican town committeewoman."

Mrs. Hopson, who has the endorsement of Republican state and county officials as well as that of the Town Executive Committee, faces a contest to retain her Second District leadership against Thomas Stamegna of 117 Grand Street, Mamaroneck, who has announced his intention of entering the primaries on July 29.

Coast Guard Unit Installs Officers

NEW ROCHELLE—With city officials and officers of several yacht clubs present, the Westchester Division of the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary swore in its courtesy inspection officers and inaugurated its daily patrol of local waters Saturday at ceremonies at the New Municipal boat club building, Echo Bay.

The swearing in ceremony was conducted by William A. Smith, commodore of the auxiliary in the Third Coast Guard District, after formal introduction to a small group of spectators and guests by R. E. MacIntyre, 22 Halcyon Terrace, captain of the Westchester Division.

Sworn in as inspection officers were the following: Harry B. Kurzrok, 620 Sylvan Avenue, Mamaroneck, division training officer and member of Mamaroneck Flotilla 603; Alfred L. Jaros, New Rochelle Flotilla 604 training officer, of Pelham; John Danks, New Rochelle, of Flotilla 604; Edward W. Simms, Larchmont, of Flotilla 603; Frank Forsbrey, Pelham Manor, commodore of Flotilla 604.

American Flag Has Become Mankind's Hope, Smith Says At Elks' Club Ceremonies

"Today the American Flag has become a living ideal—proof positive that men can retain their birthright as free individuals and still be part of a strong united team. Proof, too, that men can differ strongly in their political opinions, racial backgrounds and religious beliefs—and still perform the duties of citizenship in a nation governed by law."

With that tribute, Howard Smith, former football coach at Mamaroneck and Rellows High Schools, opened his Flag Day address Saturday evening on the Elks Club lawn. He went on to compare the opportunities of the individual in this country with the shackling measures that limit his movements and advancement in other lands.

"The same sort of man exists elsewhere and the same opportunities," he said, "but the birthright of individual freedom and equality in political conditions just aren't there."

"And that's why for more than 200 years men and women the world over have looked toward and emigrated to this land of the Stars and Stripes. We of the present generation must never forget our sacred obligation to carry the banner high, for it has now become the hope of mankind."

Mr. Smith's talk followed the Elk's Flag Day ritual conducted by Mayor R. J. Santoro with the aid of Boy and Girl Scouts. The first American Flag, very similar to the British ensign, was exhibited in replica, after which a model of each subsequent change in the banner was carried to the platform by a Girl Scout flanked by an honor guard of two Boy Scouts. Mayor Santoro explained the origin of each version and the reasons for the changes until the present Star Spangled Banner emerged.

Exalted Ruler Fred Yankocy welcomed the audience to start the ceremonies, after which all joined in singing the National Anthem. The invocation was given by the Rev. Arnold A. Fenton of St. Thomas's Episcopal Church.

Mayor Santoro began to relate the history of the American Flag as rain fell in torrents, causing the audience to scatter. Some took refuge in the Elks Club and many clustered under shade trees on the lawn.

The principal speaker was introduced by Village Manager William H. Johnson. During Mr. Smith's address few spectators departed, though the rain continued unabated.

The principal Elks ritual—that of erecting a floral bell to represent the historic Liberty Bell of Philadelphia — closed the exercises. With a base of roses, center

BoatmanInsuresHoneymoon Bliss; Holds Off Relatives

Well-meaning relations seeking to interrupt the bliss of a honeymoon couple on Hen Island were turned down cold late Saturday night by Ad H. Moody of 622 Rushmore Avenue, Mamaroneck.

Moody, who makes daily trips to Hen Island by motor boat carried a Larchmont bridal couple to the island Saturday afternoon following a morning wedding at St. John's Episcopal Church, Alexander Jennewein of 11 Serpentine Trail, Larchmont, and the former Geraldine M. Dennis of Tuckahoe were to spend a week's honeymoon in a little cabin owned by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Cole of 38 Grove Street, Larchmont.

Hours after Moody had returned to the mainland, he was besieged by telephone calls from the Cole home, where relatives sought to book passage to the island "just for the fun of it." The boatman refused to cooperate.

The whole thing would have ended there if a call from the Cole home hadn't notified Mamaroneck Village police of Moody's "heartlessness." Minutes later local officers were patrolling the Mamaroneck shoreline. No other boats approached the island during the night.

Four Accidents Over Weekend Damage 6 Cars

Six autos were damaged in four weekend accidents, the Mamaroneck Village police reported this morning.

A car driven by Mrs. Louis Brasiotta of 737 West Boston Post Road, Mamaroneck, sustained damage to the right front fender yesterday morning when it struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Andrew E. Woehr of New Rochelle in front of 510 West Boston Post Road. There was no damage to the second car.

At 9:30 P. M. Saturday, the cars operated by Dominick Marcheselli of 120 Pelham Street, Mamaroneck, and Raymond H. Robinson of New York City collided 150 feet from the intersection of Mamaroneck and North Barry Avenues. Both had been travelling north on Mamaroneck Avenue, with car No. 2, near the center of the highway. Damage was a dented right front fender to the Marcheselio car and left front fender to the Robinson car.

When William E. Stanley of White Plains turned off the Boston Post Road to Mamaroneck Avenue shortly after 9 P. M. Saturday, his car suffered a battered right front fender in colliding with a vehicle driven by Harry R. Bretter of Scarsdale, which was moving south on Mamaroneck Avenue. The second car suffered a damaged left front fender.

Pulling from the curb in front of 212 Mamaroneck Avenue at 2:20 P. M. Saturday, a delivery wagon operated by John Foxworth of Bridgeport struck the rear end of the parked car owned by Charles S. Reilly of Rye. The truck emerged undamaged, but the car's left rear fender and tail light were smashed.

Col. Meagher Falls From Ferry Boat

Lt. Col. Joseph Meagher of 604 Tompkins Avenue, Mamaroneck, lost his balance and fell from the Ft. Slocum ferry about 3 A. M. yesterday while returning from a reserve officers' dance at the Fort. He was rescued by military police who threw him a rope and pulled him aboard.

Col. Meagher was taken to the Fort Slocum hospital and released at 4 A. M. after receiving dry clothes. He complained of a wrenched knee, but went to work this morning in New York City, where he is a lawyer.

700 Ships Tied Up In U. S. Ports

Four Unions Involved In Work Stoppage As Contracts Expire

NO PICKETS AT PIERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 700 ships were tied up in United States ports today, NMU President Joseph Curran reported, in a work stoppage under a union "no contract, no work" policy.

The President of the NMU predicted that if union demands were not met by ship owners 1,150 ships would be affected in a few days by the dispute in which four other CIO Unions are involved.

Although Curran did not detail the ports and the number of ships in each, he said 500 of the nearly 700 ships were in east coast ports.

More than 2,000 ships would be affected, Curran claimed, if current negotiations between the union and shiker companies failed. Tankers are not affected by the present stoppage.

Although no pickets showed up at piers the work stoppage ordered by Curran went into effect shortly after the expiration of contracts at midnight yesterday.

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroad said, meanwhile, that if the seamen stage a definite walkout, an embargo probably would be placed on rail freight consignments to U. S. flag ships. There has been no interruption so far of deliveries of freight to steamers, the spokesman said.

The unions were insistent that no strike had been called but that the men would not work without a contract. The seamen were ordered to remain on board ships "as long as possible" and a union spokesman said that if they were ordered off, a "lockout" would be in effect.

Union ports agents said 150 ships were tied up in New York Harbor, 40 in Philadelphia, 40 in Batlimore, four in Boston and one in Portland, Me.

Harrison Pair Held In Alleged WP Robbery

WHITE PLAINS — Arrested early yesterday after a patrolman heard the man they allegedly held up call for help, Richard Chambers, 22, of 6 Richard Street, and Raymond Price, 18, of Buchanan Road, Harrison, waived hearings today in City Court and were held for the action of the Grand Jury, charged with robbery.

Patrolman Edward Greenop reported that he was on post near Martine Avenue and Grand Street at 4 A. M. yesterday when he heard calls for help from the direction of Grove Street and Martine. Heading toward the scene, he saw two men running down Martine Avenue.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Truman vetoed today the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill, virtually killing any possibility of a cut in income taxes this year.

The Republican-dominated Congress will vote on whether to pass the bill over the veto, but backers of the legislation conceded they'saw no chance for success.

It requires a two-thirds vote to enact a law over the President's disapproval.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross indicated today that President Truman may not act on the Taft-Hartley labor reform bill until shortly before the Friday midnight deadline.

Ross told reporters, awaiting Mr. Truman's message on the income tax bill, that there would be no action on the labor legislation until after the President's return from a speaking engagement at Princeton University tomorrow.

Reaction from the bills' backers was immediate and, for the most part, caustic.

Leaders said that enough votes to override the veto can be mustered in the House, which will vote tomorrow, but not in the Senate.

Rep. Knutson, R., Minn., author of the measure and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, issued a statement saying "the President's suggestion that we wait for tax reduction until next year is nothing but cold-blooded politics." Parents Must Keep TheirWordToHold Children's Trust

By ANGELO PATRI

In dealing with children, it is best to tell them the truth. And if that is not possible, it is still best not to tell them an untruth. Once a child learns that an elder's word is not to be trusted, he puts no more faith in that person. He takes what he says with a grain of salt and waits for further developments.

It is a temptation to tell a protesting, squirming child that pulling his tooth out will not hurt him; that the dentist is only going to look at it; that if he is good he shall have the pony he wants—all the time knowing that the tooth must come out, that it will hurt some, that he cannot have a pony. Such an attempted solution of a difficulty will not help but certainly will lay up trouble for time to come.

Once a promise is made to a child, it must be kept. Only when an emergency makes keeping it an impossibility is such a promise to be broken. Then a truthful explanation must be given. No manufactured excuses and no promises impossible to keep must be made.

What is why one must be slow to promise anything. The promise of a picnic on a certain day will give a child great joy. He will look forward to it, counting off the days on his fingers. Then it rains, or grandmother arrives, or father needs the car. The picnic is off. It requires a great deal of explaining, some adjustments of program to make up for the missed pleasure to comfort the child, to so assure him that his faith will not be shattered in the promises of his mother.

"When you are graduated, you shall have a new gold watch," says a generous-minded member of the family. The youngster accepts that promise as kept right then. But when graduation time comes, times have changed. There is no money to buy such a watch; there is no such watch on the market save at an inflated price. That promise cannot be kept. But does the youngster accept that? Not at the time. His father says, "Well, you can have mine. I don't really need it." No. That's no good. It was to be a new one.

Tell children the facts as gently as may be, but tell them. Prepare them for disappointment, if that is threatened. Prepare them for enduring discomfort, even pain—if that must be—but tell them the truth. It is far worse suffering for them when they find that the word of those on whom they depend cannot be trusted. They can endure pain better than they can endure loss of faith in those they love and trust. Tell them the truth. They can take it.

Be Good And Kind To Your Husband ForHappyMarriage

By DOROTHY DIX

A group of young girls, who are about to enter the holy estate of wedlock, ask me if I will give them some suggestions about how to make their marriages successes. Well, daughters, there is no infallible rule for pulling off a happy marriage. It is mainly guess work and good luck, for men and women suffer a sea change when they get married and, no matter how long and how well they have known each other before the wedding, after marriage they find they are perfect strangers. They have to get acquainted all over again and, believe me, they get some surprises.

Still and all, there is no sense in buying a pig in a poke. There are some precautionary measures that the dumbest girl should take if she expects to be happy though married, and the most important of these is to pick out the kind of husband she wants, to begin with, instead of depending on changing a second-rater into something she will be proud to have around the house. Don't marry a man to reform him. Folks on the level doesn't need reforming. No woman is enough of a miracle-worker to turn a drunkard, or a philanderer, or a ne'er-do-well into a good husband.

Set up your own home when you get married, even if it is just a cubby-hole with an electric plate and a coffee pot, and be sure that there is not a mother nor a mother-in-law in it if it is possible to avoid it. You and your Tom, Dick or Harry will have plenty of run-ins while you are adjusting yourselves to each other, and if you are alone, when the fight is over, you will kiss and make up and forget it; but if your Mamas are around urging you to stick up for your rights, they will start you on the road to the divorce court.

Learn how to cook before you get married. The quickest and surest way of alienating a husband's affections is by feeding him on food that a hungry dog wouldn't eat. Never forget that the infallible receipe for keeping a husband at home of evenings is to fill him so full of his favorite dishes that all he wants are his easy chair and his slippers.

Don't be possessive. Don't think that because a man married you that you own him, body and soul. Don't try to separate him from his own family and his old friends. To prevent scenes your husband may give in to you, but he will hate you for it. And every time he has to slip his mother a little money, or go to see her on the sly, he will have more and more contempt for you. On the contrary, there is nothing on earth that a man appreciates so much and that so endears his wife to him as for her to get along with his people and make his old friends welcome in his home.

Don't have your own people under foot too much. Don't have Mother and the girls and little brother always camping in the guest chamber. When your man comes home from work at night he doesn't want to have to listen to Sally's mother's advice, or Papa's reminiscences, or to the squawks of a lot of bobby-soxers. Inlaws should always be taken in broken doses.

Don't be stingy with the soft soap. Before he was married the girls flattered your husband by telling him how handsome and fascinating he was. Now it is up to you to pinch hit for them and yourself too, so double the dose. You can't make it too strong. When a wife stops building up her husband's ego and begins tearing it down with her criticisms, she is simply opening the door to the Other Woman.

And finally daughters, if you forget all the balance, remember this: Keep telling your husband you love him. Make that your theme song and he will never tire of listening to it.

Banks Win State O. K. Of Merger

State Superintendent Approves Proposal Of 3 County Institutions

DIRECTORS MUST ACT

NEW YORK—The State Superintendent of Banking has given tentative approval to a merger of three Westchester banks into a county trust company which will be among the few score really large banks in the nation.

Tentative approval came to set in motion the steps for merger of the Bank of Westchester of Yonkers and the Washington Irving Trust Company of Tarrytown with the County Trust Company of White Plains. Each of the three has branches which will give the new company offices in nearly every city and large village in the county except New Rochelle, Rye and Pelcskill.

The merged Institution will have assets of about $125,000,000, the largest ever formed in the county. The County Trust Company last year moved into the ranks of the first 100 largest banks in the country and the merger, it is believed, will move it up among the first 50 or so.

Later in the morning at 3:20 Mrs. J. A. Brown of 18 Myrtle Boulevard, Larchmont, complained to town police there was a barking dog at the rear of 23 Myrtle Boulevard. Village Share Of Town Tax Unfair, Sansone Charges In Talk At State Conference

Charging that "village subsidy of town taxpayers" is unfair and antiquated, Corporation Counsel Anthony Sansone of Mamaroneck, speaking yesterday before the New York State Conference of Mayors in Buffalo, called for the revision of state ordinances relating to taxation in which townships are favored.

Mr. Sansone has long been associated with the local fight against the alleged unfairness of certain town charges against the Village of Mamaroneck. In the audience, along with officials from all sections of the state, were Mamaroneck Mayor R. J. Santoro, Village Manager William H. Johnson, and Trustees James Jackson and John Withers.

Asserting that towns in the state "continue to use the antiquated Highway Law, or their interpretation of it," Mr. Sansone charged that "extremely burdensome taxes" were being levied on the whole township for services beneficial only to the unincorporated area.

"In the village and town relationship, under the laws of our state, the villages carry much of the tax burden rightfully belonging to town taxpayers," Mr. Sansone stated, adding: "By that I mean, taxpayers in the unincorporated areas. It is a sort of subsidy in reverse which we pay whether we want to or not. We cannot control the amount nor can we stop paying."

He continued:

"From my experience as a public official I have found that village taxpayers pay willingly for the cost of their own government and the services they receive, but they are in large numbers start-

Reds Winning Italian Posts, Rotarians Told

Infiltration of Communists into Italian Government posts is becoming more and more rampant and may eventually lead to Russian control of the country, Damon Policini of Griffin Avenue, Mamaroneck, told a Rotary Club luncheon meeting yesterday in the Blue Haven Inn.

The guest speaker, son of Ralph Policini of the Leading Jewelry Company in Mamaroneck, recently returned from an extensive trip through southern Europe. He asserted that Italy is under a steady propaganda barrage from Russia, whose representatives enter the country with plenty of money to spend.

Terming Belgium and Switzerland the only European countries with money, Mr. Policini revealed that merchants from all over the world flock there to do business. He said Russian merchants buy everything in sight, while little commerce is transacted with the U. S. because of high commissions demanded by foreign banks handling the deals.

In Czechoslovakia and Austria, where the Soviet influence dominates in the factories, large production centers are gradually becoming nationalized, the speaker stated. He added that the black market has boneycombed Italy in defiance of government attempts at control. Load upon load of American foodstuffs, hardware, automobiles and other merchandize are offered at exorbitant black market prices, he said.

Mr. Policini declared that the Italian people really detest Communism but in their present weakened condition are unable to effectively combat its growth.

Guests of the Rotary Club yesterday were Harry T. Flinn of Larchmont; Warren Bascome of Bellows High School; Bentley Kline of New Rochelle, and William S. Carpenter of Yonkers.

A BRIEFING BEE was conducted last night at Scarsdale Post 35, of the American Legion, for the 42 Westchester boys selected to attend the Legion-sponsored Boys State at Colgate University. Long of 10 Ellsworth Road, Larchmont, told delegates to the President's Highway Safety Conference in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

Dr. Long, who is head of the Department of Secondary Education at New York University and former executive manager of the National Safety Council, commended the driver training courses and safety instruction at all school levels. He spoke as chairman of the education section of the Conference.

Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, chairman of the accident records section, and Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation, chairman of the public support section.

President Takes Fight To People

Chief Executive Airs Views Tonight In Talk Over National Hookup

C.O.P. SEES PASSAGE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Truman vetoed today the Taft-Hartley Bill to curb labor unions and an aroused House swiftly and overwhelmingly passed it over the veto.

That put it up to the Senate to clinch the decision on whether the bill is to become law over the President's disapproval. It will vote late today or possibly tomorrow.

The Senate is expected generally to override the veto, but both sides concede the vote will be close.

In his big battle with Congress over the issue, Mr. Truman called in a group of leading Democratic Senators for a White House luncheon presumably to talk over the veto.

The White House announced also that Mr. Truman will make his arguments against the GOP measure directly to the people in a broadcast tonight. He will speak over all networks for about 15 minutes beginning at 10 P. M.

Senator Taft also scheduled a radio speech for tonight to discuss the bill.

The chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee has arranged to go on the air at 10:45 P. M. over a Mutual Broadcasting Company hook-up (WOR).

In a stinging message to the House, which planned an immediate effort to roll up a two-thirds majority and override the veto, Mr. Truman said:

"The bill is unfair, wouldn't work, would promote strikes and labor discord, and would plunge the hand of Government further into the affairs of working people and their employers.

As for the measure's ban against recognition of unions with communist leaders, the President said that would lead into the hands of the Communists.

"The only result of this provision," he said, "would be confusion and disorder which is exactly the result the communists desire."

The funamental test to be applied to the Taft-Hartley Bill, Mr. Truman said, is whether in the "present critical hour" it would "strengthen or weaken American democracy."

This was his judgment:

"I have concluded that the bill is a clear threat to the successful working of our democratic society."

Suggests New Bill

The President capped his blast against the measure with an invitation for the Congress to try their hand again with a wholly new bill.

Mr. Truman said they still had genuine opportunity to enact "appropriate labor legislation" and called attention to recommendations he made last January. These were for a measure prohibiting jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts (for unjustifiable objectives) and for creation of a commission to study the need of other Labor Law objectives.

Republican backers of the bill brushed aside Mr. Truman's counsel as they called for the House, and later the Senate, to enact it over his disapproval.

Leaders said confidently the margin would be three to one.

But the vote in the Senate—possibly today but more likely tomorrow, provided the House overrides—may be close.

As soon as the President's message reached the House, Rep. Hartley, R., N. J., chairman of the House Labor Committee and one of the bill's authors, told reporters:

"Certainly we aren't going to pass another bill as Mr. Truman suggested. The things he asked, insignificant as they are, are in the bill. And the bill is going to be law, veto or no veto."

Two Congressional Groups To Check Oil Sent To Russia

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A two-way congressional investigation of huge oil shipments to Russia was in the making today.

Rep. Arthur Arnold Services subcommittee invited Commerce Department officials to discuss the Soviet purchases and Chairman Welchel, R., Ohio, said the House Merchant Marine Committee may launch an inquiry of its own later.

Weichel said he wants to know why the United States is shipping oil to Russia at a time when this country's efforts to have Russia return lend lease ships have met with failure.

He added that some of the Soviet tankers transporting American oil to Russia may be United States vessels loaned to Russia during the war.

"Russia got almost 100 ships from us on lend-lease and so far as I know we haven't been able to get any of them back," he told a reporter. "I don't know how many of them, if any, were tankers."

Chairman Shafer, R., Mich., of the Armed Services sub-committee holding today's hearing threatened to block extension of Administration requested export controls "unless somebody can show us that the controls are being exercised."

Shafer said he understands that one 30,000-barrel Soviet tanker is loading at San Pedro, Calif., and others will be loading soon.

The partition question in Amritsar Monday.

NEW DELHI, (AP)—With the first solid step toward partition of India already taken in Calcutta, preparations for taking the second step next Monday in the Punjab were made today amid continuing warfare there between Hindu-Sikh allies and the predominating Moslems.

Yesterday Bengal's Provincial Legislature voted to separate the Province's Hindu and Moslem majority areas so that they might join Hindustan and Pakistan respectively. The Punjab, in which the problem is complicated by a military Sikh minority demanding its own homeland, will convene its Legislature Monday to make a decision on a similar question.

These are preliminaries under the plan of Viceroy Lord Mountbatten providing machinery for setting up in India Moslem and Hindu majority states which are scheduled to become British commonwealth dominions about Aug. 15.

Bottled Drinks Lead To Policy Slip Charges

A Mamaroneck taxi firm owner and one of his drivers found out yesterday that soft drinks can sometimes get you into as much hot water as the hard stuff.

William Mitchell, 35, who owns the Mitchell Taxi Company at 423 Center Avenue, drew a $30 fine in Village Police Court last night for having policy slips in his possession. For the same offence, Fred McKnight, 39, one of Mitchell's drivers, paid $30. Both men could have saved their money by sweating out the Summer without benefit of bottled soda.

Mitchell, who applied recently for a soft drink license, was unprepared yesterday afternoon when Detective Sergt. William O'Neill and Detective Jerry Geary strode into his taxi office for a routine inspection. Village law requires that certain hard and fast standards be met before an establishment may handle soft drinks and the detectives wanted to see how the Mitchell Company shaped up. It turned out to be in pretty bad shape.

A book of policy slips lay brazenly atop one of the office tables and a quick frisk disclosed that both Mitchell and McKnight carried a few of the outlawed chits on their person. Both were hustled to the station house.

3 Local Boys Off Tomorrow To Boys' State

A contingent of three local youths will leave from Grand Central Station at 8:15 A. M. Sunday for the American Legion's Empire Boys' State at Colgate University next week.

William Hodsdon, Eagle Scout and Bellows High School junior, will represent Legion Post 90 of Mamaroneck and John C. Lightfoot, president of the junior class at Mamaroneck High School has been selected by Larchmont Post 947. The third local delegate is John W. Yates of 279 Rockingstone Avenue, Larchmont, who has been picked by Legion Post 1263 of New York City, of which his father is an official.

Empire Boys' State is a mythical 49th state sponsored by the New York Department of The American Legion. It teaches the mechanics of state government and the boys attending it are selected for their outstanding qualifications in leadership, character and scholarship.

The entire program is non-partisan and free of propaganda. Its sole purpose is to enable the boy to grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which he will be called upon to assume when he becomes an adult.

When the youths arrive at Colgate on Sunday morning, Legion administrative officers, supervisors and counselors take over. The counselors are all high school instructors of proved ability. They are present with the boys at all activities.

The boys will be given a thorough physical examination by capable physicians and through the program doctors and nurses remain available and prepared for any emergency.

Legion officials have a novel method to insure each boy writing home immediately upon arrival. The first meal ticket is withheld until each boy presents a letter to be mailed home.

Boys' State operates as a miniature commonwealth, with young citizens taking over the duties of and appreciate the framework of (Continued on Page Three)

Happy Herpetology To You!! Also, Here's To Blissful Botany!

WHITE PLAINS — Leroy C. Peters, Director of Safety Services of the Westchester Chapter, American Red Cross, today made his annual Summer pronouncement concerning the sciences of herpetology and botany. Anyway, he warned vacationers to take adequate precautions against Summertime accident hazards and stressed the danger of snake bite (which takes care of herpetology, the study of reptiles) and poison ivy, which will cover botany for today's lesson.

Mr. Peters passed along these Red Cross safety tips: Learn to identify poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac, and if you've been in contact with one of them, wash with soap and water and, if possible, alcohol. Use calamine lotion if a rash develops and see a physician if it becomes severe.

Watch your step in snake infested areas and take Mr. Peters' word for it that poisonous snakes are found in all parts of the country. They're prevalent in those sections where you might go picking flowers or berries or climbing cliffs or ledges where they might be lying. If a poisonous snake gives you the works, don't wait: send immediately for a doctor.

Also: don't scratch insect bites, don't neglect minor cuts or scratches, and do remember that low-heeled, well-fitted shoes are good insurance against painful blisters and a twisted or broken angle.

Masons Hear Talk On Aid To Disabled Vets

Liberal assistance to disabled veterans is one of the chief functions of the Veterans' Administration, Dr. Hugh S. McHugh of Larchmont, psychiatric consultant for the VA, told the Masonic Club of Larchmont last night at its 23rd annual dinner in the Hotel Bevan.

Dr. McHugh, a former Army major, stated that any veteran with a service-connected disability may now go to his own physician at the administration's expense. That is only one of the benefits gained through General Omar Bradley's efforts in Washington in behalf of the veteran, according to the guest speaker, who is in charge of the Halcyon Rest in Rye.

Charles Hagelston, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Dr. McHugh to the 100 members and guests. Himself a past president of the club, Mr. Hagelston presented past presidents Col. George H. McClelland, club chaplain; Osborne G. Smith and John T. Breunich, both ex-fire chiefs; Le Roy Hetzel, Fred F. Krisch and Waldo F. Operer. Another speaker introduced was Chief Paul A. Yerick of the Town of Mamaroneck police.

Bertrand Hirsch, featured violin soloist on the radio program, "Album of Familiar Music," offered a few selections in an entertainment program which also included a group of songs by Patrolman Joseph Mancusi of the Town police, Arthur Gifford's piano playing and selections on the accordion by James Scelia.

Among the guests were Dr. Edgar Bruchell, bacteriologist at the New York Eye and Ear Hospital, and Harry Goeckler, ex-Larchmont mayor.

Past Masters of the Lodge present were Herbert Baum of Mamaroneck; Morton Sarfaty, Gilbert Merrell, Alfred O'Neill, Charles Engelman, Andrew Halley and William Isbister of Larchmont.

Admiral Voge To Show Film On Submarines

Admiral R. G. Voge, USN, retired, wartime chief of all submarine activities in the Pacific and youngest admiral in the U. S. Navy during the war years, will show a 40-minute submarine film Tuesday night at a meeting of Mamaroneck Post 90, the American Legion.

A documentary picture restricted during the war to Navy and official use, the film offers authentic inside views of American submarines, in and out of action. It presents 60 scenes of U. S. sube sinking Japanese vessels in addition to intimate views of crewmen at work and interior submarine appliances.

Following projection of the film, Admiral Voge, who is 44, will recount many of his experiences aboard submarines during the war and explain some of the problems confronting his staff while Japan still retained her fighting strength. He comes to Mamaroneck through Warren Friar, program chairman.

Truman Backers Block Moves For Early Vote

WASHINGTON, (AP), — A weary, quarreling Senate fought the battle of President Truman's veto into its second round today after a little band supporting the decision had talked down nightlong attempts to transform the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill into law.

In a wrangling and rare all-night session marked by bitter exchanges, the bill's supporters demonstrated their strength at dawn by whipping, 50 to 14, a motion by Senator Pepper, D., Fla., to delay a showdown until Monday afternoon.

Pepper was joined by Senators Taylor, D., Idaho, and Kilgore, D., W. Va., in a talk fest that Senator Russell, D., Ga., who intends to vote to override the veto, described as a filibuster.

Senator Morse, R., Ore., then took up the fight to keep the Senate from voting before next week. Their announced purpose was to delay action until the country can react to the President's veto, which they support.

Shortly after sunrise, the Senate several times was within a hair's breadth of an agreement on a voting time. Morse blocked efforts to vote today and angry Republican colleagues blocked compromise efforts of their leaders to fix a Monday deadline.

So, with no agreement yet in sight, Senators who had been sleeping on cloakroom benches went back to nap while Morse spoke to an almost empty chamber.

Shortly before turning down the Monday vote suggestion, the bill's (Continued on Page Three)

Senate Stands Still While Morse Speaks

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This was the picture at 9 o'clock this morning in the Senate Chamber after more than 21 hours of consecutive session in the vain effort to get a vote on overriding the Presidential veto of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill:

Senator Morse, R., Ore., talking slowly, still urged a delay over the week-end on the vote.

Less than a half a dozen Senators were in the chamber and none appeared to be listening as Morse droned on.

Senator Taft looking cheerful, read a morning newspaper while occupying the front row seat of the Republican floor leader.

Silver-thatched Senator Pat McCarran, D., Nev., was the only Democrat in sight as he, in the minority leaders' chair apparently reading the red-covered Congressional Directory.

Senator Malone, R., Nev., was presiding but turned over the gavel to Senator Gurney, R., S. D., right on the hour.

Senator Knowland, R., Calif., smiled and waved to a reporter just arriving in the overhead press gallery.

Just Past 9, Senators Cain, R., Wash., and Byrd, D., Va., walked in from a side door and began chatting.

Apparently annoyed, Morse paused and asked:

"Mr. President, can we have order?"

Senator Gurney rapped on his desk and the conversation ceased.

On the desk in front of Morse was a cup of coffee or tea, half consumed. And on a chair behind him were several pots that apparently had contained earlier supplies of beverage.

Many volumes were stacked on an adjacent desk, each with pink slips inserted, apparently as references for later talking material.

Public galleries that had been crowded last night were nearly empty.

In the morning round Harmon beat Sam Byrd, former Yankee ballplayer, 1 up, and in the afternoon he eliminated Jim Milward of Madison, Wisc., 5 and 3.

Politics Plain And Simple—

THERE should have been no surprise throughout the nation—certainly not among those who are in any measure at all acquainted with practical politics—over President Truman's veto of the Labor Reform Bill.

It was, bluntly, the only thing to be expected of a man who hopes to remain in the White House by virtue of the coalition vote of variegated, dissident minority factions. To amalgamate these elements it is necessary to find a binder. This exists in a common hatred by these groups of the American system of individual enterprise which the Labor Reform Bill sought to re-establish. By his veto of that bill, Mr. Truman has bound these elements to his 1948 standard.

The bill itself was not harsh or arbitrary, having been watered down through efforts of Senator Ives of New York State until its original force was spent. Incidentally, where does this veto leave Senator Ives, who had claimed that his milk and water version would surely gain Presidential approval?

As briefed by an unbiased authority—the Associated Press—these were the bill's major provisions:

"1. Let the Government get court orders to block 'national calamity' strikes, as in the coal or steel industries, during 80 days of mediation.

"2. Forbid the closed shop, in which the boss can hire only union help.

"3. Ban various kinds of special strikes and boycotts.

"4. Permit court suits against unions that break contracts.

"5. Deny collective bargaining rights to any union having as an officer a Communist or sympathizer, or anyone who could 'reasonably be regarded as one'.

"6. Make it an unfair labor practice, which could be stopped by a court order, for a union to keep non-striking workers from their jobs by mass or violent picketing.

"7. Forbid 'excessive or discriminatory' union dues and initiation fees."

These points, we submit, are not severe. As a matter of fact, Mr. Truman himself has urged most of them upon occasion. On the matter of Federal injunctions against strikers, he asked for far more rigorous legislation against the railroad unions. He consistently has asked for control against jurisdictional strikes. He declared, in his veto of the Case Bill, that unions should be held responsible for violations of contracts. As to "feather-bedding," which the Labor Reform Bill would prohibit, he criticized unions for such practices in his Senate War Investigating Committee report in March of 1943, and as to union publication of financial statements, Mr. Truman, as a senator, 1944, declared: "There is no difference between a labor leader with too much money to spend on an election and Mark Hanna with too much money to spend on an election."

But these views were those of Truman, the man, not of Truman, the 1948 political candidate. He has learned that as a Democrat alone he cannot be elected next year. He must have organized labor, the leftist and radical fringes, and all of the "have-nots" who hate the "haves."

That is why it is almost laughable to read from the Truman message these words:

"I think it would be exceedingly dangerous to our country to develop a class basis for political action."

What else, in the name of all that is factual, has the New Deal been doing for the last 15 years?

As against this practical political viewpoint, what avail is the mandate of the 1946 election, wherein were placed in Congress men most immediately responsive to the will of the people, men who voted in the House yesterday afternoon by better than four-to-one to carry out that mandate? What, indeed, becomes of popular government when the President vetoes a bill for which a majority of his own party voted in the House, and voted again to over-ride his veto?

The answer is plain and very simple: When political ambition takes the wheel, right goes overboard.

A Glance Backward—

A DECADE AGO
(From The Daily Times)

The United Press got a formula for marital happiness as it published a resume of interviews with 10 couples who have been happily married for 50 - 60 years, a total of 575 years. The consensus was that couples should "learn to cooperate on a 50-50 basis" and the veterans of marriage thought that the best age to take a mate was 22 for a man and 20 for the distaff side . . . Six firms bid for the construction of the new two-way radio system planned for the Larchmont police department . . . 189 were graduated from Mamaroneck High School and 60 got their diplomas from F. E. Bellows High School . . . A bus driver for the County Transportation Co. reported a sewer manhole cover had been removed on Halstead Avenue near Jefferson Avenue and that he had driven his bus over the hole without damage to the vehicle. Lieut. Maurice Thomas replaced the cover but couldn't get out how it had become displaced . . . and just 35 years ago Robert R. Tigus of Mamaroneck rowed how in the victorious Yale freshman shell at the Yale-Harvard boat races and Phelps Barnum of Quaker Ridge was coxswain of the Yale varsity eight.

Col. Joe Bush Says—

Well, now the Republicans have got two good slogans for next year's election. One is "High Tax Harry," and the other is: "Harry-Scarem, The Voters' veto."

We now have three of the veto boys, Truman of Missouri, Gromyko of Russia, and Marcantonio of Harlem.

Harry's veto message reminds us of the WPA worker who had the job diggin' holes and then fillin' 'em up again. He complained to the foreman that he couldn't get all the dirt he had dug out back into the hole again. So the foreman pondered, like Harry, and come up with a decision. like Harry's, that he'd have to dig the hole deeper.

Oh, well, the sun will probably come up tomorrow mornin', as usual, and this ain't the first time in history that people voted for reform and got chloroform:

We regret to note that the Hon. Orie Kelly, park commish for the County, is in the hospital. We told Orie that if he let himself run down that was where he'd wind up.

We always thought the idea of aviation companies was to get rid of hazards and make flyin' safer. But the law counsel of the North American Airport Corporation is a White Plains firm. Kent, Hazzard, and Yaeger.

Our fourteen year old dog is deaf to all ordinary sounds, but we have worked out a way to communicate with him and we are passing it on to you, thinking it might be helpful to other readers of your column with deaf pets.

Our dog cannot even hear a whistle, but he can hear clapping of hands in the next room or when outdoors. So we call him or otherwise attract his attention with hand-clapping. Then, since he can still see, we've taught him in the last few years to come when we beckon to him with sweeping hand motions. "Paddy" soone to sense that the hand clapping and beckoning aren't just to order him around but to help keep him in the family circle.

Farley Says FDR Favored Ickes

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The late President Roosevelt preferred Harold Ickes to Henry Wallace as Presidential timber in 1938, James A. Farley disclosed today.

"Henry would like to run for President," Farley quoted Roosevelt. "However, I'd rather have Hellow like Ickes who, at least is a fighter.

"Ickes will go through with whatever he has in mind. But you never know what Henry will do. He's in favor of one thing today and something entirely different tomorrow."

In Brief—

MISSING: ONE SPOOK

The Jaspanese peace treaty conferees may be in for an unusual headache. Dyak tribesmen of Borneo claim the Japeroos stole their rice spirit during the war and forgot to give it back.

The rice spirit, it seems, is a nature god who makes rice and vegetables grow if it is well treated and made to feel a member of the family.

If the Nips really went south with the Dyaks' favorite spirit it was the neatest trick of the war—with or without mirrors.

All this wrath about a wraith is the result of crop failures. The Dyak tillers of the soil claiming that since Tojo's boys swiped their rice spirit back to 1942 all they can grow is Borneo type dandelions and a South Sea variety of crabgrass.

The Dykas have been trying to lure the rice spirit back by beating drums and songs but, apparently, their favorite spook is tone deaf.

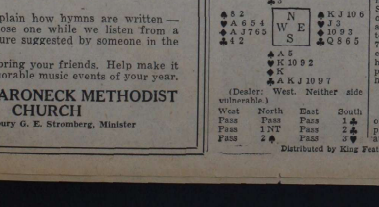
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

CRIMES GO UNPUNISHED

SOME OF the most terrible bridge crimes go unpunished because one or both of the opponents later can be detected in the act of perpetrating just as bad offenses. Probably the worst bidding ever seen in a rubber game comes when the cut assigns two players as partners who lack respect for each other's ability. Both then are likely to strive to become the declarer. But that is no worse than what can happen afterward if the two defenders are intent on distinguishing themselves, too, each striving to be brilliant in the things he does with his own hand and disregarding his opportunities to fit in with what his partner has shown.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1♣
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2♣
Pass	2♠	Pass	3♥

Pass 3 NT Pass 4♣
Pass 5♣ Pass

You may have witnessed worse bidding than that, but it couldn't have been much worse. As it developed, West did bad enough defensive work to make the bidding wind up looking good. First he perpetrated the worst of all standard defensive sins against a suit contract by leading away from his diamond A. His 6 brought the 9 from East and went to the kingdom. K. South scored the club A and K, then led the heart 10 and came up with the Q when West played low. The heart 8 came back to the J, K and A.

West was now too concerned about a trick with his diamond A to note that East probably could ruff a heart, in view of the J play. So he laid down his diamond A and was turned up when South ruffed it. Now South drove out the club Q with a trump lead, and East's heart 9 came back to him. He led the heart 2 to the 7 and used the diamond Q to discard the spade 5. The spade A, heart 9 and club 7 then completed his contract, which should have been set all over the place.

She is a 1947 graduate of Connecticut College and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Baird.

Larchmont Collegian Joins International Camp Group

International understanding as a basis for the promotion of world peace is a lot of words, receiving no more than lip service from large numbers of Americans, but Priscilla Baird of Larchmont, armed with a brand new college diploma, the ideal is going to be put into action.

Miss Baird sails today aboard the partially converted troop transport Marine Tiger for Le Havre, one of about 150 young Americans who will spend the Summer in France under the auspices of "The Experiment in International Living", a non-profit educational organization devoted to promoting friendships among the young people of 20 countries for the past 15 years.

As an outgrowth of her interest in educational work and internationalism, plus her knowledge of the French language, Miss Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Baird of 1 Dundee Road, will serve as a counsellor in one of the nationwide camps for children sponsored by the French Ministry of Education.

A former Mamaroneck High School student, she prepared for college at Mount Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C., and this month received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Connecticut College, where she majored in art.

Born in New York 21 years ago, Miss Baird moved with her family to Larchmont 12 years ago. She will be one of three Westchester residents making the trip, and will be accompanied by two Bryn Mawr friends. Until their arrival in France, the destinations of the group will not be known.

Headquarters for "The Experiment in International Living," whose members are known as "the Experimenters," is located in Putney, Vt., with active representatives of the organization throughout Europe and Latin America. It is among the first of the educational groups to resume international student exchange since the war.

The Experimenters, who pay all their own expenses and receive no compensation, will work closely with French counsellors and some impoverished French children, demonstrating American camping methods in a Spartan, outdoor existence.

Carrying a bare minimum of personal luggage, the group will have aboard with them crates of food, clothing and camping equipment donated by friends of The Experiment, to be distributed by the young people on their arrival at camp.

clothed with power to determine which labor dispute cases would be laid before the board for its action and which would be taken to the courts.

O'Mahoney declared that "instead of promoting peace in labor and management, this bill is a blueprint x x x for the complete establishment of discretionary government power over the entire field of industry-labor relations."

O'Conor was one of a group of "doubtful" Senators who were invited to the White House last Friday for luncheon with the President. Of this group, only Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) has announced he will switch from support of the bill to support of the veto.

O'Conor said

"While I believe the pending measure can be improved in several particulars, and that experience will make possible its improvement, I am of a definite opinion that the bill, as passed, is for the best interests of our country."

Rezoning Plan Draws Protest By Taxpayers

mitted these violations which are in existence.

"What is the Board going to do to make these property owners comply with the law? They are now in a section of a Residence A district, and as stated in the petition, these taxpayers and property owners vigorously oppose any change in this area from a Residence A to a Residence B district." Anna C. Lay, secretary.

The attached petition reads as follows:

"We the following taxpayers and owners of property involved in the plan to discriminately change a certain portion of the Rye Neck Section from Residence A districts to Residence B hereby protest such discriminate change and request that the said property involved remain in Residence A districts.

"In the Daily Times articles of June 10, Building Inspector Dewey Perschke is quoted as saying:

"I have been misinterpreted in that I contemplated Residence A to Residence B zoning alternations in only one section of the village and not Shore Acres and Orienta Point as stated in a recent article.

"That my sole motive in proposing the change was to secure additional accommodations for veterans of the village by permitting three family houses in the residential area bounded by Barry Avenue and Halsted Avenue, the Boston Psot Road and the Mamaroneck River."

"In this article of June 10 Mr. Perschke criticizes The Daily Times for saying he contemplated changing Residence A to Residence B districts in only one section and yet further on, he is quoted as describing a certain portion only of Rye Neck (which affects our property) to be redistricted and not the entire Rye Neck Section.

"The section which boundaries he describes as the one to be redistricted is mostly occupied by one family houses and the people in said section have taken pride in keeping their premises in good shape so that they may enjoy their homes for which they certainly pay enough taxes to maintain and now the building inspector recommends this change from Residence A to Residence B in this section to permit erection of three family dwellings, which at once calls for fire escapes, etc., to the detriment of the other houses in the neighborhood. He also states there are some violations in the neighborhood already. This may be true but the one or two buildings of that type now in said area were there before the zoning ordinance took effect, and therefore, could not at the time affect them but we do now protest vigorously the change in this district from Residence A to Residence B and urge your Board to deny this proposed change."

Combing The Town

Exploding A Myth

Growing weary of assertions that school children learned fundamentals better in the good old days, Dr. Forrest E. Long of 10 Ellsworth Road, Larchmont, decided recently to investigate. He found that 1947 youngsters were a little better taught than their great grandparents in spelling, and much better in arithmetic.

The Clearing House, a secondary-school journal of which Dr. Long is editor, sent out copies of an extremely difficult ninth-grade exam given in 1846 in Springfield, Mass. The school children then averaged only 40.60 per cent in spelling and 29.40 per cent in math. In the past eight months more than 20 schools from York, Pa., to Fort Worth, Tex., have given the tests. Though some words were over their heads, boys and girls averaged 44.68 per cent on such words as accessible, chirography, descendant and evanescent. In math, they scored 52.16 per cent on such questions as this: "There is a certain number, one-third of which exceeds one-fourth of it by two; what is the number?"

Best Of The Bests

"Best mixers" of the Class of 1947 at Mamaroneck High School, by vote of their classmates, are Dick Morrison and Kitty Fortuin.

Other superlatives, according to the 1947 edition of the Mahiscan, are Ad Nordenschild and Virginia Marcelli, athletes, Joan Sparrell and Dick De Lima, most likely to succeed, and Ray Hinman and Pat Kelly, best personality.

Voted laziest were Donna Hamann and Charles Mayone, and biggest flirt and wolf, according to the class, are George Ann Crabtree and Johnny Dodenhoff. Joann Devlin and Dick Doyne were named best dressed. Bill Robinson and Pat Brown, biggest bluff; Pat Kelly and John Whitton, best looking; Frank Buxton and Nora Collins, wittiest, and Dizzy Sheridan and Bill Wilkinson, best dancers.

To Ginny Scott and Bob Stahr went the accolade of having the most pull.

20 Years Of Service

At a 10 A. M. service this morning, the Rev. Arnold A. Fenton, rector of St. Thomas's Church, observed the 20th anniversary of his ordination to the Deaconate. He was admitted to Holy Orders in 1927 by the Right Rev. Paul Matthews, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey.

The celebrant at Holy Communion today was the Rev. Thomas T. Butler, rector of St. Matthews Church, Woodhaven, L. I. and the Rev. Mr. Fenton's uncle, who assisted 20 years ago at his nephew's ordination. A large congregation of parishioners was present at the service.

Wins $100 Scholarship

One of the highlights of last night's 52nd annual Bellows High School graduation exercises was the presentation of a $100 scholarship to Magdalene Perschke by the Junior Section of the Mamaroneck Woman's Club, which annually makes the award to an outstanding girl member of either the Mamaroneck or Bellows senior class.

Miss Ruth Meighan, in making the award, said that this year's choice was extremely difficult because so many girls had shown outstanding ambition and enthusiasm. "We wish we had several hundred dollars to give, instead of only $100," she declared.

3 Protests Draw Reply By Board

Taxpayer Association Gets Reassurance On Zoning Proposal

DUMP HELD HAZARD

Three communications from the Mamaroneck Taxpayers' Association, one bolstered by a petition signed by 162 Rye Neck property owners, were opened and read at last night's Village Board meeting.

"I'm almost afraid to open my mouth," Building Inspector Perschke commented when called upon to explain his idea for an A to B rezoning survey, to which the association has taken sharp exception.

The 162-name petition protests what residents of the Barry-Halstead Avenue section of the village believe is an attempt to change their zoning from Residence A to Residence B. An accompanying letter signed by Mrs. Anna C. Lay, scored Mr. Perschke for official negligence in not enforcing laws against three-family dwellings in the area.

After stating that the association need not have bestirred itself since no zoning change can be made without a public hearing, Mr. Perschke asserted he had no authority to "barge in on residents to see if they are conforming with all zoning regulations." He maintained nothing can be done about multiple-family situations unless houses permitting them seek to install more than two kitchens.

Mayor B. J. Santoro, calling Mr. Perschke's plan "one that merely calls for an informative survey," assured Rye Neck residents that Mamaroneck "is still a village where law and order prevail and where the governing body takes no major steps without the consent of the governed." He added that the current survey will not only inform the board concerning houses adaptable to three-family use, but will expose existing building code violations.

"We don't know ourselves what we will do after the survey is presented," he said, "So what's all the shooting about?"

The association also filed a complaint against "speeding on Harmon Drive between Revere Road and Idill Street." It asked that a traffic light be installed in the area "since the numerous warning signs are no solution." The matter was referred to the traffic commission for report at the next board meeting.

A third association blast was directed at the village dump on Rockland off Palmer Avenue, which was characterized as a fire hazard. Pointing out that a gas station stood across the street from the dump, within easy range of flying sparks from welfare fires, the letter cited the recent Texas City disaster. "We don't want anything like that to happen here," it stated.

"That certainly has a familiar ring," Trustee Ralph H. Mann remarked.

To Mayor Santoro it seemed that the taxpayer association has a

Meat Dealers Report Price Drop Coming

NEW YORK. (AP)—The N. Y. State Association of Retail Meat Dealers today predicted that retail meat prices will be 10 per cent lower this weekend than last weekend.

The statement was made after association directors were polled individually on conditions in their areas, covering Manhattan, Brooklyn, The Bronx, Queens, Staten Island and Westchester County.

"Beef prices are a little lower," an Association statement said, "but many dealers have not as yet cleared their coolers of higher-priced purchases of last weekend, but many expressed the opinion they will sell carried-over supplies at the same reduced prices as today's purchases."

School Districts Unaltered By City Government Plan, Survey Committee Claims

Neither the Mamaroneck nor Rye Neck school districts would be altered under present plans to establish a City of Mamaroneck co-terminus with village boundaries, it was emphasized last night at a meeting of the Realty Board's city government committee in the board room of the Union Savings Bank.

The Realty Board committee was augmented by an advisory group consisting last night of Robert C. Duncan, John B. Holland, Henry T. Hornidge, Philip D. Wesson, Mrs. John C. Ross and Kirk H. Savage.

According to committee chairman Peter C. Doern, Jr., the projected city would have nothing to do with existing school systems, which would serve the same areas and retain the same personnel. Any conflict between the city government and the school setup will be ironed out at the committee devises its blueprints, Mr. Doern said.

It was brought out from the floor that many small cities receive their school services from agencies they do not control entirely. The concensus was that a city of Mamaroneck could do the same thing without legal or other difficulties.

At a July 7th meeting, reports will be submitted on investigation assignments divided last night among committee members. The tasks assigned are as follows:

Mr. Wesson and Mr. Duncan will estimate the saving to be effected by cutting the proposed city away from the Town of Mamaroneck. Mr. Holland and Mr. Savage will make a similar report relative to separation of Rye Neck from the Town of Rye.

The preliminary report preceding formation of the City of Rye will be studied by Gabriel Wendel, who will confer with Rye officials for complete information and report back July 7.

Charles E. Cornell will report on the obligation of the proposed city government in maintaining county roads and the state-controlled Boston Post Road.

The Moore Act, by which cities obtain tax refunds from the state, will receive careful study for subsequent report by Mrs. Ross.

Strong emphasis was laid on the fact that the future City of Mamaroneck would have its own representative on the County Board of Supervisors. Several members observed that a more responsive and efficient government will result from a centralized community, "even if there are no great tax savings."

The Realty Board committeemen attending last night's meeting were Edward H. Lebeis, Mr. Doern, Mr. Wendel and Mr. Cornell.

Riflers Gain 2nd Place In National Shoot

The Mamaroneck Rifle Club No. 1 recently learned that it had not only won the Southern New York Inter-City League title in the season tournament but also had taken the National Rifle Association New York State championship as well as second place in the national team championship tourney of the country-wide organization.

The local riflemen shot 1530 in their match against the Long Island Antlers, the score being submitted as the basis for the national title. The Minneapolis Rifle Club, champs of the Twin City Rifle League and Minnesota state titlists, carded an identical score but won the national crown since it led Mamaroneck by three points in off-hand shooting, considered the more difficult of the two positions which the national rules required.

Three County Banks Favor Merger Plan

WHITE PLAINS — Merger of three of the County's larger banks into the largest financial institution in Westchester's history, was approved yesterday as board of directors of the three banks met in rapid order and agreed upon the terms which are now to be submitted to the State Banking Department.

Meeting first was the board of Washington Irving Trust Company in Tarrytown, followed by the board of the Bank of Westchester in Yonkers, and last the board of the County Trust Company in White Plains. Following the three sessions a joint statement was issued by Andrew Wilson Jr., president of County Trust, Dr. Joseph E. Hughes, president of Washington Irving, and Henry F. Freund, president of the Bank of Westchester, announcing approval of the merger plan.

In the technical working out of the program, the County Trust will acquire the assets and assume responsibility for the deposits of the other two. All three institutions, which are State banks, are also members of the Federal Reserve System and of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Mr. Wilson, it was announced, is expected to serve the new bank as chairman of the board, with Dr. Hughes becoming president. Mr. Freund, planning for some time to retire, will hold no official position in the new organization. Total capital funds will be in excess of $7,730,000 and total resources, it is estimated, will exceed $120,000,000, perhaps as much as $125,000,000.

See General Benefits

"The proposal was given careful consideration by all three boards of directors who were generally agreed that the plan should work to the best interests of all the communities affected which will not only have the benefit of their present banking facilities, but also the more diversified services of a larger bank with greater capital funds," reads the joint statement issued after the boards had met.

The merged bank will have 18

Class Of 63 Graduated At Bellows

Atomic Energy Subject Of Addresses By Two Senior Orators

MANY WIN AWARDS

Sixty members of the senior class, including six World War II veterans, received their diplomas on the flower-bedecked stage of the Bellows High School auditorium last night at the 52nd annual commencement exercises of the school. Three other class members, all ex-servicemen, were not present, but their diplomas are being forwarded to them.

Highlighting the ceremonies, witnessed by a capacity crowd of parents and friends, were addresses on atomic energy delivered by two outstanding members of the class. Justin T. Gerstle, president, spoke on "A Momentous Birth," while Magdalene R. Perschke's address was entitled, "For The Benefit of All."

"The world is at the crossroads," Magdalene declared. "Down one path lie destruction and world suicide; down the other lie prosperity and peace."

Cleaning Plant Protest Stirs Board Action

The Eastchester Cleaners, Inc., of 707 Fenimore Road, Mamaroneck, will shortly receive a summons from the village police department for creating a public nuisance. A heavy black soot emanating from the plant's boilers has led to complaints from adjoining residents, who charge that it is both a health hazard and a source of dirt accumulation in their homes.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Trustees, Corporation Counsel Anthony Sansone was instructed to proceed against the cleaning firm, which allegedly has ignored several warnings from the village manager and other municipal officials.

The action followed reading of a petition presented by Republican Second District Leader Vito P. Pacchiana and signed by 20 taxpayers of the neighborhood.

Urging the board to "relieve this black menace," the petition asserts that the cleaning concern blows out its boiler tubes, causing soot to settle throughout the area with a baneful results to food, clothing, house interiors and the general health.

"On many occasions we have called on the Eastchester Cleaners to relieve this painful condition," the petition stated. "But all our efforts have been in vain. At times, in fact, our reception was none too cordial."

"They're absolutely right," Village Manager William H. Johnson declared, adding that he had made several inspection tours of the area and found conditions unbearable.

"Newly painted window sills are coated black and I saw a white dog whose hair was darkened with the soot," the manager stated.

Mayor B. J. Santoro, pointing out that the concern clears out its boiler tubes with a patented blower, mentioned a promise by the owners to switch from coal to oil in building up power.

"They promised that a long time ago," Paonessa broke in. "Since then they've gone through three or four coal heaps. You can't go by what they say about coap heaps."

Contending that the company had received sufficient warning, Mayor Santoro recommended that police action be taken and the board unanfmously voted to turn the matter over to the corporation counsel.

A second, though milder complaint was aired against the

Errant Ball Strikes Baby Girl On Head

Two complaints against ball-playing youngsters were registered yesterday with Mamaroneck Village police.

A well-hit ball sailed into her front yard from the vacant lot across the street, striking her baby girl on the top of the head, Mrs. David S. Meiklejohn, 207 Franklin Avenue, told police. Patrolman John Rowan found four boys on the lot and made them re-arrange their playing field in such a way that the Meiklejohn front yard would not be part of the outfield. Injury to the baby was not serious.

A complaint also came from A. S. Faillace of 545 Palmer Avenue, who said boys playing ball in the vacant lot next door had broken glass on his property on more than one recent occasion. Mrs. R. J. Di Figlo, owner of the lot, promised to keep the youngsters from playing hardball in the future.

County Officials Pose For Movies

WHITE PLAINS — Westchester's 43 Supervisors are to turn actors tomorrow for the benefit of the U. S. State Department and for the enlightenment of the world at large.

The right rear fender was torn loose from a car driven by Mrs. Susan White of 26 Vanderburgh Avenue, Larchmont, at 2:10 P. M. yesterday in front of 145 Larchmont Avenue, when struck by another car backing out of a parking space. Operator of the second vehicle was Mrs. Martha W. Poncher of 8 Roosevelt Avenue, Larchmont. No one was injured and no charges or arrests were made.

Veteran, Planning Marriage And Construction Of Home, Gets Board's Helping Hand

M. H. S. Issues Yearbook With Sailing Theme

Resplendent in a bronze-toned cover, the 1947 Mahiscan, long-awaited year book of Mamaroneck High School, arrived late yesterday at the school and was delivered this morning to hundreds of eager students.

Theme of the 1947 annual is based on sailing as the community's most popular sport.

The staff, headed by Editors Joann Golden and Joanne Devlin, request in a brief preface: "For our sakes, please praise in stentorian tones its scanty merit: for our sakes too, please overlook its many faults."

Merits are many indeed. The handsome book, dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Fay O. Allen "because of the devotion and service they rendered to the youth of our school over an extended period of years," abounds in excellent group and informal pictures and covers in brisk and alluring style a year of M. H. S. activities and achievements.

At the close of this morning's graduation rehearsal, the annual rush for Mahiscan autographs began and will continue until hardly a white space remains on the shiny pages of the yearbook.

40th Year Begun By Sheldrake YC

After a brief address Sunday, Commodore R. M. Crosby of the Sneidrake Yacht Club ordered the colors raised to signal official launching of the club's 40th season in Mamaroneck. The ceremony was accompanied by a volley of cannon fire.

Adding color to the traditional boat parade which followed the inaugural were the blue-uniformed, newly organized Girl Sea Scouts of Mamaroneck aboard Mariner Ship Flying Cloud. Their skipper is Mrs. Walter Kryst. Also in attendance the boat ride was a group of girl Sea Scouts from the Mariner Ship Enterprise of Bronxville.

Fleet Captain Len Schlicting led 14 motor cruisers and two auxiliary sloops through the West Basin for a short run in the Sound. Many of the same craft plan to rendezvous at Lloyd's Harbor the weekend of July 4. In August, the regatta committee will conduct an overnight cruise and clambake.

HUBCAPS STOLEN

William G. McQuaker of Larchmont Acres, Larchmont, reported to Town Police at 8:50 P. M. yesterday that two hub-caps had been stolen earlier in the evening from his car.

A Mamaroneck veteran, who promised his girl he would marry her in September, last night asked the Village Board to help him keep faith by allowing a slight departure from building code provisions. He wants to use blocks of 10 inches in building his new home, rather than the prescribed foot-long blocks.

"This is a matter of human engineering," declared Trustee Ralph H. Mann, just before the board permitted the veteran to construct his house of 10-inch blocks from the ground up, where there is no question of earth pressure.

Richard Bonelli of 135 Florence Street hopes to build a one-story bungalow alongside his present residence. An alert young man, he recently got wind of a rumor that a local garage-builder had 900 wall blocks left over. The veteran wasted no time making a deal for the surplus at the rate of seven cents a block.

He explained last night that he would have to pay at least 26 cents for 12-inch block at the local cement works, a loss of $171 plus the price of the 900 bargain blocks.

"An ex-GI like me can't afford to throw away that kind of money," the veteran declared. "I'll have little enough left after settling for the blisters."

He revealed that he had agreed to marry Trudy Acavell of 803 Hall Street, Mamaroneck, sometime this September.

"Here she is in person," Bonelli announced, and his fiancee nodded to the trustees from a seat alongside the veteran.

Recognizing that the marriage was a settled matter, Village Manager William H. Johnson came to the rescue.

"I see no objection," he said. "We are going to provide for 10-inch blocks in our new building code, so he might as well go ahead."

"I move it," Trustee James Jackson volunteered, and a moment later the board had granted the veteran's request, provided he uses regulation 12-inch blocks in the foundation of the bungalow.

Woman Injures Foot In Fall On Ward Ave.

Mrs. William Lanza of 305 Ward Avenue, Mamaroneck, bruised the instep and sole of her right foot when she fell to the sidewalk yesterday after crossing Ward Avenue. She also reported a broken blood vessel in the foot, according to police.

Patrolman John Rowan, checking the spot where Mrs. Lanza tripped and fell, found that a water pipe cover and a flagstone corner are the only two objects above ground level in the immediate area.

Protest Strikes Loom As Unions Resist Labor Curb

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Labor Reporter

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Actual mine shutdowns and calls for widespread protest strikes today marked organized labor's swift and bitter reaction to the new Taft-Hartley Union Control Law, the case with which both House and Senate overrode President Truman's veto, threatened reprisals at the polls against legislators who favored the bill.

Others promised to work for its prompt repeal and for quick court tests of its constitutionality.

Cries of anger and protest came from many of the nation's top union bosses. One said privately that ten years of litigation is in store for organized labor and industry.

At dozen Alabama soft coal mines and ten others in Pennsylvania shut down within a few hours after yesterday's final Senate vote. Three Ohio mines failed to operate early today, and nine West Virginia pits were closed for reasons that were not explained.

A United Mine Workers official in Pittsburgh predicted more coal pits would be closed today. John L. Lewis, UMW chief, remained silent on this development, as well as on passage of the Labor Bill.

The miners begin a regular 10-day vacation Friday. Thus those who have stayed off the job are "jumping the gun" a few days.

There was some scattered talk of a general strike by the more than 15,000,000 members of labor unions, but AFL and CIO Headquarters here minimized the possibility of any such move.

The San Francisco CIO Council proposed a 24-hour nationwide work stoppage in a telegram to CIO President Philip Murray.

Murray made no public reply. But he summoned his 51 member

WASHINGTON — Enactment of the Taft-Hartley labor law over President Truman's veto brought dispatch reactions today of a third party movement and possible Republican loss of the organized labor vote.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) told a reporter he thinks "tremendous impetus" was given the fledgling third party movement by the Senate's 68 to 25 vote yesterday smothering Mr. Truman's veto.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), one of the 20 Democrats who cast their ballots against the veto, said he thinks the President has succeeded in making at least the administration's part of the Democratic Party the Labor Party for 1948.

Executive Board into emergency session Friday to "assess the situation which now confronts American Labor." He asked CIO General Counsel Lee Pressman to confer Thursday with lawyers representing the various CIO unions.

The AFL Executive Council is not scheduled to meet until Sept. 8, but AFL President William Green could call a special meeting any time.

On the political score, both the AFL and CIO served notice that they will be out after congressional supporters of the Taft-Hartley act.

Bevin Favors All-Europe Conference

LONDON, (AP).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, an authoritative source said today, is expected to propose to the French and Russian Foreign Ministers in Paris Friday that the three nations sponsor an All-European Conference on the American aid-to-Europe plan.

A Foreign Office spokesman said that Bevin would confer late in the day with William L. Clayton, U. S. Undersecretary of State, and it was understood they would discuss this proposal at that time.

Clayton, who arrived in England yesterday, met Bevin this morning at the latter's 10 Downing Street, where he conferred for 90 minutes with Prime Minister Attlee and other top British leaders.

GIRL'S BIKE MISSING

Anthony Martino of 567 Forrest Avenue, Larchmont, reported the loss yesterday of a green Iver Johnson girl's bicycle, with no fenders. He said it was removed from the rear of the Mamaroneck Junior High School.

Bellows Gives 63 Diplomas At Graduation

The possibilities of using atomic energy as a means by which man may have life and have it more abundantly are great, she said, but there are also certain limitations.

"In the field of medicine, atomic energy can most quickly aid all mankind," she said. "First in the use of radioactive particles as tracers to give medical science new clues about the way man's body functions. Second, in the ability of atomic radiations to fight disease.

"A great medical use of radioactive atoms is in the treatment of cancer and hematological diseases which attack the body tissues. Physicians treated certain diseases of the thyroid gland with radioactive iodine. Administered to the patient in a colorless, tasteless glass of water, the radioactive iodine goes to its favorite home—the thyroid gland. There is gives off rays which vigorously attack and destroy the disease cells. Oh yes—that glass of water costs $1,600.

"In the field of industry, the applications proposed for the peacetime uses of atomic energy are numerous and conflicting. One pound of uranium 235 is capable of furnishing power equal to that furnished by 1,500 tons of coal or 250,000 gallons of fuel oil. Atomic energy plants in large cities could provide both power for their industries and heat for their homes and buildings.

"One of the major limitations of the use of atomic energy is the fact that it is highly dangerous. During the fission, very intense radiations are given off, so that for the protection of those in the vicinity an encircling shield of many feet of steel and concrete is essential. It is estimated that such a shield would weigh over 50 tons. This factor of weight will rule out the use of atomic power for vehicles such as automobiles, and would also be almost out of the question for any airplane yet built. Its usefulness in driving trains is equally problematic."

The tremendous cost involved in producing and using atomic energy is another important limitation, according to Magdalene.

"Atomic energy is everybody's problem and the best way to solve it is through mass information," Justin Gerstle, highest ranking member of the class, declared.

The peoples of the earth must be taught to live peacefully with atomic power, he said. The aims of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization — to provide for the standardization of the world's text books, the exchange of professors and students between nations, and more extensive channels for information throughout the world—should help to offset the distrust created by the atomic bomb, Gerstle stated. He agrees with Chancellor Hutchins of the University of Chicago, who said, "Education in understanding must become the major occupation of all our youth and the major activity of all adults in their leisure time."

There has been a great advance made in the technology of destruction, Justin declared. Commenting this he said there must be a corresponding culture and social advance.

Justin described the events leading up to the birth of the atomic era. With that birth, a scientific problem had been solved, he said, but with its solution came political and social problems of even greater significance.

There is no defense whatever against the atomic bomb, Justin declared, except, as Major General Groves said, "Not to be there when it goes off." Something of a defense perhaps could be accomplished by dispersing our American cities, but that would require many years, he said. Or we could move underground into natural caves. Neither of these propositions is feasible, the speaker added.

"The remedy," said Justin, "is to increase tremendously the rate of moral progress."

Dr. Alvin W. Hicks, in presenting the class to Raymond T. O'Connell, president of the Rye Neck Board of Education, who awarded the diplomas, said:

"Our parents, teachers, and the community, through the cooperative enterprise of public education, wish to send out from our schools, graduates who are young citizens — thoughtful, generous, and alert to the welfare of mankind.

"This evening we note that the seniors are thinking in terms of vital problems to the nation and the world. Their decision to support the concer fund shows a concern for the improvement of public health, which is currently one of our major national problems.

"Their speeches on atomic energy, its discovery, use, and possibilities show a keen alertness, and desire to understand the imponderable forces of nature which will contribute either to international peace and progress or to universal chaos. We are proud of our seniors of 1947 and feel sure they will take their proper place in society.

"Much we teach by example. The teacher-parents groups, interested civic organizations and the Board of Education all have spent much time in the study of educational problems confronting this school district and community. The people of the Rye Neck School District are showing how a democratic unit of government should work.

"The whole community is an educational force; therefore, the excellence of its out-of-school activities, as well as the formal school program contribute strongly to the education of our youth."

"As a representative of the school board, I wish to congratulate this excellent class," Mr. O'Connell declared.

"I wish also to congratulate the parents, the superintendent, and the teachers.

"Our school system is very much like a large corporation. In that the people of the district are like stockholders. They have a vital interest in what the "corporation" manufacturers—education, the most precious thing in the world.

Acknowledging the importance of atomic energy, Mr. O'Connell nevertheless warned the members of the class that they should not get so expert on atoms that they forget the fundamental things on which life exists.

The following awards were announced by Dr. Hicks:

R. C. Brewer prize of $10 for highest average in regents' examinations, Justin Gerstle, 95.6 per cent.

Class of 1933 English prize of $5 for highest mark in English regents, Cynthia Shaw, 94 per cent.

Following the overture, "Marche Militaire No. 1" and the processional, a march from "Athalia," played by the Bellows High school orchestra under the direction of J. Ellsworth Olsen, the invocation was delivered by the Rev. Theodore O. Fossell, Jr., of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church. The benediction at the close of the program was delivered by the Rev. Arnold A. Fenton of St. Thomas's Episcopal Church.

Other selections by the orchestra included "The Swan" and the recessional, "The Bombardier." The audience joined in singing the National Anthem and the Bellows "Alma Mater."

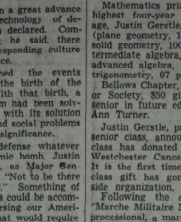
MAKE CERTAIN OF GAME

WITH A HAND so strong that you positively want to be in a game contract — even if your partner's hand is the weakest it could possibly be—half measures are not advisable, or even 99 per cent measures. Your responsibility then is to take action which is 100 per cent certain to get you into a game. You don't want to take even the slight risk, at such a time, of having your partner make a doubtful or bad pass which would leave you shy of a game bid.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠
Pass	2NT

South took 11 tricks at this less-than-game contract after West led the club Q, largely due to East holding the intermediate honors under South's tenaces, and the same number of tricks would have been just as easy to take—with less risk—if the contract had been in spades.

He was terrifically chagrined over North's pass of the 2-No trumps. He meant that as a practical force upon North to choose between the two declarations he had named, either taking the No Trumps in three or taking out into spades. If North had taken it to 3-Spades, South would have bid 4-Spades. If North had been slightly stronger than minimum and had taken the 2-No Trumps to 4-Spades, South would have probed for a slam.

North was really wrong in passing that call, but the more important offense was by South in giving him a chance to make such a costly error. South's correct second bid, if he thought North might have raised his spades on just three-card support, was 3-No Trumps. Then North, with either just three spades, or with four of them in a 4-3-3-3 distribution, would have been sound to pass. But with four trumps and a doubleton, he would have taken out to 4-Spades.

singular talent for offering complaints, but never appeared to worry about practical solutions.

"Take this dump situation," the mayor said. "We've been thrashing it out for the last two years and all we want to do now is fill it in and get out of there. No changes in the personnel of the three institutions, it was reported, are contemplated at the outset. Representatives of all three institutions will be chosen for membership on the board of directors.

The merger plan now goes to the State Banking Department where approval is expected to come tomorrow.

Cleaning Plant Protest Stirs Board Action

Betty Lee Food Products Company of 905 Mamaroneck Avenue after Leonard Chase, co-owner, had announced that the company was outgrowing its present facilities and would move in a year or so to a 23,000 foot tract at Fenimore Road and Fayette Street, Mamaroneck. Betty Lee's major output is a jarred raw herring and cream sauce combination.

The complaint, which concerned a strong odor of onions pervading the plants' immediate vicinity, was issued by Silvio Rainaldi, a Republican leader in the First District. He said many residents of the area had brought the "bad odor" to his attention in the belief that it was lowering the valuation of nearby properties.

Maintaining that some odor is implicit in all kinds of food manufacture, Mr. Chase offered to work with complainants in adjusting any nuisance until such time as the plant moves to its new site.

He asserted that the present site had recently received a clean bill of health by the Westchester County Department of Health. He was quick to add, however, that the official okay would not prevent him from doing his utmost to eliminate whatever offenses are called to his attention.

Joseph Faillace, local real estate broker, got to his feet with the suggestion that Mr. Rainaldi carry future complaints, if any, to Mr. Chase himself. "This pro and con business won't get us anywhere," Faillace commented, adding that he hoped the Betty Lee Company "will stay with us."

The Civilian Production Administration, which has turned down one application by Chase, will be approached again for a permit to build the projected plant on Fenimore Road because of shortage of building materials. Village Manager Johnson assured Mr. Chase that village officials will do everything in their power to aid him in getting the necessary authorization.

A final complaint — one that has been lingering a long time— dealt with the congested traffic situation on Seney Avenue on Sundays and holidays. Entered by Trustee Alfred Weeks, it was referred to the traffic commission.

Mayor Santoro summed up the Seney Avenue problem by stating that regional boatyards would be called on to furnish parking for their customers. He said the McMichael yard had already agreed to lay out a parking lot by next Spring. Meantime, village police will check Seney Avenue closely on busy days in order to keep traffic moving and prevent violations of local ordinances, principally the one against indiscriminate scattering of papers from box lunches.

Alert Passerby Saves 12 In Building Crash

NEW YORK, (AP)—A passerby's warning got three families out of a four-story tenement less than an hour before it collapsed into a pile of timbers and brick rubble late yesterday.

Police said that James Day, a clerk for the Consolidated Edison Company, noticed a widening crack in the rear wall and ran through the building, telling the 12 occupants to get out. Forty minutes later the tenement, at 636 Second Avenue, collapsed with a roar heard for several blocks.

Firemen Score 4-1 Win As Second Half Opens In Larchmont Loop

Two Tallies In Fourth Win; Myrtle Nine Files Protest

The Town Firemen came up with a 4-1 win last night in the opening game of the Larchmont softball circuit's second half. But the losing Myrtles came up with a protest of the game. The complaint is based on the use of an ineligible player and will be taken up at a meeting of the league tonight.

The Firemen, held in check by Carl Mirandi, through three frames came up with the winning runs in the fourth when Lou Preston singled after one was out. Librandi drew a walk and Schmidt hit through the middle to score one. Ianello's life on a misplay sent the second run of the inning traipsing across the dish.

Another tally in the sixth was also due to an error as Schmidt opened the frame with a grounder which was kicked around in the infield, advanced on Ianello's sacrifice and came in as Radcliffe bounced out third to first.

Joe Masto reduced the Fireman lead in the bottom half of the sixth as he singled sharply to left and came all the way when the fielders couldn't find the handle on the ball.

Schmidt also figured in the final Fireman tally as he drove Preston, who had walked and moved up on an error, across the platter with the game's last run in the top of the seventh.

The Myrtles outhit the Firemen four to three but they were taking one strike-out after another. Thirteen of them whiffed, two in each inning except the third when only Anton disturbed the ozone with a futile swipe at the ball.

Riflemen Cop Second Place

Ninety-one league champions from 73 states and the District of Columbia took part in the national championship and the Mamaroneck team, coached by Beresford Proctor and captained by Art Weller, drew the toughest kind of opposition in its national championship match. The Antlers trailed the local squad by only five points and took down third place in the national competition, whipping the River Road Gun Club of the Tri-County League in Ohio by a single point.

Irwin Tekulsky was the top Mamaroneck marksmen in the national match as he hit a 387 total, carding a perfect 200 in the prone position and 187 off hand.

Otto Kolb, Bill Baldwin and Rudy Heiland made up the rest of the foursome and they all racked up perfect scores in prone shooting, but the three-point difference in off hand handed the first prize to the Minneapolis Club.

Each marksman fired 20 shots off hand and 20 shots prone at 50 feet and either metallic or telescope sights were permitted.

The Mamaroneck outfit won silver medals for its second place in the National Team Championships and another set of silver medals for the title in the NRA New York State championships. The latter crown also carried a trophy with it.

NY Yank Tryouts In Pleasantville

PLEASANTVILLE—A three-day Baseball-Tryout School, under sponsorship of the N. Y. Yankees, will be held July 1, 2 and 3 at Parkway Field here, Burt Hammond, Yankee scout from this community, announced today. The tryouts will be held through the cooperation of Jack Garner, of the Pleasantville Recreation Commission.

Sessions, which are open to boys 15 years of age and over from throughout Westchester, will begin at 10 A. M. each day. Players are to bring their own spikes, gloves and suits. Those interested are instructed to write Hammond at 128 Sarles Lane, Pleasantville, before June 27, giving age, experience, height, weight, position, address and telephone number.

Hammond said that Paul Krichell, Bill Salomof and Frank Nolenda, of the Yankee scouting staff, are to be on hand for the drills.

Record Shows Detroit Feels Loss Of Hank

By The Associated Press

Currently closer to the cellar than they are to the top, loyal Detroit followers couldn't help but ponder whether their clawless Tigers wouldn't be in a higher position today if they still had last year's American League home run king, Hank Greenberg.

With Pat Mullin, their early season sensation, slumping to a below .300 mark, no one on the Tigers can match Greenberg's figures.

A year ago today, Greenberg had clouted 16 home runs for the Tigers, almost half Detroit's entire total of 35 this season. That was the big reason besides the brilliant pitching of Hal Newhouser why the Tigers were in third place, four full games ahead of this year's fifth place pace.

The faltering Tigers could put together only two runs on six hits yesterday as they went down to their 10th straight defeat when the Boston Red Sox walloped them 8—2 at Fenway Park behind Denny Galehouse, their recent acquisition from the St. Louis Browns.

The victory enabled the second place Red Sox to remain two games behind the front running N. Y. Yankees who defeated the Cleveland Indians 8—5 at the Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox continued to plague the Washington Senators by defeating them for the ninth time in 10 meetings 10-6 in a night game at Washington.

With Finos Slaughter batting in four runs and Terry Moore getting two hits in his first two times at bat to extend his hitting streak to nine straight, the red hot St. Louis Cardinals trounced the National League leading Boston Braves 6-2 in a night game at St. Louis.

The win advanced the fifth place Cards to within a game and a half of the first division and 3½ games from first place. The Braves' first place lead was reduced to one game over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were idle.

The Chicago Cubs handed Mort Cooper his second straight lacing since the veteran righthander joined the Giants by shelling him from the mound with a four-run seventh and defeated the Giants 6-3. The win moved the Cubs to within a half game of the third place Giants.

In addition to the Dodgers, the Philadelphia Phillies, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were idle in the National League. Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American had a day off

Alpiar Calls Conclave; Ficke Defers Meeting

One on and one off! That's the story of softball league meeting tonight.

Harry Alpiar, prexy of the Larchmont circuit has called an important conclave of league managers and executive committee tonight immediately after the game between the Sportsmen and Americans. The meeting will be held at the clubhouse in Flint Park and one of the matters to be discussed is the protest filed last night by the Myrtles against the Town Firemen.

Meanwhile, Walt Ficke, Mamaroneck loop president, last night cancelled the meeting of the circuit which had been slated for tonight and announced that it would be held Friday at 8:15 P. M. The reason for the cancellation was that several managers as well as members of the executive group could not be present. All managers as well as the executive committee will meet Friday.

Mamaros Stop Manor Squad By 7-6 Count

It took a run in the last of the seventh for the Mamaro softball squad to lick the Halstead Manors recently by 7-6 in a Fireman league fray at Harbor Island.

Scoring steadily through the early innings the Mamaros held a 6-5 lead as the seventh opened. The Manors immediately knotted it up and the winning run, helped along by Duncan McLeod's wildness came across in the last of the inning.

It was inability to find the plate on McLeod's part which cost the Manors the game. He issued 11 passes, five more than Clapp handed out, and only fanned one as Clapp's three. In addition McLeod hit Cruickshank with a pitch, a hit which eventually cost him a run.

The Manors, garnering six hits, concentrated on three base blows as Lemon and Cella smacked out triples. The Mamaro outfit, on the other hand, had a couple of doubles with Ed Stockmann and Al Hanrahan weighing in with the extra base smacks. Hanrahan was the game's top stickman with three singles in as many turns at the platter.

Tonight on New York

Irving Berlin's first tunes were written for Nigger Mike's restaurant, on Pell Street in New York's Chinatown, where many years ago he worked as a singing waiter. The master's latest work is the score of the musical smash hit, "Annie Get Your Gun" starring Ethel Merman at the Imperial Theatre.

Berlin's maiden effort was made when a competing restaurant owner employe wrote a song, Nigger Mike handed his employees an ultimatum someone in his establishment would have to do something about it or the whole bunch would be fired. What Berlin turned out was not an especially good song but it was better than the singing it all. It was entitled "Marie From Sunny Italy" and it was the first of hundreds to bear the signature of Irving Berlin.

Hailed as one of the greatest Negro productions ever offered and holder of the long-run New York record (956 times) for a drama of its type, "Anna Lucasta" comes to the Windsor Theatre for a week starting tonight, as the first play in the new season of Broadway productions at the Bronx playhouse. Mildness will be held Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

In the cast, identically the same which appeared at the Mansfield on Broadway during the latter part of the play's run, will be seen Ray Ingram, Isabella Conley, Georgia Burke, Frank Silvera, Rosetta LeNoire, Claire Leyba, Earle Hyman, John Proctor, Roy Glenn, Maxwell Glanville, Ellen Thompson and Duke Williams. The play's original scenic production will be used.

"Anna Lucasta" has been widely acclaimed as taut and moving theatre, packed with dramatic intensity and yet relieved with many comic overtones. It presents a group of warmly vitalized and human individuals whose universality defies all barriers of race and creed. Written by Philip Yordan, the story is garnished into four Middleton, as large as life, may be seen leering on a billboard with a six-shooter in each hand.

"It Happened On Fifth Avenue," a gay romantic comedy now at the Rivoli, gave Gale Storm her first starring role in a high-budget picture, and a "break" which was five years in coming. For Don DeFore it was the first picture in which he "wins the girl." In this picture, Victor Moore played a him—with 15 changes of clothes. He starts the picture and ends it wearing the patched-up rags of a tramp. In between, he is attired in the finest from the wardrobe of a millionaire. Charlie Ruggles, who plays the millionaire, starts the picture dressed as one, but ends it clothed in Bowery-bought cast-offs.

Aufderheide of 5 Sunset Road, Greenhaven and Spring Lake, N. J., became the bride of Charles Simon, III, son of Charles Simon, Jr., of Spring Lake, and the late Eleanor K. Simon.

The Rev. Thomas O'Donnell performed the ceremony, and a reception followed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin drop-shoulder gown trimmed with pointe de Venice lace and pearls. Her veil was arranged from a matching pearl and lace calot, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, with moss and white orchids.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ellen Simon, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Ellen Schock and Miss Marie Foley, all of Spring Lake, and Miss Helen Place of Rye.

The attendants were gowned alike in shell pink marquisette, fashioned with draped skirts and long sleeves with matching horsehair halos. They carried bouquets of gladioli and baby delphinium.

Betty Farr Medal Presentation Made To Kitty Fortuin

60 or more she points out, and the average age of mechanics is 56.

"Many craftsmen are needed when industry re-tools for war or prototypes new products for peace," she says. "Industry is not preparing for its own survival when it allows our human resources to regress in these fields between emergencies."

For the last 26 years the Bronxville artist-craftsman's work has brought her into contact with the fact of the waning numbers of the finest craftsmen in the country and the reasons for their disappearance, and this knowledge and experience she now places in the hands of the Veterans Administration to help solve one of its numerous problems.

The artistry of the years is now set forever in the medal which Miss Fortuin received last night, unique even to the Chinese style knot tied in its fine white cord.

Miss Fortuin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fortuin, of Mamaroneck, has been vice president of the General Association at M. H. S., Girls' Council president and captain of the cheerleading squad. Member of the Permanent Council and Speech Arts, she served on The Record high school weekly for three years.

Career Girl Finds Small Talk And Housework Boring

By DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I was married at twenty-eight to the one and only man after an interesting career which took me to many new places. I dearly love my husband and my baby, but I am very unhappy because I am so bored with the drudgery of housework, which I find no match for the stimulating associates and the brain work of the old days.

Also, we live in a small town where the women's chief interest is the price of food, the baby's formula, and neighborhood gossip. My husband has offered to change his business and location. But I hate to break him up, because he is doing well and doing what he wants to do, just because I am filling a position for which I was not cut out and doing work that does not interest me.

Should we change? Or will I get over this dread of wasting my life in almost unrelieved boredom? NOT QUITE HAPPY.

Answer: The common belief that all women are born domestic is a fallacy. Not every woman is an Alice-sit-by-the-fire, with a passion for cooking, baby-tending and fancy sandwich-making. There are plenty of women who are lacking even in the maternal instinct and whom children bore them to tears, and who simply loathe everything connected with making a home.

Easier For Men

Of course, these women should never marry, for marriage isn't the simple thing for women that it is for men. When a man marries, he goes on following his chosen occupation and being happy, contented and interested in it; but when a woman marries, she has to go into the kitchen, whether she has any hankering for pots or pans or is allergic to them.

And that gives us so many of the marriages that go on the rocks. The sloppy, slovenly homes in which there is never a clean place to sit down, and a meal that is fit to eat; the sickly babies who die for lack of attention; the ill-mannered children who run wild on the streets, the nagging, fretful wives who are dissatisfied and disgruntled because they doing tasks that they hate.

Yet these women who make such failures of their marriages, because they are put in them, would have made grand successes if they had gotten into the niche that Nature intended for them.

Whether a woman who carves caviar can ever get a kick out of eating plain bread and butter is doubtful. But a woman who marries a good man, who makes her a living and does his best to make her happy, should not ruin his life by trying to make him over to her pattern.

Formal Occasion Is Only Time For 'Madam Chairman'

By EMILY POST

A novice speaker asks. When getting up to speak at a luncheon, whom do I recognize before beginning to speak? That is, do I have to say, 'Madam Chairman' and after that, what?"

Unless it is an extremely formal occasion, you would not recognize the chairman (or president). You, of course, wait (smiling) until the applause has ended and then you naturally look around and say, "Thank you!" Or "Thank you very much," take a deep breath and begin talking.

Kindness To The Bereaved

Dear Mrs. Post: How wrong would it be for a friend to use engraved thank-you cards for notes, cards and flowers sent her when her husband passed away? She insists upon acknowledging all these herself and I thought it would be unnecessary to put her through the ordeal of writing personal notes.

Answer: Excepting for the family of a person in public life where a great many impersonal cards and flowers are sent, engraved thank-you cards are extremely discourteous. It is merely necessary, however, that the widow's personal cards be sent out with a handwritten "Thank you for your kind sympathy" or "beautiful flowers" or whatever written across the top. Someone could do this for her if she is unable to do so herself. But an engraved card is much too impersonal to send to those who have shown any real thought and kindness.

Summertime Grapevine

June has been bustin' out all over (to coin a smart new phrase) for practically a month now, and today the Woman's Page does the same, making its bow with something new that's been added.

Read with us, won't you, and string along for a while. You probably won't suffer much and you may even learn a thing or two. No guarantee, of course.

We felt sorry for the plight of the 150 Murray Avenue School youngsters who were to celebrate the closing of school by seeing the Yankees play. The game was called on account of rain. What happens to 150 lively kids when the weather plays them dirt? We used to love a riddle, one you've probably known for years: what happens to your lap when you stand up? It retires to the rear and bobs up under an assumed name.

Bad luck dogged the Mariners this week, too. Their three-day sail had to be postponed because their ship never did show up! But they had fun on a one-day sail instead. And were good sports about it, in the tradition of the Girl Scouts.

We know a Hayseraldo who took a telephone message for his mother the other day. Told her the voice sounded like it belonged to someone very pretty. Turned out he was right. The voice was that of Mrs. Kurt Schaeffer, the former Barbara Snell, attractive Larchmonter and erstwhile member of the Standard Star's social department, now honeymooning in Vermont with her University of Michigan alumnus husband.

What a rush of traditional June brides, or hadn't you noticed? Charlie Gronberg, affable clerk at the Town Office where many marriage licenses are taken out, likes to act cynical about the whole business, but beneath that grim (?) exterior beats a heart of, well, anyway, a heart. Miss Schroeder gets that look in her kindly eye, too when the radiant young couples come in.

Incidentally, the record shows that no town clerk has ever left that post unmarried. How about that, Charlie?

One of the most modest (and high-powered) women in this community is Jean Brown, officially Mrs. James M. Brown, Jr., recently retired as commissioner of the Mamaroneck Girl Scouts. Jean was honored not long ago at a surprise ceremony, receiving the rarely-awarded Thanks Badge. As usual, she took care of the publicity, and as usual, carefully omitted any mention of herself. When our story appeared, she came in with fire in her blue eyes, demanding (in a lady-like way, of course), to know where we got all that information. From a very reliable source, we told her. As indeed it was.

The Brown family are summering at Sconset on Nantucket Island, one of the loveliest spots in all Massachusetts, and Jean is resting up for another busy season of public relations duties for her Girl Scouts.

Another up and coming lassita who gets around a lot is petite Leyte Andersen, one of the most enthusiastic and energetic of the PTA people. Mrs. Andersen, now an officer in the Metropolitan District, started way back as a lowly publicity chairman for the Chatsworth Avenue School and built up a tremendous interest in PTA work there. Now she's in great demand as a speaker and served as installing officer for other units all over the county this Spring.

We went to see our favorite graduation this week at Mamaroneck High School. Beautiful, it was, and everything went off with such dignified precision, quite a feat with a class of 270. We didn't get to the Bellows graduation, but were told it was very fine.

This is the week our local clubwomen have spent at the various sessions of the General Federation of Women's Clubs' conference in New York. Mrs. Philip Holden has had an especially busy time, taking care of providing pages. We are in sympathy with one leader's statement saying that she was "heartbroken" over the Federation's vote against the bill to admit displaced persons to the United States.

Down Memory Lane

Ten years ago this month In the Daily Times members of the Contemporary Club of St. John's Episcopal Church were off on a scavenger hunt, seeking, among other improbable items, a pogo stick, a man's bathing suit top with sleeves, and a moustache cup. . . Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wimarth received the consolation prize at a bridge party that the Clifford Halle gave at the Larchmont Shore Club, and Gregory Draddy was an usher at the wedding of Beatrice Callan to Ross Mimaugh.

Doris and Dorothy Auer were getting ready for a trip to Poland to study art . . . the George R. Ayres and daughter Shirley were summering on Lake Champlain, and Virginia Mendes sailed on the Ile de France for a European tour.

Fried chicken, corn muffins and hot biscuits were on the menu at the "Dixie Levee" at the Orienta Beach Club . . . Betty Ortlz, Marianne Bevan, Betsy Obriz and Lurana Allison were photographed as they modeled the fashionable beer jacket, decorated with outrageous motifs, in great favor at Mamaroneck High School.

Joan Ohlrogge won three firsts, four seconds, six thirds and six fourths in the junior division of the Westchester Flower Show . . . and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Rathbone moved from Melbourne Avenue to Barry Avenue.

Well, this will be all for today. If there's anything on your mind you think the Grapevine should know about, you know where to reach us, and we'll be glad to hear from you.

Miss Maryanne Meyer of 1 Brook place, Larchmont, is in New Bedford, Mass., where she will be a bridesmaid Monday at the wedding of her Skidmore College classmate, Miss Bernice Soares, to William C. Corey of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Coffin of 724 Soundview Drive, Mamaroneck, took place earlier this month in St. Thomas' Church. MISS DORIS COHEN

Alma Kitchell Bows Out Of Radio Into Television

It was Alma Kitchell Day on the American Broadcasting Company's station WJZ yesterday as Mrs. Kitchell, long-time Larchmont resident and familiar to millions of listeners for her "Woman's Exchange" program, bowed out to a hearty chorus of tributes, commendations and good wishes for the future.

Congratulatory telegrams from Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, wife of the Governor, and a host of other notables, homage from her closest associates in radio and a recording from the General Federation of Women's Clubs conference, left little time for orchidladen Mrs. Kitchell to voice her own sadness at leaving her niche in the world of radio.

But, as she confided a few hours before the final broadcast, it was just as well that way, because Mrs. Kitchell, whose warm graciousness has transcended the air waves for 20 years to find a ready response in others, was sure she was going "to weep—I'm really too emotional."

Mixed with her reluctance to say good-bye after her long years before the radio audience was her delight at the prospect of a Summer at the Kitchell place in peaceful Vermont, free of commitments except for her weekly appearance on the Kelvinator television show which is seen Wednesday nights.

Mrs. Kitchell, whose rich voice has often been heard at the Larchmont Avenue Church of a Sunday, and on many occasions at the Friday evening sessions of the Larchmont Public Opinion Forum back in the wartime days when she used to lead the National Anthem, will commute once a week to New York for the television show.

In the Fall she will enlarge her television activities into a busy and exciting career, entering a new world, as she puts it, a world to which she looks forward with eager anticipation and dynamic energy.

Greetings came on yesterday's program from Jane Todd, speaking in behalf of the New York State Women's Council, from Miss Frances Wilder, who succeeded Mrs. Kitchell as president of the Association of Women Broadcasters, from Margaret Cuthbert, Elsie Dick, Mary Margaret McBride and other of radio's outstanding personnel.

Among the tributes was one which cited Mrs. Kitchell's "unique and unusual" contribution to women's radio programs. The ever-widening television audience now anticipates the same quality in her forthcoming shows.

Combing The Town

Crackers Backfire

A complaint yesterday to town police about four youngsters shooting firecrackers backfired when the complainant's grandson proved to be a member of the guilty group.

F. M. Finsthwait of 11 Emerson Place, Larchmont, reported at 12:58 P. M. that his granddaughter, Jean, had been injured by a home-made firecracker which neighborhood children were setting off.

Police found one of the mischievous youngsters to be Mr. Finsthwait's grandson. No apparent injury had been suffered by Jean. The youngsters were warned about the dangers of firecrackers.

Iron Did The Trick

Some golfers go through a lifetime without achieving what Arthur P. Wachter of the Stonecrest Apartments, Larchmont, did Saturday.

Playing with Jesse Stickel of New York City at the Bonnie Briar Country Club, Mr. Wachter strode to the tee at the 178-yard par three 12th hole, took one swing with a No. 6 iron, and the ball obligingly rolled into the cup.

It was the third hole-in-one reported at Bonnie Briar this year.

Army Transport Believed Sinking After Collision

BOSTON, (AP) — An Army transport and a freighter collided in fogbound waters of Nantucket today and the transport's crew of 70 and 10 troops and a woman were taking to lifeboats in moderate seas, the Coast Guard reported.

Loaded lifeboats from the fast sinking 7,500-ton Army ship St. Albans Victory were sighted by a circling plane as a fog began to lift and visibility reached half a mile to two miles at the crash scene 60 miles off Nantucket.

The St. Albans Victory was in collision with the Danish motor ship Bolivia, 3,500 tons, and the master of the transport reported that pressure from water in the hold was threatening to break up the transport's bulkheads.

The ships crashed about 17 miles southeast of the Nantucket Lightship and both suffered "extensive damage" with a seven foot tear in the bow of the Bolivia.

115.5 Miles Per Hour Sets New Record As Air Scouts Hold Model Plane Meet Here

A new speed record was set Saturday at the Westchester County Gas Model Airplane Meet sponsored by the Larchmont Air Scouts at Manchester Field, Mamaroneck High School, when the Class C model plane of Walter Wagner of Mount Vernon was clocked officially at 115.5 miles per hour.

Flying his home-built model on 70-foot lines, young Wagner's best five laps around pylons were flown 13 seconds flat, a remarkable speed when compared with the world's record of 135 m p h for any class model.

Wagner also won first prize in Class A, (midget engine) with 35-foot lines and timed at 15.0 seconds. George Rabe of 307 Rockland Avenue, Mamaroneck, won second prize in Class A, timed at 16.5 seconds.

Bad luck disqualified two Larchmont boys in the Class B division when Willard Anderson of 10 Summit Avenue, Larchmont broke nine new propellers and David Watt of Larchmont Acres, Larchmont, was plagued with engine trouble. The Class B prize was won by Walter Prink of Mount Vernon.

Eveth Newmann of Scarsdale, who came in second in Class C, won first prize in Class C stunt flying with his flawless control. Albert Borella of New Rochelle took first prize in the Class B stunt flying by excellence in both performance and endurance.

Assisting the air scouts in conducting the meet were Rotarians Hugh Owens, Dr. Alan Van Sciver, and Judge Wesley M. Messersmith who served as official photographer. Rotarian Robert Ingham who is an aviator, served as an expert judge along with Air Corps veterans John Lawrence, Warren Roberts and David Steege. Mamaroneck Village Police Chief Arthur W. Martensen assisted by patrolling the field with his walkie-talkie.

A surprise feature of the meet came when a large military formation flew over Manchester Field. Joe Anchino, instructor for Hudson Valley Flyers, maneuvered W. D. Van Ruskirk's hydroplane over the field during the breath but carefully avoided violating any CAA regulations.

The Larchmont Air Scouts will hold another outdoor meet for gas models in October, Hoyt D. Smith, director of the meet, announced.

Bill To Make Hawaii State Nears Debate

WASHINGTON, (AP). — Congress hears its first statehood debate in nearly two decades today.

The House called up for action a bill to permit the Territory of Hawaii—a group of eight Pacific Islands—to become the 49th state.

Republican leaders placed a "must" tag on the legislation, first introduced in 1920, and predicted the House will pass it before the Fourth of July, the measure had administration approval.

Vigorous opposition is expected, however, principally on the fundamental policy of granting statehood to any off-shore island. But even opponents concede privately they are unable to defeat the bill in the House.

Hawaii has been a territory of the United States since 1900. Before that it was first a kingdom and then an independent republic.

The last states admitted to the union were New Mexico, Jan. 6, 1912, and Arizona, Feb. 14, 1912. Their admission followed Congressional action by two years.

Coal Shortage Grows Acute

PITTSBURGH, (AP).—A growing coal shortage caused the forced idleness of more than 16,000 steel and railroad employes today as the U. S. formally returned the nation's vacation-closed soft coal mines to their owners.

Today the steel industry has little more than a month's coal supply on hand. It has begun to order cutbacks because of the annual paid holiday of the miners which ends July 8—and the four-day walkout of some 300,000 miners which preceded it in protest against enactment into law of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill.

Anniversary Of Price Control Reflects Cost Of Living Rise

CHICAGO, (AP) — On this first anniversary of the end of Federal price controls, pork on the dinner table costs 78 per cent more than it did a year ago, beef and veal 62 per cent more.

Other food, clothing, and living costs in general also have undergone sharp rises, trade and government figures show. Within the year many prices zoomed to record peaks, topping the highs of the 1919-20 post war period.

Market and retail supplies are higher in many lines, but farm supplies of livestock are lower than a year ago and cold storage stocks of many foods are lower. Such commodities as steel, oil, and lumber, still lag far behind demand requirements.

With 1926 prices as a base average of 100, the Associated Press wholesale prices index Friday was 175.64. A year ago the figure was 122.98. This represents an increase of 43.6 per cent in the year. The highest was reached in March at 184.32.

All cost of living items included in the latest index of the Federal Bureau of Labor statistics averaged 16.9 per cent above last June, with major items like food 28.8 per cent higher, clothing 17.3 and household furnishings 16.3.

Specifically, meats in general 52.2 per cent more, fish 16.1, chicken 10.3, dairy products 16, eggs 21.6, fruits and vegetables 12.8, beverages 50.6, fats and oils 58.6, and sugar and sweets 31.6 higher.

Trade groups assert the various indices are unrealistic because, they say, these compute prices during the OPA period on the basis of ceilings when prices in "black markets" were above ceiling.

New Labor Act Ends Strike At Station WFAS

WHITE PLAINS—Three radio engineers on Saturday ended their 11-week strike against Station WFAS and withdrew picket lines from the Roger Smith Hotel and the Reporter Dispatch Building, present and proposed locations of the Broadcasting studios.

A contract with Local 1212, Radio Broadcast Engineers, IBEW-AFL, is being drawn up today and terms of the settlement will be announced when it is signed.

Building Trades Union employes began returning to work today on the addition to the Reporter Dispatch Building. No work had ever been scheduled on remodeling space for the WFAS studios in the building.

The union demanded for the three striking engineers 95 per cent increases in pay, a closed shop and jurisdiction over recordplaying. The Westchester Broadcasting Corporation last November offered a 35 per cent increase in pay but collective bargaining negotiations broke down on the closed shop and jurisdiction demands. On Friday the union notified the management it wished to resume bargaining in view of the Taft-Hartley Law barring closed shop provisions in new labor contracts. Agreement followed and pickets were withdrawn at 12:20 P. M. Saturday.

During the strike there was no interruption in WFAS' broadcast schedule.

Boys Admit Series Of Petty Crimes

Three boys, each about 12 years of age, apprehended Friday afternoon by Detective Chauncey Smith of the town police after they had cut down a dogwood tree on the property of Mrs. W. S. Dickson of 129 Rockland Avenue, Larchmont, admitted the theft of $6 from the basement of another home earlier in the week.

The boys told police that they broke a cellar window in the home of Dr. Paul A. Naef of 194 Hickory Grove Drive and stole $6 from a metal box in the basement. Earlier in the week they had broken windows at the Girl Scout cabin on Harmon Drive, they said.

Police notified the parents of the offenders, leaving disciplinary action up to them.

Two Larchmonters Suffer Injuries

Two incidents in which two persons required medical treatment were reported by Larchmont police yesterday.

John Lohsen, an employe of Mrs. V. A. Burger of 280 Boston Post Road, Larchmont, had 14 stitches taken in his right arm yesterday at New Rochelle Hospital. After finding himself locked out, he pushed his arm through the window of the kitchen door at 1:28 A. M.

At 12:20 A. M., Mrs. Eva Aiken of 2026 Palmer Avenue, Larchmont, was struck on the head with a beer bottle. She was taken to New Rochelle Hospital by Larchmont police where she was treated for cuts on the left side of the head by Dr. J. C. Baldwin. Mrs. Aiken did not name her assailant and told police she did not want to press charges.

Bus System Assured Of New Permit

No Opposition Voiced To 10-Year Service At PSC Hearing

NO CHANGE IN FARES

Granting of a 10-year permit to the County Transportation Company to continue service in the Village of Mamaroneck under the present rate schedule seemed virtually assured today following a public hearing Friday at the Public Service Commission's offices in New York at which no opposition was voiced.

H. M. Olmstead, a member of the commission, recorded all testimony at the hearing for presentation to the full membership. Announcement of the decision by the commission is expected this week.

Representing Mamaroneck at the hearing were Corporation Counsel Anthony Sansone and Kirk Savage, president of the Shore Acres Property Owners Association, neither of whom opposed the continuation.

The company conducts a route in the Village of Mamaroneck for the benefit of Shore Acres residents and commuters from outlying districts. Fares are set at 10 cents or three tokens for 25 cents for adults. At the suggestion of Trustee John Withers, the Mamaroneck Village Board recently endorsed a 10-year extension on those terms, despite a heated protest by Robert Montgomery, president of the Young Men's Republican Club of Rye Neck—bolstered by the written opposition of two other local groups who claimed that local residents were entraining for New York from the Rye Terminal due to what they felt were exorbitant fares in the village. Montgomery charged discrimination against the village and insisted that the company be forced to charge a five-cent fare in certain areas.

It was brought out at a May meeting of village trustees that the municipality had no choice but to accede to the company's extension request, since no other concern is properly equipped to furnish the same service.

Russell A. Bell, company vice-president, stated this showed that the company is doing its utmost to treat all municipalities alike, regardless of relative profits. Declaring that the Mamaroneck complaint has its roots in a situation over which the company has no control—"you have to establish service zones somewhere"—he said Shore Acres residents and others in outlying areas simply happened to be in the wrong zoning pattern. Corrective steps are not out of the question, he admitted.

The County Transportation Company operated under a deficit during the war years in many communities. Its business in Mamaroneck today yields less profit than the turnover in New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, Yonkers, Port Chester, and other municipalities, according to Mr. Bell. He stated that, in itself, this would not warrant preferential rates and emphatically asserted that the zoning formula drafted by the company is fair to the great majority of county residents.

Charge Of Assault Leads To $5 Fine

David H. Clark, Jr., of 6 Colvin Road, Scarsdale, was fined $5 by Judge Patrick J. Hughes in Mamaroneck Police Court after pleading guilty to a charge of third degree assault.

Clark was arrested at 9:09 P. M. yesterday by Patrolman James Hughes on the complaint of Christ Picos, proprietor of the Blue Haven Inn, who charged he was struck about the face by Clark as a result of a dispute with him over the amount of Clark's bill. He was released last night in $25 bail to appear this morning in court.

Also fined $5 was James Scott of Dayton, N. J., for driving without a license. Fined $1 each for parking violations were Mrs. Henry Kurzrok of 211 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck; Everett Young of 200 Wagner Avenue, Mamaroneck; Mrs. E. H. Guest of 614 Sylvan Avenue, Mamaroneck, and Samuel Lightbody of Florence Street, Mamaroneck.

VIOLENCE CONDEMNED

JERUSALEM, (AP).—Continuing acts of violence in the Holy Land, which claimed the lives of four British soldiers over the week end, earned the condemnation today of the United Nations Palestine Inquiry Commission.

RENT CONTROL BILL SIGNED BY TRUMAN AS STEP BACKWARD

TWO DIE WHEN PLANE HITS HOUSE—Two men were killed in a burning plane which crashed into this house at Canaan, Conn. They were identified as Hubert Ansin of Brookline, Mass., and Fayette Card of Lakeville, Conn., both 32. The plane, running into difficulty soon after taking off from the Canaan airport, burst into flames as it struck the roof, setting the house on fire. Occupants of the house escaped injury.

President Brands Act As 'Plainly Inadequate'

WASHINGTON (AP).— President Truman today signed into law an extension of Federal Rent Controls but said its provisions "are plainly inadequate."

In a message to Congress Mr. Truman said he was confronted with the choice of "this bill or no rent control at all."

"The new law extends Federal controls eight months and permits landlords to negotiate rent increases up to 15 per cent in exchange for leases running through December 1948.

As between the rent control voted by Congress and none at all, the President said:

"I have chosen the lesser of two evils."

The new Act, Mr. Truman said, "marks a step backward in our effort to protect tenants against unjustified rent increases arising out of war conditions." He added:

For millions of families it will result in substantial increases in rents which until now have been held at reasonable levels. The cost of living is already too high without this addition.

"Without any rent control millions of American families would face rapidly soaring rents and wholesale evictions.

"We are still suffering from a critical housing shortage. Even this inadequate law represents fewer dangers than with the complete lack of rent control."

Mr. Truman said he was forced to sign an unsatisfactory price control last July 25 "in order to prevent complete destruction of price control."

"But," he said, "effective price control was impossible under the new law."

The President said that if he had vetoed the rent bill the prospects of effective measures being sent to him was "negligible."

"I had no choice but to sign," Mr. Truman added.

Mr. Truman, who protested the "virtual elimination of controls which have prevented the diversion of building materials from homes to non-essential and deferrable construction."

Dog Owners Again Offered Free Anti-Rabies Clinics Scheduled To Open July 8

Anti-rabies dog clinics will be conducted free of charge in Mamaroneck, Larchmont, and the unincorporated area during July, three local veterinarians announced today.

All dog owners in the three communities are urged by County Veterinarian E. M. Kennelly to take advantage of the free clinics in order to keep Westchester clear of rabies, only two cases of which were reported last year. During 1946, more than 50 per cent of the dogs in the county were vaccinated, with highly beneficial results, Dr. Kennelly said.

"Since rabies still exist in Long Island and New York City and we have in the county a number of summer colonies, many of the Summer residents coming here from infected areas may bring in a contact. So let's keep the dogs immunized," he stated.

The county veterinarian, disclosing that 47 Westchester communities will hold free July clinics, emphasized that a dog receives only one vaccination whereas a human being bitten by a rabid animal must take one dose a day for 14 days.

Dr. Sol Shapera, assisted by Julius Smith, will conduct clinics on July 8, 15, 22 and 29 in the police garage beneath the Municipal Building. The hours are from 7:30 to 9:30 P. M.

In the Town of Mamaroneck, Dr. Maurice E. Sterling is in charge of the clinics, which will be held in the Weaver Street Fire House from 9 to 10 P. M. on July 8 and 10.

The Larchmont Fire House will be the scene of the Larchmont clinics July 8 and 10 from 7:30 to 9:30 P. M. Dr. Shefford Miller is in charge.

The three free clinics inoculated a total of 1,508 dogs in 1946. Mamaroneck led with 800 or 38 per cent of its dog population while Larchmont also treated 38 per cent of its dogs—a total of 475—and the unincorporated area vaccinated 233 or 29 per cent of its total.

None Injured In 3 Crashes Over Weekend

Three motor vehicle accidents in which no one was injured were reported over the week-end in the Village of Mamaroneck, resulting in the arrest of one motorist charged with driving on the left side of the street.

Arrested was Edmund F. Larkin, 50 of New Rochelle, who was travelling east on West Post Road near Rockland Avenue at 3:15 A. M. Sunday when his auto collided with another car coming from the opposite direction. Operator of the second vehicle was Abraham Zaft, 40, of the Bronx. The left wheel, fender and headlight of the Zaft car were damaged, while the left front fender of Larkin's car was dented. Larkin was ordered to appear in court Wednesday morning.

The left rear fender and body of a car owned by Robert Peecnia of the Bronx, which was parked at East Post Road and Taylors Lane, Mamaroneck, were damaged when struck in the rear by another car operated by Mrs. Betty Henninger of 49 Mendota Avenue, Rye. The right front fender of the Henniger car was dented.

At 11 A. M. Saturday, Mrs. Minerva O. Erdwurm of 151 Fenimore Road, Mamaroneck, was backing her car from the curb on Mamaroneck Avenue in front of the Finast Store when her auto collided with another vehicle. Operator of the second vehicle, which sustained a dented right rear fender, was Norman D. Waters of Taylors Lane, Mamaroneck. There was no damage to Mrs. Erdwurm's car.

Federal Agencies Face Cash Famine As Fiscal Year Ends

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Congressional fiscal experts went into a huddle today over ways of financing Federal agencies as the fiscal year neared an end with only one of 12 regular appropriation bills cleared by both the Senate and the House.

Only two of the departments will have cash with which to operate past midnight unless something is done quickly. The two are the Treasury and Post Office Department, whose appropriation bill for the year beginning tomorrow is on President Truman's desk.

Both Senate and House have passed a stop-gap measure allowing unfinanced agencies to incur expenses in anticipation of their pending appropriations. But there is a question whether they can actually meet their payrolls.

A Senate resolution permitting them to make actual expenditures is before the House Appropriations Committee. Some members of that committee are reluctant to accept it because it permits expenditures at the rate contemplated in the President's budget estimates, which the committee hopes to reduce.

The 11 snagged appropriations bills are the main business before Congress as it goes into the last scheduled month of its session.

But as the lawmakers turned into the one stretch, Republican leaders in the driver's seat for the first time in 15 years voiced pride in their record and confidence that they will overcome the many hurdles still on the road to planned adjournment July 26.

In the nearly six months it has been in session this Congress has enacted laws of far-reaching import at home and abroad—it has cut a pattern for sharp reductions in government spending and it has given President Truman many of the things he asked for even while turning a deaf ear to some of his other requests.

But it still has several major "must" bills on the calendar.

Probably no other Congress in recent history has come to the end of a fiscal year with as few departmental appropriations bills out of the way. Only one of the 12 regular supply bills has reached the President.

U.S. Returns Coal Mines To Owners

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Government lowered the American flags over more than 2,500 soft coal mines today and formally restored the pits to the private owners after 13 months of Federal operation.

The contract dispute which prompted Federal seizure of the mines May 22, 1946 still was unsettled, however, and another strike at conclusion of the current 10-day vacation July 8 is a definite prospect.

With the Government stepping aside as operator, it will be up to the owners themselves to make terms with the miners. If they don't succeed by July 8, the miners are expected to stay home.

The Government gives back the mines in the same condition it found them 13 months ago—empty of workers.

Shipyard Strike Spread Expected

NEW YORK (AP) — John Green, president of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America (CIO), said today the strike of CIO shipyards was expected to spread at midnight tonight to include between 90,000 and 100,000 more union workers in Atlantic, Gulf Coast and Great Lakes yards.

Beets For Canning Should Be Golf-Ball Size; Keep 'Em Crimson Red For 'Putting' Into Jars

By JANE FAYNE
Westchester Lighting Company

Beets for canning should be no larger than golf balls, so now is the time to "putt" them into jars! The greens? Well, let's keep this a healthful and sporting proposition and eat them, freshly cooked. To continue this verbal course: "Par" for each pint jar is 12 to 15 baby beets.

Few vegetables are better adapted to the canning jar. Sweet or sour, plain or pickled, in whatever guise the beet is served, however, it first must be cooked. Canned beets, precooked and ready for finishing touches, are a real convenience on the storage shelf.

Since the beauty of beets is in their color, a main goal, in canning as in cooking, is to keep them crimson red. This is one reason they are canned small, for young beets are more red of heart.

Other precautions against bleeding are: (1) to leave one and a half inches of stem attached in preparing beets for precooking; (2) to scrub carefully so as not to break the skin; (3) to leave the root intact during precooking; and (4) to avoid over-piercing in testing for doneness.

Instead of boiling, beets can be precooked by steaming or in a pressure saucepan. Whatever the method, they should be cooked just until skins can be slipped off like a glove. Then cover with cold water until cool enough to handle; but do not let them stand in cold water.

As soon as beets are skinned and while still warm, pack them in clean hot jars, whole, sliced or diced. (This writer finds that when some beets are unsuitable, slicing or dicing and mixing those of deeper hue tend to distribute color fairly evenly through the jar.) Add a half teaspoon of bag salt (cooking salt without starch) to each pint; and, if desired, one tablespoon of vinegar. Add boiling water to the level recommended by the jar manufacturer; adjust the covers and process.

Processing times have had a downward revision this year and the new schedule for beets are as follows: In pressure cooker, at 10 pounds, pint jars, 20 minutes; quart jars, 25 minutes. In a boiling water bath, one and a half hours for either pints or quarts. When the jar is opened, any non-acid vegetable canned in a boiling water bath should be boiled for 10 minutes before it is tasted.

Dill pickles, inexpensive to make, brighten and add relish to a meal. They can also double on the hors d'oeuvres tray or in a salad. To make beet pickles, cover precooked, small whole or sliced beets with spiced vinegar and simmer for 15 minutes. Turn into sterile jars and seal immediately, or into clean hot jars and process for 10 minutes in a boiling water bath.

(Staff Photo)
COOPERATIVE CANNING, as illustrated by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lehman, of 262 Rich Avenue, Mount Vernon. After cutting off the tops, Mrs. Lehman turns the beets over to her husband.

Here's the recipe for Spiced Vinegar:

Three cups vinegar; one cup water; two cups sugar; one stick cinnamon (broken); and one tablespoon each of white mustard seed, whole cloves, allspice, and cooking salt.

It was the custom of the ancient Greeks to offer beets on a silver platter to the god Apollo. While modern mortals may not consider this vegetable exactly "food for the gods" it is true that in the canning jar it is hard to beat the beet!

Office Of Rent Control Grants 58 Increases In County In Five Months

WHITE PLAINS—The office of rent control has allowed "hardship" rent increases to 58 Westchester landlords in the past five months, it was reported Friday by Joseph E. Kelly, Westchester area rent director.

The 58 grants were made out of 230 applications, involving 316 apartment units, while 172 applications involving 911 units were denied.

The activity has stepped up tremendously this month, Mr. Kelly's figures show, as more landlords take advantage of the provision in the rent control regulations. Where only 25 applications were filed in February, with none granted, 105 applications were processed this month involving 852 units, and 41 were granted for 282 units.

In May 34 requests were received and eight allowed, in April 41 were filed and eight granted, and in March 25 were filed and one allowed.

When a landlord asks for a rent increase under the hardship clause, he submits records of his operating loss in 1946 compared with operating loss or profit in any two consecutive years after Jan. 1, 1939. He may cite increased costs of fuel, repairs, services, taxes, etc. The application is examined by an accountant attached to the staff and the rents are compared with rents charged in comparable units.

The tenant is not notified until the increase has been granted. Tenants may ask for a review, Mr. Kelly said, but only one such request has been received.

NEW YORK, (AP), — The Regional Office of Rent Control said it had granted 5,644 rent increases in the past four months in a five-state area without giving tenants an opportunity to oppose landlord petitions because "the income and expense figures submitted by the landlord must be treated as confidential by this office."

Better Movies For Children Urged By Many

SCARSDALE — A nationwide demand for better children's movies is shown by a poll conducted in 30 states, the Scarsdale Motion Picture Council announced today.

Convinced that film fare offered at children's shows is not what it should be the Scarsdale group, composed of representatives of 30 local organizations, sent questionnaires to 100 Councils.

Sixty councils, representing 2,226 organizations in 55 cities and towns, replied.

Of these, 46 considered films shown for children unsatisfactory. Four gave no opinion, and 10 said movies were satisfactory when chosen through the children's film library or under council supervision.

Asked if special children's shows in their communities were well attended, 45 councils answered affirmatively, seven said shows were poorly attended, and eight had no answer.

Another question asked dissatisfied councils to suggest kinds of movies to "improve the situation." The replies:

"Simple human interest stories," 42; "rollicking adventures," 32; historical drama, 28; travel films, 27; horrorless mysteries, 27, and romance of science, 19. commerce, 16, industry, 15, and agriculture, 14.

Fifty-three councils liked a list of children's favorites which the Scarsdale group thought would make good movies. A librarian in Grand Rapids, Mich., sent in her own list as did students in an Evansville, Ind., high school. Seven councils did not comment.

"You need not turn to the classics for filmable children's stories," said Mrs. William D. Moyle, 18 Mount Joy Avenue, council president. On file and classified according to general subject and age group, the council has a list of more than 100 stories which it feels would make good movies. None the council believes, would entail elaborate plans or large financial outlays by producers.

Dog Helps Cop Offer A New Safety Lesson

NEW ROCHELLE—An accident in which he was himself involved gave Sgt. Alfred T. Brueckner, commander of the police traffic division, additional ammunition for his campaign for safety.

Brueckner reported a cocker spaniel darted into the street, apparently intending to run alongside the motorcycle the officer was riding, and crashed headon into the wheel.

Pointing out that Patrolman Harry Golden is still suffering the effects of a similar accident six weeks ago, Brueckner urged that all dog owners see that their pets are properly leashed or trained not to dart into the street.

De Gaulle Predicts U. S.-Russian War

LILLE, FRANCE, (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle warned Frenchmen yesterday that Russia—dominating two thirds of Europe—had attained a status of rivalry with the United States that threatened to end "sooner or later in gigantic conflict from which no people and no man on earth will be spared."

De Gaulle said in a public address that he did not believe Russia was ready to embark "in the near future on a violent conquest of the world" and said that France, despite the "weakness" of her present government, had a vital part to play in organizing Europe as an "element of equilibrium" between Russia and America to preserve peace.

Marshall Plan Faces Snag Through Soviet Proposal

PARIS, (AP)—The possibility that Britain, France and Russia might agree upon common action on the Marshall Aid-Europe program faded rapidly today as talks between the Foreign Ministers of the three nations entered what authoritative sources described as a "critical stage."

French sources said the Foreign Ministers were confronted with a virtual impasse and saw little hope of their reaching agreement.

The gulf between their views was emphasized yesterday when Russia, in a surprise announcement, declared her opposition to any "all embracing" economic program for Europe.

The announcement, broadcast from Moscow by the official Tass News Agency during a recess in the negotiations, asserted that the sole purpose of the conference was to decide the amount of financial aid needed from America and whether such aid could be obtained under the Marshall plan.

It rejected French and British proposals for special international committees to administer overall aid as unwarranted interference in the domestic affairs of European States.

The French and British delegations asserted that the Russian approach would wreck the Marshall plan and with it all hopes of American aid in rebuilding the continent. Both these sources foresaw quick collapse of the talks if Russia persisted in the stand outlined by Tass.

Dollar Supply Low, British Cut Imports

LONDON, (AP)—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, announced today that Britain would cut imports of tobacco, gasoline and newsprint during the year beginning tomorrow to conserve her shrinking dollar supply.

In addition, Dalton told the House of Commons, he would ask Parliament for authority to put an import duty on motion pictures, if necessary, to economize in foreign exchange.

Dalton said a severe shortage of dollars was developing "in almost all parts of the world."

"In particular," he added, "our own line of credit under the Anglo-American loan agreement is being drawn upon much more rapidly than we expected. It is our clear duty to take further steps to close the gap between our necessary imports and our exports."

France Bares Plot To Form Dictatorship

PARIS, (AP)—Interior Minister Idouard Depreux announced today the discovery of a "very widespread" plot by an organization known as the Black Maquis to overthrow the French Republic and set up a military dictatorship.

Depreux said Gen. Guillaudot, Inspector general of the French Gendarmerie; Maj. Jean Loustaneau-Lacau, a Rightist resistance leader who before the war acknowledged that he was a member of the anti-republican Cagoulards (Hooded Ones), and other officers and civilians had been arrested.

A usually reliable semi-official source said earlier that four French Generals and several civilians had been implicated.

Depreux told a news conference that whole units of the French Army might have been involved.

He said first details of the clandestine organization of former Right Wing resistance leaders, monarchists and Vichy collaborationists became known to French police forces late in 1946 from police informers.

Had Plan Completed

Through undercover investigation, Depreux continued, police uncovered numerous details.

He said the Black Maquis had drawn up a complete "Blue Plan" for first filling Frenchmen with fear of a "Communist Putsch" and then stepping in to set up a "provisional directorate" of military leaders, patterned along totalitarian lines. The Maquis were French underground fighters during the war.

Depreux held a long conference this morning with Premier Paul Ramadier concerning the purported conspiracy.

French Press Agency dispatches from Rennes, in Brittany, named M. De Vulpian, 47, editor of the weekly France Vivante and president of a veteran's organization, as among those arrested, together with Marc Jacquot, a wine merchant of Montigny, and the Rector of the Abbey at Lambaile, in Brittany, identified only as Raul.
