SUPERVISORS STOPPED BY STONE WALL

AN ADAMANT stand has apparently been taken by administrators in Albany on the State's "one-third" formula for the operation of the State Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences in White Plains.

The County has exhausted all possibilities of getting a more favorable arrangement from the State for the continued operation of the institute, which was established in 1946 as an experiment and since continued temporarily year after year under full State sponsorship.

The latest bill before the Legislature, which is assured of passage by Governor Thomas E. Dewey's support, is basically the original Dewey plan of the State, County and tuition charges each providing one-third of the operating costs, and the State and County each footing 50 per cent of any capital costs.

Westchester officials initiated numerous conferences and meetings, including one with Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore, and completed several studies and surveys of the institute problem. Numerous recommendations were made in Albany without success. The only concession won by Westchester after weeks of labor was that a "charge-back" provision would be inserted in the bill providing that some counties of outside students attending the institute would pay a proportionate share of Westchester's one-third operating expense.

The County, when word was received that the bill would expire Aug. 31 unless financial action was taken, urged that the State continue full sponsorship of the school. Next, the County requested a one-year delay in settling the entire matter. A request that the State assume two-thirds of the burden and the County one-third was the next approach. Finally, the County urged that the institute be put in the same class with the State agricultural institutes, for which the State has expended or is planning to spend $21 million.

All these suggestions were turned down. Now it appears that the Governor Dewey submitted his original proposal, that was the State's "take-it-or-leave-it" proposition, except for clarification amendments. Westchester was placed in the awkward position of either accepting the plan or seeing the institute die or move to some other county willing to accept it. In the words of the Board of Supervisors' Legislation Committee, the County has been "presented with an accomplished fact."

The Legislation Committee, feeling that no other course is open, has recommended that Westchester go along with the State on the bill, although it was careful to avoid making a formal endorsement. The committee gave its indirect approval by urging the board to press for a minor amendment providing that any State spending deficits be shared equally by the County and State.

We are sorry the Supervisors have been forced into this "dis-easy" mood and are giving up the battle for a more favorable arrangement with the State. They apparently were faced with a stone wall impossible to crack at this time.

Between now and next August, when the County will be asked to take over the institute under the new bill, Westchester will have to thrash out the problems of financing and other numerous headaches arising from Westchester's first venture into the education business. An immediate problem will likely be the provision of about $60,000 as Westchester's share of one year operating expense. Future problems could involve capital expenditures totaling more than $2 million.

The Legislation Committee says there are many who are ambitious about the County entering the education field, and the committee members themselves said they are harboring doubts on the wisdom of such an undertaking.

These attitudes and the financial and operating problems forecast a spirited battle when the board has to take its acceptance vote.

TWO AIMS WORTH ACHIEVING

REPORTS from Albany indicate that the school election bills requested here to make a referendum on bond issues or other school propositions possible at general election time have swept through the State Senate but have run into opposition in the Assembly Education Committee.

There are two bills, instead of only one. The first bill would make it possible for the Board of Education to set the same rules for a school election as those of a general election. That left defects in the system, and the second bill was introduced to enable the submission of school propositions on the same basis as local laws, thus clearing up the problem of registry lists and other special regulations concerning school voters.

Eliminating the necessity for special school elections would have money that is needlessly spent in setting up election machinery and it would encourage and result in wider participation in school elections.

Those two aims are worth achieving.

DRIVING LICENSE

Question: Would you kindly tell me, if a person has been driving on a junior license for the past year and on their eleventh birthday does this automatically become an adult license or do you have to go to the Motor Vehicle Bureau to get a new one?

Answer: The junior license automatically becomes a senior operator's license when the licensee becomes eighteen. A new form must be filled out when the licensee desires and regular senior license is sought.

FAMILY MEETING

Question: We have a family circle and would like to hold a picnic in June. Since we come from Westchester, Brooklyn, Long Island and New Jersey, I was wondering if you could tell me where we may hold our picnic. Is there any way I could get a booklet on picnic sites for Westchester and Long Island?

Answer: The County Park Commission in the County Office building has a splendid booklet describing all Westchester Park sites. You can write the New York State Conservation Department for a map and folder called New York State Parks which include Westchester and Long Island. The State Department of Commerce has beautifully illustrated material on vacation spots which will help you make up your mind where to hold your family picnic. Write to the last two departments in Albany. The State Conservation Department of New Jersey in Trenton will have the same service.

APPROPRIATION

Question: Will you kindly insert this in your columns? To all those who have been kind enough to use my cards, Christmas and holiday, to send to the little old child in hospital and to other sufferers I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for their gifts.

Virginia Tins is one of several women who make seraphs from the beautiful cards we all send to throw away after Christmas and birthdays. She can use any amount, so send your cards to her at 122 William Street, Westchester.

INVENTIONS

Question: I would appreciate your advising the correct way to word wedding invitations when the father of the bride and the father of the groom are deceased.

Answer: In wording invitations you need be concerned with the bride's parents only, since the groom has nothing to do with sending them. Your invitations should read: Mrs. John Doe requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter Mary Margaret to Mr. Richard Roe, Saturday, the 20th of April at 4 o'clock, St. John's Church. It is the mother of the bride, Mrs. John Doe, who is giving the wedding.

The Story Of Stalin - - No. 5

WITH FOR AND CHURCHILL

While Stalin remains brought in being a new social order in Russia during the 1920's, he was watching the work of another dictator beyond his borders. Hitler, who was following the old political maxim, "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em," when he succeeded in taking power in Germany, was following the same path with the Nazis in 1932.

It was the spark which touched off the powder keg. Hitler's forces were released to their lightning war against the West. Perhaps Stalin was buying time while he studied up his own game. Perhaps he hoped that Russia could sit out a second world war and emerge as the strongest nation.

Lenten Thoughts by Our Neighbors

Labor Leader Holds Problems Are Solved By God's Teachings

By GEORGE C. GRIMM Secretary-Treasurer, Building and Construction Trades Council of Westchester and Business Representative, Plumbers Local Union No. 36, A.F.U.

I have recently been reading an article by the minister of an old and historic New York church in which he points out that one of the great problems of humanity is the inability of people to get along with each other.

I was very much interested for I have been thinking a good deal about this very question myself. If there is any one endeavor in which the ability to get along with others is more important than in any other, I believe it would be in the field of labor relations.

Several years ago the Building and Construction Trades Council was engaged in a bitter labor dispute with a large and influential organization in Westchester county. Day after day the battle continued, growing more bitter with each passing day, with never any indication that a settlement was possible.

Finally, through the intervention of a third party, a meeting was arranged. At this meeting progress was slow, but when the bitterness was laid aside and replaced by a genuine desire on the part of both parties to come to an understanding, the matter was quickly resolved.

This experience made a very deep impression upon me. Here we had accomplished, in a few hours of friendly negotiation, what we had failed utterly to bring about during many days of arduous contention.

Of course, were serious problems to arise on the part of those concerned who were widely divergent, it is often difficult to prevent an attitude of stubbornness from creeping in. There is a great deal of truth, however, in the saying "If you meet the other fellow halfway, he will usually be glad to come the other half."

Building Stepiac High School a Thrill The building of the great Stepiac High School in White Plains was a very thrilling and satisfying experience for the officers and members of our Council, and a perfect example of what can be accomplished when people have a will and determination to work together.

We had been eagerly awaiting commencement of construction on the new school. The building industry and business in general, at that time had slumped badly and this large project meant many jobs for our workmen. We were very much concerned when we received a report that the building of the school was to be delayed—possibly a year or more.

Communicated with Cardinal Spellman to find out if the report was true, and his Eminence promptly invited our officers to meet with him in New York to discuss the matter. At that conference, the Cardinal told us that due to the generally wretched condition of the building industry, the project would be delayed.

Price on Culprit A reward of $50 for the apprehension and conviction of the person responsible for the theft of a stealing wild waterfowl from his property at a Winding Brook Drive, Larchmont, has been offered by Alan Carney who breeds and raises the fowl.

Mr. Carney, who holds a federal permit to raise the birds, said that six of the fowl have been recently, including geese and a brace of wood ducks. Some persons, probably young boys, he said, have been helping them selves to the fowl whose wings have been clipped.

Mr. Carney hopes, if the theft can be stopped, to raise a sizeable stock in his refuge including pin-tails, mallards, widgeon and wood ducks.

STREETS FLOODED AS 3-IN. RAINFALL RILES TWO RIVERS

Storm Drains Are Strained By 36-Hour Downpour, Cellars Wet

Swelled by more than three inches of rain in the last 36 hours, the Sheldrake and Mamaroneck Rivers swept over their banks this morning and flooded a large portion of the Washingtonville section in Mamaroneck and a short stretch on Barry Avenue near First Street.

At the same time water from the heavy rainfall seeped into manhole covers, put into operation burner equipment out of commission, and caused manhole covers to be lifted from the pavement as sewers were unable to handle the volume.

The rain hitting its peak last night, totaled two inches between 8 P. M. today in addition to the 1.26 inches which fell in the 24 hours ending at midnight.

The driving downpour, whipped by winds at moments as much as 15 miles per hour, sent the Sheldrake River over its banks early this morning and flooded Putnam Road between Hoyt and Waverly Avenues including Plaza Center, Waverly, and Northrup Avenues.

The Mamaroneck River, up to noon, had caused trouble only on Barry Avenue between First Street and the river itself. G. Dewey Reschke, head of the Mamaroneck Village Public Works Department, said at noon that the usual trouble spot in Columbia Park had not yet been affected although the Mamaroneck River, which was still rising, might flood that section before the waters subside.

The floods hampered operations at the Mamaroneck Village incinerator and some of the sewage collected in Mamaroneck this morning was being taken to two Larchmont incinerator for disposal.

The "Bellows" students would hold that Bellows should not centralize at one of the other schools. The students' side of the centralization question is based on a preference for a small school. According to the editorial, the students want their high school regardless of what their parents think.

BRITAIN BRANDS ATTACK ON PLANE AS BRUTAL ACT Shooting Down of Bomber Termed Aggression Involving Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told Communist Czechoslovakia today that American authorities in Germany "will take the measures necessary" to prevent further border attacks by Czech aircraft.

Two communist MIGs, flying out of Czechoslovakia, entered the U. S. plane while it was on a regular patrol flight. The pilot parachuted to safety. The note was delivered in Prague by Ambassador George Wadsworth.

It charged the Czechoslovak government with "fabrication of facts" in connection the U. S. plane's raid on Czech territory. Radar established beyond question, the U. In a tough words, the British high commissioner for Germany, Sir G. Morrison, said that the British government would not be deterred by the Russian action. The note continued: "The Czechoslovak government's refusal to cooperate in the investigation of the incident is a serious matter. The American aircraft did not cross the Czechoslovak border as the American zone of Germany."

SECOND CHANCE

Question: Can you help me? Where can I get information on registered nursing? I have had one year of training and have a good scholastic record. I was expelled from the school will I be allowed to re-enroll? Will another school accept me? Nurses are so badly needed. I think if given another chance I will make a good nurse. I have completed two years of college. I would like to lose the one year of training I already have.

Answer: The standards for conduct of nurses, particularly while in training, are high. But that does not mean that a girl who is sincere in her wish to be reinstated cannot be helped from the profession. A talk with Mrs. Whitmore, of the Nursing Association of Westchester, County Office Building, White Plains, will show you on your way. Since you show you have courage, why not apply personally to the schools of nursing acknowledged? A frank acknowledgment of your deficiencies, with a promise that they won't be repeated, should win you your favor. A girl with so much toward her, R. N., and good grades in her school, will be welcomed in a nursing program in most schools, start with the school you prefer and tell your story.

ANSWER: For each of the first five years, paper, cotton, leather, silk, wood, five appliances, iron, copper, electrical, china, silver, steel, linen, jewelry, crystal. Others are: 20, china, 25, silver, 30, pearl, 35, coral or jade, 40, ruby, 45, sapphire, 50, gold, 55, diamond, 60, diamond.

SOCIAL SECURITY - Question: A relative of mine held in position covered by Social Security from June 1943 to June 1947, her earnings for the four years being so much. She has since worked at other jobs covered by Social Security. She was sixty-five on Aug. 3, 1948. Now she is seventy. Can she receive and collect an old age Social Security pension. How much, approximately, can she hope to receive? R. I. R.

ANSWER: These special computations of old age insurance benefits can be figured only by the Social Security office. The office has all the data and its own scale by which it determines the right amount for each individual. Call the nearest office for computations of benefits.

MORE SOCIAL SECURITY - Question: Would you let me know if this is true, that although we have been paying national insurance we could not claim any pension if we did not become U. S. citizens? E. M.

ANSWER: It is not true. Citizenship is not required to receive the benefits of the old age insurance program, or Social Security. The payments you are making now will be returned to you when you reach sixty-five as a part of your old age insurance benefit.

Mount Kisco Shares Bellows In Tourney Final; Rye W. P. Score

Contest Deadlocked 16 Times Before Panthers Yield, 61-53; Garnets Buy NT For B Title

A battling team of Mount Kisco could not be denied at the County Center Saturday night as they threw off the defending champion Bellows squad in the last four minutes to annex the State Section One Class C championship. Bellows, gunning for a third consecutive four straight titles, remained locked in the fierce one-on-one count down until the pressure was on them the very best Panthers cracked under the tension. A near-capacity crowd turned out to watch the Section One Tourney final and they cheered wildly through the opener as Bellows and Kisco matched buckets and fouls in one of the finest games ever played in the tourney. Kisco, co-holder of the Putnam-Washington League crown, had a terrific night in its outside shooting and out-scraped the slightly taller Panthers.

Heighty Gus Cy Reson's passing kept Bellows in the thick of the battle all the way, but after the game had been deadlocked for the 10th time—16-16—Bellows' Jerry Kisco cracked yielded one point, and then trailed off nine straight points to blow the game wide open. Bellows tried to recover with three minutes left but could not ground out the front spot. Bellows then wound up its campaign with a 14-4 regular season record and 15-4 overall. Kisco had one of its finest seasons, victory in 18 of 20 games.

Four Men in Doubles
Mount Kisco's win was accomplished without any one man showing any four players hit double figures in their campaign. In the opening round, Jim Harkins, their leading scorer, finished the season, was top man again with 17 points. Bill Burton, who finished 15 and 10 in 16 games, was the big and little of the Kisco squad, center Ed Anderson and point-guard Jerry Kisco. George Benson and Larry Baird tallied 11 each and Bob Judd had 10 in 16, leading Bellows' career.

MONTE MORSE MORE
The crowd couldn't have asked for a tighter game but Bellows, for about the sixth or seventh time this year, was operating far below its proper form. The Panthers made the offensive basket after rebound but could not convert them. They worked inside for most of their goals and, once forced from long range, rapidly slipped off the picture. Bellows averaged 10 of 19 fouls but Kisco converted 15 of 17. The foul shooting was more than enough to give Bellows the lead. Little St. George got five points early in the game to a 7-5 lead but Baird's number was 10 and he had 10 points for Kisco to close the game.

have expressed themselves in their high school newspaper against the proposal for centralization of the Mamaroneck and Rye Neck School Districts have shown greater wisdom than their adult fellow citizens. Whereas it has taken 20 years for the American people as a whole to realize that centralization of administrative and government powers is not a cure-all, these high school students have been quick to perceive the dangers. The students speak only too truly when they point out that in a large school they "would really be lost in the great mass"; for we have found that the same is true in government. As we have learned by experience that expanded and centralized government agencies tend to become deaf to the plea of the individual citizen, who has lost personal contact with them, these students have pointed out toward that through centralization, they will be deprived of a measure of their privilege of knowing their teachers personally. On March 9 the committee which has been investigating the merits of the centralization proposal placed considerable emphasis on listed "intangible factors". One of these was asserted to be that, except for Barry Avenue School, the size of the schools would be materially changed. It is difficult to see how this is so in view of the fact that the plan, as set forth by the committee, contemplates that all senior high school students, in both districts, would attend one school, namely, the one in Mamaroneck. In fact this statement about the size of the schools, made in point 1 of the list, seems to be directly contradicted by point six, which states that the Senior High School would be enlarged.

Most of the intangible factors cited by the committee seem to be nullified, or greatly discounted, by the simple statement of the Bellows students. It might also be added, that as far as Mamaroneck is concerned, most of the advantages cited by the committee, including these intangible factors, seem to consist simply of asserting reasons why they should be so disadvantageous. For example, we are told that the class sizes would be kept at "present levels", the school would "not be erected according to the same system", and the tax rate for Mamaroneck residents would not be materially different. It is asserted that the reason for inter-school rivalry would be broadened, and the districts would become more neighborly and friendly, no reason is given why this cannot be accomplished without centralization. No reason is given why "more effective use of classroom space" would be accomplished by centralization.

The committee appears to concede that there would be little or no financial advantage to residents of the Mamaroneck district. The plan appears to be to construct new buildings or additions in the Mamaroneck district, rather than most all of the schools have excess capacity (and necessary reserves) and fill them with an overflow of students created by the annexation of the badly overcrowded Rye Neck District. Since the new buildings would be financed by the combined districts, and filled by students of the present overcrowding in Rye Neck, the residents of the Mamaroneck District would find that they had spent a lot of money, or incurred a lot of debt, but had remained, so far as reserve school capacity is concerned, where they stood at the beginning.

It is stated that approximately $1,000,000 in new construction would be needed in the Mamaroneck District. If there is no centralization, as we have pointed out, the $2,500,000 needed for Rye Neck. The cost of the new construction required if centralization takes place does not appear to have been given. It is a fair bet that it would be a sum smaller than the total cost produced by adding the two together, unless it is intended to use up the existing surplus capacity in Mamaroneck. This would seem to indicate that we would have spent our money and be worse off than before.

Finally, it does not appear to make good sense, if centralization does take place, to exclude the Greenhaven section, where the property values are high. It is a little simply amount to an assumption of the burdens without the benefits.

HELP THE BIRDS
The time is fast approaching when many birds will be coming here from the South and looking for a place to nest. We think that people should build more shelters for the birds since the increased hunting and taking away many nesting sites.

Birds give pleasure to many people and we should do all we can to save and help them. Many people think that bird houses are hard to build but with the proper pictures and instructions they can be quite simple to build. We have two helpful booklets that we would like to send free to anyone who sends us a post card asking for them.

If people wish they may call MA 9-3116 J after 3:30 P. M. and have the name and address for the booklets. We will appreciate your help in our bird home drive this Spring.

Boys Take Cooking Seriously In Popular Junior High Club

There is always a waiting list for membership in the Boy Cooking Club, according to Robert W. Gingsberg, dean of boys at Mamaroneck Junior High School, supervisor of the club program.

The boys who are assigned in groups of three to work in individual kitchens take their cooking assignments seriously and are interested in exact measurements of materials and precise following of recipe directions.

Desert making, especially layer cake, is the boys' first choice of baking assignments. During the term they will make biscuits, cup cakes, cookies, candies and luncheon dishes.

The extension of opportunities in the field of homemaking to boys is a trend in high school education in many parts of the country, according to Dr. Helen Loring Long, principal. "Cooking is personal grooming and family living as well as in cooking are being offered in increasing numbers."

PRAYER FOR TODAY As Spring dawns in a moment after five o'clock this afternoon, God of all creation, I whisper my personal gratitude for the tenderness that is in the air for the brightening days, for the return of life to the budding plants, for the warmer breezes certain to be harbinger of pre-Summer joys. Most of all, I salute this enlivening season for the word and magic of goodness and revival, of restoration, of the very demonstrated proof of immortality.

KOREA AWAITS OFFENSIVE Is a U.N. offensive coming in Korea? It has been more than a month since command of the U.S. 8th Army changed with the retirement of Gen. Van Fleet and the accession of Lt. Gen. Taylor. Gen. Taylor said last week in Seoul: "I have all the ammunition I need for my mission."

What Gen. Taylor's mission is, naturally, is not being spelled out for the enemy. Soon the frost will be out of the ground after a hard winter and then war will be on the Spring thaw. When the ground dries again will come offensive time. It has been three and one-half months since Gen. Eisenhower toured Korea as President-elect and much of his time since inauguration has been spent in huddles with military chiefs. It goes without saying that Korea has been an uppermost topic.

Up to now this winter the main Korean activity has been on the political rather than the fighting front. The cold has curtailed ground warfare, but now probing raids by each side are growing in strength. The United States approved a build-up of the South Korean Army from 14 to 18 or 19 of them are reported to be at the front and ready.

Just last week Radio Peking of the Chinese Communists broadcast that United Nations troops in Korea were being "tensed up" for a Spring offensive.

Of course, the first 1953 offensive in Korea may come from the North—through the Communist side. But many military observers believe that contact U.N. air bombardment has kept the North Koreans and Communists off balance and that the daily destruction has prevented an accumulation of supplies necessary to mount an offensive. The Chinese strategy has evidently been aimed at holding the line at Seoul, for psychological as well as military reasons.

However, as the weaker moderates, the signs militate in the long statement in Korea is nearing an end. Something may happen soon and it may be started by our side.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE A BULWARK

ANOTHER warning of the menace of Communism was given in Westchester this week and with it a reaffirmation of the sources of strength in our democracy. The warning was repeated at the annual dinner of the Seaside Town Club by Paul G. Hoffman, Federal Reserve Board member and Cooperation Administrator in Europe unquestionably known where he speaks. Mr. Hoffman said the menace of Communism is greater now than it has been at any time. He did not elaborate as to what he meant by the menace of our society.

Mr. Hoffman listed as his selections of sources of strength in our free society: capacity to create wealth, widely and equitably distributed; ability to deal with the menace of competition, diffusion of decision-making, and voluntary organizations. Most vital of all on his list, said Mr. Hoffman, was the last and he declared that he included trade associations, civic clubs and group activities.

Well here in Westchester we have the most varied possible fields of volunteer activity. And, indeed, they do strengthen our democracy. There are the nurses' aides and the charity solicitors, the organizers of help for the handicapped and the workers on club committees. Church guilds, Girl Scouts, alumni clubs, welfare agencies and veterans organizations—all the ways of this devoting time to nonselfish pursuits.

Almost no one in Westchester has not participated in some volunteer work. It is a good time to renew that activity or take on added duties in a good cause to help our way of life.

FEWER FORESEE SLUMP

A MONTH ago a business writer reported opinion about evenly divided among executives on whether or not there would be a slump in the latter half of this year. Now the same reporter writes that more businessmen look for prosperity to hold through the year.

The switch to confidence is said to be growing and to be based on several beliefs. One is that world tension will keep this country's defenses spending high and another is that the more important consumer buying will keep up.

Profits appear to be running ahead of last year and confident statements by industrialists and financiers are increasing. The Federal Reserve Board reports the consumer is more confident now than a year ago. The aggregate of individual debts has risen to almost $74 billion but does not cause worry.

All things are relative and talk of a continuing slump is more a never ending moon than just another effect of inflation.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By W. H. G. Central Press Writer The case of a man allergic to money was described at a College of Medical Evangelists convocation by a noted physician. Wonder what the name of this ailment could be—annual-walletitis?

Zedek Dunkopf says his billfold is too sensitive. He'd welcome a little green rash there occasionally.

Always on the lookout for occasions, Grandpa Jackkins hopes to market a product that positively contains no cholesterol.

Scientists connected with Chicago's National History museum up and bodily announce that it is so such thing as a shamrock. Gosh, the fear they could have been so bold that announcement!

Whom promised reform that Auburn takes place is March which always comes in the winter but seldom goes out like a lamb, and he'll soon be out like a lamb, in bed.

A famous old golf course, we read, is to be converted into a housing project. The housing units will differ from direct diggers' work care of that.

The Counselor

INNOCENT VICTIM

Question: "I'd like to know if a married woman living with a child recognized by the father would be the birth published in the paper automatically, being she is in an institution in Westchester, N. Y. that kept in secret? If he husband does not recognize it, he obligated to take this child who isn't his and does it take his name?"

Answer: News of birth is usually sent to newspapers by parents or friends, and not reported automatically. If a man is willing to take his wife back after he did promise to cherish and love her to the end of her days—why then he draw the line at accepting the responsibility of her weakness. The poor baby will have a difficult life through no fault of its own or its mother's husband. The security of a father by name may be the child's chief asset in the court of law.

This husband should seek the guidance of the sympathetic staff of the Family Service Society or Catholic Charities in working out this important problem. Family relationships and problems are given careful consideration in search for the best possible solution.

FARM WORK

Question: "Could you please tell me how I could spend a vacation on a farm working in a farmer's home? I don't want to go to one of the bean-pickers' camps I have heard about but would like to see some money and still be outside a lot this summer. Who do I write to?"

Answer: An office has been set up in New York City just to get boys like yourself and the farmers of the State together to get in summer job problem. Write to it, 10 Lewis, The Farm Credit Administration, State Employment Service, 50th Street and Madison Avenue, New York City. Information and application forms. These jobs are available daily, usually in the northern part of the State. The kind of work you are given to do depends on how old and developed you are, and of course your experience, if any, you have had.

NEW CLOTHES—OLD STYLE

Question: "I have some interesting ideas for our store here. I want out of style, that we'd like to donate to the Holland Food Relief Society. How can we get in touch with you? Do you know who would pick it up?"

Answer: The address of the Holland Food Relief is 12 Wall Street, New York City. It has reports this group would be glad to have your goods. I can phone call to William H. Cross which I drive for victims of fires, floods and disasters. Please the stock is quite depleted at times, this service is always eager to accept new wear in apparel for the next emergency. AMERICA GOES FORD!

From coast to coast folks are swinging to Ford—America's "Worth More" car. It's worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!

ONLY V-8 IN ITS FIELD! Ford's high-compression 110-h.p. V-8 is the type of engine more and more car makers are swinging to.

HIGH-COMPRESSION SIX! Ford's 101-h.p. Six, with free-turning overhead valves, is the most modern Six in the low-price field.

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY! A curved one-piece windshield and car-wide one-piece rear window give this Ford visibility unlimited.

YOUR CHOICE OF 3 GREAT DRIVEN! Only Ford in its field offers Fordomatic Drive, Overdrive and Conventional plus the gas savings of the Automatic Power Pilot.

CENTER-FILL FUELING! Prevents "nose stroke" on the car's back and makes filling up easier from either side of the pump. Shorter pipe leaves trunk space for extra suitcase.

POWER-PIVOT SUSPENDED PEDALS! They give easier pedal operation, make foot space of the entire foot space. No dusty, drafty foot holes.

NEW MIRACLE RIDE! Not just new softer springs, more responsive shock absorbers and a wide front tread, but an entirely new concept of driving comfort.
