Pale Pink Wedding Gowns Suggest One-Color Nuptials

NEW YORK—If you're planning to say your vows this April, May, or June, it's time to plan your wedding gown, and the gowns of others in your wedding party.

This will be the year of the pink bride, according to top designers in the field, but happily not a deep pink on the order of the short-lived vogue for yellow, blue, green and pink brides a few seasons back.

The new pinks are so pale and delicate, they maintain the overall effect of the traditional social white with just an overtones of radiant pink to color the cheeks and flatter the wearer.

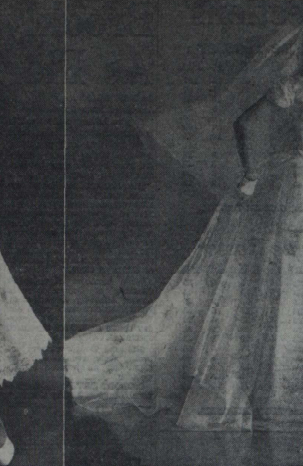

Blush pink nylon tulle, its pale color still further diluted by the open weaves of the lace, is a favorite confection. For Summer weddings, white organza is laid over blush pink for a similar effect.

Harmonizing Color

The rosy cast of such bridal gowns has a further advantage in that it lends itself to very effective all-one-color wedding. The bridesmaids, for example, all in a darker shade of rose, even shocking pink, the mothers in dusty-rose, and mauve-pink, respectively.

he has the silent blessing of embassy men... The Indians are now trying to perpetuate a unity against the British...

"Although English, according to the constitution, is to continue for only 10 years...

There is more animosity against Hindi, the supposed official language, Dr. Gideonse said...

"As a result," Dr. Gideonse said, "the Indians are more active in India and more more actively represented than they are in the United States..."

"We are looking our eyes in the mirror," he said, "and we are taking full advantage of it. We are watching another China in the making..."

"In the country as a whole, the communists are not strong, but they are making inroads among the educated and gaining footholds in the colleges and universities..."

Dr. Gideonse explained that he probably got his most critical views because he was sent to three weeks in Calcutta where the students were rioting...

"The University of Calcutta," he said, "was a distinguished institution under the British, is now degenerating into a second-class institution..."

"Calcutta University, like other colleges and universities, exploit their students, then wonder why they are turning Communist..."

"The Voice of America is important in India," he conceded in reply to another question...

SAFE DRIVING BY Mamaroneck, N. Y., is the objective of a program initiated by Village Manager William H. Johnson...

Dr. Gideonse told a talk in aid with one college head, he said that a pamphlet, which was being distributed at the gate...

"After he read the first two sections," Dr. Gideonse said, "I told him to stop right there and that I would tell him what was in the third section..."

"He described the atmosphere at the colleges he visited as one of the most depressing he has ever seen..."

"The work of the Christian missionaries," Dr. Gideonse said, "has left a deep impression in India through the cultural impact of the missionaries..."

"The result is a philosophical vacuum into which the Communists are stepping with an example of this, in one Moscow college I found that half of the teachers were Communists..."

Asked about students who return after a period in colleges in this country, Dr. Gideonse replied that he had not been appointed in them. He found too often, he said, that they either had no prospects for the United States or a resentment against the United States...

As to arms for Pakistan, he replied to another question, Pakistan is a matter of American foreign policy, "There is no reason," he declared, "why we should worry about Nehru's thoughts in the matter..."

Dr. Gideonse was introduced by the Rev. David Blackbush, assistant minister of the Larchmont Avenue Church...

Famous Red' In Hospital Police 'Wait In Line' To Quits

BRONXVILLE—Theodore Pensch, forty-two, of New York, suspected of 100 murders in Westchester, remained under police guard today at Lawrence Hospital. He is being treated for a bullet wound received when he tried to break away from police in New York City yesterday. His condition is not serious.

Eastchester Police, credited with tracking down the suspect, were in New York City today, "hitting up a case" against Pensch. Westchester police debarred him from the green light to question Pensch about unexplained burglaries in their files.

Pensch, an economist, is shown to police as "The Famous Red" partly because of his red hair. Inside his apartment, under a pile of papers, he found a number of pawn tickets. Eastchester Police learned of Pensch's activities after tracing some of the tickets to a Manhattan pawn shop.

When Eastchester officers went to his apartment yesterday, with New York detectives, Pensch barricaded himself in the room, then tried past them and tried to flee. He was called by a police bullet.

Yanks Losing Spring Games; No Saps, They Eye Fall Rise

By RIP WATSON Associated Press Sportswriter

Don't bother to shed a tear for the stumbling New York Yankees, who are having trouble winning baseball games these days.

Casey Stengel's young men lost their fourth straight game yesterday as the surprising Philadelphia Athletics whipped the world champions 5-0 for their seventh win in a row.

But before you start consigning the Yankees to a second division berth, it is worthwhile to note that only two of Stengel's boys, Roger and World Series, operative were in the March, starting lineup.

Supermarket

today is toward quieter sections. He concluded that the only logical use of the entire property is for retail purposes, with proper safeguards.

Recommendations
He urged that certain conditions be tied into the granting of the variance, such as a screen of trees, shrubbery or fence along Tompkins Avenue and along both side lines, parking in front so that people will know as they approach the building whether parking space is available, proper lighting that does not glare out of the property, proper grading and paving, use of pedestrian sidewalks, no curb parking and no entrance of exit from Tompkins Avenue.

These conditions and any other reasonable ones would be met by A & P, he said, and further they would permit the use of the parking area by the churches on Sundays.

Mr. Farber explained the new plans, pointing out that the shape of the building has been altered to bring it 60 feet from Tompkins Avenue and a 10-foot strip for screening purposes has been established along that street. The building has been turned into an L-shape so that deliveries and garbage removal would be from the side, thus answering another objection to the location. Tompkins Avenue has been cut off completely for access purposes, he pointed out, and the drive in the front entered.

Says No Other Place
There is no other place in Mamaroneck for a store, he stated. They must get Mamaroneck stay in the area. "There is no other location," he said, "and we have tried to meet your previous objections."

Mrs. Florence Healy, 408 East Post Road, Miss Mary Fallon, 447 East Post Road, Mrs. Louis J. McDonald, 447 East Post Road, and Eugene McCann, 437 Halstead Avenue, all spoke in favor of the variance. Mr. McCann, who has been driven to shopping out of town because of conditions at Mamaroneck Avenue.

Norman White, 312 Union Avenue, objected several times to the rehearing, asking how many times people could be brought back to oppose the same thing. He warned that even after Tompkins Avenue is shut off from the property, it will eventually want first pedestrian and then car access from that street.

Mr. R. Simmons, 118 Beach Avenue, Arnold R. Mandler, 310 Beach Avenue, and others expressed similar feelings. They felt that the first bad accident on the Post Road, that the necessity of maintaining police there on busy days would result in additional traffic on Tompkins Avenue.

Travis Taylor, 307 Beach Avenue, Warren Mallick, 307 Beach Avenue, said he felt the owners were trying to get too much out of the property. He objected to A & P might move out of the village if they don't get the variance. Mrs. Clarence Juchfield pointed to the traffic jams on Mamaroneck Avenue in White Plains when shoppers stop to turn left into Mamaroneck, and said conditions on the Post Road when the same thing happened would be much worse.

Mr. Farber, however, countered this by pointing to the traffic jams at Mamaroneck and Barry Avenues which in Chicago assure traffic jams.

Suggestions that the Village take title to the 10-foot strip along Tompkins Avenue met with the objection from Village Chairman Claude J. McLaughlin, who said that it would increase the Village's liability in case of accident and

More to Be Heard

Due to the size of this discussion, William F. MacDonald, representing the Methodist Church, and several others on the committee met in the hall. At the end of the meeting, Mr. MacDonald asked that the group have the opportunity to show the new plans to the entire body, then present their reply. Hunter McLaughlin had requested that the hearing be put over since he was unable to appear to represent the Moore family who own property near from the Methodist Church and Tompkins Avenue for whom he appeared in opposition in November.

The board said that it would hear from the Methodist Church and Mr. McLaughlin at the next regular meeting on April 1. This will be an open hearing. Conrad Jenne, board chairman, said.

CAREER possibilities were under discussion last night at more than 100 residents of Mamaroneck attended a conference last night at the Mamaroneck Avenue School, on opportunities for future vocations. Among those

NAACP Career Counseling
Stresses Plans For Future
Planning for the future was the keynote of a career conference last night at the Mamaroneck Avenue School under joint sponsorship of the Mamaroneck Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Youth Council of the branch and the Urban League of Westchester.

Nine representatives of the profession, and higher education were present and available for questioning by the more than 100 students and parents who were present.

Walter Ludwig, of the Department of Citizenship Education at Mamaroneck High School, welcomed the audience, and stated: "Not only is it a career, but it is a career, the statement sounds contradictory, but when we think it over, the meaning is obvious. Don't wait a job unless it is the sort of work you want most of all. Most young people will settle for a salary or security, both important things, but there are other satisfactions we must look for."

Registered Nurse Spoke
Mrs. Iris Brice, a registered nurse who is a member of the Westchester Administration, and has studied here and in England, emphasized the satisfaction which comes from serving people, and outlined the requirements for various nursing and medical service positions. She urged the students to attend schools which have state and American Medical Association approval.

Conrad A. Johnson, a practicing architect of New York, described the many fields in which an architect may practice and advised the students to attend school to specialize in architecture. He stressed the love of people and the ability to teach were considered as the main prerequisites for the student who hopes to enter the field of education, according to Miss Barbara Mason, former school teacher of New Rochelle, who is a supervisor. She pointed out many advantages of the teaching profession and proposed that there will be a teacher shortage for some years to come. Miss Mason stated, but the Negro teachers went new to the Northern States, but that their number was increasing, and that the way was being made easier year by year.

Miss Malda Sprinker, a business agent for the Dressmakers Union, a section of the International Ladies' Aid Society, told the girls of the need for the garments made in this country originate in the New York area and invited the young people present to investigate job possibilities in her field.

Miss Sprinker said, "The garment union offers its members a chance to learn to live with people, to share responsibilities, to learn and increase their skills and to get the greatest work of their life." She stated that the New York State Bureau of Employment, through its skills and knowledge needed in the clerical field, and said that there was an undersupply of trained people.

Rangers Plan Drive Here For Wildlife

Douglas Curtin, secretary of the Mamaroneck Rangers Club, announced today that plans are being made for local participation in National Wildlife Week, which will be observed annually by the National Wildlife Federation and its State and local affiliates.

The theme for 1954 will be water pollution control, and the National Wildlife Federation has announced six objectives toward control. They are:

1. Promotion of adequate water pollution laws in every State.
2. Adequate appropriations for State pollution-control agencies.
3. Adequate sewage treatment facilities in every community.
4. Adequate waste prevention or waste treatment by every industry. Additional research where industrial waste problems have not been solved.
5. Prevention of all pollution through self-control and co-operative programs of the Water Pollution Control Division of the U. S. Public Health Service, authorized by the Tail-Barkley Act of 1946.

Mr. Curtin said that the club has additional material on pollution available to interested persons who can obtain information by calling Mr. 9-2152 after 7 P. M.

PRAYER FOR TODAY: For the sake of my peace of mind and soul, dear Father of us all, keep me ever mindful that I have been born into a world that has sunshine and darkness, health and sickness, love and hate, joy and sorrow, birth and death, and that my life must be a constant adjustment of that which is pleasant and that which is not. Help me to face up to the responsibility of truth, including truth to myself rather than foolish self-deception. Thus may I deal with life's opportunities and responsibilities and its tasks with the maturity made possible by my faith. "The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom then shall I fear?"

Safety On High Speed Roads

TURNPIKE and thruway officials of four states are reported to be making a serious effort to find a uniform traffic code upon which to base their new laws. The four states participating in this endeavor are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

One of the most confusing differences in traffic regulations on the four superhighways, as conceived and planned, is rooted in the types of signs, markings and lighting. There are signs of widely varied shapes and colors used to designate similar regulations. Speed markers, perhaps the most important signs on this network of roads, in some instances do not denote any changes of limit, and the transition from speed zone to speed zone is not clearly indicated.

The regulation of high speed traffic on these thruway roads for uniformity in the interest of safety. With cars moving at 60 to 70 miles an hour for long periods of time, drivers do not get much opportunity to read messages on signposts. Definitely the type and shape of the signs should have a significance that could be recognized in a moment no matter in what locality it existed.

Lack of uniformity in traffic codes and in enforcement policies is not peculiar in establishing one code for all than our municipalities have had. It took years to show any progress here at all, and even today we still have different regulations in various communities to handle the same problem—speeding, for example. There are radar systems, electrical timing devices, speed zones, zones unmarked for miles or with limits which change every few blocks, zones with two speed limits posted on the same road.

The thruways and turnpikes are being built for speed and safety. Basic design and type of construction make possible the speed. Safety must depend to a large extent upon the human factor, but it can be expected that the new superhighways will eliminate from their regulations every potential cause of misunderstanding or error on the part of motorists.

If safety engineers of the four states are able to come up with workable plans, we ought to adapt their proposals in our municipalities.

Two-Way Radio On The Wrist

IT MAY be that, before long, Mom will "ring up" Pop while he's out for a walk or riding home on the train, to tell him to bring a loaf of bread. He'll get the "call" on his wrist radio.

Or young Joe may be willing away the time in the bleachers, waiting for the ball game to get going, chatting with his sweetie a mile away.

The police and firemen, in some communities, already have these tiny radio conveniences—and it surely won't be long before the rest of us sport them.

We may carry them on our wrist or in our hat or in our pocket or handbag.

In Atlantic City a policeman has evolved a radio set two inches square which fits nicely into his cap, with aerial attached to the badge on the cap. It weighs less than five ounces with batteries. It's one inch thick and uses four tubes. For firemen there's a two-way helmet installation, which doesn't bulge either.

In St. Louis tiny two-way wrist radio sets have been developed by police technicians, with ear phones, and they're being worn by patrolmen on beat. In this manner they receive calls and report directly to headquarters.

Now, we ask you, if it police and firemen have 'em, and delivery boys will get them soon—can you and we be far behind?

Unless, of course, you'd prefer to lag behind this particular bit of "progress"—which could have drawbacks for married men.

WE STILL LIKE THE MOVIES

MANY of us who know that the motion picture screen continues to bring us distinguished entertainment under excellent conditions of comfort and relaxation wonder, on occasion, at the large number of empty seats at this or that performance.

If we happen to be motion picture "fans" and how many of us really are not?—we find ourselves puzzled at a phenomenon which has seriously troubled a great and important American industry.

Perhaps, some conclude reluctantly, many motion picture fans, distracted by television and by other pressures of the day and hour, have simply "forgotten" this particular medium of entertainment.

Apparently this is what must have crept into the mind of a Newark, N. J. theater manager who had been unable to attract more than a few dozen patrons on a Monday night. Even half-priced tickets and free popcorn had failed. Had folks given up movies altogether? Wouldn't they come to the movies under any conditions, with any lure? To answer those questions he tried something drastic—free shows—and children—were adequately informed of the very good pictures being shown and were assured that the admission was attractive as well—not free, but fair.

In other words, he could do business on a free-entrance competitive basis.

Uses For A Boy's Free Time

A BOY'S SUMMER: Question: I have a question regarding the use of a boy's free time during the summer. I have been reading so much about boys and girls in their teens getting into so much trouble, it worries me. I have a young son who will be fourteen in September and with Summer coming on, is the best way to get summer working paper? I dread the thought of him roaming the streets all day long. I want him to do something constructive last year but he says that's for young boys. What can you suggest? Mr. M. M. G. Answer: Your boy is too old for the day camp group and there are many group activities for boys his age right at home, as well as in resident camps such as Boy Scout or YMCA camps in your county. A mother who is concerned about too much freedom for the exploring wide-awake boy should look into every community service his city or village offers, the YMCA, the Recreation Department, youth societies such as the Boy Scouts, the Catholic Youth Organization, the Jewish Community Center, and in addition to the local children's program, the county workshops such as the Junior Workshop for boys and girls in the eight to eighteen age group holds classes in arts and crafts, painting and woodwork two days a week from 10 to 11 A. M. to 12 P. M. These classes not only solve the problem of time on one's hands, but may well establish a lifetime hobby or skill. The Summer Music Center conducts interesting morning classes in all instruments and group singing, as well as individual voice lessons and music appreciation. Your local recreation leaders will have all the information on these Summer activities. Don't forget to ask about your church Summer program, too. You can guide your son's Summer fun in the right channels if you take the time to find out what is available.

Words and Wit Tipping Term Is Obscure

BY WILLIAM MORRIS, THE READERS WRITE

From a reader in Dye comes this interesting question: "We're always hearing about the evils of tipping and many well-meaning people advocate substantial cuts in that service charge. I myself would like to see the custom abolished, though I don't seem to be making much progress in that direction. More than a dozen times I got to wondering where the word ever came from anyway. Can you tell me?"

Unfortunately no one has yet satisfactorily established the origin of this common word and most dictionaries today give the label "ancient." A popular history of the word traces the first letters of the signs "TO Leave Promptly" posted on coin boxes of tables in the coffee houses of Dr. Johnson's day. This is one of those "etymologies" that are just a bit too late to see useful.

More than a dozen times I got to wondering where the word ever came from anyway. Can you tell me?"

Another reader writes: "In a book about the sea I ran into the word 'compostment.' Please explain." The "compostment" is the Greek word for "subjected to when sea is water-some amplitudes but out of the water at low tide."

Try And Stop Me

BY BENNETT CERR: One of the interesting phenomena of life in midtown Manhattan is the vacationing movie queens who come for a vacation, tanning that they want to mobility whatever—just "would like to be ordinary human beings like everybody else for a few days."

The procedure they adopt to achieve this praiseworthy end is worth a moment's study. One modestly vanned draped herself in a full-length sport coat, belted loosely in the middle, that was made (so help me!) of genuine mink. "What does everybody stare at me for?" she cooed wistfully. Another went horse-back riding in Central Park, and just opposite the Bird House in the 250 proceeded to do a head stand on the saddle ("she wasn't wearing 100 much underneath, either"). She professed outrage when a cop ran her in, presumably for disturbing the peace. Another self-effacing saint made such a point about wanting absolute privacy, that reporters and photographers took her at her word. She went back to Hollywood in a buff three days later.

Washable Leather Gloves Newest For Career Girls

NEW YORK—Fashion's contribution that fashion isn't merely affection—a proposition all ready familiar to faithful readers—comes from the director of The National Institute of Career Consultants.

"Four out of 10 career girls lose out on jobs because of careless grooming," says this authority.

"Many executives have an eagle eye for little details," she found during a recent survey among prospective employers. "Gives an impression."

The career girl who wants to stand out from the crowd chooses business costumes in conservative good taste, but makes herself unforgettable by a use of distinctive accessories. A striking pair of leather gloves is a good investment for the girl on her way up. For gloves are one of the first things an interviewer notices," the NICC director suggested.

She goes on to give particulars: "Choose your on-the-job gloves in polished kidskin, capelin, or pig leather. Keep them in immaculate condition. At the start of an interview, remove your right glove, at the end put it on again; if the interviewer offers his hand, it's proper to shake hands with your gloved hand. Save your beautiful white leather gloves for your effective dates."

Well, I have news for you, Madam Director. Nowadays a smart gal can have her white leather gloves, and wear them, too, because she can buy them in washable leathers. Nothing to it at all. And she has plenty choice of leathers, to boot.

She can choose soft shearin, Sockay capelin (with tweed), or gleaming glass kid, fully washable if it's black, or otherwise marked washable. She can even have washable pigskin, some of it actual leather treated for soap and water, and a new color in nylon-plastic that looks like pigskin.

Pirates Following Advice of Giles By Beating American League Foes

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS' Enos Slaughter is forced at second as Ray Jablonski hit into double play in third inning of exhibition game with Cincinnati Reds at St. Petersburg yesterday. Johnny Turner, left, and Collins' Paul Hoover, right, are Cardinals' second baseman, throws to first to complete DP after taking loss from shortstop Rocky Bridges, left background, who fielded Jablonski's grounder.

By RIP WATSON Associated Press Staff Writer President Warren Crites of the National League is getting help from an unexpected source in his plea to the senior circuit clubs to host the American League's Spring training games.

The league president undoubtedly was confident the Brooklyn Dodgers could win in inter-league battles, but who could expect the hitless impotent Pittsburgh Pirates to win five games in as many starts against American League teams?

Yet that's just what the Pirates can boast of after slugging their way to a 4-0 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday.

The Pirates' perfect record, combined with Brooklyn's 7-0 record, is clearly proof for the National League's 27-30 edge over the American League.

The two clubs meet again tonight in Miami in another possible "World Series preview."

Another winning streak was snapped when Freddie Mariani ninth inning home run brought the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, outting about a surge of seven victories by Eddie Jooss's surprising team. Johnny Thompson blanked the Athletics over the last four innings as the Philadelphia Phillies suffered their first loss of the Spring.

Orleans Flying High

The Baltimore Orioles, like the Athletics regarded as second-best division under the regular season began, continued to fly high with a 7-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Bobby Yousser was the Oriole star, with a career-clearing triple in the seventh inning.

The New York Giants won their fifth in a row, knocking over the Chicago Cubs 4-0 behind home runs by Henry Thompson and Willie Mays, and the Cincinnati Reds were their opponents in beating the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0.

These games mean a lot more than some people realize. They are the most important games in the inter-league games.

Brooklyn Beats Yanks

The Dodgers recorded their seventh inter-league victory—this time a 4-1 triumph over the New York Yankees. Meeting the Yanks for the first time since the last World Series, the Dodgers looked to have the Sox with eight hits, pushed across their runs on the field's "shorts" by Benas of balls and Roy Campanella's long fly.

Stonecrest Parking Application Denied

A plea to "regularize" a parking situation behind Stonecrest Apartments on North Chatsworth Avenue was denied last night by the Town of Mamaroneck Zoning Board of Appeals meeting at 7700 park headquarters.

Denied by a vote of three to one was the request of John I. Dugan to allow tenants of the apartment to park on the property at a monthly fee that could cover rent and insurance costs.

Mr. Dugan pointed out to the board that the tenants of Stonecrest Apartments have been parking for many years on the land which is owned by the Westchester County Park Commission and which is designated on the maps as part of the land for the Peham-Port Chester Park.

Black Strike 'Failing Smart', AFL Claim; Workers Returning

Threat of Spread To Other Ports Fails To Materialize

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL contended today that a rival union's 20-day dock strike that has cost an estimated $75 million is "failing smart."

More men were reported enlisting back to work. And the possibility that the strike might spread today to other East Coast ports was discounted.

The AFL International Longshoremen's Association said 4,000 of its members crossed picket lines at the rival Independent ILA and went to work, compared with 2,000 yesterday.

A price tag of $75 million was put on the strike thus far, by C. G. Tregnell, director of research for the State Department of Commerce. He said that's what the strike has cost the nation's No. 1 port in lost business, so far, adding that the loss would approach the half-billion mark if the situation continues another 10 days.

Mr. Tregnell estimated that normal operations have been cut 70 per cent. The spreading impact of the strike was shown with disclosure that 2,500 truck drivers have been laid off and 1,000 employees in a Queens sugar refinery are out of work because of the stoppage of cargoes.

The old ILA threatened "open weapon" in its attempt of tug operations — a walkout by tug workers affiliated with the union — has thus far failed to materialize.

Plans to lay the cornerstone of the new Mamaroneck Council Knights of Columbus clubhouse on Rye Neck Place and for the first time, there were 250 applicants. Communion and breakfast were made last night at a meeting in Campers Hall.

Best in Westchester

HERE is the 1954 All-County basketball squad, the ten top scholastic cagers in Westchester, selected by the sports editors of The Westchester County Publishers, Inc. group of daily newspapers.

The honor array represents the best cage talent from the more than 700 players who participated in varsity basketball sponsored by 55 public, private and parochial high schools in Westchester this past season. This is an all-time record for the number of players and schools involved.

The players were selected for general all-around court ability and their importance to the team success of their respective schools, both those players named to the All-County squad of ten as well as the ten alternates.

Participating in the balloting were sports editors Lou Lynch of the White Plains Reporter Dispatch, Marty Weitzner of the Mount Vernon Daily Argus, Bill Libby of the Yonkers Herald Statesman, Bob Brown of the Ossining Citizen Register, Pat DiGillo of the Tarrytown Daily News, Nino Secchi of the Port Chester Daily Item, Bob Hrubesch of the Mamaroneck Daily Times, Tom MacDermott of the New Rochelle Standard Star and Guido Cribari of Westchester County Publishers.
