PRAYER FOR TODAY

As we approach the day of national thanksgiving, dear Lord, I speak my earnest gratitude for the current renaissance of faith in America and in all the world. Make me worthy of this rekindled interest in the Holy Bible, in the faith of our fathers, in the reservoire of religion which—perhaps alone—can help to feed the hungry minds, bodies and spirits of countless millions. Mine is a sense of deepest appreciation for this almost universal growing awareness that there is a great and abiding answer to the shadows of fear, doubt, despair and distrust that are rife among all mankind. May this forward movement of spiritual adventure gain and grow until—in our own time, dear God—it may encompass the whole world.

'. . . and those cassions go rolling along'

IT'S THE OLD artillery marching song. They play it a lot whenever veterans get together. It runs like this in one spot:

"Where e'er you go you will always know
"That those caissons are rolling along."

The refrain came to mind as we got to thinking about the opening of the Tappan Zee Bridge, now dennitely set for Dec. 15.

That is going to bring a big volume of traffic across the Hudson River. Some of it will want to turn northward at Tarrytown and follow the Albany Post Road. Another portion will want to cross Westchester to pick up the Hutchinson River Parkway and proceed into New England territory. A large segment will look for local routes to the Whitestone and Triborough bridges to Long Island. And the remainder, perhaps a majority, will want to continue southward into New York City.

Not until some vague, indefinite time next Summer will the Thruway be completed. Meanwhile, this traffic from across the river must be dumped into Westchester's existing county parkways and city streets and country roads.

Many motorists will get lost. There will be heavy congestion next Spring. There will probably be more accidents than we ever had before.

Not a spadefull of earth has been turned for the Cross Westchester Expressway which is to link the State Thruway on the West with the New England Thruway on the east. The Sprain Brook Parkway, which would help is still only in the blueprint stage.

Improvements on the Albany Post Road, on Routes 22 and 6 and elsewhere in the county cannot now be provided, since the fund designed to meet the cost was voted down on Election Day.

It's going to be tough on Westchester motorists for a long time. We won't be able to use our own roads on busy weekends. And when we do drive there will be terribly annoying delays. Because whenever we go there will be those caissons rolling along, "over hill, over dale," and "in and out, hear them shout."

The state, of course, will be collecting 50-cent tolls at the bridge. But all Westchester will be getting will be noise and tumult, dust and damage, injuries and delays.

What a way to build a Thruway!

A Foe We Don't Know

THEY CALL IT "muscular dystrophy." But we don't know its cause and we don't know its cure. So, it's like fighting an unknown enemy with strange weapons in the dark of the night.

But while the origin may be mysterious and the remedy still without the realm of our knowledge, the suffering entailed is known intimately by thousands of American families. There is a gradual spread of the disease which cripples and wastes away as it proceeds inexorably through the body. It is estimated that 200,000 Americans, many of them children, are literally dying by inches as this stealthy enemy of mankind robs muscles of nutrition and weakens the body to the point of death.

Why are we talking about muscular dystrophy at this time?

Because Thanksgiving Week has been appropriately set aside here in Westchester and elsewhere for a canvass for funds to fight the disease. Throughout the week some 4,000 firemen, auxiliaries and volunteer citizens will make a house-to-house search. They will explain the need for funds to finance scientific research, clinics and patient-services. As an index to the worth of the campaign, let it be noted that at the recent Governors' Conference, the governors of 48 states endorsed the drive. Reputable citizens form the Westchester chapter.

Here is a field where we have yet to make medical progress sufficient to find the answer.

Bit of Common Sense Needed To Teach Children To Read

We are hearing a lot about the children would have read. ments of the lesson underway. teaching children to read and if You did? What happened to the they will learn. What happened to the reading words from an experienced teacher; a good bit of nonsense was caused by overcrowding of teachers' neglect is was caused by the imposition of theories that discarded the basic principles of teaching reading.

First some authorities, some of whom never taught a class of beginners to read, are making "no-to-do" studies of "readiness."

Of course there is a right time to teach a child to read, and that time is when experience has reached a stage of development where he wants to learn and can learn.

That time varies with the individual child. In one it may be at the age of three, in another at the age of seven — but usually it is about the age of six, and at that time every child should be exposed to reading by a well trained teacher. The beginning teacher has no place in the first grade.

Crowded classes are being blamed for reading failures. That need not be true. It is the quality of instruction that matters. The experience and training of the teacher under freedom of action is what supplies the quality.

Next we hear about remedial measures. Remedial measures should not be necessary if the instruction had been allowed to do. Had the teacher been allowed to teach sight reading, phonic elements sight words, and had been allowed to drill the class effectively on the essential, basic elements of reading they would be taught, and the children will read.

WORDS, WIT AND WISDOM
By WILLIAM MORRIS

CROCKETT CRACKED UP

From a reader, comes an inquary which, probably to the surprise of the questioner, involves Young America's favorite folk hero, Davy Crockett, in its answer.

"I am wondering," writes the reader, "where the following expression originated: 'He's not what it's cracked up to be,' Auique pottery, perhaps?"

One of the earliest meanings of the verb, "crack" is to "cry hoarsely." Indeed, some students of word origins say that crack ultimately be traced back to the Sanskrit "karjati," meaning "it roars or snarls."

A well-established colloquial usage is "crack up" meaning to extoll or praise highly. Also we often use the adjective "crack" —as in "crack shot" — to mean some person or thing that is absolutely at the top of its class. So when you say that something isn't what it is cracked up to be, you merely mean that it doesn't merit the high reputation it has obtained.

And Davy Crockett? Well, he comes into the picture because the first recorded use of the phrase in this country appears in Davy's direct and candid comment on a fellow politician who at the time was far better known than Crockett but who has since become one of the forgotten men of American politics. "Martin Van Buren," wrote Davy in 1835, "is not the one he's cracked up to be." And history has certainly supported his verdict.

Rescue Teams Hunt Bodies In Nevada Cold

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Horses and men labored in freezing weather on the snow covered slopes of Mount Charleston today to finish bringing out the bodies of 14 men killed in the crash of an Air Force transport.

Twelve bodies were brought down on horseback last night. Ambulances took them to the Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas for identification. The Air Force said it is expected the remaining two bodies will be recovered today.

The C54 plane crashed Thursday at the 11,300-foot level on Mount Charleston as it was en route from Burbank, Calif., to the Nevada atomic testing ground.

Nixon-Knight Showdown Likely

By DAN L. BEEBE
Editor Oroville Mercury

OROVILLE, Calif. — Wherever I have gone on a six-week trip just completed, people have asked me about the political ambitions of California's "Big Four": Vice President Nixon, Chief Justice Warren, Senator Knowland and Governor Knight. I believe that next to the question: "Will Ike run again?" the question about this "Big Four" is the one most on the tongues of the American people right now.

The majority of the people believe that Mr. Eisenhower will not be a candidate to succeed himself in 1956. For the sake of this piece let us assume that is true. Then we have four Californians being mentioned as the most likely candidates for the Republican nomination.

I recently talked with Chief Justice Warren in Washington and I left convinced that he has not changed his position as stated in April, when he said that he would stay out of politics permanently and that his decision was "irrevocable."

Nothing need be written about Mr. Nixon. He, of course, would be a candidate under the circumstances mentioned, and probably with Mr. Eisenhower's blessing.

NOT KNOWLAND'S YEAR — Senator Knowland has shown signs of aspiring to the Presidency, but it does not seem to be his year. The Republicans will need to run on Mr. Eisenhower's accomplishments for peace and prosperity, and too many of the American people have misinterpreted Senator Knowland's statements as courting war, which of course they do not.

Mr. Knowland is immensely popular with Californians. They refer to him as "Mr. America," but I believe his time will not come unless peaceful coexistence blows up in our faces. Then, as with Sir Winston Churchill after Munich, Senator Knowland might be viewed as the man who was right all along.

So how about Governor Knight? Mr. Knight is an ambitious man. For 10 years he has been campaigning for governor of California, and I mean campaigning. He was working steadily for the job during the last two terms of Governor Warren, and was quite critical of Mr. Warren up until the appointment to the Supreme Court, because he claimed the Governor was playing footsie with the Democrats and with labor.

Now that he is Governor, Mr Knight wants to be President.

Mr. Knight was precipitated into the National limelight on Aug. 15 in San Diego when he appeared on the platform at the convention of the California unit of the American Federation of Labor.

PROMISES TO LABOR — Mr Knight told labor that he would veto any "right-to-work" legislation. He said he would not sign any secondary boycott or hot cargo laws that labor found undesirable. He stood for strength ening labor's position in jurisdictional strike laws. He said he would support legislation "to implement any negotiated guaranteed wage program."

He told labor that after AFL and CIO have merged, during the final months of this year, more than 15 million working men and women will have been united "and labor will have become a tremendous political force." He estimated that the members of the two organizations along with their families and well-wishers will constitute 75 per cent of the registered voters of the United States.

George Meany, president of AFL, took the platform and said that "America could use more Governor Knights."

The 3,000 delegates gave Mr Knight a five-minute standing ovation before he spoke and repeated it after his speech. One California labor official said that in his 25 years as a delegate to the national AFL convention he had never seen a Governor so well received.

But, of course, the labor people won't be in force at the Republican national convention in San Francisco. Nor will they be members of the California delegation.

MIGHT HAND-PICK SLATE— As for that delegation, Governor Knight may hand-pick a slate. He has said that if so, he will release it after the first ballot. It is recognized, however, that such a delegation would do his bidding despite the release.

If the Governor "plays fair," as his opponents put it, and allows a delegation evenly divided among himself, Vice President Nixon and Senator Knowland there will be no trouble.

But if he hand-picks the delegates he asks the Republicans to vote for, as provided by California law, then there will be another slate, I have been assured.

KOWTOWING ATTACKED — At this point we must insert what happened following the AFL convention. The Los Angeles Times office of the Republicans of populous Southern California, went after Mr. Knight in a way to make a politician shudder. It referred to "the spectacle of a Republican Governor of California kowtowing to labor union officials and to their political philosophy" and allied himself with the avowed foes of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

"He cannot," said the Times, "remain a thrall to the active enemies of his party without losing all claim to the respect and support of Republican voters."

That's where the Times left it. It went in indirect that if Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate and that if Vice President Nixon is not given an even break in the slate of delegates proposed by Governor Knight there will be a showdown fight between Mr. Nixon and Mr. Knight for the California delegation to the convention.

Boy Friend Wants To Come Here

Question: My boy friend is in England and wishes to go to Canada before entering the United States. How long does it take before he can enter the United States since he is not a citizen of this country?

E. J. W.

Answer: Is your boy friend in England by his own choice or has he been ordered to go there? Whatever nationality he may be, Canada does not like being used as the back door to the United States and has intimated as much to our own Immigration Department. Why doesn't your friend join his nation's quota, and come in according to law? Call the County Clerk in White Plains about details of immigration matters, (WH 9-1300) or the Counsulate General of Canada (Lydson 6-2400, in New York.

DANCE SCHEDULES

Question: I am interested in locating the Westchester Square Dance Callers Association to ascertain when and where they are scheduling dances open to the public. If you have any information about this association, will you let me know?

L. M. M.

Answer: The Westchester Square Dance Association is located in Room 242 of the County Office Building, White Plains. The dance groups are a part of the Westchester Recreation Commission. The association is able to give you a monthly calendar of all dances in the area, if you wish to call WH9-1300, ext. 342.

TOO-WISE MO ERN

Question: How should a young girl of nineteen conduct herself when she entertains a young man alone? She entertains her friend in our playroom in the basement, with the lights turned off, the radio playing low and the doors shut, until as late as 3 A.M. while we, her parents, are upstairs asleep and she knows she is awake. I have insisted so often that her conduct is improper only to be told as long as nothing is wrong it is perfectly all right. I pointed out that we have conventions by which we abide, that it is not right for her to entertain when she is alone. He never asks her to a movie anymore; how can I show her how mistaken she is?

Heart-broken Mrs. R. G.

Answer: You were brought up under strict parental rules when conventions for people of gentle breeding were fixed and accepted without question. Etiquette of today is just as important based as it always has been on common sense, discipline and rules that smooth our living with others and keep us from making embarrassing and sometimes tragic mistakes. But some young moderns refuse to accept this discipline. Unless a girl has acquired character, tact and graciousness through her adolescent years and has learned to trust her parents to help her through those difficult years, she may feel she knows more than her "old-fashioned" parents because they "can't understand how times have changed." Every parent of a girl aged fourteen to twenty must go through these helpless frustrating years. If you have instilled right principles into your daughter, believe her now when she tells you nothing is wrong. However you and your husband should certainly be masters in your own home, and should the young man come at midnight while you are still up, and after you have also acted as hosts to your daughter's friend. You should be your daughter's friends, as well as her parents.

A Decade Ago

(From The Daily Times)

Mamaroneck High School gridders triumphed over Port Chester by 14-13 to win the MAA title, the first time in the league's 30-year history that the Tigers had the championship. Local banks distributed a total of $156,654 in Christmas Club savings to 1,971 depositors. The Union Savings Bank total was $93,374.75 for 1,152 club members and the Bank of Westchester in Larchmont reported $63,249.20 tallied to 837 account holders. 225 members and guests attended a dance sponsored by the Town of Mamaroneck Park Department at the Weaver Street firehouse. The bridge on Fenimore Road near the Mamaroneck town and village line was closed for repairs which, it was estimated, would take a week to complete. And 20 years ago the Bellows High School football team completed an undefeated season in which it scored 121 points to 13 for its opponents.

And the Town of Mamaroneck and the Village of Larchmont, were in a hassle over the Town's plan to assess cost of tools and materials used in WPA projects against all real estate in the township regardless of where the projects were located. Larchmont planned to take its protest to the Appellate Division.

Transplanted Novelist Lives Like A Millionaire In Mexico

MEXICO CITY — There is a Carolyn and she did meet the nonstop plane from New York which arrived at the airport here yesterday in a driving rain. "Unusual weather," everybody says. Carolyn also took very calmly my excited account of vainly trying to reach her by telephone.

"When I can't contact the person in the next block," she asked resignedly, "how could you expect to get me from New York?"

The Mexican telephone is her only real gripe about the country she's been living in for some months. To get an instrument installed you have to buy about $120 worth of stock in the company, she told me, and then, after you get it, you find messengers sometimes quicker.

Fed up with the rush and bustle of New York and filled with the desire to find a quiet place to write a novel, Carolyn last Spring bundled her eleven year old son Christopher and all their worldly goods into a station wagon and set out for Mexico. However, she had not reckoned on all the mountains they would have to cross, and heights make her dizzy. Even on an elevator she gets vertigo.

"Christopher sat beside me with a bottle of smelling salts in each hand," she recalls, and adds philosophically, "Luckily we always seemed to have our entire trouble in somebody's front or back yard and people were nice."

She spoke no Spanish and knew only two of the three North Americans living here. But luckily for her, she's blond and Mexicans love blondes. They murmur "linda" (pretty,) as she passes in the street, her wavy fair hair framing her face. She says the Mexican climate has made her straight hair curly and she never has to get a permanent any more.

She'd counted on being able to live on far less money than in New York — and she is doing it. Her bedroom apartment with a little balcony and a roof for sun baths costs $80 a month, though she says if she'd known more about bargaining, which everybody expects here, she could have got it for $40.

Her maid, who works from 7 A. M. until 7 at night, washing, ironing, cleaning and cooking is paid about $10 a month. Carolyn gets 10 oranges for a peso — 8 cents; beef for less than 30 cents a pound; a mammoth head of lettuce for five cents; baking potatoes, 5 cents a pound; string beans, 1½ to 2 cents a pound; squash, 1 cent a pound; three pineapples for 8 cents and about 100 lemons — which are really limes —for 16 cents.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The utterly unexpected success of one of those overblown, gaudy historical novels lifted its hideous head to prominence. The spotlight and all the other trimmings moved a little too much for him. A more severe case of swell-headedness hasn't been seen on Publishers' Row in many a month.

It remained for a pert young girl to set "the genius" back on his heels, however, when he granted her an interview for her school paper. She listened to his boasting without cracking a smile; then said softly, "Why, I'll bet you're just the greatest writer in America today!" The new literary lion contrived a modest look and replied, "Haven't you forgotten Remingway, Faulkner, and O'Hara?"

"Oh, I wasn't thinking of you in that league," she told him—in front of a couple of mean, tale - telling associates, too. "They're really important writers!" That ended the interview.

Don't Forget Fiddle On Next Hunting Trip

Now don't get me wrong, I never called a moose in my life. Sure, I've blatted through a deer call, sqawked a crow call a lot of times and called a New York cab hundreds of times.

The results have been pretty uniform, the "callee" has always hightailed it the other way. However, there is something primitive about a chap with a rolled birch bark megaphone to his lips trying to sound like a moose spoiling for a fight. It makes a wild and primitive picture, something like a glimpse of a high school freshman off on his first heavy date.

This business of calling game to within gunshot, I guess, is quite a rare art, something which I haven't mastered by a long shot. According to some research it's been with us for ages, and many and varied have been the devices used and the results obtained.

Fiddling Hunter

There's the story of the old timer who used to take not only his gun but his fiddle when he went coyote hunting. Seems he knew a certain note the coyotes just couldn't resist. Must have been something to it for he always came back with a few of the beasts hanging over his saddle. I must get my old fiddle out of the attic and start practicing again.

Then there was the chap who used to catch a live rabbit and twist his tail to make his yelp to attract foxes. Seebs like a mighty dirty trick, and I hope he darn well missed the foxes.

I know some of the kids used to call foxes by blowing on a grass blade held between their palms, and some used to whittle down feathers to use the same way. I just never got around to trying that one. Of course today you can buy almost any kind of game call you can think of — crow call, duck call, squirrel call, wild turkey call, deer call, and so on.

Then there is the game call which is supposed to call up anything from a fox to a mountain lion by imitating a wounded rabbit or some other animal. Had one sent me a while ago and tried it out. Real nice, sounded like a parrot caught in an automatic dish washer.

Deer Call Tryout

Last deer season I did have an interesting experience with a deer call, though. I was at a private game preserve where besides the many wild deer, there were many tame ones which came in to the lodge yard to be fed. I decided I'd try out my brand new shiny deer call on them, just to see what would happen.

There were about a dozen does and two nice bucks feeding within a few yards of where I stood, so I upped with the call and gave forth with a plaintive blat. The results were surprising. The does never gave it a tumble, (I never could get any attention from the ladies anyway.) But the two bucks reacted strangely.

With every blat of the call they blinked their eyes and shook their heads from side to side violently. I tried an assortments of blats and the result was the same every time; a blink of the eyelids and a shake of the head. Several other persons tried it, too, with the same result.

Later I tried the call on three wild does grazing in a little clearing. Brother! Did they leave in a hurry, without even looking back for that "second time" the call is supposed to produce for a shot. I sheepishly pocketed the thing and it is tucked away with my clamp skates and carbide gas bicycle lamp in the attic.

Guess I'll stick to my Audubon bird call and leave the game calling to the experts — or, better yet, to the game themselves.

INDIAN JUKE BOX

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—It sounded as if the Navajos were staging a ceremony inside their cafe here. But investigation showed the drums and chants were coming from a juke box. Plenty of other tribal tunes were on tap too, competing successfully with the usual assortment of platters.

Art Decentralization Urged; Guild Exhibition Wins Praise

A plea for decentralization of art galleries was made last night at a gala Christmas exhibit program of the Mamaroneck Artists Guild, held at the new barn on East Prospect Avenue, Mamaroneck, by Miss Inez Garson, owner of a New York gallery.

"All good artists cannot be accommodated either in the museums or the New York galleries," she stressed, "any more than all fine musicians and singers are to be found in the Metropolitan or the Philharmonic." Miss Garson said the Guild exhibit "stacks up well against any of the contemporary shows I've seen along the American seaboard in such places as Rockport, Skowhegan, Silvermine and also 57th Street." The holiday exhibit was hung by Art Miller, Ruth Connery, Vi Meisanheimer, Jack Miller, Natalie Baker, Josh Fendell and Grace Pugh, exhibition chairman.

Miss Garson told the members and guests of the Artists Guild that "the local gallery serves the purpose of bringing fresh, vital and top art to the community so that school children, their parents and others can, in the relaxed atmosphere of the barn type gallery, develop confidence in their own taste through art exposure to continuous and varied exhibits instead of relying on the tastes of the current experts."

"Typically American"

She termed the Guild exhibit a "typically American show without undue influence from abroad. Realism is its basis, even the most abstract artists of the group using it as such." Describing it as a "healthy show," Miss Garson expressed her opinion that "not too many isms are present. All artists must have their derivations," she continued, "from what has gone before. Even Rembrandt had his. But the healthy part of this show is that the artists have for the most part incorporated derivations into their own styles, thus presenting valid works of art and not becoming mere copyists of nature or world famous painters as is too often found in some of the exhibitions at the Whitney Museum and the Museum of Modern Art among others."

Landscapes predominate in the show with still life and figure studied second. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 1 to 5 P. M., Sunday from 3 to 5 P.M. and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 9. A new gallery set up in the Barn features small oils and water colors, together with many unframed paintings in portfolios and larger framed paintings.

Navy Strikes At West Point

WEST POINT (AP) — Seven Annapolis midshipmen invaded West Point during the weekend to let the cadets know how they feel about next Saturday's Army-Navy football game.

Early yesterday the middies painted "Beat Army" in big red letters on the West Point skating rink and on the walls of Michie Stadium.

On fortress walls over the Hudson River a "Beat Navy" neon sign was altered to read "Beat A."

Army precautions to protect the mascot mule thwarted the midshipmen's principal advance objective. The animal was kept in a locked pen inside a locked barn, with two guards stationed beside the pen.

Elks Youth Contest Gets Underway

The National Youth Leadership contest, sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Elks, is well under way at Mamaroneck Lodge 1457, BPOE, John Funicello, chairman, reported last Friday.

William Lanza, chairman of the Board of Governors, announced that the club has hired a new steward, John De Rosa.

Mr. Funicello reported that teenagers are coming to the club one night a week to use the shuffleboard, billiard and ping pong facilities.

Principals To Select

The principals of Mamaroneck, Bellows, and Harrison High Schools have been asked to select one boy or girl in each school who best qualifies for leadership. The winner will be selected from among them by judges elected by the Leadership Committee.

The club granted permission, at Mr. Funicello's request, for the two winning Boy Scouts of each Troop to hold an elimination contest at the club at about the same time the club tournament is played.

Born In Bronx

The new steward lived in the Bronx, where he was born, before moving to the apartment in the clubhouse. After graduating from high school he went into the delicatessen business, which he left to enter the Army Air Corps in 1942. He served as a cook and had the rank of technician, 1ifth class.

When he returned from service, he operated his own grocery store in Mount Vernon for a while, leaving that to enter the construction field. For some time he has also been a part-time cook at Lindy's Diner, 576 Mamaroneck Avenue.

He is married to the former Elsie Nicoella of the Bronx. The couple have two daughters, Fanny, nine, and Joan, five.

Driver Killed In Dual Crash

ORANGE, Conn. (AP)—A driver was crushed to death, three trucks and four automobiles were damaged and traffic on the busy Boston Post Road (U. S. 1), was tied up more than three hours today by two related accidents.

William Albert Hall, forty-five, of Plainfield, N. J., was crushed to death in the cab of his truck, carrying a cargo of bricks.

The Orange Police gave this account of the accident:

A car driven by Raymond Sills, twenty-two, of Mecca, Ind., attached to the USS Fulton at New London, and a truck driven by Richard Car, twenty-eight, of New York, collided. Mr. Carr's truck, carrying general freight, tipped over.

Joseph Bagarozza, twenty-nine, of Belleville, N. J., driving a car trailer, saw the accident and stopped to help. About five minutes later Mr. Hall's truck rammed the rear of Mr. Bagarozza's parked trailer. The new automobiles comprising its load were damaged.

Sell Out For Borge Show Indicated, League Reports

With nearly 700 patron reservations already subscribed for and general admission tickets reportedly going fast, the New Rochelle League for Service today predicted that its presentation of "An Evening With Victor Borge" on Dec. 4 at 8 P. M. in New Rochelle High School auditorium will be a "sell out."

Proceeds of the League's annual Winter benefit of which Mrs. Sanford W. Archibald of New Rochelle is general chairman, are, as in previous years, earmarked for New Rochelle Hospital.

As the League's first vice president in charge of ways and means, Mrs. James P. Reville of Larchmont is an advisor for the project. Mrs. Robert N. Carson of New Rochelle is League president.

Mr. Borge's appearance here was made possible by the league's selection of a Sunday as the day for its benefit. The Danish pianist and comedian is currently perorming six nights and two afternoons a week at the Golden Theater in New York City in his one-man show "Comedy in Music." Now in its third season, the show is the oldest on Broadway.

Higher Costs on Way

Steel Output Record Fails To Cut Famine

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production for the first 10 months of 1955 set a record of 96,286,119 tons, the magazine Steel said today.

The metalworking weekly said more steel—10,502,000 net tons—was made for ingots and castings in October than in any previous month.

Despite the big production, the supply of steel plate is "approaching famine levels, and platemakers already are closing books for the first quarter," the magazine said.

Fabricated structural steel is also in short supply, with some fabricators booked ahead eight or nine months, Steel said.

"In estimating for second and third quarter delivery, structural fabricators and considering the possible higher costs of plain materials and a rise in other costs. As a result, fabricators' prices for next year are substantially higher than those in the first half of 1955 and escalator terms are more protective," said the magazine.

Production held at 99 per cent of rated capacity last week, and Steel's price composite on finished steel held at $128.14 a net ton. Its composite on steelmaking scrap rose to $45.67 a gross ton, an increase of 34 cents.

... '5' Has Height, Potential To Become Challenger In WIAA

The 1955-56 basketball season in the WIAA promises to provide Westchester cage fans with some of the best basketball ever displayed, and amidst this competition there is a good possibility that Mamaroneck Hi may emerge champions.

Despite an expected improvement of almost all WIAA teams, Coach Bob Sampson's Tigers appear to have the height and potential to make a serious bid for loop honors.

Highly important in this bid will be the play of Nick Lapolla —Mamaroneck's top scorer last year. Lapolla, who ranges at 6-4, was the big gun in the Tigers' late-season surge last year which produced eight victories in the final nine games.

Even more encouraging to Mamaroneck fans and Coach Sampson is the fact that Lapolla is a greatly improved player from the hoopster who tallied almost 300 points last year.

Lapolla Doing Everything

The big guy has developed an assortment of new shots which have been connecting with amazing frequency. He also shows much better jumping prowness, and has been rebounding with even more effectiveness than last season.

Supplementing Lapolla off the boards have been 6-4 Graham Best and 6-2 Ray Nolletti. Nolletti is the lad Coach Sampson is hoping will develop into the 'take-charge' man. Ray is a good ball-handler and fine outside shot.

Charlie Capalbo and John Cardasis appear the other starters at the moment. Capalbo, who saw plenty of action last season as a defensive player, may surprise area fans with some offensive potency this year.

Cardasis, meanwhile, is the lad who could prove the difference between a mediocre or championship season for the Mams. The 6-1 cager displays a world of promise, but lacks varsity experience. If he gains confidence and adapts himself to varsity competition, he could develop into a top-notch hoopster and help the Tigers greatly.

Mamaroneck's bench will be much stronger than last year. Ben Sands, a 6-2 senior, could help MHS tremendously. He is a strong rebounder, but like Cardasis, needs experience. Ed Haggerty, a transfer student from Washington, D. C., has displayed a good outside shot and ball-handling ability. Mel Ronick, Richie Dannay and Len Nole round out the top 10 players at the moment.

Three players, ranging at 6-3, are among the remaining five varsity members. They are juniors Dick Schor and Tom Convery, and senior Tony Macri. Juniors Arn Margolius and Jim O'Neill complete the 15-man squad.

The struggle for starting berths is still highly competitive, with Sands, Haggerty, Ronick or virtually any of the varsity reserves capable of gaining starting slots. Only Lapolla appears assured of being in the lineup when the Tigers open competition against Rye, Jan. 3.

On the 18-game schedule of Mamaroneck are 14 league games. The Mams are slated to meet White Plains, Roosevelt, New Rochelle, A. B. Davis, Gorton, Yonkers and Port Chester each twice. It is expected that all of the teams will be stronger than they were last year. White Plains, Roosevelt, defending champion New Rochelle and Gorton appear the most powerful.

Mamaroneck was scheduled to continue workouts at the MJHS gym today. It will continue practices tomorrow and Wednesday, before taking a five-day recess. workouts are expected to resume again next Monday and continue through Christmas recess in preparation for the Mams' debut against Rye. The Tigers will open WIAA activity Jan. 6 at White Plains.

HRUBESCH

Blue Gridders Top Whites At Bellows, 14-12

After being outplayed for virtually three periods at the Daniel Warren Field Friday, the Blue gridders overcame a 12-0 deficit to edge the Whites with a touchdown in the final five seconds, 14-12. It was the inaugural encounter of the Panther Bowl.

The game was scheduled to stimulate some interest in football among students of the seventh and eighth grades at Bellows.

Sparking the late surge for the Blues was high-stepping Ace Bernstein who broke loose for an 18-yard touchdown in the third stanza, and a 25-yard TD jaunt in the final five seconds. Tom Reilly added both extra points to provide the Blues with the margin of victory.

The rally overshadowed the brilliant play of Karl Doppke who tallied both White touchdowns. Doppke scampered around end for 25 yards in the first period, and slanted through the middle for 65 yards in the third quarter to score what appeared to be the clinching touchdown.

The lineups:

Whites (12)		Blues (14)
Quinn	L.E.	Schell
Tallevi	R.E.	Cioffari
Forster	L.T.	Purdy
Bodycott	R.T.	Hausler

Ivy Teams End Era Of Out Of Loop Foes

By The Associated Press

The "old" era of Ivy League football comes to a close Thursday when Cornell and Penn meet in their annual Thanksgiving Day tussle. Next season, the Ivy schools get down to the business round-robin schedule that makes of the presidents' code, playing a outside competition secondary.

It will be a new look for the Ivy, with each school playing the other seven. This season, for instance, only Princeton, the champion, and Cornell played seven Ivy foes. Penn played only two wrapping up the last of its suicide schedules against the likes of Army Notre Dame and Navy.

Princeton's title, first since 1951 for the Tigers, was accomplished with a 6-1 record and a 6-3 decision over Dartmouth Saturday as Yale, the runnerup, took Harvard 21-7.

The championship, 14th outright title in Princeton's Ivy history, came as a "definite surprise" to coach Charlie Caldwell, who had rated Yale and Cornell ahead of his Tigers in a pre-season estimate.

Yale wound up with a 5-1 league record, beaten only by Princeton, while Cornell needs a victory over Penn to gain undisputed right to third place. At the moment, the Big Red and Dartmouth are tied for third with 3-3.

Harvard and Brown, tied for and Penn make up the second fifth with 2-4 records, Columbia division.

YANKS BEAT A.F. '9'

GUAM (AP)—Paced by three home runs by Andy Carey and two by Bill Skowron, the New York Yankees today defeated a Far Eastern Air Force all star team, 16-2. The Yanks, winding up an exhibition tour of the Far East, leave today by plane for Honolulu.

Santee Gets Ban Lifted

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Wes Santee, America's fastest miler, is back in good standing with the AAU.

The Missouri Valley AAU board of managers decided yesterday to lift a suspension against the runner. The suspension would have barred him from the 1956 Olympics as well as other AAU-sponsored events.

Another valley AAU body—the the penalty Oct. 30 on grounds Santee had accepted excessive expense allowances for three California track meets last May.

Santee, maintaining he had never violated amateur athletic standards, appealed to the higher board. The board of managers voted 21-7 to reject the registration committee's decision.

DUCK ON THE WELL

HOMINY, Okla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Turner have had their first wild duck dinner of the season without having to lift a gun or go hunting.

While Mrs. Turner was drawing a bucket of water from the family's farm well, a large mallard crashed through the branches of a maple tree and dropped at her feet. It had been wounded by four shotgun pellets but held out until it got over the Turner farm.

RUGGED athletics was keynote of football game Saturday between Hackley School of Tarrytown and the Riverdale Country Day School, the only game played that day in the snowstorm in Westchester. White Plains, Greenwich Rally To Win; Harrison-Rye Thursday

Only three games involving Westchester area school grid teams were played in Saturday's snowstorm, only one of them within the confines of the county. Hackley bowed to its rival, Riverdale, 9-0, at Tarrytown.

Two games were postponed, including the interest-packed clash between unbeaten Harrison and unbeaten Rye. Three others were canceled.

White Plains faced Henry Snyder in Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium, and the Tigers overcame an early deficit to wrap up fourth in a row, 14-7. Mike Ross made both touchdowns.

The Plainsmen's comeback after losing first three games of the Fall has been one of the local season features. They still face Mont Pleasant of Schnectady, unbeaten for two years, in White Plains Thursday morning.

Greenwich also rallied to win, defeating New York Military Academy at Cornwall, 19-14. The Cards wound up the term with a 5-1 record, their only loss at 6-0 to Danbury. The Marino twins, Pete and Nunzio, sparked Greenwich, which trailed 14-13 at halftime. Joe Loparco's pass to Al Arcuni produced the first Card TD, Pete Marino got the second. A cross-buck on which Nunzio Marino broke free for 25 yards in the third stanza became the winning tally.

Hackley Bows

The early loss of Murray Kemp handicapped Hackley but the Hornets managed to stop Riverdale drives twice in the opening quarter. Riverdale did all its scoring in the second after which the clubs battled evenly.

Roy Chinman was pinned behind his goal line for a safety on an attempted reverse after a penalty set Hackley back to the four; and Riverdale marched back the ensuing kickoff for its touchdown, made by Ken Fuld. Hackley, its two-game winning streak snapped, closed the campaign with a 2-5-1-tied record. Hackley still leads in the 24-game series, 15-9.

A bad center-pass on a fourth-down punt put White Plains at early disadvantage. Snyder took over on the six, fumbled but reached the one on the next play, then Mike Di Giacinto scored on a sneak, with his pass to Jerry Esponsito converting.

The Tigers stormed back, marched 60 yards in seven plays and fullback Ross bulled over from the one, with Earl Montoe skirting right end for the tying point. He had to do it twice because of a five-yard penalty against the Orange-Black.

21-Yard Run Wins

The winning touchdown came in the second period. Three plays, bracketed with a five-yard penalty, netted 56 yards. Ross crashed through center and continuing 21 yards for the tally. Bob Smith added the point, around end.

The Harrison-Rye battle of the Thursday morning, with the unbeatens was put off until 11:45 SWIAC and Little-3 titles as well as a perfect season going to the victor. Davis and Edison will clash at Memorial Field, Mount Vernon, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30.

Wiped off the schedule because the nearness of the season's end and Turkey Day battled prevented rescheduling were games involving Dobbs Ferry at Brewster, Saunders-Commerce at Gorton, and Stepinac at New Rochelle.

SHOULDER DIP

Everyone who has seen Junie McMahon in action will agree that his is the smooth form we would all like to have. And maybe we can help you perfect it.

McMahon finishes very low at the foul line, which makes it easy for him to apply his tremendous armlift to put finger-spinning hook on the ball.

To get that finish, you must go to the source of his form, of course. As sketch shows, he holds the ball low, between waistline and knees, approximately, which brings him into a natural shoulder dip or crouch to begin with.

Now here's the action: As he pushes the ball away from the body, with the first (right foot) step, the body is "pulled down" still farther, but comfortably, so that he's virtually "doubled up" after the first step is completed. That's how he continues in stride — low all the way.

One more point: With the body at extreme low point in stride to produce a reaching arm lift at release, the tremendous finger-spin applied will also produce a wide hook with normal speed.

So do as McMahon does: Start your run from the center of the alley and swing out to the right, toward the No. 3 pin, to allow for the proper angle into the 1-3 ...

MSLB Plans To Open Campaign Dec. 12th

Plans are underway to begin official competition in the Mamaroneck Senior Basketball League Dec. 12, it was announced this morning by League-Secretary Gil Allen.

The six teams which competed in the loop last year have again shown interest, but it is hoped that the league will expand to eight or 10 squads.

Probably the team-to-beat will once again be Uncle Carl's Knicks, victorious in 14 of 14 games last season. Five-and-a-half tilts behind were the Klowns with a 9-6 record, while the Crusaders finished third with an 8-7 mark. The Gaels, at 7-8, and 6-8 finished ahead of the winless Centurys.

44 Games, 95 Players

Last year the loop conducted 44 games in which 95 players participated. Officiating was handled by the managers of the four other teams. However, an attempt will be made this year to secure sufficient funds to hire outside referees.

Scoring honors of the 1954-55 season went to Tom Kearney who tallied 47 points in the final game to overcome a 234-203 deficit and edge Bill Cunningham. Cunningham, held to 12 points in the finale, finished with 246 ponits, four behind Kearney who reached the 250 mark.

All players or teams, interested in competing in the MSBL this season, are urged to contact Gil Allen.

MBL Tryouts Set Dec.

FOUR DIVISIONS TO OPEN REGULAR SEASON JAN. 7

The Mamaroneck Basketball League, which accommodated over 350 youngsters last season, will hold its initial tryouts for the 1955-56 season Saturday, Dec. 10th, it was announced this morning by MBL President Charlie Lanza.

Tentative plans are to continue the four divisions in the Mamaroneck and Rye Neck sections with league competition to be held each Saturday in four gymnasiums.

The schedule calls for official activity to open Jan 7th, the first Saturday in January, and continue into April as it did last year. It is expected that the MBL will probably expand in the Rye Neck section, thereby increasing the overall number of teams from 34 to 38 or 40.

Last season the Mamaroneck Section was split into the Midget and Junior divisions, each of which had 10 teams. In all probability this number will remain the same this year.

Rye Neck May Expand

The Rye Neck Section, meanwhile, consisted of an eight-team midget loop and six-team junior division in its first season last year. It is expected that these divisions will increase to 10 and eight teams, or even 10 and 10.

Once again the securing of adult support appears to be the major problem of the MBL Coaches, scorers, referees and timers are needed to operate the league efficiently.

The reason the MBL is considered one of the finest loops in Westchester County is that it has provided the youngsters with beneficial and valuable supervision. If it fails to obtain this support, as it started to last year, the MBL will become just another league, with players not getting much-needed instruction and assistance.

Hence, MBL officials are already making their plea to form a large staff to handle the numerous chores of the league. Any adults, interested in rendering their services for a few hours each Saturday morning during the coming season, are urged to contact Charlie Lanza.

Knicks Beat 'Fort Wayne'

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Hawks, leading the western division of the National Basketball Association, will need to find a replacement for Frank Selvy if they intend to hold down the top spot.

Selvy, who enters the Army today, led the Hawks to their second victory over the New York Knickerbockers Saturday night but Selvy didn't play last night and the Hawks lost to the Syracuse Nationals 84-80.

New York rebounded to down the lowly Fort Wayne Pistons 119-115 in overtime. In the only other game played last night, the Rochester Royals topped the Minneapolis Lakers 104-96.

Michigan State, UCLA Ready For The Battle Of The Roses

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sportswriter

It's Michigan State-UCLA in the Rose Bowl and Oklahoma-Maryland in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2. And if you think you've heard that song before, you're right.

Those same four powers met in the same two New Year's day extravaganzas in 1954.

If history is to repeat all the way, it'll be Michigan State 28, UCLA 20 and Oklahoma 7, Maryland 0. That's what it was in '54.

Once again, Michigan State and UCLA are once beaten. The Spartans lost only to Michigan (14-7) this season, while only Maryland upended UCLA (7-0. Maryland, the 1953 national champ, again has a 10-0 record, while Oklahoma, 9-0 with one game left and apparently heading for the national title, was once beaten and once tied going into the '54 Orange Bowl.

Token Not Given

UCLA was expected to receive the official blessing of the Pacific Coast Conference today after a token poll of members. The Uclans won their third straight PCC championship by thrashing Southern Cal 17-7 Saturday.

Michigan State received its Rose Bowl credentials from the Big 10 yesterday, although getting the bid as a runnerup. Ohio State, barred from two consecutive Pasadena appearances, won the Big 10 title again by booting Michigan out of the picture 17-0 while Michigan State walloped nonleague Marquette 33-0.

The only "also-ran" to represent the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl was Northwestern, and the second place Wildcats beat California 20-14 in 1949.

Oklahoma and Maryland, the only major unbeaten-untied clubs remaining, got their bowl tickets before last weekend's games in which the Sooners won their 10th straight Big 7 title by whipping Nebraska 41-0 and Maryland clipped George Washington 19-0.

TCU Gets Bid

Half of the bowl berths now are filled, with Texas Christian gaining the Southwest Conference host spot in the Cotton Bowl by humiliating Rice 35-0. That leaves the Dallas Bowl selectors still looking for another team.

The Sugar and Gator Bowl committees also are still on the prowl and they'll have their teams by week's end with Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Navy and Pitt waiting to say yes.

To give the electros a good show, Mississippi plays Mississippi State, Georgia Tech meets Georgia, Auburn takes on Alabama and Navy tangles with Army as college football takes one last fling this Saturday.

Pitt's record already is bound up for inspection with Saturday's 20-0 decision over Penn State capping a season that listed impressive victories over Duke and West Firginia. The West Virginians were erased from the bowl list last weekend by Syracuse 20-13.

The Southeastern Conference champ generally fills one of the Sugar Bowl berths and Mississippi (8-1), Georgia Tech 7-1-1 and Auburn (7-1-1) are the contenders. Vanderbilt (7-2) also has a chance. Vandy plays Tennessee, knocked for a loop by Kentucky 23-0 over the weekend.

Navy, which returned to the post-season business last January in the Sugar Bowl, likely will have a Cotton Bowl invitation in hand if it can beat Army. If the Middies fail, Pitt or one of the SEC teams may get it.

Pitt Has Bowl Dreams

Pitt also qualifies for the Sugar Bow, although the New Orleans promotors could do worse than match a SEC pair.

The Gator Bowl, set for Dec. 31, probably will have to wait until after the Cotton an[d] Bowls make their moves getting replies to its bids.

Bears Beat Detroit, 24-14; Giants Win

By The Associated Press

Twenty years ago Alabama sent Don Hutson up to the National Football League and he proceeded to make life miserable for opposing pass defenders for the next decade.

Now the Cotton State has contributed Harlon Hill to the NFL, and the Chicago Bears' star promises to be just as much of a problem for the defense as his illustrious predecessor. Hill looked like Hutson at his best yesterday as he twice faked Detroit defenders out of the way for the touchdowns that brought the bears a 24-14 victory, their sixth in a row, and first place in the NFL's Western Conference.

With three games to go, the Bears (6-3) have a half-game lead over the Los Angeles Rams (5-3-1), who were led to a 17-17 tie by Baltimore. Hutson's old team, the Green Bay Packers (5-4), trail by a game after Tobin Rote passed for two touchdowns and ran 49 yards to set up a third in a 27-21 victory over San Francisco.

In the Eastern Conference, Cleveland bounced back from its upset defeat by Philadelphia a week ago to trounce Pittsburgh 41-14 and remain a game in front of Washington's surprising Redskins, 31-0 winners over the Chicago Cardinals. New York vaulted from last place to a tie for third with Pittsburgh by clipping the Philadelphia Eagles 31-7.

Unless the second place teams get some unexpected help, it looks very much like the Bears vs. Browns in the pro championship playoff, scheduled for Dec 26 or Jan. 1 in the park of the Western Conference champion. Cleveland, incidentally, walloped the Bears in the club's only previous encounters, 41-21 in 1951 and 39-10 last year.

Plea For More Scrap

A special appeal to apartment-house superintendents for metal scrap of any kind will be made shortly by the metal salvage drive committee of the G. I. Civic Association Inc., it was decided at a meeting last night. The drive will take place Dec. 4.

Antonio Pergola, cochairman, with Joseph Fratterola, pointed out that metal scrap of all kinds is now badly needed for military purposes. The demand is reflected in the price dealers are willing to pay, Mr. Pergola said.

An appeal will also be made to Mamaroneck manufacturers and boatyards.

The association will use the proceeds for the construction of a new clubhouse on Van Ranst Place. The clubrooms at 735 Old White Plains Road.

All Mamaroneck organizations meeting between now and Dec. 4 are urged to announce the scrap drive to their memberships, Mr. Pergola said.

Mixed Emotions

Larchmont Mayor G. Crawford Eadie, who was away from the village on a business trip at election time, last night offered both the palm and the back of his hand to Trustee Edward White, Democrat, who ran unsuccessfully, for town councilman, at the Larchmont Board meeting.

"I am personally very sorry to hear you lost," said the Mayor, "I thought you ran a fine campaign."

"As a Republican, however," continued the Mayor, "I was glad to hear you had lost."

"The Town's loss is our gain," intoned Trustee Vincent Montesano.

"Glad to be back," sighed Mr. White.

BRAZIL'S TROOPS GUARD PRESIDENT AGAINST THREAT

Army Acts Swiftly To Protect Ramos Regime From Overthrow

RIO DE JANEIRO, (AP)— Brazil's Congress and Army acted swiftly today to preserve the regime of Provisional President Nereu Ramos against a bid y Joao Cafe Filho to resume the Presidency.

By sizeable majorities after an all-night debate, both houses of Congress adopted a resolution that Mr. Cafe should remain out of office until Congress decides otherwise. The national regime "now is menaced as before," said the resolution in a reference to unsettled political conditions which resulted in Mr. Ramos' installation by a bloodless Army coup Nov. 10.

The Army held Mr. Cafe incommunicado in his apartment in the fashionable Copacabana district. Troops surrounded the building and barred all visitors. Telephone calls to the apartment were interrupted.

Troops also guarded key government buildings but Rio remained calm.

Appeal Planned

Friends of the ex-President prepared to ask the Supreme Court for an order assuring his safety.

News dispatches going abroad were being censored. Associated Press dispatches from the capital were being relayed via Sao Paulo, the big industrial center southwest of Rio along the coast.

(Fred L. Strozier of the Associated Press attempted to telephone from Rio De Janeiro to Buenos Aires, "Friends of Cafe Filho are preparing to appeal . . ." he said and at that point was cut off. The operator said the call could not be completed for "special reasons.")

Mr. Cafe took a leave of absence from the Presidency Nov. 8 after a heart attack, turning the job over to Chamber of Deputies President Carlos Coimbra da Luz.

To Block Kubitschek

The change was accompanied by rising suspicion that Mr. Cafe and Mr. Luz were planning a coup to prevent the Jan. 31 inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek, political heir of the late dictator Getulio Vargas. To forestall such a coup, the War Minister, Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, engineered a bloodless Army coup of his own which ousted Mr. Luz and installed Mr. Ramos, the president of the Senate.

Mr. Cafe, who stepped up from the Vice Presidency after Mr. Vargar committed suicide in August, 19, was released from the hospital yesterday after an examination by eight doctors. He promptly fired off a message to Mr. Ramos and both houses of Congress that "the motive of my disability which led me to remove myself from the exercise of the Presidency of the republic having ceased, I am resuming for all purposes these functions."

7 Garages Razed In Interlaken Fire

TUCKAHOE—

Fire of undetermined origin last evening swept seven garages in a row of 18 off Manchester Road, Eastchester, in the Interlaken Gardens apartment development.

No cars were damaged. Damage to wooden framework was estimat d at $2,000. Also damaged were articles such as furniture stored in the garages.

STRONG WIND blew this 30-foot pole down on top of 1955 sedan parked in front of 979 Midland Avenue, Yonkers, and caused considerable damage to the car at 12:45 P. M. yesterday. Ptl. Theodore Kantor, right, reports that the pole was rotted at the base. Police have been unable to learn who owns the pole, which was in the area of the Thruway construction project. A Con Edison Co. foreman told the officer that the pole is not owned by that utility. The car is owned by Jean Dolores Westfall of Larchmont Acres, Larchmont — Staff Photo by Henry Sarno

BAGDAD PACT 5 PLAN ARMS UNIT

Military Advisers Work Out Anti-Red Defense

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The five Baghdad pact powers pushed forward today with plans to complete their organization for political and economic cooperation.

High military advisers of the five—Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Pakistan and Iran—met separately to work out a military organization which will join forces along Russia's southern border from the Bosporus to the Himalayas. Although the pact was initiated by Turkey and Iraq last February, first steps to set up a permanent defense organization within it were not taken until yesterday.

In another session at Al Zahour palace outside Baghdad, British Foreign Secretary Macmillan and the premiers of the other four powers discussed economic and political cooperation.

U. S. observers attended both sessions.

Informants said the groups hoped to complete the defense organization and wind up their work by tonight.

Hunt Goes On For Lost Ship

BOSTON (AP)—A wide sea-air search continued today for the Liberian freighter Daytona, feared lost in gale-swept seas off the Massachusetts coast with a crew of 24 aboard.

Three Coast Guard airplanes searched in an area about 150 miles southeast of Cape Cod. Two Coast Guard cutters have been on the scene since Sunday.

The Daytona was last heard from about 9 A. M. Sunday when she radioed she was listing and taking water some 75 miles east of Gloucester. She also reported her steering apparatus inoperative.

High Teacher Pay Basis

School Report Aims At More County Aid

WHITE PLAINS—

Higher costs of schools in Westchester and similar suburban communities should be considered when a new formula for distribution of state aid to education is compiled, the Board of Supervisors was told yesterday.

The Board's Legislation Committee urged that the salaries which must be paid to obtain teachers should be considered to insure that the aid money is distributed equitably.

This was one of six recommendations made in the report, which culminated almost a year of study by a committee of top school officials working with the Legislation Committee.

According to figures compiled by the County Finance Department, Westchester received $8,161,458 in state aid for education this year. The previous year's distribution was $7,954,323.

Present Formula Frozen

Supervisor Owen M. Quinn, Mount Pleasant Republican, submitted the report and had it laid over for one week so other Board members can study it. If the report is approved it will be sent to the Temporary State Commission on Educational Finances, familiarly known as the Heald Commission.

The Heald Commission is studying whether the state aid formula for education grants by the State should be changed. It is also considering other financial aspects of school systems. The State Legislature, for the past two years, has frozen the present formula—until a new one is devised. Factors in the formula now include attendance, cost per pupil, assessed valuations and an equilization factor.

Mr. Quinn, chairman of the Legislation Committee, stated after offering the report:

"We don't want any school district in Westchester to receive any less money than it does today. We want to get more if possible."

New Approach Sought

Super sor Hugh A. Lavery, Ossining Democrat, held there must be a new approach to paying for schools. He said that Westchester, because of its suburban character, has not many large taxable buildings and factories to help pay for schools, and suggested new sources of revenue may be necessary.

The report submitted yesterday suggests:

1. That the average monthly enrollments be used in place of average daily attendance as a factor for the formula. The report maintains that whether the full quota of children are in school daily or not, teachers and classrooms are provided on the basis of full enrollments.

2. Pupil attendance in the last preceding year rather than the past three years be used as a factor. The report said that using the three-year period penalizes district which are growing at a time when their money problems are most acute. Children are often enrolled from newly constructed homes before the residential

Home, 2 Cemeteries Haunted By Larchmont's Parking Hex

Larchmont Village's concern with parking, the No. 1 problem in the community," threatens to cause relocation of a living household and two graveyards in which the dead have been undisturbed since Colonial days.

The Larchmont Board last night agreed to await an offer from the owner of 8 Woodland Avenue before considering purchase of the site for an extension of the railroad parking lots, and authorized Village Attorney George P. Forbes to proceed with the problems of purchasing the Quaker and Barker cemeteries on the Boston Post Road so that these properties can be used to extend the Gilder Street parking lot.

On Both Sides

The home owner, Vincent Reviello, appeared before the board to protest the Village proposal to create a parking lot on property to his right in addition to the one on property to his left. Mr. Reviello said he felt it is too much to be "entirely surrounded by parked cars."

His neighbor, Mrs. Frank Conte of 2 Woodland Avenue, said she felt another parking lot would add to the congestion on the avenue. The board contended the congestion is not nearly as bad as painted by Mr. Reviello and Mrs. Conte.

Mr. Reviello also said the Village gave no indication four years ago that the property would be used for parking.

Since 1952 the Board has purchased and made a parking lot of the Crimmins property on Woodland Avenue, and indications are that more land will be needed for parking as the Vil-

Mr. Reviello said he would make an offer to the Village for purchase of his property, "since it looks like you are going to need even more land later." Mayor G. Crawford Eadie said he would take the matter under advisement.

Previously, Mr. Reviello said he would agree to relocate his home on property across the street from his present site. He said he had changed his mind upon learning the Village would pay either none of the costs of moving or only half of the costs. The home was built in 1952 upon land which Mr. Reviello said was a gift, costing him only $1 for title.

Cemeteries

Mr. Forbes reported he had located one of the heirs to the Barker cemetery on the Boston Post Road who had agreed to consider a fair offer from the Village for purchase of the property.

Mr. Forbes explained that the difficulties of purchase are tied up with the ancient history of the cemetery.

The original owner, Mr. Forbes explained, got the property from the Dutch Crown but there no deed is available since it was destroyed when the White Plains Courthouse was burned down during the Revolutionary War.

"It is a question," said Mr. Forbes, "of opening negotiations with the heirs to the Barker and the Quaker cemeteries."

He explained that the Barker purchase price had been estimated at $5,600 and the Quaker Cemetery at $13,000, approximately $18,600 for both.

"We shall also have to pay for removing and reinterring all the

Mohawk To Combine Flights For Upstate

RYE LAKE—

Improved airline service between Westchester and upstate New York will start next Tuesday, Mohawk Airlines, the only passenger transport line now operating out of Westchester County Airport, announced today.

Flights 1 and 41 will be consolidated into Flight 231, which will be served by new and larger Convair planes instead of the DC3 type, it was announced.

Flight 231, originating at Newark Airport, will stop at Westchester Airport at 8:10 A. M., then at Utica-Rome, 9:10; Syracuse, 9:41; Rochester, 10:17, and Buffalo, 10:46. This was the flight originally made by American Airlines before that company withdrew from Westchester service and was replaced by Mohawk.

At present, Mohawk's Flight 1 goes to Buffalo by Binghamton and Ithaca, while Flight 41 takes the Utica-Syracuse-Elmira route to Rochester.

The change to Flight 231, it was explained, is due to surveys showing that the metropolitan traffic, including that from Westchester, prefers the same pattern as the New York Central Railroad to Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo. The southbound flight in the afternoon from Buffalo to Rye Lake already follows this pattern.

Mohawk said today that it expects to add more Convair planes to its fleet to replace DC3s gradually.

The newly formed organization will meet on the first Monday of each month with the exception of the next meeting which will be held Jan. 9, 1956.

Mr. Sirlin, who will direct the activities of the organization in its first year, is a justice of the peace for the Town of Rye, a member of the Board of Visitors of Harlem Valley State Hospital and a trustee of the Westchester Jewish Center.

Other charter members are Sylvan Schwartzreich, George Burchell, Judge Henry T. Hornidge, Roger H. Harper, Anthony Sansone, John L. Delius, George Krawchich, John C. Capuano and John A. Fazio.

Cabinet Sees President For Work Session

Top Aids Meet With Him at Rustic Lodge to Draft Policy Speech

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower met with his Cabinet and White House staff in a rustic mountain lodge today for an intensive work session on the State of the Union message he will put before Congress in January.

Two of the President's chief speech-writing assistants — Kevin McCann and Bryce Harlow—were among the Administration officials who flew in by helicopter for the meeting at Camp David on a Catoctin mountain top near here.

The National Security Council met in the same setting yesterday in another partly airborne operation. No announcement was made of results.

Ike Walks to Talk

Mr. Eisenhower strode up to the cabin at 9:03 A. M., accompanied by Secretary of State Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations. The meeting began at 9:15 A. M.

The presence of the speech-writers and other White House technicians made it plain the Administration was ready for serious work on the State-of-the-Union declaration of policy.

One of the early arrivals by air was Agriculture Secretary Benson.

Today's fly-in to an athletic field-airstrip on the grounds of Camp David, the wooded retreat of Presidents, followed the pattern of yesterday's gathering of Security Council members. That was the biggest airborne operation involving top government officials ever held in this country.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom was another arrival by air.

BELLOWS SLATES NEW GRID POLICY

Varsity To Play Teams More Nearly Its Size

The physical education department at Bellows High School plans to adopt a new policy with regard to the football program in which varsity games will be scheduled more extensively with schools of comparable size in terms of enrollment for boys, it was announced last night at a Rye Neck Board of Education meeting in the Bellows High School auditorium.

The plan includes the formation of a junior high or ninth grade team which will prepare students for junior varsity play in the 10th grade and for varsity play in the two top grades.

The plan, according to Dr. Alvin Hicks, superintendent of schools, is designed to "enhance the football program" at Bellows.

Lost 19 Straight

Admittedly, the plan is an outgrowth of the lack of success Bellows football teams have had in the last three seasons, in which the squad has lost 19 straight games after winning the 1953 opening game.

A major cause for the losses is the difference in registration of boys available for varsity play, since practically every school which Bellows meets in football has a greater supply of available material for its team. There are only 145 boys at Bellows in grades nine through 12.

Scheduling teams of more nearly equal size will tend to make games more even, it is felt.

The new scheduling program may even go as far as eliminating the Harrison and Rye football rivalries, it was privately admitted by Coach Jack Hasley, Rye Neck director of athletics, although it will be concerned only with football and not with other sports in which there are no plans to discontinue play among the traditional "Little Three".

More Effective

The plan further would develop football material more effectively, it is claimed, since boys would have opportunities for play on both the nine-grade team and the junior varsity before becoming involved in varsity play.

Questioned as to football for the seventh and eighth-grade boys, Mr. Halsey said that it is questionable whether the game is desirable for boys in that age group or whether it is more desirable for a "modified" form of the game, such as touch football which does not involve such severe bodily contact, is more to be desired.

Appointments

The Board approved the engagement of Edward Hennessey of 409 Delancey Avenue, Mamaroneck, as general mechanic and maintenance man for the district on a temporary basis for six months.

Prior to the approval, the Board, by a split vote, approved a salary of $4.000 for the post with two annual increments of $250 each.

C. H. Griffiths Heads County Polio Drive

WHITE PLAINS—

Appointment of Charles H. Griffiths of New Rochelle, former Surrogate, as Westchester chairman for the 1956 March of Dimes campaign was announced today by the Westchester chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The campaign will be from Jan. 3 to 31. Local committees have been organized in 40 cities villages and towns in the county.

"Last Spring" Judge Griffiths said, "the Salk vaccine was given to the world by March of Dimes research and millions of children were protected through the vaccine supplied by the March of Dimes. But, among the unprotected, polio still took its terrible toll this year. Here in Westchester alone we have 146 new patients, many being adults over nineteen years of age. The increase of polio among adults adds heavily to the cost in terms of dollars and stability of home life and March of Dimes helps all who need assistance regardless of age."

"Polio isn't licked yet" he said "and if we're going to bring the disease under control, we'll need the help of every man, woman and teen-ager in Westchester between now and the end of January."

Judge Griffiths added that the Westchester chapter must "carry on long-term care of polio victims of former epidemics and assume responsibility for those still destined to be stricken before the majority of chilrden and grown-ups can be inoculated."

Lottery Plea Filed By Rye Neck Board

The Rye Neck Board of Education last night sidestepped the issue of granting permission to the Bellows Community Club to hold a lottery in connection with its annual benefit card party scheduled for March 10.

By three to two with one abstention, the Board voted to "acknowledge and file" a letter from Margaret H. Morgan, chairmen of the community club, in which the permission was requested. The action had the effect of tabling the request.

Garfunkel Abstains

Voting in favor of the motion were Trustees Peter C. Doern Jr., L. Carl Meskimen, and Arthur G. Bysshe; opposed were Trustees Russell Pelton and Frank Begrisch, George Garfunkel, Board president, abstained from voting.

The letter from the community club pointed out that the annual card party is held for the benefit of the scholarship fund which aids worthy Bellows graduates to continue their education. It was stated that the proposed lottery ... would substantially swell the proceeds of the card party.

Not in School

"It can't be done in any of our school buildings," said Mr. Garfunkel.

"The laws on lotteries being what they are," he continued, "we can't give such permission and although I, for one, think the laws are unrealistic, I'd have to vote against it."

Judge Henry Hornidge, Board counsel, agreed with Mr. Garfunkel and stated that raffles, lotteries, and drawings of this kind are illegal, although, he ad-

Halls Granted Two-Month Eviction Stay

Mrs. Dorothy Hall, tenant, and Mrs. Gussie Saulter, owner, have been granted a two-month court stay of dispossession from the condemned house at 2028 Palmer Avenue, Larchmont Village, Attorney George P. Forbes Jr. reported last night to the Larchmont Village Board.

The house was condemned Aug. 2 by order of the White Plains Supreme Court on application of the Village after the residence had been inspected and found unfit for habitation.

The ensuing problem has been to find a place where Mrs. Hall and her 10 children can remain together.

The County Welfare Department, the Mamaroneck Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Larchmont Board and real estate dealers and individuals have been unable to locate such a dwelling.

Since the end of Summer the children, ranging in age from four to seventeen, have been living in what one board member has described as "a disgrace to all of us living here in Larchmont—a home without central heating, without lights, with many of the windows broken out completely and stuffed with blankets, and a house which is a fire hazard, a health menace, and an eyesore to nearby residents."

DIGOUT CLIMAXES SCOUT CAMPOUT

A digout climaxed a campout of Troop 4, Larchmont Boy Scouts, after they spent the week-end on the grounds of St. Luke's Hospital, Greenwich.

The digout was the fitting climax. The 16 Scouts who had enjoyed a weekend of compass work, map - reading, tracking through the snow, and a snowball fight, dug Scoutmaster Warren Quimby's car out of the snow.

An interpatrol rally was won by the Wildcat Patrol led by Don Harper, with the Flaming Arrows under Tom Massey in second place.

Transportation was provided by Irving Burten, transportation chairman, Wallace Rudd, Arthur Silver, Lawrence Johnson, and Theodore Tuck.

on the basis that the school budget for this year calls for a $3,500 annual salary rather than $4,000.

It was pointed out by Dr. Hicks that the post has been vacant for some five weeks and that the saving thus effected will aid in making up the difference in the new salary rate.

'Going Rate'

Dr. Hicks also stated that it is difficult to find and hold a fully qualified man unless he is paid at the "local going rate" and unless he sees some opportunity for salary advancement.

Trustees Russell Pelton, Arthur E. Bvsshe, Frank Beerisch and Peter C. Doern Jr. voted in favor of the increased salary scale.

Other appointments included the naming of Mrs. Edward Santillo of White Plains on a regular substitute basis as long as there is need, and the approval of tutor for a Daniel Warren School pupil who requires home instruction.

Changes in Civil Service status to place two employes on a permanent basis, subject to a six-month probationary period, were granted to Mrs. Hannan Yerdon, a stenographer, and Vincent Vitti, custodian.

Miss Marie Haggerty, principal of Barry Avenue School, and George Avery Daniel Jr., School principal, were granted permission to attend the New York State Elementary Principals' Conference Dec. 5 and 6 in Syracuse.

Annual Tour

In other actions the Board set its annual tour of inspection of buildings and grounds for Dec. 3 and 4 and moved the date of the next regular board meeting from Dec. 19 to Dec. 12 because the former date will fall during the Christmas recess.

Mr. Bvsshe, Mr. Mekimen and Mr. Garfunkel reported that they had made visitations of the schools during the last month.

A lengthy informal discussion was held, touching several of the board's policies. Further discussions on policies will be held at future meetings and when finally fully discussed a new summary of policies will be made available.

Police Corral Runaway, 15, As Prowler

A fifteen-year-old Port Chester runaway apprehended last night by Town of Mamaroneck police was turned over to Larchmont police on a charge of prowling at the rear of 1815 Palmer Avenue, Larchmont. He was then turned over to Port Chester police and sent to the Youth Consultation Home, where he will face a juvenile delinquency charge.

Police said he had left home Thursday with an older brother who had worked at the Larchmont Bowl as a pinsetter during the five-day escapade. The brothers said they had slept in the cellar of a New Rochelle home.

Larchmont police Lt. Thomas Boyle and Pvt. Henry Krobotzky surprised the fifteen-year-old at the rear of the Palmer Avenue apartments. He fled at their approach and was later apprehended at Myrtle Boulevard and Chatsworth Avenue by Town Sgt. Eugene DeVeau.

He confessed to the prowling charge at Larchmont Police Headquarters, and both boys were turned over to Port Chester police.

White Seeks Thruway Data On Drainage

While the Larchmont Village Board is still awaiting reports from New Rochelle and the Town of Mamaroneck concerning the reactivation of the Pinebrook Drainage Commission, Trustee Edward White last night said that the board had better look into the effect the new England Thruway will have on the drainage system.

Mr. White said that it is possible a fourth member could be added to the commission. He said that if the runoff from the thruway will add to the overloaded drain, the Thruway Authority should come into the picture.

He said that while members of the Pinebrook Homeowners Association had asked for a tidal floodgate at the Boston Post Road underground entrance of the Premium River, the tides were not the cause of flooding in the Pinebrook section.

"There is only one type of flooding here," he said, "and that is from the run off from the watershed." The watershed extends through Larchmont from both the Town of Mamaroneck and lands surrounding the New Rochelle water reservoir.

Mr. White said he could not see how the construction of the built-up thruway could possibly not add to the runoff already prevalent in the area.

"We need to have a quantitive idea of how much more water is going to run off here," he said. "I'm convinced the road will make the situation much worse than it is now."

The board agreed a study should be made of the runoff problem, and that the Thruway Authority should be requested to enter the Pinebrook drainage discussion.

Equalization Rise Opposed

3. There should be no increase in the equalization factor of $6.20 per $1,000. The factor in this case is an effort to allow districts with low assessed values per child get more state aid than higher ones. The committee said that 'in view of the low state equalization rates recently promulgated for many cities and towns in Westchester, it is important to the taxpayers of the county that no increase be made in the amount of this factor.'"

4. That the foundation cost per pupil, reported to have been tentatively set at $320, be increased in view of current costs, and that provision for periodic adjustments be keyed to a cost-of-education index.

5. That assurance be provided that no school district will receive state aid in an amount less than that received for the year 1955-56.

New Figure Insufficient

The fourth and fifth recommendations were based on a recent announcement in which the Temporary State Commission tentatively fixed cost of providing a basic public school education in New York State at $320 a year a pupil. The present cost is set at $220 for a grade school pupil and $274 for a high school student. The committee said that if the $320 figure is adopted, it still "will not offset" the loss of state aid revenues resulting from sharply decreased equalization rates in many areas of Westchester.

The report said the $320 would be "unrealistically low" when compared wit htotal pupil costs including debt service and capital outlay budgeted by Westchester school districts this year as follows:

Cities — High, $686.51; low $495.15, average, $575.60.

Villages — High, $776.04, low $460.00, average $580.37

First Supervisory District (up-county — high, $746.97; low $499-88; average, $665.21.

2d Supervisory District (central and southern Westchester — high, $1,000.70; low, $440.81; average $656.20.

Yonkers, Ossining Out

The table for cities did not include Yonkers and for villages did not include Ossining whose budget systems differ from other locations in the county. The committee noted that the cost a pupil is based upon total budget expenditures and is not comparable with the term generally employed by the State Department of Education because it includes debt service and capital outlay.

The committee conceded that while Westchester may be one of the high cost areas of the state the $320 may already be obsolete on a statewide basis, and most certainly in Westchester. The committee also said that greater consjzance should be given to increases in professional salary levels during the past few years and to warranted increases in salary schedules to be made in the near future.

6. That a formula adjustment factor (based on teachers' salaries required to secure teachers in high cost areas) be considered to provide more equitable state aid allocations. The report explained that the present formula in no way recognizes the higher costs of education in certain parts of the state.

The committee said that "teachers' salaries" is the largest and most important item in school budgets. "It certainly will be the soundest and most practical yardstick for measurement of cost differentials throughout the state."

An advisory group made up of members of boards of education and other citizens representing school districts of the entire county aided in formulating the recommendations. Edwin L. Snell, member of the Pleasantville Board of Education, was chairman of the story group.

Realty Panel To Study New List System

A special committee of the Mamaroneck Realty Board will study and report in January on a new system of multiple listing properties in the area, the members agreed at yesterday's luncheon meeting at Seven Pines Restaurant.

Leon Epstein, vice president, who presided in the absence of Mrs. Jane Cornell, appointed Mrs. Ruth B. Savage, Ernest Pinnerty, Robert D. Payne, and Jack Hutchinson to consider systems now in force in other boards which have been found to increase the efficiency of the board and result in more and better listings.

The system now in effect has proved satisfactory, but falls short of accomplishing such desired results as better service to property owners and more complete listings to the broker members, Mr. Epstein pointed out.

The annual Christmas luncheon party at which the Board entertains local officials and other guests, will be held Dec. 19 at the Oriente Beach Club. Sixty members and guests are expected.

GOP Denies Vote Trend In State Ballot

ALBANY—The 1955 local elections were decided largely on local issues and personalities and presented no evidence of a trend to either majority party, L. Judson Morhouse, Republican State Chairman, holds in a bulletin sent to all GOP county chairmen.

The bulletin is based on a survey of the voting results for 57 county boards of supervisors, in 52 city council elections and 42 mayoral contests in the state.

The Republicans, the survey shows, gained by increasing from 51 to 53 the number of boards of GOP majorities. The Democrats gained two in city council majorities, with Republicans winning 37 and the Democrats 15 of such elections. In the mayoral elections Democrats had a net gain of one, winning 19 while the Republicans took 25. Three cities have nonpartisan mayors and one, New Rochelle, an independent.

Reds Execute 5 Ex-Officials As Traitors

LONDON (AP)—The Tiflis radio announced today five former security officials in the Soviet Georgian Republic have been executed for high treason and other crimes against the Soviet Union.

The broadcast did not link those executed specifically with Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet security and police boss purged and executed in 1953 for alleged treason. However, Beria got his start in the Georgian security organization and kept tight control over it even after he went to Moscow. After his purge, the ax started falling right and left among Georgian officials.

The Tiflis broadcast identified those executed only by their last names. Radio monitors here said a sixth official might have been included in the group executed. This was not certain, due to the indistinctness of the broadcast.

Those definitely identified as executed were:

Rukhadze, former Minister of Internal Security and once - time chief of the prosecution department in the Ministry of Internal Affairs. He apparently was the same man mentioned in a Moscow broadcast shortly after Beria's downfall as having been arrested on charges of perpetrating innocent workers and plotting to arouse dissatisfaction among the Soviet people.

Rokava, former Commissar of Internal Affairs; Tsertell, former Deputy Commissar of Internal Security; Stavisky and Khasani, former prosecutors.

The sixth man was identified only as Riarmi.

Charity Group Averts Strike At Deadline

NEW YORK (AP) — Agreement last night on a contract involving about 400 employes of seven Jewish charity agencies averted a strike scheduled for today.

Members of the CIO Community and Social Agency Employes Union voted acceptance of a three-year contract agreed on by negotiators a short time before.

At a membership meeting in New York City the vote was 268 for acceptance to 69 against, and at a meeting in Pleasantville the vote was 48 for and 27 against.

The last-minute settlement was reached on the basis of improved grievance procedure and a new union dues checkoff system. Previously, negotiators had agreed on wage raises involving case workers, clerical employes and other workers. The contract is retroactive to last Feb. 1 and runs until Jan. 31, 1958.

A union spokesman said the agencies agreed to boost the pay of professional case workers by $400 to $600 annually, bringing the new range to $3,960 to $5,520 in three steps.

Clerical employes, the union said, will get a $7 weekly wage package.

Before the agreement was completed, the union had planned its principal picketing at offices of the Jewish Family Services, the Jewish Board of Guardians and the Jewish Child Car Association.

Board Tables Decision On Garage Use

Decision on whether a garage-apartment at the rear of 165 Larchmont Avenue, Larchmont, is in violation of the zoning ordinance will await a report by the village engineer, the Village Board decided last night.

The dwelling, owned by William J. Brush, was cited in a letter to the board by a neighbor, Louis Shapiro of 167 Larchmont Avenue, as violating the ordinance providing that no garage can be converted for apartment use unless it is occupied as a chauffeur's quarters. The new ordinance, approved by the board last year, states that no garage may be built higher than 13 feet.

Since the building was converted from a bar in 1949, it is the old ordinance that the building is allegedly violating, Village Engineer Francis Griffin pointed out.

But there is a question whether Mr. Brush when he made alterations in April, 1948, did so without a certificate of occupancy. Another question is whether the owner went some steps beyond what was asked in his original application.

Mr. Brush said he made the alterations with the voiced approval of one of the Board members as well as of Arthur Richards, then building inspector.

Attorney George P. Forbes Jr. pointed out that such voiced approval does not constitute a legal claim on Mr. Brush's part since the Village could not recognize such a claim.

BUILDING PERMIT CRACKDOWN SET

Builders and contractors doing alterations or additions to Larchmont homes will be prosecuted if they do not obtain a building permit for the work, the Larchmont Village Board agreed last night after Village Engineer Francis Griffin pointed out that such work is going on without official permission.

The Board voted unanimously to authorize Village Attorney George P. Forbes Jr. to prosecute all such cases in the future.

The measure, according to Mr. Griffin, is leveled primarily at local contractors but also holds for householders who may be ignorant of the law requiring village permission for any building in the community.

Mr. Griffin said that plans also must be submitted that a check may be made on whether any zoning law would be violated in the alteration work.

LOTTERY

Door Prizes

Questioned as to the legality of door prizes, he pointed out that no tickets are sold for door prizes as such but rather for the party at which the prizes are given. In a raffle the tickets are sold on the raffle.

The Board as a whole lauded the purposes of the proposed lottery and questioned whether it would not be possible merely to ignore the letter.

Must Turn It Down

"We want to encourage the community club," said Mr. Doern, "but if we have to pass on this we have to turn it down because we can't countenance a lottery."

Mr. Bvsshe suggested that the Board simply "ignore" the letter, but Mr. Pelton interjected that since it had been read publicly some action was necessary.

Mr. Doern then made the motion to acknowledge and file, which passed by the split vote with dissent from Mr. Pelton and Mr. Regnisch, both of whom felt that some definite action should be taken even though that action would of necessity be negative.

Turkey Day Menu

If you prefer a little pigskin before your Turkey Day dinner, Westchester will serve up an interesting football menu on Thanksgiving Day morning with eight select grid dishes on tap involving county and area schools.

The Thursday morning schedule finds White Plains Hi hosting unbeaten Mont Pleasant of Schenectady; Stepinac welcoming Chaminade still with a chance at the Catholic High School League title. Undefeated Rye awaits a visit from unbeaten "neighbor" Harrison; Roosevelt of Yonkers eyes its first perfect season in some 30 years against city rival Saunders; New Rochelle hosts Iona Prep in a continuation of one of the county's best rivalries; Yonkers visits Gorton; Mount Saint Michael meets Bronx rival Cardinal Hayes, and Brewster invades Mahopac with a chance to tie for the Putnam-Westchester crown.

Little Rye Hi will be gunning for its 34th consecutive win in one of the country's longest schoolboy grid skeins against rival Harrison. The Garnets have come up with some potent grid machines of late, but the '55 edition seems to have a little atomic power included. This four-year record is quite a tribute to the grid talents of the Rye gridders, the coaching staff, city fathers, students and the civic-minded residents of the shore city.

Oklahoma Stays First In A. P. Football Poll

By RIP WATSON
Associated Press Sports Staff

With only one week of the season remaining, Oklahoma's mighty Sooners have a firm grip on first place among the nation's college football powerhouses today and a good chance of repeating their 1950 national championship.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's redshirted stalwarts, who boast the longest major college winning streak in the country—28 in a row—were so far ahead in the poll that most of the interest centered on the battle for second place beween Michigan State and Maryland.

6-Point Separation

Oklahoma was No. 1 on the ballot of 114 of the 209 sports-writers and broadcasters, piling up a total of 1,889 points. A good ways back in second place, Michigan State squeezed past Maryland by a bare six points, 1,689 to 1,683. Points were awarded on the usual basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc.

Both teams have concluded their seasons, although Maryland will meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl and State will play ULA, No. 4, in the Rose Bowl.

Oklahoma is expected to wrap up victory No. 29 and its second perfect season in a row against so-so Oklahoma A&M Saturday. Several other members of the top 10, notably Georgia Tech and Auburn, will be gunning for bowl bids as well as a higher spot in the rankings.

Tech, No. 9, goes against the University of Georgia and Auburn, a newcomer at No. 10, meets Alabama in a pair of traditional intra-state games.

UCLA, which moved past Notre Dame after a workmanlike 17-7 victory over Southern California, also has concluded its schedule. The Irish, who had to battle to pull out a 17-14 win over Iowa, get a chance to grab the No. 4 position back this week against that same Southern California club.

Ohio State, the 1954 national champion, placed sixth behind Notre Dame after winding up its operations for the year with a 17-0 victory over Michigan. The Wolverines fell to the No. 12 spot and Ohio climbed three notches from ninth.

Texas Christian held seventh place while clinching a Cotton Bowl berth with a 35-0 drubbing of Rice, while Texas A&M continued as No. 8. The Aggies wind up against Texas Thursday and TCU will finish against Southern Methodist Saturday.

Lovellette Tops NBA Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)— Clyde Lovellette, the All America from the University of Kansas, who was to step into George Mikan's shoes for the Minneapolis Lakers, has finally come into his own as he leads the National Basketball Association scorers.

Lovellette for the second straight week holds down the top spot with 178 points on 70 field goals, 38 free throws and a average of 19.8.

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, who is in seventh place, leads the circuit with a 25.0 average and fourth place Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors follow Pettit with 23.2.

Rookie Maurice Stokes of the Rochester Royals is in second place in scoring with an average of 20.7 on 53 goals, 39 freethrows and 145 points. He also is the leader in rebounds with 122, while Lovellette is second with 119.

Arizin is the field goal percentage leader with 99 field goal attempts and 48 that have gone through for a .485 mark. Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals leads in free throw percentage with a .868 percentage on 53 attempts and 46 connections.

Andy Phillip of the Fort Wayne Pistons and Dick McGuire of the New York Knickerbockers are deadlocked for the top spot in the playmaking department with 57 assists each. Slater Martin of Minneapolis is third with 55.

TEAM CAPTAIN of the Harlem Globetrotters is Clarence Wilson (above), who leads the basketball fun-makers into the County Center, White Plains, on their annual visit to Westchester tomorrow night. 'Trotters play Philadelphia Sphas in second-game of twin bill designated "Jesse Arnell Night" in honor of New Rochelle - Penn State star now with the clowning club. Boston Whirlwinds with Bevo Francis face Washington Generals in 8 P. M. opener.

MHS Sextet Readying For Dec. 5th Opener

Only 13 days remain before Mamaroneck Hi's hockey charges will be tangling with defending-champion Greenwich in Westchester Hockey League competition at the Playland Rink in Rye.

Whether or not Ray Wattles, new coach at Mamaroneck, will be able to field a team capable of upsetting Greenwich is dubious, but it is fairly certain that the Tigers should be better than last year.

Mamaroneck was able to win only two of 10 starts last season as it tallied only 13 goals in 10 contests yielding 28 markers. The 'punchless' Tigers finished fifth in the six-team loop.

League Improved

While it is expected that the Tigers will be stronger, it is also probable that so will the other five clubs of the WHL. In the past, Tarrytown was the team everyone could pick up an easy victory against, but with the merging of Washington Irving and North Tarrytown into Sleepy Hollow, it is expected that the Hollowmen may be a threat for WHL honors.

Coach Wattles has eight veterans from which to form the nucleous of this year's squad. He lost John Kenney, Bob Fritz, Jan Duncan and John Peterson through graduation.

Returning will be Duncan O'Dwyer, Bert and Hank Van Beever, Dick Evans, Pete Cameron, Bob Kaufmann, Steve Herin and Dick Ehrenberg. New candidates include Don Wakeman, Howie Asheson, Ben Shapanick, Fred Lewis, Mike Curtis and John Johnson.

Army Tops On Defense, Says Blaik

WEST POINT (AP) — Army football coach Earl Blaik, who has spent almost as much time ministering to his athletes in the hospital as on the field, announced today that:

1. Army has a better defensive team than Navy.

2. He didn't think Army would be invited to a bowl game.

3. "This has been a trying season."

Blaik leads his three - times beaten forces to Philadelphia Saturday to play once-defeated, once-tied Navy in the 56th meeting of the service schools. Navy rules a slight favorite.

"I think we've got a better defensive team than Navy," said Blaik before sending his cadets through a real-two-fisted workout, "and I'll be surprised if we don't show it Saturday.

"I know Navy is even more dangerous than last year (the Middies won that one, 27-20) because their passing has improved, but they'll have to touch all the bases to beat us."

Blaik apparently is in no position to say what action Army would take on a post - season game if the Cadets lick the Tars from the Severn. While nothing official has been said, there doesn't seem to be much doubt that the Cotton Bowl would like the winner.

Army has never gone in for post-season play, but Navy made its first bowl appearance in years last New Year's when it plastered Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl.

"We've lost three games," said Blaik, "and I don't think anyone would consider us. Would we like to play one more game after Navy? One more game of what? This has been a very trying season."

CENTURY 2 TIES CABS FOR 2D WITH SWEEP OF HALL '5'

While attention has been focused on the first-place battle between the Franklins and defending-champion Yellow Cabs, Century Two, sparked by Pat Emiro's arc swinging, has gradually been gaining ground in the Major Pin League race.

Last night, however, Emiro and his Century mates came into the spotlight, as Pat shattered all MPL records with a sizzling 655 series on 220, 220 and 215 efforts at the Larchmont Bowl.

Peters	5	28
Myrtles	3	30

The record-breaking total sparked Century Two to a sweep of the Hallmen and into a second-place tie with the Yellow Cabs—two games behind the league-leading Franklins.

Franklins' Surge Halted

Franklins extended their victory streak to seven games by defeating the Yellow Cabs, 870-849 and 917-752, but an 887-842 setback in the finale terminated the skein and forced the Franklins to settle for a two-game advantage over the Cabs and Century Two.

Nick Cianciulli and Dan Protano paced the Franklin assault with 575 and 562 scores. Bob Wilson's 545 was high for the Cabs.

Park Radio, with a 3-0 upset moved into a fourth-place tie of the hot-and-cold Browers, with its opponents.

Century One, defeating the Fairways, 2-1, gained fifth place, a tilt ahead of the Fairways. An 893-892 second-game win for the Fairways prevented a sweep. Charles Friscia's 567 total was high for Century One.

Scores were low as the Myrtles edged Peters Radio, 2-1, and Free Parking defeated the Suttons by the same margin.

Jerry Hyzdu Again Paces MHS Keglers

Arc swinging sizzling scores of 188 and 185, Jerry Hyzdu posted a 393 two - game series to again cop honors in the Mamaroneck High School bowling league yesterday at the Larch*mont Bowl.*

Hyzdu, greatly improved from last year, opened initial MHS activity last week by collecting laurels with a 348 total—accumulated on 176 and 172 efforts.

Only other bowler to register above the '300' mark was John Guadagnola, who fired games of 147 and 161 for a 308 series.

Competition, meanwhile, produced three 1-1 ties as the Gutterboys, despite Hyzdu's 393 total, were only able to emerge with a 1-1 deadlock against the Aces, the Bombers tied the Goofers, and the Scorpions managed a 1-1 score against the Celtics and Guadagnola.

County Ends Golf Season At 3 Courses

WHITE PLAINS—

The 1955 golf season will end Sunday at Sunday at three of Westchester's four public courses.

The County Park Commission said today the fourth course, Saxon Woods in Scarsdale, would remain open and Winter golf will be played there.

The three links that will shut are Sprain Lake in Yonkers, Maple Moor in White Plains and Mohansic in Yorktown.

"On an experimental basis, and weather permitting, golf will continue through the Winter into next year at Saxon Woods," Superintendent George Haight of the Park Commission said.

Boulder Brook Horse Show Cancels Maclay Trophy Event

By AL BAMBERGER JR.
SCARSDALE—

Boulder Brook Club's 31st annual Fall horse show, largest two-day indoor event in the country will have a program of 63 classes at the club Saturday and Sunday.

Judging, to be conducted in nine divisions, with as many championships at stake, will run through three sessions each day, commencing at 8:45 A. M., and 2 and 8 P. M. The Boulder Brook show has drawn a combined entry of over 1,000.

Championship rosettes will be awarded, for most points won throughout the show in a sequence of classes, among working hunters, green working hunters, conformation hunters and open jumpers, as well as for both saddle-type and hunter-type children's horses. There will also be two equitation championships — saddle and hunter-seat — and a three-gaited title which will be determined by a stake class.

"Good Hands" but Not Maclay

The show is the first to hold junior horsemanship classes leading to finalist berths at the 1956 National. At Boulder Brook there will be saddle-seat competition to qualify one rider for the next good hands finals, and classes on both hunter-seat and saddle-seat for AHSA medals which require three victories for eligibility in the finals.

The Maclay Trophy hunter-seat equitation event will, however, be missing, as is likely to be the case at quite a number of local shows during the ensuing year. Elimination of the Maclay class stems from disputes over new ASPCA-National Horse Show requirements which, as recent as yesterday, were announced as further modified.

For 23 years — during which a generation of riding enthusiasts was developed as a result—a single local Maclay victory qualified for the Garden finals. The contest was held over three-foot jumps, twice around the ring.

Storm of Protest

In an effort to lessen the congestion of children's classes at the Garden, perhaps from 80 to about 25 finalists, new regulations were fixed. Three local triumphs were to be necessary, and the course was altered to a figure-eight and over 3-foot 6-inch jumps. A storm of protest swept the horseshow world.

Parents and instructors — and the youngsters themselves— protested that the new rules prevented younger children from competing (over such a course and particularly put a premium with barriers at such a height) on those who could afford both costs and time of travelling to and competing at shows for perhaps 15 to 20 weekends in bidding to qualify.

Boulder Brook, Ox Ridge of Darien, Conn., and Rice Farms, —the first of the new season's metropolitan shows—all reflected the protest by eliminating the class from their prize-lists.

New Announcement Yesterday

The ASPCA yesterday announced that a decision had been reached at an ASPCA-NHS meeting, called by Col. Walter B. Devereux of Rye, president of the National, and held last Friday to reduce the new standards by requiring only two instead of three local blues in zones 1 and 2.

Although a compromise, the modification is not expected to lessen the bitterness created by the change in the first instance. Al Homewood, club and show manager at Boulder Brook, today replied to a telegram received from June Eliot, public relations director of the ASPCA, advising of the new regulations, as follows:

Homewood Replies

"Cannot and will not start my small children over a figure-eight course at 3-feet 6 inches. Sorry some one in your organization cannot realize how important this class really is to young children."

Since it is probable that there will be no further reduction in requirements leading to the 1956 Maclay finals, serveral alternatives have been presented. It is becoming apparent that many shows will follow Boulder Brook's lead by eliminating the class from their agenda, but most would welcome a substitute.

(1) It is possible that the Professional Horsemen's Association will within its own structure, sponsor a new class, based upon the original Maclay structure, leading to a national championship. This could be staged at a show arranged under PHA auspices or even, perhaps, at the Pennsylvania National, held annually at Harrisburg the week before New York's event. The possibility is under consideration.

(2) The ASPCA-NHS might, ultimately, return the class to its original status but accept a suggestion that preliminary nationals be scheduled at a convenient location, such as Squadron-A Armory. Thus a selected dozen or 16 or even 25 finalists could advance to the Garden arena for the time-honored Sunday afternoon national crowning — a goal of all young riders.

(3) The Maclay rebellion could, conceivably, result in an entirely new National Horse Show pattern. Not only the hunter-seat equitation but all other branches *of junior riding could be incor*porated in a mammouth National Junior Horse Show, of perhaps three or five days' duration, with Squadron-A again as a logical site. This would relieve the Garden National of being obliged to tolerate the small-fry at their spactacles.

Such a Junior innovation, of course, could also work to Garden disadvantage. The youngsters, and their parents, are the show's staunchest supports, not only for '56 but for years to come.

Ohio State's Cassady Tops All Big Ten 11

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's Big 10 champions and Michigan State's Rose Bowl-bound Spartans each placed three men on the Associated Press All Big 10 football team for 1955.

Michigan's Wolverines, losing out to Ohio State for the Western Conference title, had two men on the squad while Illinois, Purdue and Iowa grabbed off one spot each.

The team chosen by A. P. staff writers in the Big 10 area consists of seven seniors, three juniors and one sophomore.

Fabulous Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All-America halfback, was the only unanimous choice on the first team while center Ken Vargo, Cassady's teammate, missed the honor by one vote. Ohio State's other selection was Jim Parker, 242-pound guard.

Michigan State's selections were guard Carl Nystrom, tackle Norm Masters and quarterback Earl Morrall.

Michigan's two great ends, Tom Maentz and Ron Kramer, were named to the squad rounded out by Purdue fullback Bill Murakowski, Iowa guard Cal Jones and Illinois sophomore Bob Mitchell.

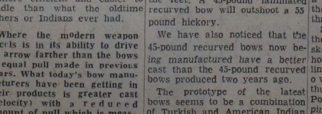
CLEVELAND'S MAN OF YEAR

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland baseball writers yesterday picked outfielder Al Smith as the Cleveland Indians 'Man of the Year.'



By FRED LUKS
Hunting and Fishing Editor

The modern hunting and target bows are far cries from the highly-vaunted yew sticks that Robin Hood and the rest of his legendary band made famous in Sherwood Forest some centuries ago

Thanks to manufacturing methods and use of amazing synthetics in present-day bows, archers don't need the muscles of a village blacksmith to draw an arrow. Pound for pound and inch for inch, the contemporary bow is more efficient and easier to handle than what the oldtime archers or Indians ever had.

Where the modern weapon excels is in its ability to drive an arrow farther than the bows of equal pull made in previous years. What today's bow manufacturers have been getting in their products is greater cast (velocity) with a reduced amount of pull which is measured in pounds.

In 1951 the average deer hunter in Westchester used a bow with a 59-pound pull. Last season the weight dropped to about 55 pounds. Predictions are that next year it will be down to about 52 pounds.

At one time the most popula bows were made of osage orange, yew and ash. Less expensive products ere carved from lemonwood and hickory. They have practically all disappeared, giving way to bows made of every thing from aluminum to glass.

The higher-priced bows you see around today are made of laminated glass and maple. Eventually even the maple may go the way of osage and yew. It's expected that future bows will be 100 per cent glass laminations.

What makes the current bows outperform the old-time sticks is the resiliency of material used and those spring-like recurves at the feet. A 45-pound laminated recurved bow will outshoot a 55 pound hickory.

We have also noticed that the 45-pound recurved bows now be-ing manufactured have a better cast than the 45-pound recurved bows produced two years ago.

The prototype of the latest bows seems to be a combination of Turkish and American Indian designs. Both Turkish and Indian bows had one thing in common. They were considerably shorter than the clumsy English longbow.

There's no doubt that the recurves or forward bends of bow ends is of Middle Eastern origin. Bows used by the American Indians were sometimes scraped flat on both sides. A composite of the two styles would give you the modern hard-hitting bow.

THE PRETTY HOOK

When a hook bends very widely into the strike pocket (between the 1 and 3 pins), big-time bowlers have a name for it. The pretty ball, they call it; Yes, it spills the pins, scatters them into a scrambled heap, true enough. But it's too difficult to control.

Joe Ostroski of Philadelphia and Joe Norris of Chicago, were a couple of wide-hook bowlers at the start — and soon learned that delivery didn't pay off.

So they moved to the right of their original starting spot, as sketch shows. They cut down the hook to better hold the strike line. How? They each had their own way. Ostroski changed thumb position at the start. Pointed it straight ahead, at the pins. Kept it that way throughout the swing, and at release applied finger-spin for a short, sharp-turning hook.

Norris did it by shifting his thumb position even more. He turned it to the right center, so that his fingers were entirely behind the ball to begin with, and through the swing. With his more than normal speed he was able to hold a short, sure pocket line — the delivery that has made him one of the game's greatest bowlers and a big winner in tournaments.

Rested Fiore Beats Nocero

NEW YORK (AP)—After a one-year layoff, Carmine Fiore is back in business looking for a shot at some of the top welterweights.

"The rest did me a lot of good," Fiore said last night after winning a unanimous decision over sturdy Rinzy Nocero in an all-Brooklyn battle at St. Nicholas Arena.

Fiore, twenty-six, went into drydock Oct. 29, 1954 after he was stopped by Vince Martinez on eye cuts. He meant to rest up for six months to let the cuts heal completely but the vacation stretched into a year.

At 149¾, Fiore looked in good condition. He gave pounds and youth to Nocero, 155½, but didn't fade. In addition to his left hook, always his best punch, he showed a solid right hand.

Nocero, twenty-four must lay off because of a cut, eye for a month or so. The right eye needed six stitches.

A crowd of 1,300 paid $2,009 to see the bout.

Plans Started To Form Soccer Loop; Hasley Is Chairman

Jack Hasley, who coached F. E. Bellows to an unbeaten season in 11 soccer games this year, has been appointed temporary chairman of a group which plans to form an association to foster soccer in Westchester County.

The first meeting of this group has been scheduled in the Westchester Recreation Commission's offices in the County Office Building next Monday, 8 P.M., it was announced this morning by Irwin Klein of the commission.

Through the gradual increase of interest in a sport which had been somewhat neglected in the past, Hasley and numerous other soccer enthusiasts decided to get together and establish an organization which would assist in the expansion and improvement of soccer.

During the last few years, numerous schools in Westchester have decided to field soccer teams to compete in interscholastic activity.

Ossining started three years ago, while the Panthers of F. E. Bellows started last season. These schools were two of the powers in Westchester this year, incidentally.

Bellows, in its first year, won five games, lost two and tied one under Hasley. This season the Panthers failed to lose in 11 starts.

Tentative plans of this soccer-minded group are to stimulate interest among other schools in Westchester, and possibly form a Westchester Soccer League in the future.

FAURE'S REGIME APPROACHES END AS HE RISKS ALL

Premier Calls For Vote Of Confidence In Face Of Fierce Attacks

PARIS (AP)—Under fierce attacks from its enemies, almost abandoned by its friends and out of breath from past efforts, Premier Edgar Faure's government appears nearing the end of its nine-month-old life.

Yet Mr. Faure, fighting against delays in his program for quick elections, asked today for a vote of confidence on the question of starting debate next week for an electoral reform law.

The Premier thus staked the life of his government on a ballot scheduled to be taken in the Assembly Tuesday.

Speed Pressed

At the same time Faure announced that the government is submitting a new project to speed the elections. The original government bill calls for ending the Assembly on Jan. 2, with elections in December. Since this is no longer possible, the Premier proposes that the mandate of the present Assembly should be ended seven weeks after the new election law is voted, or if no agreement can be reached on an election law, on Feb. 16 at the latest.

This, Mr. Faure said, would give parliament until Dec. 31 to bring an agreement on a new election law.

URBAN PROGRAM URGED ON STATE

Small Communities May Get Benefits

ALBANY (AP) — Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson today urged the state's small communities to get in on a $4-for-$1 urban planning program.

The commissioner counseled localities to step up their planning activities with the help of federal and state funds available under terms of the U. S. Housing Act of 1954.

All of Westchester's villages and cities except the four largest — Yonkers, Mount Vernon, New Rochelle and White Plains — could take advantage of the program, and all of the towns if village totals are excluded.

Mr. Dickinson sent a bulletin to 2,000 mayors, supervisors and planning board chairmen, outlining procedures whereby localities with populations of 25,000 or less could qualify for aid.

"The new law provides a valuable tool to assist smaller communities of the state in initiating the planning programs which will stimulate their business and industrial growth," Mr. Dickinson asserted.

He explained that under terms of the law the federal government would contribute 50 per cent of the cost of a community's program, the state would give 25 per cent, and the community itself would pay the remaining 25 per cent.

A Commerce Department spokesman said the department was hoping for a $50,000 appropriation in the 1956-57 state budget to cover the state's part of the program.

Mr. Dickinson said some of the administrative procedures of the program remained to be worked out with the Federal Urban Renewal Administration but his department was ready to receive applications for grants from qualified communities.

Larger communities also may participate in the project if they are part of a county or regional planning organization, Mr. Dickinson said.

British Jets Gather Red Blast Samples

LONDON (AP) — The News Chronicle said today that British jets flew to 50,000 feet and gathered samples of the radioactive fallout from Russia's recent nuclear weapons test.

Official sources declined to discuss the report.

The newspaper said the Russian test was so powerful that Soviet authorities must have cleared an area in their Siberian testing grounds twice the size of England and Wales to conduct it.

LOIS MARSHALL

LOIS MARSHALL TO SING MONDAY

Canadian Soprano To Open Concert Series

Lois Marshall, young Canadian soprano and a winner of the Naumburg Award at the Town Hall, New York City, will open at 8:30 Monday the eighth Larchmont-Mamaroneck Community Concert series in the Mamaroneck Junior High School.

One of the most talked of concert discoveries of recent years, Miss Marshall in early childhood was a victim of polio but at twelve years of age entered the Royal Conservatory of Music in Canada and has studied since, working with Weldon Kilburn, her accompanist as well as teacher.

On CBS Yule Program

She was among the artists chosen by Arturo Toscanini to sing and record Beethoven's Missa Solemnis, and was also chosen to sing on the traditional Christmas Eve program over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Marshall has appeared with the Boston Symphony and the Philadelphia Symphony orchestras; in a special concert of Canadian music in Carnegie Hall under the direction of Stokowski, and twice under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan with the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir and orchestra when that ensemble gave New York performances of the St. Matthew Passion and the Messiah.

Her operatic experience includes performances over the Canadian Broadcasting System of Leonora in Beethoven's "Fidelio," Donna Anna in Mozart's "Don Giovanni," and the Queen of the Night in Mozart's "Magic Flute."

This season she will sing her first opera in the United States, appearing in Washington, D. C., in the National Symphony Orchestra's semistaged production of "Don Giovanni."

Tickets Available

A few tickets are still available for the concert series, according to Michael Barclay, president, and it is expected that the Junior High School auditorium will be filled for each of the four concerts scheduled.

These include, in addition to Miss Marshall's appearance Monday, a Jan. 9 appearance of the DePaur Infantry Chorus; a recital Feb. 13 by Wilhelm Backhaus, concert pianist, and a March 17 concert by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra under Dr. William Steinberg.

"We feel," Mr. Barclay said, "that these artists represent by far the most notable array of performers the Community Concert Association has presented in the eight-year history of the series."

Lehman Makes Request

Army Asked To Study County Flood Control

By FRANCES McKUSICK
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — At the request of Senator Herbert H. Lehman, the Senate Public Works Committee has passed resolutions requiring U. S. Army Engineers to report on the feasibility of constructing flood control projects along streams and rivers in Westchester, N. Y.

Senator Lehman's request was supported by Senator Irving M. Ives. Governor Harriman had written Mr. Lehman that Jerry W. Black, chairman of the New York State Flood Control Commission, had asked for the flood control studies.

Affected are the Hudson, Bronx, Hutchison, Mamaroneck, Sheldrake, Saw Mill and Byram Rivers and Blind Brook.

Although Army engineers have in previous years turned down most of these streams as no adaptable to flood control projects, Senator Lehman has asked for a reappraisal in view of this year's floods.

Jury Opens Quiz of Killing Of Woodward

MINEOLA (AP) — A Nassau County grand jury today opened an investigation of the slaying of millionaire socialite William Woodward.

Opening witnesses were police officers from Oyster Bay Cove who were first on the scene Oct. 30 when blonde Mrs. Ann Woodward shot her husband to death.

The thirty-nine-year old Mrs. Woodward is expected before the grand jury to describe the shooting as a tragic accident, touched off by her abnormal fear of a prowler.

First of the socialite witnesses to arrive was Mrs. David Gimbel, member of the department store family.

Twin to the Woodwards, she had attended a party for the Dutchess of Windsor in the hours preceding the Woodward killing.

ICC ENDS TRAIN, BUS COLOR BANS

Segregation Halted On Interstate Lines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an end to racial segregation on interstate trains and passenger buses. It ruled too that segregation of interstate travelers in public waiting rooms is unlawful.

The commission in years past has gone along with the theory that separate accommodations for the races met the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act, so long as they are equal.

But it said in today's rulings:

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race must be regarded under present conditions as unreasonable.

"Also, he is entitled to be free of annoyances, some petty and some substantial, which almost inevitably accompany segregation even though the rail carriers, as most of the defendants have done here, sincerely try to provide both races with equally convenient and comfortable cars and waiting rooms."

GOING SOMEWHERE? NOT if you travel like this, you aren't, Parkway Police warn. That blur at the left is a car heading for trouble — trouble with either a smash-up or a policeman. Excess speed, for which the county parkways were not designed, is one of the main causes of accidents, authorities say. The difference between 40 mph and 60 mph in an hour's drive is only 20 minutes, they point out, but it may easily mean the difference between life and death—yours and your passengers'!

C.D. Test Underway To Aid White Plains

WHITE PLAINS—

All traffic in White Plains will be halted for 10 minutes at 9 A. M. tomorrow during a Civil Defense test.

The two-day State-directed training exercise began today and will continue through tomorrow noon. The only public participation will be from 9 A. M. to 9:10 A. M. tomorrow.

State Civil Defense leaders, headed by Lt. Gen. C. R. Huebner, director, met in City Hall today with County Director Charles A. Fremd, White Plains Director Edwin G. Michaelian, Gen. Robert E. Condon, New York City director, and directors of the support area, to "solve" the problem of an atomic bomb attack on White Plains.

Tomorrow the White Plains C. D. services will be mobilized at County Center Mall at 8:15 A. M. to demonstrate phases of the solution.

Silver Lake to Be 'Hit'

For purposes of the problem, it will be assumed that an atom bomb exploded over Silver Lake at the Harrison line at a height of 3,000 feet. It will be the first training exercise in which White Plains has been a target, city needing help, instead of furnishing aid to another target city.

When the siren sounds at 9 A. M. tomorrow, all vehicular traffic will be ordered to halt as close to the curb as possible and remain standing until the "all clear" is sounded.

Drivers of pleasure cars will be expected to leave their cars, taking their keys, and go to shelter if available. Otherwise they will remain in their cars with windows open.

Drivers and passengers of buses and commercial vehicles will be permitted to remain in the vehicles but drivers will be directed to open all windows, to minimize injury which would be caused by breaking glass due to the bomb shock wave.

All pedestrians will be directed to take shelter in stores, public buildings and places other than private residences, or to stand close to a tree or stone wall. They will not be required to lie down on the ground as would be the case in an actual enemy attack.

Railroad traffic will not be stopped. Commuters en route to the railroad station will be allowed to continue.

Police and fire vehicles, mail trucks, ambulances, vehicles of doctors and members of the clergy, public utility vehicles and other emergency vehicles will not be halted. Emergency work sites will be guarded by one person while other members of the crew take shelter.

ZONERS REJECT CAR WASH PLEA

Town Panel Approves Porch Enclosure

The Town of Mamaroneck Zoning Board of Appeals on Wednesday night for the second time rejected an application by Philip Tarter of New Rochelle to extend the building of his minute car wash at 434 Boston Post Road to the rear on land zoned Residence A. The vote was three to two.

An application by Mrs. Florence E. Segreto of 3 Hillcrest Avenue to enclose the porch of her home a nonconforming use was approved. Four neighbors in the immediate area favored the application and no one opposed.

Opposition to the Tarter application came from Mrs. Elizabeth Lovely of 9 Dillon Road, who owns Hartung Street property adjoining the car wash; Louis Gagliardi, representing his mother, who lives at 34 Hartung Street, and Louis Argenta, representing his mother, who lives at 38 Hartung Street.

See Deterioration

They all contended that extension of a business use into residential property would result in deterioration of an area they have all tried to improve. While only 28 feet would be approved now, they argued, the owner would come back for more and more until the entire parcel was built on to Hartung Street.

Alfred Willis, Larchmont architect, appeared for Mr. Tarter and pointed out that a 28-foot addition to the front would make it possible for his client to wash and dry cars entirely within the building. He claimed that the necessity of drying them outside in cold and below freezing weather constitutes a hardship.

Agreement Set On Drainage Plan Costs

TUCKAHOE—

Officials of Eastchester, Scarsdale and New Rochelle accepted Wednesday the building of a mile-long drainage pipe as the solution to flooding conditions in the Hutchinson River Valley.

Plans call for laying a concrete pipe from the point where Drake Road in Scarsdale becomes Baraud Road in New Rochelle south along the Hutchinson River to Reservoir One.

The cost of the project was estimated at $500,000, with New Rochelle paying 52 per cent of the bill, Scarsdale 29 per cent and Eastchester 19 per cent.

The proposal was discussed at a meeting at Eastchester Town Hall attended by Supervisor Francis X. O'Rourke and Joseph J. Ferone, Town Attorney, both of Eastchester; Edward H. Feldmann, Director of Public Works, and Francis Clapps, Assistant Corporation Counsel, both of New Rochelle; and Reeves Newsom, Scarsdale Village Manager.

The pipe will be financed under provisions of Amendment six, passed Election Day, which permits municipalities to form sewer districts.

Competitive bids will be sought as soon as final plans are adopted.

Controversy To Be Lifted From Agenda

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A major U. N. controversy was resolved today when the General Assembly dropped the Algerian problem from its 1955 agenda and cleared the way for France to end its two months' boycott.

The action came quickly and without opposition, but the successful formula was found only after several weeks of intensive work behind the scenes.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon finally won agreement yesterday of all parties on a proposal which stated that: "the General Assembly decides not to consider further the item entitled 'the question of Algeria' and is therefore no longer seized of this item on the agenda of the 10th session." In nontechnical language, this means that the issue has been dropped from the agenda of the current session.

Ratified by Assembly

The 60-nation Political Committee quickly approved the proposal this morning in a seven-minute meeting without debate. The General Assembly itself then met one hour later and ratified the motion by a unanimous vote.

France walked out of the Assembly Sept. 30 after a 28-27 vote to debate Algerian nationalists' fight for independence from France.

The Asian-African bloc supported the nationalists. The French maintain Algeria is a part of metropolitan France, making the issue a domestic problem and outside U. N. jurisdiction.

An Arab spokesman said the Asian-Arab ground in agreeing to abandon the Algerian debate did not indicate an appeasement of the French".

"It is up to them to come back or not," he said. "As for Algeria, as in Morocco, negotiations are under way. We do not wish to prejudice these negotiations, and so we will not press the issue."

Menon Confident

On another touchy question—the admission of 18 applicants to the U. N. this year—the United States appeared to have relaxed its adamant opposition to Communist Outer Mongolia.

A Western source said the Americans now realize such friends as Italy, Japan, Spain—all among the 18 applicants involved—would blame the United States if its opposition to the central Asian satellite stalled the membership package deal.

The Soviet bloc said they would veto all the non-Communist candidates unless the five Communist countries — Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania are the others—got in.

Heavy Snow Due Upstate

ALBANY (AP) — The Weather Bureau predicted today that a storm spreading northward along the Atlantic Coast would drop 3 to 6 inches of snow tonight in parts of New York State.

Heavy rains that hit southern coastal states as far north as Virginia this morning were expected to turn to snow as the storm moved north from New York City.

The heaviest fall was forecast for the Catskills, the Hudson Valley and other parts of southeastern New York.

'COPTER RESCUES 22 IN CREW OF WRECKED VESSEL

Snow, Winds, Rough Seas Hamper Operation Off Cape Breton Island

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP) —The crew of the wrecked Liberian freighter Kismet II was rescued by helicopter today. Rescuers had battled snow, rough seas and high winds on the rocky coast of Cape Breton Island since yesterday.

The men were hauled to safety in a boatswain's chair swinging below a Canadian Navy helicopter. The helicopter dodged 1,000-foot coastal cliffs to perform the feat.

The ship had been pounded by seas whipped by winds of 30 to 45 miles an hour since it ran aground.

Dispatches said the crew of 22 was saved. Earlier reports had said 30 men were aboard.

Earlier, a convoy led by a snowplow and carrying breeches buoy equipment reached the scene after pushing 100 miles through snow-clogged roads from Sydney.

Winds diminished and skies were clearing as the helicopter operation got underway.

Two lifelines were strung from a 1,000-foot cliff, only 25 feet away, to the vessel.

A Royal Canadian Air Force bomber tried yesterday to drop survival gear to the freighter but proved impractical as the wallowing vessel swung closer to the shore rocks.

Speeder Crashes Barricade

Police Car Overturns In Post Road Chase

A car speeding from Larchmont to Mamaroneck at 3:41 A.M. today slammed into an excavation on the West Post Road near Fenimore Road, and a pursuing police car turned turtle in a swerve to avoid a pileup.

The driver, Clarence Lamont MacNally, thirty-five, of Lynbrook was booked at Mamaroneck Police Headquarters for reckless driving, then turned over to Larchmont police who held him on charges of drunk and reckless driving.

In a special Larchmont court session, Judge John R. Cahill fined MacNelly $150 on the reckless driving count and $100 on the drunken driving count and revoked his license. MacNelly will appear Dec. 5 in the Mamaroneck court.

Larchmont police at 5:38 A.M. alerted Mamaroneck police to a speeding car followed by a Larchmont police car, and the speeder was intercepted by Pfl. Robert Taylor on the West Post Road at Fenimore Road.

Pfl. Taylor reported that MacNelly crashed the barricades at the excavation in an attempt to avoid being stopped and came to a halt in the ditch.

Pfl. Charles Baker Jr., driving the Larchmont police car, swerved to the left and overturned running over a rough spot in the road.

The left side and front end of the MacNelly car and the right side of the police car were damaged.

Gunman Ties Youth to Tree, Attacks Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — An eighteen-year-old girl was forced from an auto on a lonely Bronx road early today her boy friend was tied to a tree, and the girl was raped, police reported.

Police said the incident took place on Shore Road close by Pelham Manor. The girl was described only as a college student.

The victim and her friend, Jerry Goldstein, nineteen, of 1534 East 172d Street, the Bronx, told police they were parked in the latter's car when a man walked over to them, shoved a pistol in the window and forced Mr. Goldstein out.

The attacker, described as about twenty-eight to thirty years old, then ordered the girl from the car and made her walk back to his own car.

The young woman told police her assailant's auto was filled with clothing and household utensils. She said the man boasted that he had just robbed a home in Pelham Manor.

Pelham Manor police said there were no robberies reported last night.

Driver Hurt As Car Rams Parked Truck

A driver was injured and the front end of his car was demolished at 6:26 P.M. yesterday when it collided with the rear of a delivery truck parked in front of 965 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck police report.

Patrick O'Brien of 1420 Girard Street, Mamaroneck, was treated at the scene by Dr. F. R. Hunter for contusions of the chest and lacerations of the nose and left hand. He was taken by police to his home.

According to a statement to police by Porter Dietrich of McCordi Corp., 707 Fenimore Road, Mr. O'Brien swung wide out of his side on Mamaroneck Avenue north on Mamaroneck Avenue. Mr. Dietrich, who was following Mr. O'Brien by about 30 feet, police said, stated that Mr. O'Brien pulled to the right as though to park, but instead rammed the rear of the truck at about 30 mph.

The truck, owned by New Apex Cleaners where the accident occurred, had its rear end pushed in.

Mr. O'Brien told police, they reported, that he did not see the parked truck.

3 STATES DEFY NEW ICC ORDER ON SEGREGATION

Alabama, So. Carolina, Georgia Oppose Racial Discrimination Ruling

ATLANTA (AP)—Three states in the deep South —Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina—today took the lead in opposing an order by the Interstate Commerce Commission to end racial discrimination in trains and buses.

The commission's order yesterday directed that racial segregation on interstate trains and buses be ended by Jan. 10.

Associate Commissioner Jimmy Hitchcock of the Alabama Public Service Commission said last night that Alabama will continue to require separate waiting rooms for white persons and Negroes and that state laws to segregate the races on trains and buses would continue to be enforced.

In Georgia, Attorney General Eugene Cook said he would keep right on seeking to enforce segregation on trains and buses in the state.

Attorney General T. C. Callison of South Carolina said the ICC decision "really means nothing" without the backing of the courts.

WHITE PLAINS—

The Westchester Realty Board added its voice yesterday in asking the Board of Supervisors to enact legislation to limit the use of county park facilities "to qualified Westchester residents."

Zoners Okay Sign-Moving On Fenimore

The Village of Mamaroneck Zoning Board of Appeals yesterday granted permission to General Outdoor Advertising Co. to move two outdoor billboards from the easterly to the westerly side of Fenimore Road between Stanley Avenue and the railroad tracks.

The application was taken before the Board on Nov. 3 by the Village of Mamaroneck, represented by Village Manager William H. Johnson and Village Attorney Anthony Sansone. The application grew out of a request by Bernard Quericia of 405 Fenimore Road, speaking for himself and his father-in-law, that the two signs on the easterly side be removed from between the two homes.

The Village owner of the property on the westerly side between Stanley Avenue and the railroad tracks, asked that the Board permit the signs to be erected on a portion of that property against the railroad embankment.

In its decision the Board limited the permissive period to five years and said that the new signs must be placed within five feet of the railroad embankment property line and set back not less than 20 feet from Fenimore Road.

There can be only two signs, each not larger than 12x25 feet and not higher than 18 feet overall.

They may not be illuminated, the Board decreed, and the area around the signs must be neatly landscaped, shrubbed and maintained.

A plot plan must be submitted in detail before work can begin, and the two present signs must be taken down upon completion of the new.

Traffic Halts In 10-Minute C.D. Exercise

By WORTH JUDGE

WHITE PLAINS—

At 11 A.M. today White Plains was recovering from its first atom bomb attack.

Civil Defense personnel responded quickly and in good order.

The years of training were paying off, although 20 per cent of the Civil Defense personnel were among the casualties.

The wounded were brought into emergency hospitals and aid stations for treatment by a full complement of doctors and nurses under the direction of Dr. Edwin G. Ramsdell.

Streets were being rapidly cleared by the Department of Public Works.

The fires were being brought under control by scores of fire engines from Westchester, Rockland and Dutchess Counties.

The homeless were being sheltered and fed.

There was a general feeling at the control room that the job was being well done.

By WORTH JUDGE

WHITE PLAINS—

More than 1,000 White Plains Civil Defense workers were mobilized at 9 A. M. today to cope with a simulated atom bomb attack.

The bomb exploded at an altitude of 2,000 feet over the northwest corner of Silver Lake park near the White Plains reservoirs.

It was a State-directed training exercise to test White Plains Civil Defense personnel. Their problem is how to minimize the effects of an enemy attack.

All information was transmitted to this newspaper via relay press radio and a handie-talkie set. Westchester County Publishers staff photographers also supplied on-the-spot data from their radio-equipped cars throughout the county.

The State Civil Defense leaders headed by Lt. Gen. E. R. Huebner, State Director, are observing the solution as it is being worked out by Mayor Edwin G. Michaelian. White Plains Civil Defense Director, who is in command.

Also working with Mayor Michaelian are Gen. Robert E. Condon, New York City Director, and Charles A. Fremd, Westchester County Director.

Australian Watches

Attending as an observer is Air Comdr. Knox Knight of Melbourne, Australia. Comdr. Knight is on a tour for Civil Defense purposes and upon his return will help plan a Civil Defense organization in Australia. He has been in this country three weeks and came to White Plains yesterday to observe the exercise.

It was assumed that 500 persons have been killed and 6,500 wounded; that 10,000 are homeless and 5,000 are in panic flight.

All buildings within half a mile of Ground Zero were considered destroyed. Telephone and power lines were declared down and many small fires were assumed

C.D. TEST GETS COVERAGE HELP BY NEWS RADIO

WHITE PLAINS—

Today's on-the-spot report of the Civil Defense training exercise at the County Center was gathered and transmitted to the offices of this newspaper by mobile radio, as it would be if an enemy attack disrupted telephone communications and blocked streets.

Staff reporters, serving as assistant public information officers in the Civil Defense organization, gathered reports of the activities of the C. D. services in action at the County Center parking lot. These were relayed by walkie-talkie radio by reporter Worth A. Judge over the Westchester Group Newspapers' Relay Press Radio System.

Work of staff photographers assigned to the drill also was directed from the newspaper offices by radio.

In event of real emergency, 15 radio-equipped cars, supplemented by walkie-talkie sets would be marshalled by the newspapers to provide fast information to their readers.

Question Of The Week

Courtesy And Care Called Top Rules For Safe Driving

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 412th in a Saturday series of short interviews with Mamaroneck and Larchmont residents on issues of the day—local and national. This week's question: "THURSDAY IS SAFE DRIVING DAY. WHAT RULES DO YOU THINK ALL DRIVERS SHOULD FOLLOW ON THIS AND ALL OTHER DAYS?"

MAMARONECK

Edmund J. Fanning, 410 Beach Avenue — "The rule of courtesy by which the driver acknowledges the rights of the other driver."

Mrs. Guy R. Goldsmith, 407 Beach Avenue — "Observe all signs and the speed laws, and keep a safe distance between you and the car ahead. Also, drink a cup of coffee instead of that last glass of spirits."

Mrs. Edward A. Hill, Evelyn Court Apartments — "Courtesy primarily, but keep to the right and observe the passing regulations and don't try to beat out the other fellow."

Mrs. Henry Joseph, 206 Pelham Avenue—"Courtesy is the only rule to follow."

Mrs. Daniel T. Mallett, 222 Lawn Terrace — "The speed laws and traffic signs should be carefully observed."

Mrs. Peter E. Pringham, 109 Harrison Avenue—"Don't try to anticipate the other driver, try to watch him and grant him the courtesy of the road."

LARCHMONT

Mrs. Karl N. Becker, 51 Beechtree Drive "Drive according to the law. Do not attempt to evade the responsibility of driving."

Mrs. Richard K. Bellamy, 10 Acorn Lane—"I think the speed limit should be observed, but then one rule is not more important than the others. Careful driving should be practiced every day."

Mrs. James H. McInerney, 11 Fernwood Road—"Watch the speed limits and keep an eye on road markings. Extra caution should become a habit when driving."

Mrs. P. B. Nold, 1815 Palmer Avenue—"Courtesy will prevent accidents."

Mrs. Philip J. Ritterband, 32 Edgewood Avenue — "I think the Golden Rule and the rule of courtesy toward everybody are the only two needed."

Mrs. Donald J. Schwartz, 2 Forest Place—"All the rules should be followed, but the two most important are to respect the other driver and to stay in your proper lane while driving."

NOTHING NEW

Some truths are so fundamental they seem to date from the Year One. Included among such first principles are these: for range and variety want ads have few rivals; there is no coverage that comes close to matching want ads for convenience and economy; and want ads bring overwhelming results. Yes, everybody knows these things. The Yonkers resident who placed the following combination ad in The Daily Times and the other Westchester Group Newspapers knows them for sure:

DUNWOODIE, YONKERS: 4½ modern rooms, $185 month; blinds; adults. Call after 6 P.M. BEverly 0-0000.

"More than 12 classified readers called and we rented the apartment right away," reported the satisfied advertiser.

No Hokinson Characters Seen At Women's Club Convention

By KAY ROSS

These are busy days for the Westchester Federation of Women's Clubs' nominating committee.

In a concentrated huddle, its members are seeking a woman of charm, warmth, experience, good sense, wisdom, kindness, countywide interests, strength, character, conviction, and time to spare, to succeed Ethel Harris whose term of office ends next Spring. To lead Westchester's 13,459 federation-affiliated club women is a privilege and a responsibility not to be considered lightly.

Good news from Rochester where the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs held its annual convention last week, is that the delegates did not have the exhausted look so common after previous conventions. This session had a Quaker-like simplicity which can be accredited, in part at least, to the Scarsdale Women's Club which wrote Mrs. Gerde R. Cheatham of Endicott, president, protesting the overlapping sessions of previous years. Other clubs expressed similar sentiments.

As a result, Mr. Cheatham arranged a program which allowed delegates real periods during which they could relax, hear things already heard and about what was yet to come.

"There are no Helen Hokinson characters here", was a remark commonly heard. The late lampooner of the mature female [illegible] was there to see the many young women participating. Westchester's club women are always outstanding at these conventions and an especially good impression was made last week by Mrs. Andrew Short of Ossining, Woman's Club who is thirty, but looks like a college girl. She speaks concisely and always made good sense when hold ing the floor.

A hint of things to come was a bomb with a delayed fuse, tossed as a feeler to the delegates by Mrs. Theodore Chapman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She urged all member clubs to open their doors to "any woman who wants to belong to a woman's club". If club facilities are too limited to care for the increased membership, every community has some kind of lodge hall or other place where meetings can be held, she declared. County convention veterans are speculating if General Federation is going to make open membership a requirement for its member clubs within the next 10 years.

Westchester's delegation had an uninhibited good time at the 9th District dinner at which Mrs. Rowland F. Davis of Crestwood asked the question:

"What do Abraham Lincoln and President Eisenhower have in common?" The answer: "A Gettysburg Address".

Latest book from the pen of Dorothy Sterling of Rye, this one in cooperation with her husband, Philip, is "Polio Pioneers", the story of the fight against the disease. The Sterlings' neighbor, Myron Ehrenberg, a professional photographer, shot several of the pictures that supplement the text. They were done at Midland School.

2 CONGRESSMEN HELD FOUR HOURS BY BERLIN REDS

American Party Seized At Pistol Point; Allied Rights Challenged

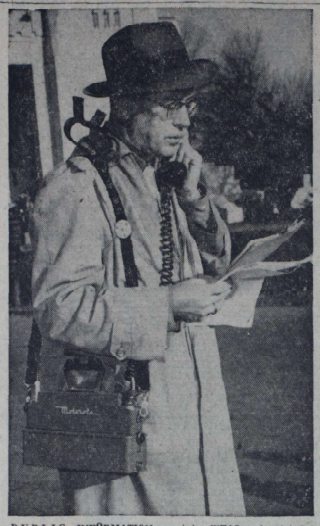
BERLIN (AP) — Two American congressmen were held yesterday in the Russian sector of Berlin for more than four hours. The incident challenged some of the allied occupation rights in this four-power city.

U. S. officials disclosed that East German Communist police detained Representative Harold C. Ostertag, R., N. Y., Mrs. Ostertag's wife, Representative Edward P. Boland, D., Mass., and their escort officer, Lt. James T. McQueen of Moline, S. C.

The party was held at pistol point at the Russian War Memorial Center in Treptow. The German police contended the visitors had violated the laws of the Communist state by using an automobile equipped with a two-way radio.

U. S. authorities said that the Russians supported this claim later in the day when the Americans' release was secured. American officials took this to mean that the laws of the East German republic now could be applied to allied personnel entering East Berlin. This would in effect weaken, if not destroy, the four-power character of the divided, occupied city.

Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., U. S. commandant in Berlin, demanded an audience with the Soviet Commandant, Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, to lodge a verbal protest.



PUBLIC INFORMATION service of the White Plains Office of Civil Defense kept the public informed of Saturday's "atom bomb" attack on White Plains by short wave radio. The on-the-spot account, broadcast by WFAS and printed in this newspaper, was transmitted by Worth A. ATTACKER LINKED TO 2 BURGLARIES

Rapist Of Bronx Girl Boasts Of Looting

NORTH PELHAM

Two North Pelham burglaries of homes where residents were away were reported to police this weekend. Police are checking a possibility that the burglaries were committed by a man who raped an eighteen-year-old Bronx girl in New York City early Saturday after tying her boy friend to a tree.

The burglaries were at the homes of John Wheeler of 364 Washington Avenue and Dr. K.G. Hancher of 36 Storer Avenue. Neighbors discovered both burglaries. Because residents were away, police could not list missing items.

The attack on the girl took place on Shore Road near the Pelham Manor line. The attacker boasted to the girl that he had just burglarized a home in Pelham Manor. His car was filled with household items, police were told. There is a possibility that the burglar confused the North Pelham homes with Pelham Manor. No burglaries were reported in Pelham Manor.

$500 In Cash Taken

More than $500 in cash and various minor items were reported missing from the Wheeler home. Loss at the Hancher home will not be known until later today, police said.

Both families were away for the holiday, but neither had placed their homes on the police dark-house list. Both burglaries were discovered yesterday morning by neighbors.

The burglary at the Hancher house was reported at 11 A.M. yesterday by Thomas Walsh of 6 Eigth Street, who had said he would take care of the furnace. Mr. Walsh told police he noticed a closet door open, and when police arrived, they found the upstairs bedrooms topsy-turvy.

Entry apparently had been made through a second floor window, from the porch roof.

Theodore Furman of 358 Washington Avenue told police he was raking leaves in his yard at 12:15 P. M. yesterday and noticed the kitchen window wide open in the Wheeler house next door.

Again police found the upstairs bedrooms ransacked in the same messy and thorough manner. Entry in this case had been made by ripping and removing the screen on the kitchen window.

Press Role Praised

Huebner Hails Drill By White Plains C.D.

By WORTH A. JUDGE

WHITE PLAINS—Gen. C. R. Huebner, State Director of Civil Defense, was very favorably impressed by the White Plains Civil Defense training exercise Saturday.

THE REV. WALTER DEBBOLI

Although a few weaknesses were observed, the result generally reflected great credit on Mayor Edwin G. Michaelian, White Plains C. D. director, and his deputies, Gen. Huebner said.

Reviewing the exercise as a press conference at County Center after the test, Gen. Huebner said it had produced several firsts: It was the first time a mobile control center had been set up and operated; the first time that emergency food supplies had been paid for; the first time that realistic - looking wounds had been simulated by a moulage process, and the first time that a press information service had employed walkie-talkie radio to tell the story on the air and in print while the test was still in progress.

500 "Killed"

The White Plains control center was presumed to have been knocked out by an atom bomb which "killed" 500 persons, "wounded" 6,500 and caused extensive damage to property. An emergency control center was established in County Center. New York Telephone Co. crews strung lines and had telephones operating in 14 minutes.

"It proved it can be done," Gen. Huebner commented. "It will be time saving in the future."

The public information service contribution to the test was "exceptionally well done," Gen. Huebner said. He commented especially on the one-sheet emergency newspaper distributed at the scene, and on assignment of reporters to the scene to gather information relayed direct to

FEDERAL SCHOOL AID BRANDED AS PHONY BY GWINN

Plan Assailed As 1,400 Gather In Capital For Education Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — American mothers, fathers, teachers, business men — a 1,400-member cross section of the population —closed in on the capital today for the four-day White House Conference on Education.

Many were coming loaded with questions on one of the sharpest issues in education today—federal aid to schools.

Federal aid, assigned a comparatively minor spot on the program, seemed likely to become the runaway issue of the conference, opening at 7:30 P. M. The federal aid question is due for discussion on Wednesday.

Republican Representative Ralph Gwinn, of Bronxville, N. Y., attacked the idea of federal aid last night as "a pure phony, one the worst". He said it was based on the idea of "taxing the rich states" to support poor ones and that this was "utterly deceptive".

Necessary, Says Hill

Senator Lister Hill, D., Ala., a long-time federal aid backer, said that federal help is necessary because of "differences in wealth (among the states) and because the federal government . . . is taking 76 cents out of the tax dollar."

Delegates to 18 of the state conferences preliminary to the national conference took a stand on the question. At several other state meetings it was discussed without recommendation.

Of the 18 conferences, a dozen approved federal aid, but almost every one of these tackled it from a different direction. Some declared for federal aid of any kind, some only for construction assistance, some for federal funds "without strings".

Some approved it in principle "for other states if they need it."

In Utah sentiment was so violently against any federal aid that delegates traveled here on state money rather than accept federal transportation allowances.

In New York the committee drafting the state conference report overrode its chairman, Kenneth C. Royall, former Army Secretary, and called for a wide range of federal school assistance. Mr. Royall submitted a separate report referring to what he called the danger of federal control.

Legislation before Congress calls only for federal aid for school construction, not for operation, teachers' salaries or purchase of books.

The conference was called by President Eisenhower nearly a year ago to dig out "the information with which to attack these serious problems" in education.

Cancer Cure Claim Broadcast By Russia; Plant Extract Used

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio claimed today Russian scientists have developed a medicine which cures cancer.

The broadcast said it was a "compound prepared from the extracts of a flowering plant found in the Caucasus which treats cancerous growths by disintegrating them without harming healthy tissues of the organism."

The broadcast said another new drug "has successfully cured tubercular meningitis."

President Gets Fill-In On Politics

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Republican chairman Leonard W. Hall said today after a meeting with President Eisenhower he now believes Mr. Eisenhower will seek a second term "if he feels he is able."

Mr. Hall met reporters after holding with the Chief Executive the first all-out political conference Mr. Eisenhower has had since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

The National Chairman said Mr. Eisenhower's second - term plans were not discussed "as a specific situation" at their 45-minute meeting, but he added he felt "very much encouraged" as a result of the meeting.

Hall 'Feels Better'

"I feel better about it (the President's running) after the meeting this morning," Mr. Hall said.

The Republican Chairman came here this morning to give Mr. Eisenhower "a rundown on politics."

Mr. Hall said he expected much to depend on late January physical examinations which are supposed to show whether Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from his heart attack is complete.

Neither Yes Nor No

Mr. Hall said Mr. Eisenhower made no promises about running again: 'He didn't say yes and he didn't say no."

But Mr. Hall offered as his "personal opinion" the comment that "I think he will (run) if he feels he's able."

And Mr. Hall said he feels more optimistic about the President's running than he did when they last met. That was in Denver, two weeks before Mr. Eisenhower was stricken.

Mr. Hall said the President demonstrated in their talk that he has kept in close touch with political affairs during his illness. He said Mr. Eisenhower has a continuing interest that goes beyond today or tomorrow."

While Mr. Hall breakfasted with Mr. Hagerty the President met with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell on what the White House described as "routine" departmental matters.

Mr. Eisenhower motored in from his country place, reaching his headquarters in the Gettysburg Post Office at 9:25 A. M.

Mr. Mitchell flew in with Presidential aid Sherman Adams.

The meeting with Mr. Mitchell had political overtones too, with the merging AFL and CIO set to test their strength in next year's elections.

5 Girls Kill Matron In Fleeing Ohio Home

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Five young girls carried out a well rehearsed plan to trick a matron and escape from the Summit County detention home last night. The tightly bound matron died before help reached her.

Early today two of the girls walked into Police Headquarters and gave themselves up. An acquaintance and a brother of one of the girls had talked them into the surrender.

The victim of the escape was Mrs. Eula Bonham, fifty-nine, who had been a matron at the home for 16 years. Her body was found on the floor of the dormitory. She had been bound with cloth belts from the print house dresses all the girls wore. A washrag, soaked with ammonia which the girls had been hoarding from the cleaning duties, had been jammed into her mouth.

Coroner W. J. Pittenger said death was caused by strangulation, with suffocation as a possible additional cause.

Merl Cain and Margaret Nicholson, both fifteen, were the pair who gave themselves up shortly after the escape.

An acquaintance of the Cain girl found them, with Ruth Beichler, seventeen, and Shirley Shingler, fifteen, shivering without coats near a restaurant. He advised all of them to surrender and took them to the Cain girl's home. There her brother gave them the same advice.

En route to Police Headquarters, two of the girls balked, and left the car at a skating rink near Route 224.

The fifth escaper, Mrs. Zelda de Cost, sixteen, had parted company with the others as soon as they left the detention home.

Today Sharon Misuia, fifteen, of Barberton, told police that last Saturday she pretended to be the matron while the five girls rehearsed their escape attempt. They grabbed her and bound her. She said that although she helped in the rehearsal, she had no intention of joining the flight.

A Century After Civil War

Civil Rights Major Problem, Hill Tells NAACP Meeting

Almost a century after the Civil War the question of civil rights is again the most fundamental and urgent problem in our country, Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, last night told a membership rally of the Mamoroneck Branch at the Barry Avenue AME Zion Church. He spoke on "The Fight for Civil Liberties Today".

Declaring that the problem exists both in the North and South, he cited the alleged brutal beating administered by Englewood, N. J., police two years ago to an NAACP-organized picket line protesting the exclusion of Negroes from the Palisades Amusement Park swimming pool.

"But last Summer," he stated, "Negroes went swimming in that pool. History is on our side and we are winning this fight. The Byrnes and Talmadges belong to the graveyard of history."

Finances Needed

Mr. Hill stated that the NAACP is the "only group really operating in the South" in the fight against segregation. "We are engaged in the day-by-day support of these people and we need money badly," he stated. "We have no other source of money except contributions."

'Systematic' Denial

Mr. Hill stated that the basic fight against the separate but

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Bless every citizens and every organization joining in our national program of emphasis of safe-driving, dear God of gracious gifts. Show each the way best to live and act and use our highways so that—during this period of special emphasis, which culminates on Thursday—we may gird ourselves to war successfully against the onslaught of death and accident and property destruction which results from carelessness of negligence on our roads. May we roll up a record of safety on Safe-Driving Day and, what is more important, may we learn to make every day a Safe-Driving Day.

16,000 Lives Worth Saving

THERE shouldn't be any reason to tell people that tuberculosis is a killer.

About 100,000 new cases are reported in the USA each year.

One new case shows up every five minutes.

Someone dies of TB every 26 minutes.

Altogether, about 16,000 die of the disease in the USA each year.

Are these 16,000 lives worth saving?

There are an estimated 400,000 Americans who have active tuberculosis.

Of these 400,000 it is believed that about 150,000 are unknown to health authorities.

A chest X-ray can find TB before outward symptoms appear.

There are the facts. There is the problem. The answer is up to YOU!

Westchester Tuberculosis and Public Health Association provides free chest X-rays to individuals 15 years of age and older. To date more than 447,000 have received such treatment, which also reveals cancer of the lung and heart diseases. An educational program designed to detect early TB is provided. More TB patients are now being treated at the county's Grasslands Hospital and its clinics than ever before. And funds for research to find a cure for TB are still necessary.

The association raises funds for these purposes through sale of Christmas Seals. These have now been sent through the mails to Westchester residents, with the hope recipients will return $1 for each sheet of the seals.

If you think the lives of those suffering from TB are worth saving, this is a fine way to help!

Suburbs Grow Faster

THE WESTCHESTER County Association observed its fifth birthday last Tuesday. At the annual dinner that evening speakers reviewed the five-year period of growth here in Westchester. There was general agreement that the increase in population, in shops, in industry, in cultural and recreational opportunities, in service and in utilities, would continue.

Just what are the figures and the facts? Is this talk of heavy suburban growth the usual booster club with its boasting? Or is it the real McCoy?

Recent figures from the U. S. Census Bureau are available. They are informative. They are accurate. Here is their story:

During the five-year period under discussion, the total population gain in the USA has been around 11.8 million. Well, let's call it 12 million in round figures. It'll probably be that by next week, anyhow.

Out of that 12 million overall growth, the suburbs of 168 cities furnished 9.6 million. In other words, looking at it percentagewise, of the population growth in the entire country during the last five years, more than 81 per cent occurred in the suburbs.

On a comparison basis, the census figures show that for the five-year spread and the major cities of the nation grew by 3.8 per cent. But at the same time the suburbs of the major cities grew by 27.8 per cent.

The suburbs grew seven times as fast as did the cities!

For another comparison, the total overall population growth of the entire nation for the five years was 7.9 per cent. But it was, as noted, 27.8 per cent for the suburbs. That is better than three times the national rate.

It is in the contrast between the cities and the suburbs, we believe, that the real significance of the Census Bureau's figures can be found. That trend which siphoned off the young people from the farms, from out of the wide plains, down from the mountains—that trend has changed. Now those who come to the cities consider that merely a half-way point in the journey. They pause only long enough to earn the price of a suburban home. And there they begin to rear their families.

Our big cities have, in fact, almost stopped growing. Manhattan, for example, has had no increase at all during the last five years. Yet here in Westchester we can't find homes for our new neighbors as fast as they arrive for our new industries.

"They're coming in the windows," quotes the Westchester County Association, echoing a song popular a few years back.

We're glad. And there's no need to put up screens.

WORDS, WIT, WISDOM

THE HABERDASHER

The merchandising revolution through which we have passed during the past 20 years — the change which has brought the supermarket and the shopping center into the lives of all of us — has not been without its effect on the language of business.

"Check-out point," "traffic location," "rack jobber" and "impulse purchase" are just a few of the terms which have evolved from the changeover from the small personal-service grocery to today's giant self-service "super."

Similarly some of the older lines of trade are falling into disuse. This was brought sharply to my attention when the fifth 7-year-old said, "Say Pop, what's a haberdasher?"

Now this lad is, in most respects, a moderately bright and well-read young fellow, so it came as something of a shock to me to realize that he had never seen a small men's furnishings store with the sign "haberdashery" on the window. Indeed he was meeting the word for the first time in a headline over a newspaper installment of former President Truman's memoirs.

Well, I explained as best I could what a haberdashery was, but I could see that, to a youth brought up to know uroom de partment stores and suburban shopping centers, a haberdashery was something to rank with such other "prehistoric" symbols as the moustache cup and the horse car.

So, before this fine old word slips entirely into oblivion, let's take a look at its origins —and see you'll find almost as lively a controversy as some of those stirred up by the nation's most eminent retired haberdasher, Mr. Truman.

One group of language experts claims it *comes from the Ice*landic "hapurtask" meaning sack for oats. If this seems far-fetched to you — well, it does to us, too. Another group says the claim that it comes is [illegible] mous Alumni. Before address-

RAY TUCKER

South Carolina Rigid On Races

While Ray Tucker is on vacation prominent newspaper editors will write guest columns.

By S. L. LATIMOR JR.
Editor of the Columbia State

COLUMBIA, S. C.—As repugnant as such drastic action would be to South Carolinians, the fact remains that if an effort were made presently to force integration in the state's public schools, those responsible officials would close down the system rather than comply with the court decree.

Sentiment against mixing in the schools has intensified and solidified rather than lessened with the passing of time since the United States Supreme Court last year declared segregation in public schools unconstitutional per se. In addition to legal steps that have been taken, hoping to continue the dual system and yet remain within the scope of the decision, a number of white Citizens Councils, somewhat like those in Mississippi, have been formed lately, mostly in the lower part of the state where the percentage of Negro population is heavy.

'NO COMPULSORY MIXING'

—The Governor of South Carolina, George Bell Timmerman Jr., whose father, Federal Judge George Bell Timmerman Sr., was one of the jurists overruled by the high court when it upset the long-established separate, but equal, facilities doctrine, announced recently in a statewide address that "There shall be no compulsory racial mixing in our state. The sensible choice for the Negro is for the Negro to support separate, but equal, schools."

In the same speech he said he would not tolerate disorder on the part of members of either race. The Governor in his campaign for election in 1954 suggested as a possibility a three-way system, with schools for whites, schools for Negroes, and schools for those who wanted mixed schools. There is, however, no such proposal pending in the legislature.

State Senator L. M. Gressette, chairman of a special legislative committee trying to work out some way to maintain segregation in the schools, said that if the public system is abandoned, the blame will "rest upon the Supreme Court and not upon the people of South Carolina."

This committee has worked out a plan, which the General Assembly has enacted into law, whereby any school accepting a pupil on transfer by court order from another school will be denied tax funds with which to operate, with the same penalty attached to the school from which the pupil was ordered transferred.

PENALTY FOR INTEGRATION — Under this program a school upon which integration was forced would have no tax funds with which to pay its bills, and it is believed the law will stand up, since no court, it is argued, can tell a legislative body how much it must appropriate for anything, any more than the lawmakers can tell a court what to decide.

As a companion, local school boards have been given almost unlimited power in the assignment of pupils. It could be that some schools would be closed, and others remain open, if the denial of the tax-fund law were used.

Few people outside South Carolina realize it, but South Carolina, as a state, has never become involved in the suit arising in this state, which proved to be a prime ence in the court's famous decision. Therefore, in this state only the one school district originally sued is involved at present. The state deliberately avoided becoming a party to the action, But unquestionably other districts will be cited in time in an effort to include them, too. Both sides to the dispute foresee much long, drawn-out litigation before a climax is reached.

SIGNIFICANT FACT — It is significant that not a single Negro boy or girl applied for admission to a white school at the outset of the current term. And none since the term has started.

The present status of the case, as it relates to the one involved district, is that the three-judge Federal Court, to which the decree was referred for implementation did not order immediate integration, but gave the district time to work things out. When a report on progress will be made has not been announced. But schools in the district are running in a normal way on the dual system, just as they are everywhere else in the state.

South Carolinians three years ago voted to take from the state constitution a mandate to the General Assembly to maintain a public school system. But this has made no difference in the operation of the schools, which this year have the largest appropriations in their history.

In the meantime, the multi-million dollar equalization program, under which the most modern schools are being built for Negroes, continues to be made. Most of this money so far has gone for construction of Negro schools. Pupils of both races who live in sparsely populated cities and towns, are transported free each day, the teachers of both races are on the same salary basis and have the same retirement rights. Schools of both races extend through the 12th grade.

SCHOOLS EQUALIZED — Every effort is being made to equalize the schools, which admitted ly a few years ago were quite unequal in physical facilities, and there is no movement to discontinue this program. But when it comes to forced integration, the will to resist is so evident that no clear observer would disregard its potency.

As to the recent ruling against segregation in public parks, the Governor has announced that there will be no mixing of the races at parks in the state system. This means that if necessary they would be closed. As for recreational facilities in cities and towns, action will be up to each municipality. In view of the attitude will be, if the issue is pressed, is not hard to guess.

Child With Cold May Go Out In Sun If Dressed Warmly

We have a big batch of young children. Many of them live in the new housing developments. Their parents are young and not as experienced as they will be. This time of year, some of the children will have colds and those colds have been known to have more effect on the mothers than on the children.

Fortunately, most of the young mothers are friendly and cooperate to keep the children friendly toward one another, smiling over their squabbles. But colds are a different matter.

Summer Jobs With Police Force

Question: I believe you once gave some information regarding Summer employment on local police departments. Will you repeat this information? At present I am a college student and very desirous to know the qualifications as to age, height, weight etc.

Answer: Each city has its own municipal police examinations. Call the Civil Service Commission at city hall to learn details of requirements and dates of examinations.

DUCKS IN WINTER

Question: We have two pet ducks. I would like to know if we can keep them out doors in the Winter in this cold weather.

J. S.

Answer: Ducks do not mind cold weather much, but they must have a shelter where they can snuggle in to get warm on very bitter days and nights. Ask your father or some other grown up to make a tight little house like a dog house in a spot protected from the wind, and with hay, straw or leaves on the floor or ground where they can go when it snows.

BUSINESS GIFTS

Question: Last Christmas I was confronted with a problem. This year I would like to know how to cope with it when it occurs. I work in a book library, where each of us have particular magazine editors and others for whom we fill orders. I do not get a commission but work on a straight salary. I always receive a very beautiful Christmas gift from one editor. My problem is, should I send a thank you note for the gift, should I thank him when next he places an order, should I make a specific call to thank him or should I not mention it at all? The other researchers say no mention should be made of the gifts since the picture editors send the gifts for services rendered on the firm expense account. What is your feeling about this matter.

P. A. S.

Answer: Our feeling on the matter is that Christmas has become pretty commercial if presents are not acknowledged and thanks for them expressed. "Services rendered" and "expense accounts" have nothing to do with the spirit of Christmas. Don't you suppose that your editor will appreciate a note of genuine thanks for the beautiful gifts? He has given thought to its selection, courtesy suggests you give him some thought, too.

MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Mexico, the Land of Manana —Leave Your Watch Home

MEXICO CITY — This afternoon to my horror I was half an hour late for an appointment. It didn't really matter, of course, for the person I was to meet strolled in 40 minutes after I got there.

What really worried me was that when I came here I made a solemn promise to myself that even though everybody else in Mexico was late, I would never be. But that was before I had been really exposed to Latin unconcern for time.

Jim, a New York friend of mine who now lives here, soon after he came down gave a cocktail party for a visitor whom for business reasons he wanted to impress. He invited his guests for 7:30 (this seemed outlandish by late to him for such an affair to start but he'd heard that was the way to do it in MEXICO). Finally, about 10 when Jim had given up hope, everybody he had invited arrived at once in gay spirits and the party was an enormous success.

Now Jim is later than anybody — he even keeps Mexicans waiting, as do many North Americans once they get the hang of this casual custom. Arriving at Anita Brenner's for lunch a little behind time, I apologetically explained I'd gotton lost. She looked surprised, "You're early," she assured me.

Anita who has lived here for years is successfully attempting through her new magazine to interpret the country for hit-and-run tourists like me.

Everybody was chuckling at one piece she printed about the experience of an efficiency expert sent down from Chicago to reorganize the kitchen of a highly esteemed restaurant a North American chain had bought into.

When the expert — who doesn't know Spanish—was ushered into the old kitchen the employes were busy making waffles in a great open-faced copper kettle. Ordinarily, they speak perfectly good English, but somehow they seemed not to understand a word when Mr. T. tried to communicate his disapproval of their increasing production costs by adding brown sugar to the waffle batter.

Finally the reprimand was interpreted and the chief cook said, "Si, Senior." Only, the next time Mr. T came, the same cook was adding brown sugar to the waffle batter. And the next time too. When, for the fourth time, Mr. T. found the cook making waffles as usual, he lost his poise entirely, grabbed the big kettle with both hands and with a mighty heave turned it over so that the golden batter ran out on the kitchen floor.

The cook was no more shocked than Mr. T. himself. In all his tidy, institutionalized life he's never before made such a spectacle of himself. He ran out of there and at last accounts was back in Chicago. The cook is still adding brown sugar to give that certain flavor to his waffles.

Which proves that since you can't lick them, obviously you have to join them if you want to stay here.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

At a booksellers' convention in Atlantic City, a disconsolate purveyor of profitless literature sat in a hotel lobby, his head heavily bandaged and a pair of crutches across his knee. To a solicitous confrere he explained, "I fell outa a window."

"Obviously," consoled the confrere, "You will be laid up for the balance of the convention—so how's for slipping me the phone number of the little blonde authoress I saw you esquiring so merrily the other night?"

"With pleasure," agreed the bookseller, "but I can't answers the phone, I suggest you hang up. It'll probably be the scoundrel who threw me out of the window."

In Boston, according to Doug Flynn, a literary man named Pratt was so entranced with the noted Logan-Behrman-Rome musical hit that he christened his new baby daughter Fanny Redundancy Pratt.

Pomeroy Tags Aid Too Little

WHITE PLAINS—

State and federal aid to local communities to further planning activities is seen by Nassau Planning Director Hugh R. Pomeroy as a beginning but 'a tiny drop in the bucket'".

He said the plan by which communities can get aid equal to three times what they appropriate is an excellent opportunity to maintain and strengthen the leadership in planning which has long characterized the county.

While pleased that the State has acted to assist, Mr. Pomeroy said that its appropriation of $25,000 is an accidentally minuscule amount of cackling over the production of a very small egg".

Grim Figures On S-D Day Eve: Auto Death Toll Up 7 Per Cent

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 31,000 Americans were killed on highways in the first 10 months of this year —a 7 per cent increase over 1954.

The National Safety Council hopes the death toll will drive home to motorists the necessity of driving carefully tomorrow, Safe Driving Day, and every day.

The council released its tabulation of deaths today to underscore the need for S-D Day, a 24-hour period sponsored by President Eisenhower's Committee for Traffic Safety. Americans are asked to make an extra effort to drive and walk safely.

Deaths Average 101 a Day

Tomorrow's event will be the second observance of S-D Day. Traffic experts figured the first S-D Day, last Dec. 15, cut down accidents somewhat. Fifty-one persons were fatally injured on the highways that day.

The Safety Council issued these figures on the eve of S-D Day:

From Jan. 1 through Oct. 31, 1955, exactly 30,980 persons were killed in traffic accidents. This is an average of 101 deaths a day. But as it includes persons killed on holidays, when more motorists are on the highways, and those who die from injuries after accidents, a count on any one day like tomorrow probably would not approach that 101 figure.

The traffic death toll for October was 3,920— up 12 per cent over October of 1954 and the largest toll for any one month since the record high month of December, 1941.

Careless 'May Not Stay'

Ned H. Dearborn, Safety Council president, connected these figures with the necessity for S-D Day.

"If anyone thinks S-D Day is just a lot of shouting about nothing, stop and think about these figures," Mr. Dearborn said. "S-D Day is a one-day effort to wake people up. The auto is here to stay, but I have my doubts about a lot of drivers if they keep up this flagrant lack of responsibility on the highways."

The council said there was slight consolation in the fact that travel is increasing even more than deaths. Deaths per 100 million miles of travel dropped to 6 for the first nine months of the year, a new low.

Tomorrow police departments and civic organizations across the country will make a special effort to hold down the number of traffic accidents in their communities.

Cabinet Ax Poised Over Paris Assembly

PARIS (AP)—The French cabinet meets today to decide whether to dissolve the National Assembly in a rare maneuver which would give Premier Edgar Faure the early elections parliament denied him.

Holding a confidence vote on a procedural question but actually moving to stave off the early parliamentary balloting, the assembly gave the ax to the government last night 318-218. But by their whopping majority against Mr. Faure, the over-enthusiastic deputies made it possible for the cabinet to boot them out of office under a constitutional clause never applicable before.

Article 51 of the 1946 constitution says that when two cabinets have been thrown out within 18 months by 'constitutional majorities"—more than half the assembly's 625 members—the cabinet can dissolve the assembly. Pierre Mendes-France was ousted from the premiership by a 319-273 vote on Feb. 5, less than 10 months ago.

The constitution says the cabinet's decision to dissolve must be taken with the president of the republic presiding and after advice has been received from the president of the assembly.

Pierre Schneiter, assembly president, spent more than an hour last night with French President Rene Coty at Elysee Palace. Reports said Mr. Schneiter declined to give his advice until after consultations with party leaders in the assembly today.

Loot Estimated At $7,500

3 Boys, 14 And 15, Implicated In String Of County Burglaries

NEW ROCHELLE—

Three boys—two from New Rochelle and one from Mamaroneck —have been arrested in connection with a recent wave of Westchester burglaries. Police say the two New Rochelle youths, aged fourteen and fifteen, admit 13 entries since July which netted them an estimated $7,500.

They implicated the third in a number of burglaries in White Plains, New Rochelle, North Pelham and Mamaroneck. A fourth Mamaroneck boy, also named as a member of the gang, was being sought today for questioning.

The loot was found in the homes of the two New Rochelle boys after days of police investigation. The youths—too young to drive—used buses and trains in their burglary tours and entered only unlocked homes.

Bundle Found

The arrests came after a bundle containing some of the stolen items was found discarded outside a building at 240 North Avenue. The package included jewelry and cash taken from two North Pelham homes over the weekend.

Among burglaries the boys admit are:

1. The home of Dr. Randall Ruskin, 75 Colonial Place, New Rochelle on Nov. 23; $2,746 in cash and jewelry.

2. The home of Dr. Kenneth G. Hanscher, 36 Storer Avenue, North Pelham, Saturday night; two revolvers, watch and $10.

3. The home of William F. Wheeler, 364 Washington Avenue, North Pelham, over the weekend; straight razor, box of rifle bullets and $255.

4. The home of Donald Horowitz, 178 Lansdowne Drive, Ma-

White House Conference

Keep Hand Off Local Schools, U.S. Advised

WASHINGTON (AP) — A subcommittee report to the White House Education Conference today called on the federal government to keep its fingers out of local school affairs.

Discussing the role of the U. S. Office of Education, the report said:

"The contact of the federal government should be confined to state level contacts and not made directly with local (school) boards . . ."

The report, presented to a general session of the conference by James D. King of Brownwood Texas, represented the consensus of the nearly 2,000 conference participants. It came up through a series of round-table discussions.

The report said that "consideration should be given to the strengthening of the position of the Office of Education in keeping with the importance of education to the nation."

It said the office should be "adequately staffed to perform the functions it is now performing in making reports on the progress of education throughout the nation, in carrying on essential research activities and for providing promptly needed statistical information."

It said the office also should provide "leadership of the sort represented by this conference."

U.S. IN BERLIN FEARS BLOCKADE

New Russian Rules Could Mean Trouble

BERLIN (AP)—U. S. officials said today "blockade" conditions could arise at any minute as a result of the Russians' change in the rules on divided Berlin.

A senior American officer said the Soviet authorities have made it clear that:

1. The East German Communist Republic (DDR) which surrounds Berlin is completely sovereign.

2. The Eastern Soviet sector of Berlin itself is now part of the DDR.

3. All the laws of the so-called DDR now apply to the quarter of Berlin which once was called the Soviet sector.

The net result, American officials said, is that West Berlin is more isolated than it has been since the 1948-49 blockade.

The American viewpoint was arrived at after a talk Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., U. S. commandant, had yesterday with Soviet Maj. Gen. P. A. Dibrova. Gen. Dasher delivered a protest against East Berlin Communist Police detention of two American congressmen on Sunday.

Dibrova told Gen. Dasher East Berlin is now "the capital" of a sovereign state—the DDR. The Russian added that this government no longer regards East Berlin as an "occupied" sector.

This was taken by American officials to mean that the 1945 Potsdam agreement on the rights of the Allied powers in Berlin is a thing of the past. That could lead, they said, to measures which would restrict movement of allied personnel into East Berlin and it could also have a further repercussion on travel to the

In High Glee, Ike Makes His Tractor Moo

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower accepted a gadget-loaded tractor and cultivator, complete with built-in radio and cigaret lighter, today—then laughingly declared he has scaled down his agricultural ambitions.

"I'll settle now for being a tractor driver on a farm," Mr. Eisenhower said.

In high spirits, the President enlivened the presentation of the $4,000 tractor-cultivator by showing off an electric cow-caller which sent a resounding moo over his pastures and brought the cows coming on the run. In icily cold weather, the President turned out to receive the tractor and cultivator from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana farm bureau organizations.

He Doesn't Smoke

The cigaret lighter was just extra equipment so far as the President is concerned. He doesn't smoke.

Strolling around the tractor in the midst of a crowd of newsmen, photographers and farm organization representatives, the President said he was going to "ask my doctor how soon I can get on this thing."

He looked as ruddy and fit as ever, and ready to hop up into the driver's seat.

C. of C. Board Votes Protest On Parking

Full and vigorous support of a protest against a Village Board order changing parking regulations from angle to parallel on Mamaroneck Avenue between Prospect Avenue and the Post Road, was voted last night by the board of directors of the Mamaroneck Chamber of Commerce.

The Village Board on recommendation of the Traffic Commission and at the request of the Fire Council, early this month altered the parking regulations on the west side of the avenue.

The reason for the change was that an accident had occurred

More Quizzed In Killing of Hunter-Cop

NEW CITY (AP)—Authorities called in more hunters and neighborhood residents today for questioning in the shotgun slaying of a hunter whose body was found on the grounds of the fashionable Dellwood Country Club.

The victim was Myron Hough, forty-four, a club caretaker.

His wife said he had been deputized as a Rockland County sheriff and that part of his duties at the club consisted of ordering unauthorized persons off the club's 800-acre forested grounds.

Mr. Hough's body, with a charge of small game pellets in the back and neck, was found face down on a narrow trail yesterday. His unfired shotgun lay beneath his body.

The death gun was fired from about 10 feet away, Ernest Wiebicke, Clarkstown Police Chief said.

Mr. Hough was slain about 4:30 P. M. Monday, half an hour after he left his home at the edge of the club grounds, Chief Wiebicke said.

More than two dozen hunters and employes of the club were questioned last night by Chief Wiebicke and Morton Silberman, Assistant District Attorney of Rockland County.

Plan Allows For Future Expansion

A referendum Jan. 12 on a bond issue for approximately $1.8 million for the construction of a new high school on the Palmer tract was ordered last night by the Rye Neck Board of Education in a special meeting in Bellows High School auditorium.

The plan as approved in essence by the Board calls for the construction of a high school building which can later be expanded to include junior high school facilities.

No Alterations

It does not include changes in any of the three present school buildings, Bellows High School, Daniel Warren School, and the Barry Avenue School, although if the referendum meets the approval of the voters there is a possibility that an immediate effort will be made to add 10 junior high school classrooms to the proposed building and to raze Barry Avenue School.

The approximate $1.8 million figure is based on tentative plans as submitted by Perkins & Will of White Plains, architects, and will be revised to a slight degree when final plans are adopted. These final plans will be presented when several suggestions made by the Board and administrative staff of Bellows are incorporated in the tentative drawings.

William Switzer, Perkins & Will representative, told the Board last night that these suggestions would not materially change the estimated costs.

Firm Estimate Soon

It was on the basis of his estimates that the Board finally adopted the "approximate" $1.8 million figure with the under-

BAR DISPLAYS LABELED HAZARD

NYC Fire Opens Check Of 2 Whiskey Ads

NEW YORK (AP)—The Fire Department today made a city-wide check of holiday window displays in bars to remove any suspected inflammable materials.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. ordered removal of such displays after what fire officials called a 'routine test" resulted in a $20,000 fire in a Times Square bar yesterday.

Mr. Cavanagh said the displays consisted of paper, cardboard, silk and net and were furnished by the Schenley and Seagram whisky firms. He said both firms were giving the department "1,-000 per cent cooperation." (Westchester departments were warned the displays may be in their areas.)

The Times Square fire followed what Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott called a "usual inspection, routine". He said Fireman Henry Gartland knotted pieces of the display material and touched them with a lighted match.

He then snuffed out the test blaze—he thought—and turned to leave the building. Behind his back the whole display window suddenly burst into flame.

Before firemen could bring the flames under control the fire had gutted the Silver Dollar Bar and Grill, causing damage estimated by the owners at $20,000. Smoke from the blaze forced evacuation of the thre-story building.

The flames leaped across the sidewalk and destroyed most of the stock of a curbside newsstand owned by a blind newsman.

TWO WOMEN NABBED ON SHOPLIFT COUNTS

Two Bronx women were apprehended yesterday by Town police for attempting to take goods from the First National Store on the Boston Post Road.

Mrs. Julia Forte, forty-two, and Mrs. Florence Salicato, fifty-one, both of 1077 Center Avenue, Bronx, were released in $100 bond each to appear Dec. 8 before Judge Munn Brewer in Town Police Court.

Police said they discovered $7.54 worth of goods on Mrs. Forte's person and $1.52 worth of groceries taken by Mrs. Salicato, after Farrell Moran, store manager, reported the women's actions.

They were charged with petty larceny by Mr. Moran.

standing that a firm estimate would be on hand in the near future. It is on the basis of this latter estimate that the referendum will be held.

The Board vote on the referendum was five to one with Trustee Peter C. Doern Jr. voicing the only dissent.

Voting on the referendum will be Jan. 12 from 7 A. M. to 9 P. M. and registration will be Jan. 6 from 4 to 8 P. M. and Jan. 7 from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

Registration is only for those residents who did not register for last Spring's election. The 1,326 presons who registered for that election will be eligible to vote in the referendum without further registration.

Tentative Plan

The tentative plans as presented by Mr. Switzer envisage a building on two levels. The contour of the Palmer property is such that the lower level can be set in at the rear, thus permitting both floors to be on ground level.

The main floor in the tentative plans includes an entrance lobby leading to an auditorium seating 550 persons and a gymnasium with bleacher seating for approximately 750.

Administration space and a library are planned to the right of the entrance lobby and locker rooms for girls and boys to the right of the gymnasium which, according to the tentative drawings, can be partitioned to care for both boys' and girls' gym activities.

For Senior High Use

Ten classrooms, two laboratories, a general science room, a music room, storage facilities, and lavatories, all for senior high use, are to the left of the entrance lobby. One of the proposed classrooms opens off the stage in the tentative plans.

The lower floor plan calls for home arts rooms, arts and crafts, industrial arts rooms, and a cafeteria which can be split so that a portion of it will be available for study hall. Also included are a kitchen, service areas, custodial and boiler space, and storage space.

Expandable

The building, planned for 500 pupils and only for high school grades 9 through 12, is easily expandable to accommodate junior high school activities and to care for a student body of 800 pupils, it was pointed out.

This can be done by the construction of a wing to the right off the administration and library facilities. This wing would include 10 classrooms for junior high academic work and would be at the opposite end of the building from senior high school academic classrooms.

It is not proposed, at the moment, to construct this latter wing.

The approximate construction cost of the senior high school, without the junior high school wing, is estimated at $20 per square foot for 69,000 square feet, a figure which was stated to be reasonable in view of experiences in other school districts.

John Usowski of 1311 Henry Avenue, Mamaroneck, pointed out that in Syosset, L. I. the cost of a building planned worked out to be $19.60 per square foot. In view of comparative building costs the $20 figure was felt by the board to be within bounds.

Breakdown

With this estimate the tentative cost of the new building, according to Mr. Switzer, breaks down as follows:

Construction cost	$1,360,000
Site development	175,000
Architects, other fees	91,200
Administrative costs	15,000
Contingencies	75,000
Equipment	120,000
Total	$1,836,000

Tentative

It was constantly emphasized by the Board and by Mr. Switzer that the costs as well as the plans are merely tentative and the figures cited are only for a high school without the junior high school wing. If the latter is added, a proposition which does not appear in the bond issue, referendum, costs would total approximately $2,103,600, Mr. Switzer said.

In the discussion preceding the Board vote, Mr. Switzer pointed out that the plans include a basic activity floor with a separate academic and science wing for grades 9 through 12. If found feasible at a later date, the junior high school wing can be built to acommodate two extra grades.

Core Of Space

"Everything," Mr. Switzer said, "works off a core of space which allows for expansion."

"Noisy activities and needs such as the cafeteria," he stated, "are on a lower level."

He also pointed out that the auditorium and other facilities are planned for future expansion and are large enough to handle both junior and senior high school activities.

Would Like More Study Space

Questioned as to the proposed space available for high school grades 9 through 12, William McAloon, principal of Bellows, stated that there was a bare minimum and that as an administrator he would prefer more study space, since tentative study-hall plans call for the use of the cafeteria.

Edward Man of Shore Acres Drive asked whether by eliminating "frills" it would be possible to cut down the basic $20-per-square-foot cost and was advised by George Garfunkel, board president, that "there are no frills. It's not a pleasing figure but the $20 figure is an attempt to be realistic".

"We're actually being doggone penurious," qiupped Trustee L. Carl Meskimen, to which Mr. Garfunkel answered, "This Board has often been called stingy but never before publicly".

Advisory

The Board considered asking an "advisory" or straw vote on whether to present a proposition for the junior high school wing and the razing of Barry Avenue School in connection with the bond issue referendum, but this idea was not adopted for fear that it might confuse the basic bond issue.

"An advisory vote may aid us," said Trustee Russell Pelton, "in deciding whether to proceed at the earliest opportunity to propose the building of the junior high school wing and the razing of Barry Avenue School."

"If an advisory vote turned out to be sufficiently strong," said Mr. Garfunkel, "we could begin immediately to plan an additional bond issue for the junior high school wing."

After lengthy discussion, in which varied suggestions were made as placing an additional bond issue on the Jan. 12 ballot for a junior high school wing if the basic $1.8 million issue passed, the proposed straw vote was dropped by the Board for the time being.

Moved And Passed

The resolution on the bond issue in the neighborhood of $1.8 million was moved by Mr. Pelton and seconded by Mr. Meskimen who voted in favor together with Mr. Garfunkel and Trustees Frank Begrisch and Arthur E. Bysshe. Mr. Doern, who took no part in the lengthy disussion, voiced a resounding "no."

The vote on the schedule for registration and the referendum passed by a 5-0 vote, with Mr. Doern not voting.

Long Study

The Board action on the referendum climaxes a long study which began in April of last year when for the second time a $2.1 mililon bond issue for a new school on the Palmer site was defeated by a margin of 305 votes in a referendum which required a 60 per cent margin for passage.

Since that time a citizens committee has been probing the problem from every angle and the Board decision is a result of that study as well as of the Board's feeling that any plan proposed should be as reasonable in cost as possible consistent with the absolute minimum school needs of the district.

The referendum Jan. 12 will also require a 60 per cent vote for passage because of state regulations with regard to school debt limit in relation to assessed valuation.

11. Isaac Young Junior High School in New Rochelle on Oct. 30; jewelry and knives from a collection on display.

Most of the items were recovered, according to police, although the boys had spent the bulk of the cash.

Names of the boys are being withheld by police because of their youth. They have been sent to Children's Cottage, Thornwood, until appearance in Children's Court, probably next week.

Chief Walter Kirchoff praised the work of Detectives Joseph G. Reifenberger and Thomas J. Lewis for their work in clearing up the burglaries.

The investigation began with the discovery of a bag containing jewelry, a revolver and more than $250 in cash Monday in the North Avenue office building among some cartons which were to be thrown out. The detectives observed a boy in the vicinity late Monday afternoon and questioned him, later searching his home and finding more of the stolen items. Questioning of neighbors about his associates led to apprehension of his partner.

Both boys attend Albert Leonard Junior High School and have never been known to be in trouble before. They both come from respectable homes and had reputations of being "good boys." Police said they operated mostly on foot, taking buses or trains to surrounding communities occasionally and only entered homes where they didn't have to break in. A large amount of the loot was found buried beneath the porch of one of the youth's homes.

Both boys readily admitted their activities and cooperated with police in helping to identify the loot. They admitted they were surprised that they were captured and told detectives when they were questioned about some $500 in cash recovered among the loot, that it was "lucky you caught us when you did; we were going to blow that on a trip to New York this weekend."

A visit by Santa Claus to all business areas in Mamaroneck will feature the Christmas program of the board, it was announced in connection with a report on Christmas lighting.

Santa Claus will be on hand for three afternoons preceding the holiday and will greet children and distribute lollypops in the Halstead Avenue, Richbell Road, Greenhaven, Palmer Avenue, and Mamaroneck Avenue areas.

Mrs. Patricia Du Bois and Charles Meola, cochairmen of the Christmas lighting project were commended for their efforts and it was announced that solicitations of merchants will continue this week to make funds available for the Santa Claus visit.

The committee in charge of the activity also included Carl Strauch, Lenny Marks, Val Hitzler, Joe Mandracchia, Charlotte Markell, and Joseph Pagler.

New Members

New members accepted into the Chamber included Baldwin and Soper of 700 Rushmore Avenue, to be represented by Douglas Baldwin; Lightbody Brothers Storage Inc. of 132 East Prospect Avenue, represented by Ernest Lightbody, and The Village Shop, 365 Mamaroneck Avenue, represented by William H. Members of the contest committee were Nicholas Maltese, E. C. Wright, Barney Olt, and Pete Serena.

E. J. O'Neil of the County Trust Co. was named chairman of a nominating committee which will present a slate of six directors at the Dec. 28 directors meeting. The nominees will be voted upon at a general membership meeting in January.

The directors meeting will include a supper party at which William Fulcher, president of the Chamber, will be host.

White Plains Scans Window Fire Hazards

The White Plains Fire Department today added another item to the holiday fire hazard —explosive displays in bar and grill windows.

Following the explosion and $20,000 fire in a New York bar yesterday, in which three firemen were injured, the Department of Public Safety ordered all such displays confiscated in White Plains.

Fire Chief Edward J. MacDonald assigned a firemen to tour all bars today. Where the explosive window displays are found, they will be removed. The displays advertise wares of two distillers.

BUFFALO SHEDS SNOWY SHROUD

BUFFALO (AP) — Buffalo fought back slowly but steadily today from the wallop of a record-setting November blizzard that left the city and its suburbs close to prostration.

Streets department officials said all main arteries were open, even in the hardest-hit south sections of the city where Mayor Steven Pankow had declared a state of emergency last night.

There were still tie-ups in isolated spots, mostly as a result of stalled automobiles abandoned at the height of the storm. But ton after ton of sand and salt cut through the ice and hard-packed snow, and sunshine accompanied by temperatures in the 30s also helped.

Cars Called Hazard

Mr. Pankow said the abandoned cars created a fire hazard since they would hamper the movement of fire fighting equipment.

Some side streets may remain plugged for as much as a week, however, as maintenance crews concentrate on main thoroughfares.

Governor Harriman offered state help for the snow-bound city, but the overnight clean-up job indicated that nothing would be needed but a few heavy vehicles assigned to local National Guard units. These would be used to help free trucks blocking some roads.

In most instances, a return to something approaching normalcy was expected in the city and suburbs. All schools reopened as did countless stores and business places that had closed yesterday when employes couldn't make it to work.

The storm howled in from Lake Erie about noon Monday, and by the time it was over yesterday Buffalo wallowed in 18 inches of snow. Many sections south of the city had four feet, with drifts much higher.

The snow belt moved southward to Chautauqua and Cattaraugus Counties late yesterday, bringing about three inches to Jamestown overnight and about five inches in parts of Cattaraugus.

Other upstate points reported numbing cold yesterday, with readings of about 10 above. The Watertown area caught about a foot of snow from a storm that blew in off Lake Ontario and was hit again last night by a short-lived but violent blizzard.

COUNTY FAVORS LAND FIGHT AID

WHITE PLAINS—

The Board of Supervisors passed yesterday a proposal which if adopted at Albany, would allow the Court of Claims to make cash allowances for legal action costs to property owners contesting prices offered by state agencies taking land for public use such as thruways.

The bill will be introduced at the next session of the State Legislature. Last year the Board acted similarly but the measure died in committee at Albany.

Supervisor Gordon Miller, R., Pelham, urged approval yesterday 'in order to protect the rights of property owners."

Other Action by Board

The Board approved tax refunds of $896 necessitated by court reductions in assessments through appeals by owners.

It also permitted the North Ardsley Sewer District in Greenburgh to collect $18,000 this year from property owners served. A previous levy was found to be illegal because it had been based on value of property. The new one is based on benefit per unit. If the request of Supervisor Edward H. Innet, R., Greenburgh, had been turned down, the sewer district could not have collected the money until next year.

What's the best way to stop in slippery weather? By "pumping" your brakes, says the National Safety Council. "Pumping" means to "apply the brakes quickly (lock them) for an instant, and as quickly completely release them for an instant —repeat this once or twice a second to a full stop." This gives maximum braking power (when the brakes are locked) and maximum control (when they are free).

S-D DAY

The Daily Times:

On behalf of the Woman's Club of Larchmont, I should like to commend The Daily Times on the important service to the community in making our citizens aware of the coming observance of S-D Day. Mothers of school children are especially appreciative of the value of safe driving and everyone should do his part to avoid accidents.

I am extremely pleased with the articles since this is also a project of our New York State Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

MOUNT VERNON—

Mount Vernon's Adult Education Program is blazing a new trail — a community service to help Westchester housewives find paid part-time employment.

The first of a series of seminars on "Womanpower and Community Resources" will be held Thursday at 7:45 P. M. in Washington Junior High School.

This course is designed to discover untapped resources of womanpower and awaken the community to the reasonableness of using it.

An innovation in adult education, the seminars are the result of a survey made in Mount Vernon recently to learn the needs and desires of housewives for paid part-time work.

The survey covered a sampling of women of every age on three economic levels. Ninety-two per cent of those interviewed expressed themselves as willing to cooperate in a venture whereby they might help themselves and other women to achieve this end.

ED PETRIE
Eyes '1,000' Points

Petrie Could Set Records At Seton Hall

Hoping to improve the 390-point total he achieved as a junior for Seton Hall last year, Ed Petrie of Mamaroneck is scheduled to open competition for the Pirates at South Orange, N. J. against the University of Toronto tomorrow, 8:30 P.M.

Petrie, hampered by a shoulder injury as a sophomore, has tallied nearly 600 points in two years of varsity action for Seton Hall, and needs 400 markers this season to become the fourth player in Seton Hall history to hit the '199-Point' circle.

Only Walt Dukes, Richie Regan and Pep Saul have gained membership to this select society.

Last season Petrie averaged 15 points per game while firing a 42 field-goal percentage, second high on the squad, and 68 percentage from the charity stripe. The fine marksmanship proved instrumental in Seton Hall's accumulating of a 17-9 record against topnotch college competition.

Petrie, with a good chance to attain All-American honors this season, has been highly impressive in seven Madison Square Garden games with the Pirates—scoring 96 points while drawing the raves of the met fans.

Bellow's Debut Set On Dec. 9

Scheduled to open its basketball season at Harrison a week from Friday, Dec. 9, F. E. Bellows has been practicing in high gear under Coach Jack Hasley Monday and yesterday at the Bellows High School gym.

A combination of a few previous disappointments and an arm injury to Kent Woodward has created a situation whereby the cage hopes of F. E. Bellows will depend predominantly on two sophomores.

These hoopsters are 6-2 Bob MacDonald and 6-0 Rick Burchell. MacDonald, in particular, has been impressive with sterling play which has virtually assured him of a first-string berth.

Burchell, meanwhile, has also looked sharp, and could possibly be in the starting lineup when the Hasleymen open their campaign against Harrison.

Squad Shaping Up

Woodward, hindered by a nerve condition in his arm, has been unable to register the fine play expected of him. Should the 6-3 center fail to respond to treatments by next week, it is expected that 6-4 Nat Hutchinson will start in the pivot spot for the Panthers.

Walt Schmidbauer and John Finelli have looked highly impressive in early-season practices. The 6-1 cagers have shown good rebounding and scoring ability.

The fifth spot on the BHS varsity will probably be filled by John Quadrini. Burchell and Hutchinson are in close competition for the position.

Hence, it will probably be Schmidbauer and Finelli at forwards, Woodward (if arm improves) at center, MacDonald and Quadrini at guards. Burchell has a good shot at Quadrini's position, as does Hutchinson, if he isn't used to replace Woodward.

The other five players on BHS's 12-man varsity are Bob LaBrusciano, 6-1 Bert Decker, Ron Sudol and 6-2 Dick Price and John Laise.

Then, there is also a possibility that Coach Hasley may retain Jim Reilly, sharp-shooting freshman, with the varsity. Reilly, who has shown a world of promise, had been working out with the varsity last week. However, it is expected that he will be used on the JV squad, where he could gain much more experience than sitting on the bench with the varsity.

LaBrusciano and Decker are expected to help the Panthers, while Sudol, sidelined with a football injury, is gradually recovering. He competed in inter-squad scrimmages the past two days and appears to be rounding into shape. Laise is expected to assist Bellows in garnering rebounds, as is Price-a senior.

While the squad doesn't appear to be a powerhouse, it is expected that it will be greatly improved from the team which dropped 15 of 18 games last season.

Coach Hasley plans to employ a variation of defenses, supplemented frequently with a full-court press. Defensively, it is expected that the Panthers will be strong.

Offensively, Bellows should display a good fast break. Their shooting ability, which hasn't been tested yet, is the aspect where Hasley has focused most of his concentration lately, attempting to improve BHS's scoring potency.

Bellows is scheduled to scrimmage Port Chester Tuesday in preparation for its debut three days later.

HELPING THE GRIP

Finger dots and slots, which are approved by the American Bowling Congress, can help those of you with weak fingers strengthen your grip. Bowling just isn't much fun, and you can't expect to do well, if you don't have a secure hold of the ball throughout the swing.

Besides the indentations for the fingers shown in the sketch, which many topflighters use, and which will be fitted to measure when you purchase a ball, there also are available various types of legal inserts for the holes that will give you that needed firmness in swing.

There's more to it: Quite a few stars have added an extra hole for the little finger to give them a four-fingered grip. I recommend it for women bowlers because, more than assuring a firm hold, it reduces friction and avoids blisters, and it releases as freely as a two or a three-fingered ball. Use the conventional three eighths pitch for the finger-holes, and use no pitch at all on the thumb hole. I'm sure you'll enjoy bowling with such a ball; that you'll soon develop good accuracy with it.

Pistons Beat Fading Knicks

By The Associated Press

The Fort Wayne Pistons, defending Western Division champions of the National Basketball Association, are showing the rest of the teams that first impressions can be mighty deceiving.

The Pistons, after losing six of their first seven games, captured their third straight by defeating the fading New York Knickerbockers 104 - 99 in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader last night. In the other game, the Boston Celtics moved into third place in the Eastern Division by trouncing the Syracuse Nationals 105-97. The loss dropped the Nats into the cellar of the Eastern Division.

In the only other game, the St. Louis Hawks, leading the Western Division, knocked off the Eastern leaders, the Philadelphia Warriors, 108-95 behind the 40-point scoring spree of Bob Pettit.

More Honors For Cassady

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, Ohio State's All-America back, is the third straight Mid-Western football player to win the Heisman memorial trophy.

The elusive Columbus, Ohio, native who led the Buckeyes to their second straight Big 10 championship, won the award yesterday by a landslide in a poll of 1,324 sportswriters and broadcasters.

Cassady collected 2,219 points in the balloting conducted by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York to determine the "outstanding college football player in the United States."

The trophy is named in honor of John W. Heisman, one of football's great coaches.

Jim Swink, junior halfback at Texas Christian, was second to Cassady in the voting with 742 votes. George Welsh of Navy was third with 383.

Gaels Prepare For Toronto Hoop Opener Friday Night

Scarcely is there time to breathe between sports seasons these days! No sooner was football finished with the Iona-New Rochelle game last Thursday, than the Kiwanis-Church League opened the basketball campaign Saturday. Now big time collegiate basketball is about to make its 1955-'56 local debut with the contest between Iona Colelge and the University of Toronto Friday night in O'Connell Gym.

Coach Jim McDermott sent his charges through their next to last workout today for the lidlifter. Unles ssomething radical happens to alter his plans just before game time, he will start Joe Bernardi and Ralph Savarese at the forwards, LeRoy Scott at center, and Al Simmons and Tom Carino at the guards.

Carino, Scott Returnees

Of this group, only Carino and Scott were starters last year but Carino saw little action after the first few games because he couldn't score. This season McDermott is counting on him to be his floor quarterback and team director. Scott played often last year but his inconsistency was a regular source of worry for his coach. But since practice started Nov. 1, the local boy, a former New Rochelle High star, has shown great improvement and has been impressive not only in ability but in attitude as well. Carino has improved his shooting considerably. If he can improve even more, he'll be "money in the bank" to the Gael defense because he is an accomplished floor man.

Three regulars last year—center Wally McCarvill, forward Andy Risoli, and guard Jack Padian were graduated last June. With the hube number of Sophomores out for the team this season, only McCarvill, of that group, would be a starter Friday night. One thing McDermott can use this year is more height. McCarvill's six feet eight inches will be sorely missed. But still with the likes of Larry Blaney, Rudy Eckhardt and several other Sophomores around who are well over six feet, this year's team figures to have more height balance than last year's.

Bernardi Accomplished, Experienced

Bernardi is an accomplished, experienced ball player and a war veteran. At twenty-four, he has the maturity to steady down a youngster like Ralph Sacarese, who will be combining with him, most of the time, in the forecourt. Simmons is a Negro boy from the Bronx, who played high school basketball in New York City, then attended a Texas College. He's a transfer student at Iona. McDermott likes his ball handling ability and his set shot.

Iona has big plans for making its team more prominent in the minds of Westchester folks this year. With six games at the County Center in White Plains and with an elaborate visible publicity program scheduled to be announced soon, the Gaels will not only be improved but better known after the season is over.—BOB DOYLE

Dr. Conway Tells Boys Of M.D. Career

The requirements for a medical degree are difficult, Dr. William H. Conway of Chatsworth Gardens Apartments, Larchmont, yesterday told a group of Mamaroneck Junior High School eighth grade boys in one of a series of vocational talks arranged by Joseph T. Downey, dean.

Dr. Conway explained that in New York State there are nine approved medical schools, six of which require three years of college education for entrance and the other three require a college degree. He said scientific subjects are the most important but a general education is required, including mathematics, social studies, and a great emphasis on English.

Cost Of Training

Discussing the cost of a medical education, Dr. Conway stated that the average cost per year is from $1600 to $2300 with an average of about $15,000 for seven years of training. However, he said, there are a number of ways for good students to go through college without spending that much money. Scholarships, loan funds, and part-time work would cut the cost considerably, he pointed out.

The need for doctors, Dr. Conway said, is second only to the need for engineers.

Dr. Conway explained that besides general practice, there are many other specialities, such as surgery, dermatology, industrial medicine, bone, medical insurance, public health, legal medicine, medical teaching, and medical missionary work.

Earnings

The average over-all earnings, before taxes, for all doctors in 1954 was $15,000 per year and $17,000 for specialists, Dr. Conway said. Salaried doctors in business earn an average of $10,000 per year, but these doctors receive other benefits such as retirement pay, paid vacations and insurance, he added.

A lively enthusiastic interest in the study of medicine is the most important personal qualification, according to Dr. Conway. Also essential, he said, is the ability to take, apply, and retain instruction, which means that a good memory and power to concentrate are necessary. Good eyes and hearing are absolutely vital, he added.

Examinations

Dr. Conway concluded by explaining that the Medical Board of Examinations is not too difficult for a person with a degree from an approved medical school. If the National Board Examinations are passed, a person is qualified to practice medicine in 46 of the 48 states, he said, and added that no one should be swayed from taking the medical course if he has ability and sincerely desires to become a doctor.

Mr. Downey's next speaker in the series will be George Straub, superintendent of the Westchester Joint Waterworks No. 1.

Auxiliary To Hold Party At Grasslands

MOUNT VERNON—

Mrs. Philip Tupper of Mount Vernon, junior chapeau passe, reported on the recent departmental pouvoir meeting in Binghamton.

The salon will present an award to the child welfare chairman of a Westchester American Legion Auxiliary unit having the most outstanding child welfare program this coming year.

The Salon will meet Jan. 23 in the White Plains Legion Clubhouse.

Newspaper Ads Are Proper For Wedding Invitation

By EMILY POST

"There have been two weddings in our town recently to which invitations were sent only to out-of-town guests. A notice was put in the local paper saying that all relatives and friends were invited to the wedding.

"I happened to be a relative of one bride and a good friend of the other. I do not consider this notice in the newspaper an invitation and think that some member of the family should have confirmed the invitation."

Answer: If you had been one of a few left out, then I could understand your feelings. But since they left everyone out, I personally can't see that it matters.

Question: Just recently my sister had quite a run in with a young woman who was a friend of both of us. I always liked this person and hate to have our friendship end because of this unfortunate incident. However, my sister refuses to have anything further to do with her and says that if I remain friends with her that I will be very disloyal and announce to everyone that I think my sister wrong and my friend right.

Answer: My advice is to pay absolutely no attention to it and refuse to side with either one. Say you do not approve of widening the breach.

HAWTHORNE—

The first Westchester infantry unit of the Organized Reserve Corps has been set up in temporary headquarters at Hawthorne Public School.

Maj. Gen. Alfred Tucker, commanding general of the 77th Infantry Division, announced today that the 1st Battalion of the 307th Infantry Regiment has moved to Hawthorne to recruit an all-Westchester unit.

The battalion is commanded by Lt. Col. John McAllister of White Plains. Executive officer is Maj. Thomas McLaren of White Plains.

Vacancies are open in the enlisted ranks. The battalion's main activity will be recruiting reservists for the next few months.

Many Westchester reservists have dropped out of the division during the last few years because of the inconvenience of traveling once a week to New York for drills, Maj. McLaren said. The three commissioned officers and four noncommissioned officers from the county hope to build the battalion to a strength of 200 men, he pointed out.

If recruiting plans are successful, the division may build an infantry armory in the White Plains area soon, he said.

MEN ARE DEADLY

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Insurance underwriters disagree with Kipling's famous line. They think the male driver under twenty-five is more deadly than the female—especially if he is unmarried. Proposals for revised liability insurance rates, filed with the state, ask increases up to 43.6 per cent for unmarried male drivers under twenty-five. Such drivers who are married would get off lighter and girls in the same age bracket — married or unmarried — would get a decrease.

Could Get 'Atumic Ache'?

Dish Glazes Amaze; They're Radioactive

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Dr. Lincoln LaPaz sat for his noontime meal, plunked a Geiger counter on the table, and watched it go nuts over his dishware.

Before the day was through, Dr. LaPaz, head of the Institute of Meteoritics at the University of New Mexico, found himself with a disturbed wife telling him to get rid of the dishes.

He also had a 'baffling mystery" and theorized that a couple of plate manufacturers may be sitting on a uranium mine.

Dr. LaPaz discovered the o[range] glaze on his pottery plat[e] was sending out 1.5 milliroen[t]gens an hour compared to bac[k]ground radioactivity in the air [of] .03 milliroentgens. In other wor[ds] the plates were radioactive, a[l]though apparently not dangerou[s]ly so.

The radioactivity was confin[ed] to the orange glaze. The plate[s] he said, were from two man[u]facturers and in each case ga[ve] off the same amount of radi[o]activity.

Asked what he thought caus[ed] the radioactivity, Dr. LaP[az] said:

"The only thing I can say [is] this: I'd like to know where th[ey] get the coloring material. I['d] sure as heck stake a claim."

Help Sought For Families

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles I. Schottland, Social Security Commissioner, today urged the creation of organized programs to meet such family crises as divorce, desertion or marital discord.

In a speech prepared for the American Public Welfare Association, Mr. Cchottland said:

'We do relatively little, in relation to the importance and extent of the problem involved, to strengthen family life through organized programs.

"With due respect for all of the activities of our churches, schools, welfare agencies, family counselors and others interested in strengthening family life, the average man or woman facing a family crisis does not have available a scaled service to aid in such crisis at the time it is most urgently needed."

Julie Harris Is Cut During Performance

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Julie Harris, who has won high praise for her portrayal of Joan of Arc in the current stage hit, "The Lark," cut her lip during last night's performance.

The mishap occurred when she made her regular fall in the second act, and struck against a stool.

The curtain was lowered while a doctor attemped to stop the bleeding. His efforts were not fully successful and she finished the show with blood trickling down her chin.

Home Buyer Credit Studied By Bankers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to make available more credit for home buyers was being considered today by federal officials and the presidents of the 12 regional home loan banks.

Chairman W. W. McAllister of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said yesterday he and the presidents would consider easing restrictions on mortgage credit available to savings and loan associations.
