

Prayer, Perseverance Found 'Unbeatable'

By Heber J. Grant

By WALLACE F. BENNETT U. S. Senator From Utah

Heber J. Grant, my father-in-law, was the seventh president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, often called the "Mormon" church. He served in his capacity from 1918 until his death in 1945.

But these 27 years were only the second half of his 32 years of service.

In 1852, at the age of twenty-six, he became one of the quorum of the 12 apostles (who, with the three members of the First Presidency, are the chief authorities of the church). He made and lost several comfortable fortunes, yet he never lost the simple faith in God and man which marked him with greatness.

He was born in "Great Salt Lake City," Nov. 22, 1826, a few years after Brigham Young had led the first company of pioneers there.

His father, who was Brigham Young's counselor and the first mayor of Salt Lake, died nine days after Heber's birth, leaving the young mother, Rachel Ivins Grant, a Quaker-turndown Mormon, to earn a meager living for herself and her only child.

While her son was little more than an infant, Rachel was promised in a prayer blessing offered by a beloved woman leader that Heber would one day become one of the heads of the church. Rachel never told this to her son until after the prophesy was fulfilled, though his promise must have been a great sustaining force during the years she bent over her sewing machine.

Tennis Down Annapolis Appointment

Heber dreamed of having what they used to call "a higher education," but his mother's circumstances made that impossible. Then one day he met George Q. Cannon, the territorial representative in Congress, who gave him an appointment to either West Point or Annapolis without competitive examination. He chose Annapolis.

Next morning, after telling to his mother of his new dreams of the sea, he realized she had been weeping. He often told us that, in an instant, like the traditional drowning man, he saw himself an admiral and all the life he might have had passed before him. Then his decision made, he put his arms around his mother and said, "Mother, I don't want a naval education. I am going to stay home and take care of you, and have you quit keeping boarders for a living."

Then she broke down, and told him she had prayed all night that he give up his militaristic ambitions. The old promise of that prophetic prayer that he would become a church leader was still strong in her heart.

His own prayers were a vital force in Heber J. Grant's life. He approached God with complete faith that if his request were reasonable and proper, it would be granted. He told us that twice during his long ministry he prayed to be appointed to a definite position in the church.

Combines Prayer and Perseverance

Once he asked the Lord to guide those in authority to appoint him as a leader of the young people's group. He felt he could make a real contribution, not only to the organization, but to the magazine it published, which was having a hard time. The very next day, he was called to the office of the then president of the church, Wilford Woodruff, and given the appointment, in which he served for long and well.

Later, he was sent to open a mission in Japan. After many discouraging months, he told the women and children that he would be allowed to serve, instead, as head of the European branch.

WAR IS NEARER, STACHIN SAYS IN REPLY TO QUERY

Premier Favors Meeting of Great Powers, Unification of Germany

NEW YORK (AP)—Premier Stalin sent a message today to a group of American newspaper and radio editors saying a third world war was not nearer than it was two or three years ago, the editors reported.

The message suggested a meeting of the heads of great powers might be helpful.

He also declared the present moment opportune for the unification of Germany.

James L. Wick, chairman of the board of the Niles, Ohio, Daily Times, said two Russians delivered messages to him last week. He said it appeared to be a reply to four questions the editors had asked.

War No Closer

Wick said the questions, and the replies were:

"Is a third World War closer now than two or three years ago?"

Reply: "No, it is not."

"Would a meeting of the heads of the great powers be useful?"

Reply: "Possibly it would be useful."

"Do you consider the present time to be opportune for the unification of Germany?"

Roof Blaze Damages J.J. Sack Residence

Flames devoured the shingle roof and attic of the John J. Sack home at 44 Maynew Avenue, Larchmont, shortly after 7 o'clock last night when Mr. and Mrs. Sack were eating dinner in their first floor dining room.

One fireman was injured as the Larchmont Department waged a two and a half-hour battle to subdue the blaze.

Fire Chief Joseph B. Ford estimated the damage at $10,000.

The Sacks did not know their house was aflame until Jules Bonjourn, 48 Marlow Avenue, a neighbor, beat on the front door to arouse them, after seeing the blaze from the front door.

In the meantime Mrs. Robert Dwyer of 48 Marlow Avenue, whose daughter, Lorna, ten, had spotted the fire from a back window, was en route to the fire department by telephone.

When the first contingent of firemen arrived, the roof was "an inferno," according to Second Deputy Chief William Miller. There was no heat center to the blaze, he reported, and the entire roof was wrapped in flames that also showed the tree tops surrounding the house.

Controlled by 7:40

The roof blaze was controlled by 7:40, Chief Miller said after the firemen poured 6,000 gallons of water into the house using stream and fog nozzles.

Friends Aim to Push Barkley Into Democrat Candidate Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friends of Vice President Alben Barkley are seeking an unexpected nomination today to push him into the Presidential Democratic nomination.

They looked for him to be in the race within a few days.

"Now that President Truman has stepped aside, Mr. Barkley is the only man who can unite the various wings of the Democratic Party," said a reporter.

John F. Kennedy, D., Iowa, told a reporter.

"He's the best vote-getter in the Democratic Party and he owes it to the party and to himself to make a formal announcement immediately," Mr. Gillette said.

Two veteran Democratic Senators, Henry of North Carolina and George of Georgia, predicted in separate interviews that Barkley would win the start of the Presidential drive before the weekend.

And Senator Underwood from Mr. Barkley's home state of Kentucky said Mr. Barkley would carry all the doubtful states and assure continued Democratic control of the House and Senate.

12-LOD DIVISION OF BARR ESTATE WINS APPROVAL

Planning Commission Approves Plans to Extend Taylor's Lane

The application of Stone Mill Properties Inc. for approval of a development of 12 building lots on the former Barr estate of Taylor's Lane in Mamaroneck was approved last night at a session of the Mamaroneck Planning Commission.

Conrad Hente, chairman, presided. Plans for the Stone Mill development, which is being approved by the Severn Real Estate company of Larchmont, call for an extension of Taylor's Lane along the shore of the Van Wyck Pond west to the end of the Stone Mill Properties and the construction of 12 houses at a cost of not less than $30,000 each. Each plot will include at least three fourths of an acre.

Ernst Savarin, who submitted the application to the commission, declared at the hearing that if the development proved successful, the plan will be extended. The plan was approved by the commission 12-0.

Also approved at the hearing, subject to similar research by the village attorney, was the application of the Edgewater Point Property Owners' Association to have the village map changed giving the present actual location of the village drive easement as the legal location of the drive and easement.

Ernst Savarin, association president, declared that his group "merely wanted to crystallize" the situation legally. It has existed in fact for the last 30 years. The right of way, he said as shown on the village map at present, "is under water at high tide."

Board Denies Variance For Orienta Beach

Threat to Neighborhood Seen; No Hardship Proved

The Mamaroneck Zoning Board of Appeals in executive session last night denied a variance application of Orienta Residents Waterfront Inc. for a variance permitting use of the second of Orienta Avenue as a beach facility for point residents.

The application was submitted by the resident group at a hearing before the Zoning Board March 13 and decision was deferred to a later date.

The Zoning Board also denied the study of briefs by Harry Kurrook, and lawyer representing Orienta Residents Waterfront, Herbert G. Blitts, opposition counsel for the board. Blitts owns the adjoining property at 316 Orienta Avenue.

In denying the application the Zoning Board held that the application failed to establish that there are practical difficulties of variance hardship as these are defined in the zoning laws on Orienta Avenue.

'No Hardship'

The zoning laws state that a case of hardship exists when a given piece of property cannot yield a reasonable return if used only for the purposes permitted in the zoning ordinance or if the property in question departs in some unique way from the general character of the neighborhood.

The board also held that the use of the Orienta beach as a public facility would create nuisances such as "noise, congestion, traffic, and other conditions affecting the health and safety of the neighborhood."

Formula Of 'Love' Never Will Fail, Ralph Morgan Says

By RALPH MORGAN
Star and Screen Actor
I have enjoyed many of the good things in life, for which I am grateful. But like most others, I have also encountered what to me, have been great tragedies.

Recently my sorrows and reverses piled up on me to such an extent and my future ahead looked so grim that life had almost no meaning. Yet, when everything seemed to be completely dark, a thought came to me.

Why don't you try something that you always believed in, but never used? Why don't you really try to love? Right now, start loving everyone with whom you come in contact—the milkman, the paper boy, the postman, the man at the service station, yes, and the trees, the flowers, the birds, every living thing.

Let me give you a specific instance. You're an actor, like myself. You're standing on the stage ready to go on and play your part. Another actor comes off-stage and says, "What a terrible audience. They're sitting on their hands. There isn't a smile in the whole crowd."

Don't you believe it! Say to yourself that it isn't true. Tell yourself: "I love those people out there, and they love me. They're my brothers and sisters."

Go on the stage with that thought sincerely and deeply in your mind, and what happens. You will be surprised and amazed. I've proven it. I've seen it work. And if it works for me, it will work for you—for the mechanic, the housewife, for each and every one. And when it works for you, you will feel exalted with a great hope that becomes a conviction.

You will also know that one of the great commandments, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," was not an idle request, but that it was given as a guiding principle which will bring the Peace of God which passeth all understanding to each of us. I love this verse of John Greenleaf Whittier:

There brother-man, fold to thy heart thy brother
Where love dwells, the Peace of God is there.
To worship rightly is to love each other;
Each smile we give each other does a brother.

I suppose every individual, deep down in his heart, believes that he has a formula or recipe for the healing of the nations, which, if adopted, would bring lasting peace to the people of the world. This cannot be accomplished until the great majority of us has found peace individually.

Never Fails When Sincerely Applied
My formula is a very old one, as old as man, yet it has rarely been tried, except by those who are sincere. Of one thing, I am sure; it never fails when sincerely applied. This entire solution is embodied in one word, the word which I believe has been more abused than any other in the English, or any other language—love.

Hilton Finds Prayer Is Best Investment As Mother Told Him

By CONRAD N. HILTON

On that Summer day in 1941 when my mother was seized with a heart attack, I was in the midst of some of the most ambitious negotiations of my life. Mother knew I kept a picture of an enormous hotel on my desk. I Avowed it had scrawled: "The Greatest of Them All." That day I had hoped to be able to let her that at last I had bought the Waldorf-Astoria.

Over her bedside, I know she was dying. "It may be hours," the doctor said. "Or she may linger..." Eighty-five years of vigorous, alert living finally running out! I sat down to wait and watch. My vigil was to last five weeks. They tell me that associates kept phoning that my presence at the office was vital. I can't recall any messages.

Conrad Hilton was living again my years with this stricken lady who was my child's star. Mother was the most religious person I ever knew; my father was the least. Gus Hilton made and lost fortunes; staking, claiming, working and buying land.

When Gus married Mary, he took his bride to New Mexico. It was a land of storms, where snakes, wild animals, Apache Indians, a horse under and Spanish in your mouth, were all matter of course.

Mother Raised Family Of Eight Here, my mother raised eight children. I was the first son, born on Christmas. Mother rode me 11 miles, a bodyguard riding beside us, to have a child who was my child's star.

I have heard many people say, "I just can't get to Church," but I never heard mother say that. Her program for us was religion, food and learning and in that order, while father was becoming cool king of the countryside.

"Who says Dartmouth's the best for you?" mother demanded. "Maybe the Lord knows what's best for you," mother demanded. "It didn't seem for the best. Because after two years at the New Mexico School of Mines I had to quit. Dad's money was gone. We all came back home. Our house was 10 rooms over a general store. Mother would not let us live in five rooms, so that the others could be rented. She cooked for all."

Started Him In Hotel Business That experience started me in the hotel business. I went to bed before sunset, to study the outside world of the air force, pumped the strangers for news of the hustled up eggs and bedded them down. Then I would catch a few hours' sleep before trying again at 8 and running the store.

I toted the bags of travelling salesman, hustled up eggs and bedded them down. Then I would catch a few hours' sleep before trying again at 8 and running the store. Father was not a man to stay down long. Within two years he had organized a new bank in Hot Springs. Soon he built a home in Socorro and moved the family there where mother had her Church. I was left to run the hotel while mother's bank and "store" in full partnership, and I organized the bank in San Antonio.

How often during those hectic years, mother would say to me: "Don't talk to me about the important people you have to me." (Turn to Page 3, please)

On Korean Front Off For Far East

Corn. Louis J. Preston Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Preston of 17 Riverside Avenue, Larchmont, is on duty on the Korean front with the 10th Signal Battalion which is expected to depart from Korea on rotation late this Spring.

The battalion, under command of Col. William V. Norton of 8 Mayhew Avenue, Larchmont, was a Yeager National Guard unit when it was called to active duty in August, 1950. The unit was serving in Korea from April, 1951.

A 1949 graduate of Mamaroneck High School, Corn. Preston is twenty-two years old. He joined the 10th as a national guard unit in June, 1948, and before the battalion was activated was assigned with his father in the 2nd Infantry in Larchmont.

Injury Badge Pfc. Lawrence Freedman of Larchmont's Gables, Larchmont, was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge, symbol of service in the front line. He is with the 40th Infantry Division on the Korean front.

The badge shows a miniature revolutionary War flag which is mounted against a blue background. A silver wreath extends across the bottom and up the sides of the badge.

Pfc. Freedman son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freedman of the Larchmont Gables address, is twenty-two years old and was graduated in 1945 from Mamaroneck High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society, Glee Club, cheer, orchestra, and the Glee and Glee Club.

He was awarded from New York University in 1949 a Bachelor of Science in Education with an induction leave in 1950 as an insurance agent with offices in New York.

Collection Grosses Another BB was added to the collection at Mamaroneck Village police headquarters yesterday at 3:30 P. M. when the gun was confiscated from a pair of teenagers by Patrolman Martin Woodruff.

The boys were parked on the hill at West Post Road and when more boys were and shooting at children walking along the Post Road on their way home from school.

Woodruff had to give chase because he caught the boys who took off just when they saw the officer. Parents of the two boys were notified.

CAFETERIA PROBE HIGHlights STORY OF SCHOOL BUDGET

Murray Ave. School Appeal Touches Off Hour's Discussion

A public probe of the Mamaroneck school budget was sidetracked for more than an hour last night in the Music Room of the Dennis High School here, as a war over provision of hot lunches in the four elementary schools of the district. More than 75 representatives of community organizations attended the informal hearing set by the Board of Education to examine a tentative $2,600,000 school budget for 1952-53.

The proposed rate is $18.733 per $1,000 of evaluation, $39 higher than the current local rate. The discussion of a hot lunch program followed a request by Stephen Dunwell, speaking at the Murray Avenue School PTA, that a cafeteria be installed in that school. The cost would be $15,800, according to figures prepared by the board.

Mr. Dunwell posed the question after Trustee Robert Duncan filled the session to $15,000 budgeted under capital outlay for expansion of cafeteria space and facilities also already in the Mamaroneck Avenue School. No other school now provides such a service.

Mr. Paul Gerhold of 21 Crescent Road, conductor of a "women's campaign" for fluoridation of the Westchester Joint Water District, urged that the board presented a petition to the Town Council in the West Street Fire House.

Mr. Gerhold had presented the same petition March 19 signed by more than 100 residents urging a study of the fluoridation question here but an official action could be taken due to the absence of three of the four councilmen. At that time, however, Supervisor Owen Mandeville unofficially declared that a study would be made.

Last night Mr. Mandeville and councilmen seemed disinclined to initiate a study of the fluoridation issue. Although no official action was taken, the fact that many studies have been made by national organizations, such as the American Medical Association, American Dental Association and others, led even if the findings of a local study group are favorable, he said.

Mr. Mandeville further contended that even if the findings of a local study group are favorable, he said, it is up to the consumers to demand fluoridation. The supervisor pointed out that, in any event, the Town Council represents only about one third or less of the consumers of the Westchester Joint Water Works.

No Pressure Waxed Apparently referring to the activities of an informal committee of Westchester Joint Water consumers who attended a Water Board meeting last Thursday, Mr. Mandeville declared that the members of the Water Board feel they know what they are doing and resist being harassed into this by any minority group. They will find the proper way.

HOUSE SALE PROFITS SUBJECT TO NY TAX

ALBANY. (AP)—Governor Dewey vetoed today legislation that would have exempted a state income tax on any profit you made in selling your house, if you used the money in buying another home.

The present law, a profit from the sale of a house is subject to a state income tax. The Governor said the bill was defective technically, but "underly considerable merit in its purpose" of the legislation.

He urged that the State Tax Commission prepare a revised bill for consideration by the Legislature.

Morris Custod by McGrath As Scandal Sleuth

Attorney General Fires Aide At Once In Curt Letter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath today fired Newbold Morris as the administrator of government contracts. The Attorney General made public a curt letter to Newbold Morris notifying him of his immediate termination of his services.

Mr. McGrath personally handed copies of the letter to reporters at the Justice Department but declined to answer any questions as to whether President Truman had formally approved the action.

The firing followed a series of McGrath's television broadcasts, including an apparently heated argument at National Airport here when the 50-year-old New York City lawyer told the New York Times that he would not accept any more of the present administration's policies.

There is no connection between the two disputes. Both involve union demands for higher wages and new work contracts.

The Western Union walkout came promptly on time at our annual meeting, except for the fact that the union postponed its walkout for 24 hours. There was no report that any of the Western Union 3,000 large offices failed to heed the strike call of Adolph Blum, union president. The union is in a 100% commercial Telephone Union.

Of the company's 47,000 employees, about 31,000 are directly involved in the walkout. The others are supervisory workers and most of the company's New York City employees. The latter belong to another union.

Mr. Blum's said telegram service, "It is a strike by the strike." The Western Union said in a statement the strike would stop over.

Nothing Impossible With God's Help, Sightless Man Learns

By C. DONNY DEMAREST
Sightless Business Man
"If we operate immediately," a prominent eye specialist told me in 1940, "you have one chance out of a thousand to retain your vision."

His words left me, at eighteen, sick, very frightened and terribly alone. I had heard about great dramatic cures to prayer. Could it happen to me?
In a few days the operation was performed. A week later the bandages were removed. My long-expected chance had come through. All was darkness.

"Prayer doesn't work," I told myself grimly. I was through with it. From then on I resolved that whatever I accomplished would be done through my own personal efforts. This business of turning to a Supreme Being for strength and guidance might satisfy the hollow boys, but it wasn't for down-to-earth situations and people, I figured.

Ventures Fail, Bitterness Rises
An attempt at selling life insurance was soon abandoned. Other ventures failed. I admitted to complete defeat.

Then pneumonia caught up with me, and next a complete nervous breakdown. Lying there helpless on a hospital bed in my world of darkness, I admitted to complete defeat. Life often has to knock people flat on their backs before they get any vision. In this despair once again I turned to God and asked for strength and peace of mind. If He couldn't help me now, nothing could.

In the month of slow convalescence that followed, I saw dimly how prayer was working. For me, it was by doing the next thing that came along, no matter how small or unimportant. I can see now how each little action was part of a Master Plan.

In 1942, I obtained employment in a defense plant as an inspector of radio equipment. It was a job that seemed to lead nowhere, nor did it last long. During 1944 and 1945 I attended Stamford, Conn., Business College where I mastered typing, shorthand and dictation transcription work and Braille shorthand at the rate of 120 words a minute. My course also included general business subjects with emphasis on letter writing and promotional work.

Job Hunting Proves Fruitless
But my efforts to find employment were unsuccessful. All my recent training seemed for nothing, and I was no better off than before my siege of pneumonia and a nervous breakdown. The difference was that this time instead of plying on ahead bitterly, I stopped and took stock. Perhaps it just wasn't in the cards for me to get a job. What could I do then—start my own business? Why not?

I hadn't any money, but my parents were willing to loan me $400. This was enough to rent a one-room office in the center of Stamford, to purchase several desks and a typewriter and have a telephone installed. Meanwhile, I had figured out four different categories my new business could cover.

First: I intended, personally, to act as a public stenographer—taking dictation in Braille shorthand from salesmen and small businessmen who did not require or could not afford a secretary of their own.

Second: I would rent desk space on a monthly basis to anyone who required a central business location, but who could not afford to did not need a private office of his own.

Third: I could start a daytime telephone answering service. My fourth and main service was to offer mimeographing, multigraphing, Robotyping and printing which I arranged to (Turn to Page 10, please)

Combing The Town

Difference of Opinion Wins Fellowship
A woman of 190 Grand Street, Stamford, Conn., was found on Sunday with a car which she was driving after she was arrested by a police officer. She was charged with driving a motor vehicle without a license. She was released on $500 bond.

Something of an expert himself, Mr. Stern is the biographer of David Mark Griffith, the movie producer of the recent days who turned the celebrated world-upside-down with "The Birth of a Nation." Contrary to Mr. Griffith's pointed opinion, Mr. Stern claims that Griffith grossed $48,000,000 to double the take from "The Birth of a Nation," which he says earned only a paltry $34,000,000.

Willing to grant a few million dollars between friendly rivals, Mr. Griffith held out for a compromise at $33,000,000 for "Gone With the Wind."

Mr. Stern's article was printed in Sunday's New York Times Magazine.

Read Hot Rod
When Panfilo Santangelo of 170 Grand Street, Stamford, Conn., drove his son-in-law's car yesterday, he may have thought he was getting an ordinary vehicle, but he subsequently found himself in a very hot rod indeed.

When at 6:37 P. M. he went to start the car, which he had parked on the upper ramp at the car wash station, the battery cable snapped and set the car on fire. Mr. Santangelo leaped from the auto and called for the fire department.

Vets' Queries
A total of 175 cases, including 119 personal interviews and 56 telephone consultations, were handled last month by Harry Leckert, deputy director of the Veterans' Service Agency in Larchmont, according to his monthly report.

Twelve questions about service in the armed forces led the list of queries while 14 veterans asked about insurance.

Other inquiries were received concerning apprenticeship training, veterans' bonus, burial benefits, civil service, education, honor, on the job training, pensions, taxes and dental and medical problems.

Costello Juror Fired On 'Bribery' Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—The foreman of the jury trying gambler Frank Costello for contempt of the Senate said today, after she was abruptly excused from service, that she had been accused of agreeing to accept a payoff.

"It is ridiculous," declared Mrs. Helen Louise Mason, the jury foreman. Shortly after court opened today, Federal Judge Sylvester B. Peckham announced that two jurors had been removed from the jury. He gave no explanation. One was reported to be ill.

But Mrs. Mason said later that she was called into the judge's chambers and told that the juror had been informed she had been "approached" and had agreed to accept money.

She said reporters neither she nor her husband had been approached by anyone in the case, and that she knew nothing about any such incident.

The excusing of the two jurors, coupled with the reported illness of a third, made it doubtful whether the trial could continue.

The upset came on the day the jury was to begin considering a verdict. It was the second trial of Costello on charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate Committee last year.

League to Hold Primary Survey

A house-to-house survey will be made Tuesday in Larchmont and Mamaroneck by members of the League of Women Voters to determine public sentiment regarding a change in the New York State primary system to allow the voter to show his preference by marking his ballot.

Mamaroneck League members will be assisted by high grade school students at Belong High School who will query residents as part of a citizenship education program.

Calling residents' attention to the primary April 22, the canvassers will ask if the resident is enrolled in a political party, has a heavy coat of 22 franchise system where he cannot show his preference for a particular candidate, and if he has ever lived in a state where such a system is used.

The 16 states that choose their presidential candidates by primary New York is the only one in which the voter cannot express his preference.

Charles Campbell of 119 Madison Street Mamaroneck, was charged $10 for failure to obey a stop sign while $5 fines in the same offense were levied against Harry Moynihan of Harrison and A. E. Schrodner of New York City, while 50 levies were assessed against Merrill Hadden, 312 Frank Street, Mamaroneck, and Melvin Allard of Haddon, 815 J. and Edward H. Leap Year Plays $10,000 Trick On Firemen; Ford Is Re-Elected

Leap year played a $10,000 trick on the Larchmont fire department last night. Chief Joseph B. Ford noted that the fire was "starting low" since more than $1,000,000 worth of property was at risk at three o'clock last night.

The fire was reported at 9 P. M. by a twelve-year-old girl, the only child of the late Mrs. M. J. Ford, at the time. Four pieces of property were damaged by the fire, including a car, a radio, a television set and a washing machine.

Fire occurred the last day of March and had to be included in this year's report. Even so, the chief said, the fire was "starting low" since more than $1,000,000 worth of property was at risk at three o'clock last night.

Francis B. Caster was selected by the voters last night to continue in their present posts for the second year. The village board will have a chance to continue them in office Monday night.

M'Granery Replaces M'Grath As Truman Clean-Up Blows Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman administration's "clean-up" program was organized two months ago—has now run its course. And a Federal judge from Philadelphia, friendly, fifty-six-year-old James P. McGranery, was called out of the cabinet of his old friend Harry Truman yesterday with a few years, a statement that he was paying the "penalty" for doing his duty as he saw it and a tip to his successor, Benjie Sabastia, to "clean up" for the administration.

Judge McGranery—formerly confirmed by the Senate as the "resignation" of his 1948 campaign manager—was called as a substitute to take over what he called the Truman "middle-of-the-road" dismissal of Gov. Douglas MacArthur.

The known candidate, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General J. McGrath plummeted out of the cabinet of his old friend Harry Truman yesterday with a few years, a statement that he was paying the "penalty" for doing his duty as he saw it and a tip to his successor, Benjie Sabastia, to "clean up" for the administration.

STEEL INDUSTRY SERVED NOTICE OF STRIKE CALL

CIO Slates Walkout For Wednesday; Mills Cool Furnaces
NEW YORK (AP)—Formal notice was served on the steel industry today that 700,000 steelworkers will strike Wednesday for higher wages and a union shop.

An industry spokesman said mills would start cooling furnaces immediately.

David G. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO Steelworkers of America, dropped the strike notices in the mail late last night. He sent notices to the union's locals.

Mr. McDonald said 200 notices were sent to steel companies—some to some companies to cover various contracts and agreements the union had with the management.

CIO leader Philip Murray, who also heads the steelworkers union, intended to leave today for Pittsburgh with Mr. McDonald and other union officials who negotiated unsuccessfully here with representatives of major steel companies.

The union insisted the industry comply with the wage and other (Turn to Page 10, please)

Federal Judge Called To Take Over Anti-Corruption Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman administration's "clean-up" program was organized two months ago—has now run its course. And a Federal judge from Philadelphia, friendly, fifty-six-year-old James P. McGranery, was called out of the cabinet of his old friend Harry Truman yesterday with a few years, a statement that he was paying the "penalty" for doing his duty as he saw it and a tip to his successor, Benjie Sabastia, to "clean up" for the administration.

Judge McGranery—formerly confirmed by the Senate as the "resignation" of his 1948 campaign manager—was called as a substitute to take over what he called the Truman "middle-of-the-road" dismissal of Gov. Douglas MacArthur.

The known candidate, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General J. Prayer Time Proves Success, Continued By Breakfast Club

By DON McNEILL
Testameter of the Breakfast Club of the Air
I'll never forget the morning when I first asked Breakfast Clubbers:

"All over the nation,
Each in his own words,
For a world united in peace—
How your hearts, let us pray!"

The studio audience of 500 followed the example set by the cast and the orchestra seated with me around the breakfast table, and for 20 seconds silently blended their thoughts with ours. For a fleeting moment I wondered about the reactions of the unseen audience, accustomed to our early morning foolishness. Part of my personal prayer was that everyone would follow my show.

I had reason to believe the result would be favorable. Breakfast Club had been founded on inspiration, good music, audience interviews, clean family fun and nostalgic memories, at the time of day when a person's outlook would influence his daily efforts. Furthermore, I believed that prayer—the greatest single force in the world—was urgently needed at this moment while we were at war.

Our Breakfast Club mothers, fathers and sweethearts, I reasoned, needed a vehicle through which they could spiritually unite with their boys and friends overseas as the last supreme efforts were being made to bring order out of chaos.

Family prayer, I believed, was the vehicle. For 12 years the Breakfast Club family had laughed, sung, marched and remained together. I believed that prayer would be the same.

Reaction was mixed. Some thought prayer out of place on an entertainment program; others applauded it. Several told me it was a courageous thing to try. The manner in which they expressed hope that I would continue "Prayer Time" made me feel they didn't think it could last.

Frankly, I hadn't visualized "Prayer Time" as a permanent peace-time feature of my show. I regarded it as a call to action on the home front. With the war ended, our prayer for peace might be superfluous, I figured.

But ninety per cent of the 100,000 Breakfast Clubbers who wrote us insisted that prayer belonged on the program.

The first piece of evidence I received on the power of our "Prayer Time" came early in 1945 from a Pennsylvania woman. "My mother in England," she wrote, "had a stroke during the first bombing of London and has been helpless ever since."

I suggested she say a prayer at exactly 7:25 P.M. London time each day which would be broadcast on the program. She wrote her, "when I, with the rest of your Breakfast Clubbers here in Chicago, will be praying with you."

"Believe me, Don," she answered later, "today I received a letter from my dad saying that mother had taken him such a surprise. He was cooking their dinner when she peeked around the kitchen door. She had managed to get up and walk downstairs! I am sure your minute of silent prayer has helped her. May God bless you!"

On May 7 of the same year, six minutes after we had said our usual prayer for "a world united in peace," an excellent newsman interrupted our program with the announcement that the Germans had surrendered unconditionally.

Their Prayers Had Been Answered

While we were not the only people praying for peace, it turns to page 4, please.

Fare Refund Expects Discharge

Mr. and Mrs. Bertman Greene of 70 Lansdowne Drive and Mrs. HARRY K. CONRAD of 21 Cherry Avenue, both Larchmont, started part of a $40,000 fare refund Wednesday when they arrived at a Hopoken pier Wednesday with 154 other passengers aboard the liner New Amsterdam that returned a day late from a cruise to the Caribbean.

The equator-bound tourists didn't get their cash fare refund until they had been discharged, as the Holland-American Line distributed the windfall because a breakdown of the ship caused them to miss a scheduled stop at Havana. Seven days later on the two-week trip, one of the ship's two propellers stopped humming and the New Amsterdam limped back to New York at 13 knots instead of 21. The four Larchmont travelers set out on the early Spring cruise on March 18.

Reports At Dix

Lt. James Mosher, son of Mrs. Philip Mosher of 18 Holly Place, Larchmont, was reported to the reception center at Fort Dix, Mass. following his enlistment in the Army March 25.

A former student of Mamaroneck High School, Mosher had been employed here since 1939 as chauffeur-companion to the late Lavigne Greenbaum of Stuart Avenue, Mamaroneck, and at the Myrtle Garage in Larchmont.

Stack On Leave

Lt. James Stack, son of Mrs. W. W. Stack, Park Place Avenue, Larchmont, is spending a short leave at his home here, preparatory to receiving his final discharge from the Air Force. He is a weather officer at Stunt Air Base, West Point.

Lt. Stack was graduated from Mamaroneck High School in 1940 and from Villanova College in 1943 with the degree of B.S. He enlisted in the Air Force the following year.

Van Fleet Jr. Listed As Missing In Korea

RDOLU CORN (AP)—Lt. James Van Fleet Jr., a 20th Air Force pilot, was listed as missing in action with his two-man bomber crew.

The Air Force said their plane failed to return yesterday morning from a night bombing mission near Suwon in North Korea. It was the twenty-seventh year old Lt. Van Fleet's third night mission.

Question of the Week

Poll Of Opinion Here Favors Primary Vote For Candidate

This is the 25th in a Saturday series of short interviews with prominent local citizens on issues of the day—local and national. This week's question: "WOULD YOU FAVOR CHANGING THE PRIMARY SYSTEM IN NEW YORK STATE TO PERMIT BALOTING DIRECTLY FOR APPOINTMENT CANDIDATES, RATHER THAN AS AN UNRESTRICTED DELEGATE TO A NOMINATING CONVENTION?"

Results, yes. 15, no. 2, undecided.

Leo Jubb, 137 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck: "Yes, I do think it would be a good idea. Now you don't know who they're throwing in there. It's getting to be a joke."

Daniel Romanelli, 272 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck: "Yes, I think the direct primary is a far better system."

James R. Sklar, Park Plaza Apartments, Larchmont: "I'm definitely for a system of primaries in which you can name the candidate of your choice."

Joseph Rappaport, 235 Mamaroneck Avenue, Mamaroneck: "The direct way is the best way. It's the only way you can name the candidate of your choice."

Michael Spampinato, Parkway Arms Apartments, Larchmont: "I don't make a bit of difference. The whole thing is crooked today. Even if you could name your candidate."

NEW YORK (AP)—Two police men yesterday criticized what they described as lack of cooperation from the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles and local police departments.

New Rochelle Police Lt. Alfred L. Brueckner said he was "very discouraged" by lack of cooperation from the Motor Vehicle Bureau following an arrest of drivers in New Rochelle who failed to answer charges.

"I don't want to put the bureau on the spot," Lt. Brueckner told the 225 annual meeting of the Greater New York Safety Council "but in comparing the cooperation we get from New York State and Connecticut, we get very little cooperation."

Lt. Raymond Smith of Nassau County's Police Operations Office complained of the apparent ease with which violators get their revoked licenses back.

"I know of one case who has 14 violations," he said. "They pick up his license but he got it back."

Malvey S. Caser, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles, said he would look into the matter.

At Albany, a spokesman for the Commissioner James R. MacDuff, has been assigned to the Albany comment immediately on the criticism.

Watercolor Paintings of Mamaroneck Harbor

Watercolor paintings of Mamaroneck harbor are now sharing a wall with views of Miami, Paris and Venice at the Peruzzi Art gallery, 255 Riverside Drive, New York City, where 25 works from the studio of artist Raymond R. Gumpel of 335 Rockwood Road in Mamaroneck, are now on display.

Gumpel's arrival on the scene of young artists' hopes, marks the beginning of a new era in the art world as far as the public is concerned and his work will remain at the galleries until Monday.

Although Mr. Gumpel has had gallery exhibitions in New York, he was the first artist at the Mamaroneck Women's Club show in February. His gallery showings are held on the heels of his "discoveries" by the American Art magazine, which devoted a double page spread in the March edition to reproductions of two of his watercolor paintings.

Severe Ties As Plane Smashes Buildings In Heart of Queens

2 Teenagers Injured In Crash After Chase

Two Bronx teenagers were critically hurt when they were hurled from a stolen car that slammed to a halt against a Post Road auto showroom early this morning after an 80-mile-an-hour pursuit by Larchmont Police that ended abruptly when the fleeing car bounced off a highway repair wagon in New Rochelle, skidded one telephone pole and wrapped itself around another.

John Patrick DeFeo, ten nine-year-old driver, and John Patrick Waldron, seventeen, are under arrest at New Rochelle Hospital where emergency room doctors patching up the "hatted" youths and their injured. Carley was reported to have a severe cerebral concussion, torn flesh around his right eye and ear and other multiple contusions and abrasions. Waldron sustained a possible fractured skull, fractured collarbone and multiple contusions and abrasions.

The wild chase began during heavy rain at 1:18 A.M. when DeFeo, 1100 Post Road, was seen by Walter Verdiek signalled the 1949 two-door sedan to halt at the Beach Avenue corner of the Boston Post Road in Larchmont. The car did not bear a 1952 license tag.

Instead of obeying the patrolmen's signal, Carley snapped the car into high gear and fled to west the New Rochelle city line. With DeFeo driving the police car, Verdiek fired a shot after the speeding youths when they raced through red lights at Emerson Place, Sun Haven Boulevard and Premium Point Road. Just eastward of the Main Road, DeFeo's showroom the car skidded out of control when the driver seemed to attempt to by-pass the parked red light sign, DeFeo reported.

During the chase that snaked past east- and west-bound traffic trucks, Verdiek's radio location reports to St. Joseph's Hospital at Larchmont headquarters, Center Street, relayed the messages to New Rochelle police, who were already assembled on the Post Road when the stolen car sped into their territory.

As the mangled sedan finally halted, Carley was thrown against the showroom's plate glass window and dropped to the sidewalk. Waldron, also thrown from the car, attempted to jump a foot but collapsed to the pavement less than 20 yards away.

It was reported that Carley first identified his companion as William DeFeo.

JUSTICE DEPT. TO RUN CLEANUP

New Chief McGranery to Ask FBI's Opinion On Where To Start Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman administration's clean-up-of-the-program program will be run by the Department of Justice—either under investigation if President Truman's choice of a new attorney general is confirmed by the Senate.

And Mr. Truman's nominee for the post, Federal Judge James P. McGranery of Philadelphia, says he doesn't know yet whether there is any governmental wrongdoing to investigate. He plans to rely on FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to tell him whether there is or not.

Judge McGranery, a square jawed, sturdy-faced man with a brisk, confident manner, outlined some of his plans yesterday after a long White House conference with the President.

Mr. Truman named him Thursday to replace Attorney General Fred B. Crisp, who stepped from office to a new over the way New Yorker Newbold Morris was conducting a semi-independent search for government corruption starting with the Justice Department itself.

HOUSE TAX HOUNDS URGE LEGAL CURBS

Want to Stop Sideline Law Practice of Congressmen After Quin Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—House tax assailed investigators threaten to put a crimp in the sideline law activities of lawyer-Congressmen through a modification of the Federal tax laws.

A House Ways and Means subcommittee, which has been passing internal Revenue questions for their outside activities, started the machinery today on a proposal to restrict the law practice of congressmen.

Chairman King, D. Calif., directed Assistant Attorney General James M. McInerney to draft legislation to modify the law after hearing from former Representative T. Vincent Quinn, now District Attorney of Queens County, New York.

Mr. Quinn testified yesterday that he believed in his law firm's practice on tax cases, and that he intended to continue which barred criminal fraud cases and the Federal Reserve Bureau while a member of Congress.

But Mr. Quinn stoutly denied violation of the law which bars Congressmen from accepting compensation as an agent in cases in which they are interested as a consultant.

Union Sees 'Propaganda' in Claim of Service Restoration in 48 Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—A Federal mediator indicates that he does not expect a quick settlement in the nationwide Western Union strike, now in its third day.

But the company says it already has restored service among 48 cities—a claim which the striking A.P.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union denounces as "typical propaganda."

Federal mediator J. L. Mandelbaum said in Washington last night that while the plan is being worked out with company officials in New York today, he said he would report to Washington probably in the middle of next week, to resume conferences there with the union.

Mr. Mandelbaum said he could not say how long it would take to reach a settlement.

In New York, where employees are represented by a nonaffiliated independent union, conditions were reported as "highly satisfactory."

The strike, Western Union's first national "walkout" in 30 years, has brought an increase in long-distance telephone calls as well as air mail and special delivery mail.

'Miracle' Transforms Barren Georgia Farm into Orphans Paradise

By H. V. JENKINS President and Publisher of the Savannah Morning News and Journal of the Evening News

The Georgia Baptist Children's Home at Ravley, Ga., housed 126 orphans in 1946. It also owned 1,000 acres in timber land and hog, plus 300 in cultivation.

When J. L. Fortney was selected as manager of this children's home, nobody could possibly envision that the entire state would turn out to work for him and his orphans.

Mr. Fortney, Kentucky born, would stand before the 1,300 barren acres, close his eyes and see the other rolling acres of Kentucky lands rich with green grass.

Then he read about some outstanding soil conservation demonstrations being put on in certain states. Here could be the answer!

At one meeting of farm machinery people, there were seven sales managers who were former students of Mr. Fortney's.

Representing one of the largest manufacturers of farm machinery, they decided that with the faith they had in Mr. Fortney, the only solution was that he go to Chicago to the main offices and plead the cause.

Fortney put in long distance calls to the homes of two of the manufacturers.

Roland Hayes Saw God Win Out Over Prejudice, Intolerance

By ROLAND HAYES The first great turning point in my life occurred when I was a teen-age boy working in a window sash factory in Chattanooga, Tenn.

I always sang during my work because it was a natural for me to sing as to breathe. The factory owners didn't generally allow it, but when they discovered that the men worked better when I sang, no one stopped me.

Somewhat my singing came to the attention of other people, because one day I was invited to sing in a church choir. It was there I met Arthur Calhoun, an educated Negro musician, and he invited me to his home, where for the first time I heard the music of Caruso and Melba on phonograph records.

I had never been able adequately to describe what happened to me when I listened to those records. It was a religious conversion, for a door seemed to open, revealing to me the dim outline of the purpose which is now my whole life.

I knew suddenly that my goal was to become a great singer, but it was deeper than that. I felt God entering my life majestically, and I sensed that I was choosing me for an Almighty mission.

From that moment on, I realized that I dared not depend on others to help me. To achieve my goal and to discover my mission, I must take chances. Against all advice, I quit my factory job and set out to become a singer.

Years Of Disappointment Follow The next years were full of disappointments and setbacks as I traveled from city to city, but inside me a ball rang steadily in my heart. My singing gave a purpose to life.

Finally, I arrived in Boston, where I became a page boy in an insurance company. Every day I carried my music to work so I could sing at my desk when not busy. Again my employers did not mind, in fact, many times the executives would open their doors to listen to me.

For several years I sang in and about Boston during free hours, but I felt I was really ardent until I had given a recital in Plymouth Hall. To accomplish this, I took an enormous gamble and planned a recital in this famous hall. I had to guarantee the manager $400. I laugh now when I think of the way I went about it.

I took the telephone book and picked out 2,000 names, trying to select wealthy Back Bay people who I hoped might become patrons of my concert. Then, in my spare time, I pounded out 2,000 letters on an old typewriter asking each person to buy two tickets at $1.50 each and explaining what I was trying to do. I was trying to get a hearing.

The letters began coming in with amazing speed. The life insurance company where I worked took half of Symphony Hall. On the night of the concert 700 people were turned away, and I cleared $2,000. Several hundred singers.

Mission In Life Becomes Clear But shortly after this triumph, I woke up one night and began to pace the floor. Why this strange restlessness? Suddenly I felt His spirit in me. My mission in life, obscure until now, became clear. Our race had a contribution to give the world, and somehow I had been selected for a special role. My singing had been given to me as an instrument to promote better racial understanding.

Since then, each night before commencing my concert, I (Turn to Page 4, please)

The plans are held in abeyance pending a move by New York State to provide sufficient state funds to encourage consolidation with the City of Rye School District.

Truman Cais in Congress To Support Steel Seizure; Firms Move to Kill Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said Congress is a special message on the steel situation today, offering to cooperate with the legislators in establishing "specific terms and conditions" by law for government operation of the seized mills.

The message was dispatched in a price increase it would "would have wrecked our stabilization program."

Some of the steel companies were taken aback by the move, but the situation had to be clarified before they could make operating plans.

President Truman said in the message to Congress that he ordered seizure of the steel industry because he believed that it was in the national interest to stabilize the steel industry.

Wanted Price Rise Industry men had insisted that a price rise of 12 1/2 per cent for steel would be justified by wages raised recommended for workers by the Wage Stabilization Board.

President Truman, defending his action, told the legislators it was his duty and within my powers as President.

The President's message went on to say that Congress might wish to pass legislation "establishing specific terms and conditions" with reference to the operation of the seized mills.

Builders Establish Example At U.N. For All To Follow

By JOE SCEPPA
Assistant Superintendent, construction crew of the U.N. project in New York City, as told to the news columnist.
One day one of our timber cutters was down in the hole shoring up a span of pipe to run into the United Nations. A big diesel shovel was working near him, and his cutter didn't like the way the bucket swung out over his head. Once in a while the shovel operator had to balance a ton on the teeth of the bucket. If that rock slipped and fell, it would have crushed the cutter on the spot.

"Saying that load out the other way" the cutter yelled above the noise of the drills. When nothing happened the get me.
I don't blame him for getting mad, but I do blame the way he settled the thing. He just up himself in the hole, pulled the operator out by his lapel and starts in on him. We had to pull them apart and bring them both in for coffee, 'til they settled the thing on some other grounds who was the strongest.

Later we got to talking about how this was like the United Nations. We did a lot of talking about the U.N. down in the hole. The big guys up there in those plush conference rooms sometimes have the same problem as the shovel operator and the cutter: they can't get their work done. They argue about how it should be done. People from those offices would come around, ask us what it's like building the U.N.

Joe Sceppa
"Coffee Time Was Talk Time"
"Do you know how big this job is?" they'd say. And mostly we didn't answer. They grabbed ten minutes for coffee... there's nothing better than coffee around an oil drum fire... I'd talk about whether this job was different.

Construction Man Could Give Ideas
They could come down here in the mud, those men in the conference rooms, by watching us and by knowing a little about the land the U.N. is built on, they might get a few ideas. They tell me that the ground under the U.N. is a blood ground, and during the Revolution, British soldiers had a warehouse at the foot of 40th Street, and the Liberty Bells fought for it on a midnight in 1776. The ground under the U.N. was hanged on the same spot where the U.N. building stands.

His Ordeal At Sea Started Flier On Way To Missionary Post

By JULIE C. SPACH World War II Bomber Pilot It is Feb. 15, 1951 as I write this. Tomorrow my wife, two children, and I sail from New York to Brazil on the liner Mordomide. We are to be Christian lay missionaries in the northern part of Brazil in a town called Garanhuns.

Many people have asked me, "Why, at only twenty-seven years of age, do you want to be a missionary?" Now is a good time to trace back through the years to the answer.

As far back as I can remember, thanks to devout parents and grandparents, the teachings of the Bible and the word of God have been present in our lives. But as the older I grew, the more I drifted from my faith and the more I seemed to doubt the existence of God.

I joined the Air Corps at eighteen. By my twentieth birthday, I was a pilot of a B-24 with the 460th Bomber Group stationed at Sardinia in Italy. On Aug. 1, 1944, we took off on our fifth mission, which was to bomb the Genoa dockyards.

The weather was perfect, enemy resistance none as our group of heavy planes winged over the Mediterranean to northern Italy. Suddenly an oil line broke. In a matter of minutes all four of our engines had "conked out."

Crew Bails Out Into Sea After pulling out of formation, our entire crew of 10 bailed out about three miles off the coast of Italy. My parachute bailed past as I struck the water, and I quickly slipped it off. When my life vest was put on, I was frantic. Being only an average swimmer, this stroke of bad luck seemed to seal my fate. In addition, it took me 20 minutes to get rid of my clothes and shoes. These 20 minutes placed me near the top of the water looking for us, and the whole Italian coast seemed to open up with a barrage of flak.

I never felt so completely lost, alone, and afraid. Exhausted from my struggle with clothing, the only thing I could do was to start swimming toward shore which I saw dimly. Then, like so many others who ignore God and prayer until in a desperate situation, I began praying that He would help me. I really talked to God, almost shouting the words, for fear He might not hear.

Then it seemed that in one moment all the planes went away the shooting stopped, and everything was dead still. Confidently Begins Sea To Shore That was the assurance I needed to know that God was near. Convinced that I had nothing to worry about, I relaxed, talked to myself, whistled, and sang. After this experience, I realize that this section of the Mediterranean was shark-infested, or that German patrol boats were about, or that bullets from one boat had already killed about a dozen swimmers, or that five others of my crew had already drowned.

I was near for nearly six hours before reaching the shore. The amazing thing is that I do not recall being tired and never once doubted that I would make it. I was so sure of this that I was amazed that I had ever doubted the existence of God.

The coast was under German control, so I hid for the rest of that day in a shallow cove. After this experience, I realize that women discovered me, but instead of calling for help, they gave me their shawl to cover my nearly-naked body, and the others brought food. I know, finally, several Italian men got wind of my arrival. One jammed a gun in my back and marched me to a nearby German military unit.

My nine-month prison in German prison camps was fortunate. (Turn to Page 4, please)

TRUMAN WEIGHS WAGE DEAL WITH STEEL STRIKERS Floundering Negotiations May Lead to Fixing Of Pay Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Floundering negotiations for a settlement of the steel labor dispute led to reports today that the administration may go ahead and make its own wage deal with CIO president Philip Murray.

Any such move is certain to provoke another quick court attack from the steel industry.

At the moment the industry is under government operation, there is no steel strike, the steel companies are managing their own plants and finances under nominal federal rule, and the vital defense metals are flowing.

Steel Industry Busy Industry already has lost two attempts for fast, court review of the legality of President Truman's seizure orders, and attorneys are making new moves.

While talking to the industry and Mr. Murray under supervision of acting Defense Mobilization John R. Steelman appeared so far getting nowhere. A prominent union official said yesterday: "We're still on dead center." This was taken to mean there had been no progress since industry union talks collapsed before Tuesday night's session.

Mr. Murray struck steadfastly to the Wage Stabilization Board's (Turn to Page 2, please)

He said that the building is an ordinary frame building.

WEST TO REJECT TALK ON GERMANY Big 3 Due To Veto Russian Demand For Conference - On Unification

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomats predicted today the Western powers very probably will reject Russia's new demand for a four-power conference on unifying Germany.

Soviet insistence that any German peace treaty must give a unified Germany her own independent army, navy and air force was seen as a major obstacle to an East-West agreement.

Russia also stood by her original suggestion that the Big Four, not the United Nations, should decide whether all-German elections are feasible.

British diplomats also took a dim view of Russian efforts to arrange a four-power conference on Germany. One British official in G. A. R. P. commented: "There doesn't seem to be anything in this (Russian) one that could make a four-power talk possible."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer studied the note at his home and arranged a prompt meeting with the three Western Allied High Commissioners, to give them his views for use in preparing a response to Russia.

Officials here, in predicting rejection of the latest Russian move, emphasized however that the final decision will be reached in talks just starting between representatives of the American, British, French and German governments.

A flat rejection poses a tough problem. Russian efforts to be phrased in such a way as to convince Western Europe that the Russian offer for Germany unity is a phony but dangerous propaganda move, and that the West should want a unified Germany, but understand that system that will safeguard them from communism.

The Story of Eisenhower Eisenhower Termed Orderly, Decent And An Obvious Idealist

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of 18 articles on Dwight G. Eisenhower by John Gunther, a noted correspondent and author, taken from his book "Eisenhower." This newspaper presents this series as a companion piece to the similar one published here in the Sunday by Senator Robert Taft, published last year, to provide its readers with greater insight into the character and abilities of the two leading candidates for President. Publication of this series does not constitute an endorsement of Gen. Eisenhower's candidacy by this newspaper.

By JOHN GUNTHER
The Presidency is one subject on which the fluent Gen. Eisenhower seldom speaks, except to those really intimate. His aim has been to give SHAPE everything he has. Many Eisenhoweres exist, but the general is so vital not merely as a leader but as a symbol that when he leaves a room he leaves a man who may come in the whole establishment. I asked one of his closest French politicians if he would prefer to have Gen. Eisenhower or SHAPE in the White House. The answer was logical: "In the White House, of course, I would prefer Eisenhower. In the White House that gives SHAPE orders, if he can be President, he must be."

In order to explore what that President Eisenhower would make, we must follow his basic beliefs. He is an obvious idealist, a markedly decent human being with a great deal of common sense who likes to believe in the essential decency and common sense of other human beings. He believes in peace above all, in unity of effort by the Western Allies, and in a world order secured by American strength. He is ardently anti-isolationist.

"No intelligent man," he declared once, "can be an isolationist." And he is a distinct presence. He said of a friend recently, "That fellow thinks the way I do. He is a conservative, but an extremely liberal conservative. Usually, Gen. Eisenhower is probably more conservative than I am. If he ever mentions the New Deal these days, it is with a quiver of horror."

In 1949 Gen. Eisenhower took a public stand against Federal aid to education. This, it is estimated, many showed a certain lack of concern, but it was his own self was totally educated at public expense.

The Story of Eisenhower Eisenhower Stands For Peace But Not For Appraisalment

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of 18 articles on Dwight D. Eisenhower by John Gunther, a noted correspondent and author known from his book "Eisenhower." This newspaper presents this series as a companion piece to the similar one by Senator Robert Taft, published last year, to provide its readers with greater insight into the character and abilities of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for President. Publication of this series does not constitute an endorsement of Gen. Eisenhower's candidacy by this newspaper.)

By JOHN GUNTHER
SHAPE had become what Eisenhower had promised Mr. Truman. But events came too fast. By December, 1951, it was clear that the general would have to commit himself very soon, or lose his chance. Senator Taft and Lodge went all the way out on a limb for him. Campaign headquarters were set up on the way out. Embassies who visited the general in Paris told him that he could no more stop than they could. It is assumed that Gen. Eisenhower returns to the United States he will make straight for Kansas and open his campaign there on a grass roots basis. Probably his few closest advisers will be two fellow Kansans: Harry Truman, former Senator and the Republican National Committee chairman in Kansas, and the Kansas Senator and former Governor, Frank Carlson, an able citizen who, among other things, is close to Milton Eisenhower.

When last Oct. 25, the New York Herald Tribune came out editorially for the general, Mr. Truman said at once that the newspaper had picked "a fine man." This should not surprise anyone. Mr. Truman is a patriot. As a good American, he wants the Republican party to have the best man, if he cannot get him for the Democrats. Moreover, he is very fond of Gen. Eisenhower personally.

On Nov. 1, the White House announced that Mr. Truman had summoned Gen. Eisenhower home for "military talks." The general arrived in Washington on Nov. 4 and stayed there for about 48 hours. The country erupted with speculation about Gen. Eisenhower's political plans. The arguments for him. Gen. Eisenhower gave a press conference just before returning to Paris and continued to leave the show men in a general appraisal. When questioned as to whether Senator Taft had been authorized to work for him, he replied: "I have friends that have been my friends for a long time and I have never attempted to interfere with any man's freedom of action, or his right as an American citizen to be elected to office. Also, if the time ever comes when I am in a position to help me to say a word of any kind, I will say it, and it will be stated positively and definitely. I hope that's very clear."

There are people who do not think that he would necessarily be a good President. Those who actually think the opposite have several counterpoints to offer.

1. He is not a politician, and the country is morally sick of politicians. He is decent and capable.

2. The Democrats have been in power for 20 years, long enough. People want a change.

3. Though not a professional politician, he has had the opportunity to work with the military and the country's most important men. He has shown only one and one thing, his consummate ability to create a good team and make it work together. Nor did he ever lose the vast and unpopulated powers he had.

Personal Standards High
His personal standards are high to the point of austerity. He is an absolutely honest man.

4. The best people in America are his friends, and he would choose a first class cabinet.

5. The country needs unity above all at the moment, and Eisenhower, who is by the most unusual living American, would be a symbol of national unity.

8. He has great experience in international affairs, and is soundly grounded in the subject. He is certainly not an appointee, but a leader.

Combing The Town

Want Privacy
Some people like plenty of privacy, the Mamaroneck Police Department heard yesterday.

While on patrol in the morning, Lt. Herman Parks noted that someone had placed signs "Private, No Trespassing" at both ends of Shadow Lane.

Since Shadow Lane is a public thoroughfare, Lt. Parks found that it was an invasion and found that three families had put up the signs and had the signs erected.

Village street department employees were soon dispatched to remove the signs, the residents who erected them were warned not to do so again, and Shadow Lane again became a public street as fast as well as an effect.

Firmen Perform Test
The New York City Fire Department's 104th firehouse put on an outstanding performance last night at a meeting of the Larchmont Men's Club.

When the boys arrived in Larchmont they were served dinner in the fire house and then were accompanied by Chief Joseph R. Ford directed an exhibition of fire fighting technique by department members.

The high points of the exhibition came when Bill Ziegman, acting captain of the 104th firehouse, and R. J. P. Steiner scrambled up the new 100-foot ladder and Ziegman took off from an upper window in the fire house landing in a life-saving net held by firemen.

Serving in Austria
Pvt. Lester R. Washburn, son of Mrs. Ruth Washburn of 612 Third Street, Mamaroneck, is a sergeant with the Army in Austria following his completion of a training course at the Army's communications school at Fort Rucker, Ala. The course consisted of specialized instruction in the installation and maintenance of communications facilities under normal and combat conditions.

The twenty-one-year-old soldier attended Mamaroneck High School and entered the Army in July 1951. He took basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., before overseas assignment.

Phone Offices Picketed Here But Service Remains Normal

Telephone service was normal in Mamaroneck and Larchmont this morning as full crews of operators were attended by more than 100 clerks and clerks struck picket lines established by striking employees of Western Electric Inc., the company which manufactures telephone equipment.

There were no disturbances in either community as a picket line in Mamaroneck and two watched from a patrol car in front of the Larchmont office. Two pickets bore placards at each building and orderly groups of striking men in street clothes.

The pickets appeared here early this morning in a "hit and run" campaign. They were seen at the Workers of America, CIO, which partially disrupted telephone service yesterday by picketing and by picketing on Friday. White Plains was unaffected. Thursday when all employees there struck the CWA has a company spokesman said.

The CWA struck began Monday when Western Electric employees failed to accept negotiations failed to place the one in force since the night strike in 1942. Their demands include higher pay, improved working conditions and keeping operators and clerks off away with what was termed as company favoritism in granting promotions.

John Joran, a picket at Larchmont, claimed this morning that the lines in Tuckahoe and Scarsdale are no more than 200,000 employees there. Local managers in both districts counterclaimed that no more than 15 per cent of their employees failed to cross the line.

They said service was restored to normal less than an hour after the pickets were due to work. Mr. Joran also charged that operators were being used to work.

Village Day Dredge East Basin Without Federal Assistance

New $178,000 Estimate Discourages Board's Hopes

Faced with the prospect of paying the cost of a new government estimate of $178,000 for dredging the East Basin of Mamaroneck Harbor, the Mamaroneck Village Board last night decided to seek negotiations with the Corps of Engineers and undertake the project.

Village Manager William H. Lash reported that not only had the cost estimate jumped since the last communication, but the requirements have been listed which the Village would have to agree to fulfill. One of these, that dredging facilities be provided for the free of charge by transient craft, caused considerable discussion on the part of the board.

Referring to the time-out depth project, Claude A. Lashner, termed the project a poor man's harbor and added: "We don't need that depth. If they want to bring in a yacht, let them go into Larchmont."

Mr. Lashner pointed out that the harbor would be cleaner if the dredging project did not come through. He said that the project would be a waste of money. "After all, we have a beach project," he said.

Omaha Battles Flood As River Hits Dikes

OUTLET PAYS $25, LICENSE REVOKED

J. B. Thrasher, 19, appearing On Reckless Driving Charge

Omaha, Neb.—The mad Missouri river threw its worst at Omaha today when it burst through a dike and flooded a large area of the city. The river crest—stretch of maximum water flow—was so long and so subject to fluctuations that it cannot be pinpointed but river forecasters said the rampaging river is at cresting stage and will continue to crest all day.

River Level 30.24 Feet

At 9:30 A. M. (EST) the level was 30.24 feet, compared with the flood stage of 5, some minor rising and falling will occur before the level begins to drop some 24 hours hence, the Weather Bureau forecasters said.

The critical hours were dawn when the slow-moving flood crest began surging into the seven-mile long funnel of siltion dikes protecting the lowlands of the twin cities.

The next 48 hours may determine whether the tremendous water pressures will burst through dikes and cause the river to surge and surge along the river valley and become a monster of destruction.

All night long soldiers and civilian workers—more than 24,000 of them—worked under floodlights on the dikes here and on levees downstream, where the rising waters are expected to smash through all most every farm dike all the way to Kansas City.

The river crest to 30.15 feet yesterday. Flood level is 19 feet and the highest flood ever recorded was 54.6 feet back in 1881.

The great battle was to get the crest of the river safely past the narrow Missouri channel through which the water is flowing at a terrific rate of 288 million gallons per day.

The Story of Eisenhower

He Knew Hard Work Early In Life

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of 18 articles on the life of Gen. Eisenhower by John Gunther, noted correspondent and author, taken from his book, "Eisenhower." This magazine presents this piece as a companion piece to the similar one by Senator Robert Taft, published last year, to provide his readers with greater insight into the character and abilities of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for President. Publication of this series does not constitute an endorsement of Gen. Eisenhower's candidacy by this newspaper.

By JOHN GUNTHER

Young Dwight D. Eisenhower was dutiful to his parents, devoted to his brothers, shy of girls, fond of games, and full of boyish spirit. He was well educated, as he still is; none of the peculiar harrowing experiences that customarily afflict a poor boy in a public school ever warped his character. Every minute outside a school hour, it seemed he had to work. At this period his father was retreating into religious mysticism and his mother, needed every bit of money the boys could provide. When he was chief of one of the Washington, some 40 years later, a delegation of businessmen asked Gen. Eisenhower if he were really "a conservative." Answer: "Any of you fellows ever stop working on a farm?"

State Police Smash Michigan Cons Plot To Break In Arsenal

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Heavily-armed State Police smashed a plot of riot-torn Southern Michigan Prison's mutineers to break in a backdoor weapon, modern weapons demanded that Governor G. Mennen Williams enter peace negotiations.

Planned to Tunnel to Arsenal State Police used a plot of the mutineers to smash into a tunnel leading from their fortress cell Block 15 to the prison administration building. The administration building contains the prison's arsenal. The convicts were reported to have ripped off a metal cover over a tunnel entrance within Block 15. A sound of banging and clattering gave them away and a score of bullet-carrying State Police and guards rushed in to the tunnel to nip the escape attempt. Negotiations resumed after a mid-afternoon truce. (Turn to Page 2, please)

'Pick-Up' Racket The first hot break of spring brings out crochets and daffodils but it also brings out a crop that isn't quite so pleasant, according to police at the Town of Mamaroneck police station.

Mrs. Gordon H. Johnson of 103 Hickory Grove Drive reported to police that a stranger driving a black 1951 sedan came to her house yesterday while she was out and asked the maid for the furs which were supposed to go into cold storage for the summer. The maid didn't give Mrs. Johnson's furs to the unidentified man and he turned away from the house without argument, the report states.

With the days getting longer and some real scorches on the way, police think this same man or others might try a similar ruse to pick up valuables. Residents are advised to be careful with their minks, sables and even rabbits.

Democrat for Platt One lone Democrat in the Town of Mamaroneck, Gen. James M. Whether the lonely vote was cast by accident or design will rank with the Sphinx's smile as a mystery for the day to decide.

Other write-ins were equally unorthodox in terms of practical politics but they may have had a pleasant effect on the persons who cast them. Senator Taft won eight such votes and Eisenhower six while Gen. MacArthur trailed the field of nation-wide candidates with two ballots marked in his favor.

At the bottom of the list were Lester Simon and Frank Tierney for the Republicans and William C. Pitts Jr. and Francis X. O'Donnell on the Democratic side who one vote each. They probably didn't want to go to the convention anyway.

Troops, 5 Congressmen Unhurt In A-Blast, Tell Of Spectacle

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP) For the first time they have lived, unhurt, who stood under and looked up into the flaming, now-broken shell of the cloud that rushes upward from an A bomb.

This happened to soldiers and officers close to the giant explosion yesterday at Yucca Flat.

It also happened to five Congressmen who went into trenches with the troops. They are W. S. Cole, R., N. Y., Olen Teague, D., Texas, Mervyn Price, D., Ill., Clot H. Hollifield, D., Calif., and Carl H. Shaw, R., Calif.

What they saw and learned is the first chapter in a new atomic chart for survival: This bomb was greater than anything in Japan or Bikini, and just over or under the most powerful we have fired in the United States. That particular bomb's identity is secret.

Cancer Crusade Yields $4,075 Mamaroneck Pushes Drive Toward $6,500 Goal By Month's End

The Cancer Crusade in Mamaroneck has reached approximately two-thirds of its $6,500 goal, Henry Ziskin local chairman, announced today.

A total of $4,075 has been collected to date and a week remains until the end of April when the drive will close. Funds are to raise the remaining $2,325.

The response, Mr. Ziskin pointed out, has been heartening even though many team captains have not yet made complete reports. He points out that it will require additional gifts from many other crusaders and committees to reach the goal before the end of the campaign.

"No contribution is too small," he said, "to help in the treatment and in research on cancer. Some of our team captains have not yet made complete reports. He points out that it will require additional gifts from many other crusaders and committees to reach the goal before the end of the campaign.

Two neighborhood teams have already passed their goals as Mrs. Samuel Guzman and Mrs. Sianche have turned in more than their $350 quota, and District 5, captained by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nichols has overbooked its $400 quota with eight of its 38 crusaders still unreported.

Bikes Go Higher At Kansas City To Meet Floods Leaves Upped 'Just In Case' As Rains Threaten More Missouri River Havoc

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Flood workers built their levees higher at Kansas City today—spurred by the Missouri River's fresh destruction upstream and a continued danger of rain.

They said the extra height wouldn't be needed, but they wanted to have it—just in case. Both the nation's longest rivers spread destruction in record floods for miles along their length.

Iowa Towns Menaced The mighty Mississippi flung its weight at towns along the Iowa border. Crests were expected there today a little higher than last year's records.

And along the wild Missouri, the flood brought almost hourly crises. So far, the Red Cross estimated, 26,338 families or about 105,000 persons have been forced to flee their homes in the two major floods.

The extra protection being built on top of levees at Kansas City is the same kind of wooden "flashboard" used to save Omaha, Neb., a D Council Bluffs, Iowa, last week.

Nothing Like 1951 Disaster There was nothing in sight, however, to indicate another disaster like the one that hit Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., last July, causing huge industrial district losses.

But with the treacherous Missouri never you know. Army Engineers boosted their estimates of damage to $5.8 million from $4 million. More than 600,000 acres are expected to be flooded in that stretch.

Republican and Democratic standard bearers received the support of 969 voters in yesterday's uncontested primary election in Mamaroneck and Larchmont.

Random write-in ballots were also listed for presidential contenders themselves and for local persons active in political affairs.

Breakdown of votes by parties in the Town of Mamaroneck's 17 election districts showed 413 Republican ballots, 149 for Democrats, four for the Liberal Party and two cast for American Laborites.

In four districts in Rye Neck the tally was 132 Republican ballots and 29 Democratic ones. Delegates Named Republican convention delegates from this district will be Livingston Platt and Walter W. Westall while the alternates, are Edward (Turn to Page 2, please)

DEM ORGANIZATION WINS 2 CONTESTS Party's Choice Victorious In Only Primary Fights In Westchester

Organization candidates won the two contests for memberships on the Democratic State Committee, the only fights in yesterday's Westchester Primary.

Early returns received at the office of the Board of Elections indicated that while some voters wrote in names of their favorites for the Presidential nomination, there was no concerted effort of the Republican or Democratic parties.

In the balloting yesterday voters of the two major parties elected two convention delegates and two alternates in each Congressional district, as well as a male and female member of the party's executive committee in each Assembly district.

Members of the Liberal Party elected county committee members in some Westchester districts. (Turn to Page 2, please)

Truman's Acananart Cover Steel Seizure; Senate Fight Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Truman, under heavy Senate fire and facing a House move to impeach him, stuck to his guns today in the fight with Congress over his seizure of the steel plants.

A powerful Senate drive to force him to cancel the seizure order fell just short of the two-thirds majority vote it required yesterday. But its Republican backers led by Senator Knowland of California redoubled their cries of "dictator" and cast about for other devices.

Actually 47 Senators, 11 of them Democrats, voted for the move. And only 29 voted against it. Not a Republican voted not a single of four votes would have provided the two-thirds margin needed to impeach Mr. Truman.

Known as the "Steel Seizure Act," the bill would prohibit the use of any Federal funds in the seizure.

FRONT LINES SEE NIGHT RED PROBES Patrol Contacts Mark First Anniversary of Huge Commie Offensive

SEOUL, (AP)—Light patrol contacts and probes rippled across the Korean battlefield today as Allied soldiers soberly observed the first anniversary of a massive Red offensive.

The Communists showed little willingness to repeat the punch they threw last April 22-23. The front then was just a few merrily of where it is now. The U. S. 8th Army rolled with the Red punch almost back to Seoul. But in about a week it recovered the lost ground.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, 8th Army commander, said in an anniversary statement for the Associated Press that if the Reds tried another such Spring drive it would be finished by the 8th Army and attached United Nations forces very probably further north than the present static line.

An 8th Army staff officer said only five small Red probes were reported. Allied warplanes continued saturation raids on the battered Red supply lines today. The U. S. 5th Air Force said Communist MIGs offered no opposition.

Fifth Air Force planes flew 1,069 missions yesterday. Two Sabre jets strafed a Red airfield at Sinuiju, just inside Korea on the Yalu River. The pilots said they destroyed two Russian-built Yak-9 propeller-driven planes and damaged two.

Gen. Eisenhower probably has better relations with newspapermen as well as with the press as a whole than any American since the late President F. D. Roosevelt. This is the more remarkable in that he does not play favorites, practically never gives interviews, and is not particularly accessible.

SCHOOL TO VOTE ON BUILDING USE Political Meetings Issue On Ballot May 7 In Mamaroneck

The ballot for the May 6 Annual Meeting in the Mamaroneck School District was decided upon last night as the Mamaroneck Board of Education knifed through a short agenda in its record time of 45 minutes.

Registered qualified voters will have a chance to vote yes or no on a gross $203,920 budget for 1952-53 that carries a tax rate of $18.80 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. They also vote on a second proposition to decide whether or not the board shall be authorized to permit political parties to hold meetings in school buildings as provided by law.

The text of Proposition Two is "Shall the Board of Education be authorized to permit the use of the school houses and school grounds for the holding of meetings for the purpose of holding political meetings as provided by Section 16-1 of the education laws?"

The board last night accepted with regret the resignation of Miss C. Jean Pfaff who is to retire at the end of the school year as nurse-teacher at the Senior High School. Miss Pfaff entered the Mamaroneck system in 1928 as nurse-teacher for all the schools. She has successively served at the Chatsworth Avenue and Murray Avenue and Junior High Schools and was appointed to her present post in 1942. Miss Pfaff took part in the Eisenhower campaign at the Hospital, New York University and Columbia University.

The 152nd Aircraft Control and Warning Group of which Major Arthur J. Giordano and Lt. Augustine J. Giordano and Lt. Augustine J. Giordano Jr., formerly of Mamaronock, are members, was recently assigned to Peperell Air Force Base near St. John's New foundation.

The group, formed in 1944 as an Air National Guard unit, has its headquarters in the White Plains Army, was retrained in active duty last summer and was in training at Greater Air Force Base, Manchester, N. H., until recently assigned to Peperell Air Force Base.

A unit of the Northeast Air Command, the 152nd will support present communications facilities, thus improving communications between stations of the command.

Major and Lt. Giordano formerly resided at 147 Stonybrook Avenue, Mamaronock.

Honored by Gulf

Two Mamaronock residents, Jerome T. Howe of 465 Beach Avenue and Arthur W. Murphy of 203 Villa Avenue, were honored today with 175 other employees of the Gulf Oil Corporation at the 23rd annual service award luncheon in the 3rd Room of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City.

Both Mr. Howe and Mr. Murphy will receive pins studded with diamonds and special certificates in recognition of 20 years service to the corporation.

Mr. Murphy is a dispatcher in the Bronx plant of the corporation. He has lived in New York for 58 years and has one son, Edward A. Murphy, a student at the Ford School.

Mr. Howe, who has lived here more than 40 years, is a former police chief of Mamaronock. He is employed as a salesman, also in the Bronx office of the Gulf corporation.

Money Drum

Mamaronock Kivansians beat the drum for their children's welfare last night but instead of using wooden sticks they tapped out a rhythm with nickels, dimes, quarters and the soft pad of their money. The musical twist came about when a seven-member orchestra from the 100th Air Ferry brought with them to Mamaronock a slatted drum from the Kivansians attempting to find funds for the young peoples' project.

On a less planned note, the Kivansians also saw a motion picture, which showed actual battles and the effects of the Par Eastern conflict on the civilian populations.

Engineer's Solution

Engineers can't solve a bill that stands in the way of a multi-million dollar highway which will run out from the wrinkles in human habits, a group of local and county officials decided last night at the Weaver Street Fire House while considering plans for the projected New England Thruway.

The highway will pass by Larchmont and cross the New York State road tracks and Mamaronock. Quincannon J. Thomas secretary wandered out before the meeting to disregard for changing traffic and fishing red lights. "You can't legislate common sense," he said, "but you can legislate common sense."

John P. Murphy, head of the County Planning Commission, said the engineers should be given a way to keep automotive manslaughter to a minimum.

Mr. Murphy answered he was sure the engineers would do their best, adding that he had a lot on his mind as to how to distribute a thousand or so $1 alarm clocks among the more frantic civilian.

Thruway Seen Boon To Traffic Problem On Village Highways

Advantages to be gained here by construction of the New England Thruway were highlighted last night at the Weaver Street Fire House when representatives of the County Planning Department met with officials of Larchmont and the Village and Town of Mamaronock.

Reduction in traffic on the Post Road and on local streets was seen as the greatest benefit to the community with easy access to New York City running as a close second. High Pomeroy, head of the county department, promised the local authorities full cooperation in protecting the villages and the town from traffic congestion. He said that the multi-million dollar state project is in progress.

Provision for a highway beginning at numerous points on a single-grade route designed to approach Larchmont and the Town of Mamaronock on the north side of the New Haven railroad tracks and proceed westward through the Village of Mamaronock almost parallel to the tracks.

TOWN MAY ADD FIVE DISTRICTS

Excess Registration in Incorporated Area Calls For Change

WHITE PLAINS—Widespread growing population will necessitate the addition of possibly 20 new election districts this year, according to a survey by the Board of Elections. There are now 436 districts.

The law mandates that no district contain more than 200 registered voters. Data in the 15 towns showed that nine contain 23 districts exceeding the limit.

Five districts in the Town of Mamaronock, all in the unincorporated section, exceed voters according to the 1941 register. The Larchmont Cancer Crusade has yielded so far only $5,000 or less than half its $10,000 goal, Mrs. Ruth Green, co-chairman, said last night at a public meeting held in the Larchmont Community Center.

The crusade, which opened last night at the Booth Theater in New York, is a drive to raise $10,000 for the purchase of a new cancer hospital in Larchmont.

Mrs. Green pointed out that the amount of money raised so far is only 50 percent of the goal. She said that the public reaction has been very good, but that more money is needed to complete the drive.

Attorney Called To Probe Stock Payment Fees

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators sought to learn more today about an unexplained $12,000 which former Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph P. Kamp failed to show on his income tax returns between 1945 and 1950.

Today's first witness was Thomas Sullivan, Chicago attorney, summoned to answer questions about $2,000 worth of stock paid to Mr. Kamp as a legal fee in 1948.

Mr. Kamp's six-figure financial affairs were under inquiry by a House subcommittee and House committee investigating charges of corruption and irregularities in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Investigators said the stock fee was $12,000, consisting of 2,500 shares of Brown & Bigelow stock valued at $50 a share.

$2,485 Said Unreported

Of the total fee, the committee was told Mr. Kamp failed to report $2,485 for income tax purposes.

Investigating agents said Mr. Kamp had not reported the fee.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today a one-day Iranian forced to end a five-day revolt in the city of Tehran by sending him an ultimatum.

He said the President had averted a march on Trieste.

The President also told a news conference there was a time when Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste, but that he ordered the Mediterranean fleet into that area and there was no march on Trieste.

Mr. Truman spoke of these incidents in a radio address to the people, generally and specifically to the people of the steel industry.

He said the President had averted a march on Trieste.

Conflicts Agree To End Flaming Five-day Revolt

ARMY ENGINEERS OPTIMISTIC AS 31-FOOT MISSOURI Threat Is Fought

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City can take it this time, the Army Engineers today said as they prepared to fight a five-day revolt in the city of Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., after that revolt.

They said their experienced flood-fighters were ready to handle any emergency.

Coming down to more recent events, the President said there has been a great deal of hoey about seizure of the press and radio as a result of his last news conference.

Last Thursday, Mr. Truman was in conference with the press.

"President, if you can seize the steel mills under your inherent power, can you, in your opinion, also seize the newspapers or the radio stations?" he asked.

The President replied that he did not know whether it was for the best of the country. That's the answer to your question, he added.

In referring to the matter to the press, he said he thought of seizing the press and radio never occurred to him.

He went on to say he seized the steel industry because this country is in the midst of the greatest emergency it has ever had.

It was then he told his news conference.

That in 1945 he had led his news conference.

2 VARIANCE PLEAS DENIED, GRANTED

Residents Protest Cases Before Town Zoning Board

The Town of Mamaronock Zoning Board of Appeals denied two variance applications last night after hearing objections raised by property owners adjoining the contested properties.

The board granted a third request to which there was no opposition.

William K. Lecher of 91 Valley Road applied for permission to erect a one-story garage in the cliff on which his house stands. It would be five feet from the property line. The board denied the plea, noting the present hardship is not so great as to permit the erection of the garage.

Alfred Willis, the Larchmont architect who presented Mr. Lecher's case, asserted his plans call for a retaining wall which would be in the rear of the property.

Among the neighborhood residents who protested the application were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kiesel of 151 Valley Road, Mrs. Sarah Taylor of 97 Valley Road, Henry Boston of 98 Valley Road.

Center Asks Support For Camperships

Twenty-six needy Mamaronock children will be sent to camp for two weeks this Summer if contributions from local youngsters and individuals total $500 before May 15 when the Mamaronock Health Center must make reservations for Camp Croton-on-Hudson.

The entire campership program requires $500 and $200 has already been allotted from Health Center funds but the remainder must be made up from contributions.

The campership cost $2 for the two-week period and letters have been sent to all civic organizations in an effort to give as many needy local youngsters as possible the opportunity to enjoy the weeks at the camp.

The Mamaronock Woman's Club has announced that it will contribute one campership leaving about $300 to be contributed by individuals.

Children sent to camp will be chosen on the basis of need and recommendation of the school. They will be selected only from the residents of Mamaronock Village.

The program is being conducted under the direction of the Mamaronock Health Center and contributions should be sent to the Health Center, 234 Strand Avenue, and should be marked "for the campership fund."

Fanelli Reported Sure Of Judge Nomination

By JOSEPH W. SHANNON
WHITE PLAINS—Competition for the five top political posts to be filled this year is still keen among aspirants and Republican nominations although there are strong indications that certain agreements have been reached among GOP leaders.

One of the principal difficulties was noted at this week's New Rochelle leaders, after a conference with Republican Executive Committee Chairman Livingston Platt, dropped their fight to win a top spot. Corporation names Aaron Simmons of that city, reportedly on agreement to be named to "taken care of later."

Conferring with Mr. Platt were New Rochelle Chairman Charlie Hollender and former Assistant District Attorney J. Lester Albertson, who is the successor to County Judge Arthur D. Brennan in the Supreme Court in November.

Hills at Fanelli Block
While District Attorney George N. Fanelli, also a New Rochelle resident, is regarded as the choice for the coming year, nomination to the County Court bench, there have been indications that supporters of Mr. Simmons might attempt to block an endorsement for Mr. Fanelli from his home city's organization.

As a result of the conference, Mr. Brown left yesterday for Montreal, Canada, where he will judge obedience trials at a dog show sponsored by the Ladies Kennel Club of Canada. Long active in canine procedure, Mr. Brown is licensed to judge by the American Kennel Club, which was named to a committee of that group which recently overhauled kennel club regulations and standards for obedience trials.

Miss Maloney is a third year student at the school where she has studied interior decoration and design, furniture and fabrics.

Miss Maloney is a native of Milwaukee, Wis., where she attended high school and the Mount Mary College before she began her study in New York.

Grand Jury Ends Gambling Probe

May 1951 Panel Will 'Stay Alive' Pending Verdict In D'Amore Case

By KENNETH DANIELSEN
WHITE PLAINS—The investigation of the M. A. Y. case, which was pending the grand jury's decision on the matter, was concluded, although the jury will be kept alive for a number of months, it was learned today.

The jury's life will be extended for six to eight months pending the final verdict in the appeal from the conviction of Anthony D'Amore of Mount Vernon, confessed boss of a county-wide gambling racket, disclosed to whom he had paid protection money.

Another chance for D'Amore, who was charged with the murder of a man, was also discussed today.

Slowly emerging after years of neglect and brush and poison spray, the jury is discharged presently, D'Amore would not have a chance to stand in the event that he experienced a change of heart and decided to purge himself of the gambling charge.

It is expected that before the jury is formally discharged it will make public a lengthy description of its findings.

U.S., TEEMEN SWEAT OUT WAIT FOR COURT RULE

Decision on Legality of HST Seizure of Mills May Come on Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government and the steel industry sweated out in tense expectancy today a period of waiting for an historic court decision on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills.

After listening to arguments by lawyers of both sides in a crowded courtroom yesterday, Federal District Judge DAVID A. PRIDE said he would "take the case under submission and give it my attention to the question of all other court business."

The sixty-year-old jurist did not say when he would render his decision but legal experts said it may not be announced until Monday or later.

The split-sentenced judge had plenty of reading material for the week-end. He had received two briefs filed by the government and steel companies and the transcript of almost two days of testimony, filed with legal force.

Meanwhile, the government authorized a $84-on average price rise for effective May 1. But it won't take effect until individual steel companies apply for it or the government re-recommends.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said $3 was all the steel companies were entitled to receive. The industry has estimated his costs would be boosted $12 a ton if government re-recommends.

Ground Fire KOs 8 Allied Planes

Reds' Score On Jets In Week Equals Tot of MIGs Baggied by Sabres

BRUHL, AP—Communist ground fire knocked down eight Allied planes during the week ended yesterday, the Far East Air Forces said today.

That number matched the toll of Red MIGs jets shot down in air combat by U. S. Sabres jets during the same period. One Sabre jet was lost in the air.

In his weekly summary the Air Force said that seven other Allied planes failed to return for unknown reasons. One downed plane was Australian, the others American.

The Red toll was put at eight MIGs destroyed, two probably destroyed and eight damaged. The U. S. 8th Army, in its weekly summary, said its troops in the Korean peninsula reported four Allied planes shot down in the week ended yesterday.

The ground force was relatively quiet. United States troops in South Korea killed 817 and wounded 36 captured.

That's Real Heat!

The Mamaroneck Village board was introduced last night to a new description of a gas meter during a discussion of gas rates and possible meter difficulties.

Luke DeLuca told the board that he had recently built a new house on Andrew Street and that the bills for space-heating have far exceeded the estimate given him by Consolidated Edison officials before the house was built.

Trustee Harvey Epstein suggested that the meter be checked. "Meter!" exclaimed Mr. DeLuca as a "What? I've got it set up properly!"

Turco Shoots 299

Mamaroneck Town Patrolman Louis Turco scored a near-perfect 299 out of a possible 300 in the departmental pistol qualification tests yesterday at the Police Station firing range. Patrolman John Leonard rated second with 297 and Ed. Frazzetta, Westbury, departmental pistol instructor, came in third with 293.

The competition called for 10 rounds to be fired over a three-foot target. 10 shots were fired in about 10 seconds, 10 shots in 10 seconds and 10 rapid fire long range shots at a 100 yard silhouette target.

All members of the department will fire today and tomorrow to decide the winners of the Wainwright Trophy.

APPEAL CONTINUES FOR GAS STATION
 Appellate Division Hears Hommocks Road Case; Denied By Board

A year-long legal battle involving the Mamaroneck Town Zoning Board of Appeals moved one step closer to resolution yesterday in Brooklyn. The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court heard an appeal from a board decision made last June which denied a variance permitting erection of a gas station at the southeast corner of Hommocks Road and the Boulevard.

Tommy Albert John Dinius, representative in the present case, said the zoning board had a number of months in the appeal brought by the estate of the late William T. Wood, owner of the property.

When the case was first heard a year ago the zoning board was divided on a two-to-two split decision. The board had denied the claim the land could be put to some commercial use other than a gas station. The property lies in a zone where gas stations are not permitted, although there are two within 300 yards on the east side of the Boulevard.

A fifth member was subsequently appointed to the zoning board and he voted in favor of the appeal. In June a three-to-two decision was reached. The second request was denied. The second request was denied. The second request was denied.

The Story of Eisenhower Ike, As SHAPE Chief, Is Boss Of Europe's 9-Nation Army

By JOHN CUNNINGHAM

SHAPE, where Gen. Eisenhower works, lies near the forest of Marly, just to the west of Paris, and is about 100 miles from Versailles. The installation, built by French Army engineers, covers about 60 acres.

The structure, one story high, has a long broad central corridor; in the center of this are 18 smaller corridors, each leading to a wing. In one I noticed something that looked exactly like a series of pipes, protected by iron grilles. These are private vaults for each of the member nations, and may not be entered by citizens of any other country.

SHAPE grew out of several agreements signed in the Atlantic Pact, which signed in Washington on April 4, 1949, marked an epochal turn in American foreign policy.

"Our Mamaroneck 9 and Larchmont 2 central offices are equipped with facilities necessary for this service and we can offer it immediately," Mr. Little said.

The manager pointed out that the new service is designed for two-party messages between local calls (less than two days on the average) in their flat rate unlimited calling area but which call New York City and other points in the service area.

"One of the advantages of message rate service under the metropolitan plan is that it is a direct benefit of the plan," he said.

Pro and Con of Fraternities Probed by High School Panel

The fraternity and sorority question was probed yesterday at Mamaroneck High School by more than 300 students from five Westchester County High Schools after hearing a panel discussion by 13 students.

The session was one of a series organized by the Student Citizenship Committee at the Bronxville High School and includes representatives from Bronxville, Mamaroneck, Port Chester, Roosevelt High School in Yonkers and St. Lawrence High School in Mount Vernon.

Samuel Stern, MHS panel speaker, outlined the disadvantages of fraternities and sororities as follows:

"They are undemocratic because they are an exclusive element in a public institution; they divide the school and tend to produce cliques; they are wasteful; they tend to avoid adult guidance and supervision; they give prestige and security to about one-third of the students who are members but to the rest of the two-thirds who do not get in," Stern added that it is not in the best interests of the school to have fraternities and sororities.

"Fraternities are not established as a part of the curriculum," Stern said, "and the argument in favor of the system stating that they serve a need in the schools, socially they make it possible to meet and get along with the opposite sex at home parties; they give enough supervision; there should be enough fraternities and sororities so that everyone can join one."

Robert Zimmerman was the student presiding officer and Walter Langer, a member of the faculty, served as moderator. Also on the panel with Stern and Miss Nordwall from Mamaroneck were Judy P. and Ed. Goodkind.
