Commuters May Pay To Park Cars

Larchmont Board Aims To Assess Charge For Non-Resident Parkers PLAN TO SHARE COST

If you don't live in the Village of Larchmont, it's going to cost you money to park on the village side of the Larchmont station. That doesn't mean you're being asked to pay for the use of the station at night by Mayor Frank S. Washburn and the Board of Trustees after they were reminded by Trustee E. Spencer Gresson that 61.6 percent of the cars parked monthly resided in non-residential areas of the village.

Not only that, the taxpayers will be paying out $2,500 annually for the next 17 years to pay off the construction cost of the station.

"There certainly should be no objection on the part of the taxpayers of this village," Gresson declared, "in requiring that the village should share the parking area contribute to the expense which is now being borne entirely by the taxpayers of the village."

The statistics quoted by Trustee Gresson were taken from a report made in 1941 by Village Engineer Arthur Richards and further showed that, at that time, of the 61.6 non-residents who parked in the village space, 25.2 percent resided in the unincorporated area of the Town of Dutchess.

The problem was listed as No. 1 on Trustee Gresson's general report which was presented to the Board of Trustees and the trustees were in immediate agreement that the village should produce some revenue since the major portion of it is used by non-taxpayers.

When Mayor Washburn asked Mr. Nickerson what fee he had in mind, Mr. Gresson shook his head and said that he was not sure you were going to ask that question.

"Well," the Mayor continued, "it should bear some relationship to the cost of the village to build that parking space."

Trustee Gresson suggested that a figure be worked out showing the relationship of the number of cars which park in the village to the village and a definite recommendation be made for action at the next meeting.

The board first considered the installation of parking meters at the station with a 10-cent fee for 15-hour parking but Trustee Gresson pointed out that it might be more practical to issue parking permits to residents but with a fee charged to non-residents.

The parking plan was considered in a report of about $188,000, he pointed out, with the annual amortization cost of $10,000.

Weaver St. Site Denied N. Y. Store

New Rochelle Declines Reasoning Application For Lord and Taylor's COUNCIL VOTES 3-2

NEW ROCHELLE—Lord & Taylor's application for rezoning of a site on Weaver Street from R-1, residential to C-1, business, and for the construction of a store adjacent to the Hutchinson River Parkway was denied last night by City Council. After a protracted controversy beginning last week involving the city-wide circulation of petitions for and against, Council last night voted 3-2 against the rezoning.

The rezoning was proposed by J. Lester Abner, counsel for the property owner, who at a meeting declared that four other cities in the county were under consideration and that the rezoning would be made.

Mayor Stanley W. Church expressed his opposition to the rezoning and Mr. E. Gresson, Council member, joined with the Mayor in declaring that the matter should be disposed of by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Councilman Herbert P. Hilligan declared himself against the rezoning, but added that "it seems a shame to lose the advantages Lord & Taylor has."

Councilman Charles L. Hilligan declared himself against the rezoning, but added that "it seems a shame to lose the advantages Lord & Taylor has."

Village Court Imposes Penalties On Stores For Violations

FINED FROM $5 - $50

Seven Mamaroneck merchants were brought into Mamaroneck Village Police Court yesterday on charges of OPA violations and excessive fines from Judge Patrick J. Hughes ranging from $5 to $50 with one suspended sentence.

The cases, some of which have been pending since May for an indictment to the local court, were referred to the New York office of the OPA, resulting from complaints made by customers to the local War Price and Rationing Board.

Several have previously been hauled at the local office but if a merchant asks that a complaint be referred to the New York office it is sent there for consideration and possible treatment by the police courts. That is the history of yesterday's cases.

The largest total of fines levied on one merchant was $80 paid by Joseph J. Cane and his daughter, Marie Cardone, of 263 Mamaroneck Avenue, who pleaded guilty to selling merchants on sweet peppers, lettuce and Blue Label syrup. They were fined $10 on the first charge and a total of $20 on each of the other two. Seniors market at 215 Mamaroneck Avenue, failing to post OPA commodity selling charts for eggs and failure to tag merchandise with the ceiling price.

The next highest fine, $30, was paid by Walter Park and the G. and C. Corporation at 650 West 11th Street, Market, 650 Haledale Avenue, for overcharges on peppers, onions, cucumbers and white wine, and for not having Port Cheese were the attorneys for the corporation.

George's Produce Corporation at 252 Mamaroneck Avenue and Ernest and employee, pleaded not guilty to overcharges on lettuce and failure to tag merchandise with the ceiling price, and were convicted and fined $25 including $25 on the first charge and $25 on the second. Seneg was suspended on an alleged overcharge on sweet peppers when the defendant showed a bill indicating that the customer had purchased two pounds of peppers instead of one.

David Gelb of the Quality vegetable market at 215 Mamaroneck Avenue was fined $15 for failure to tag merchandise with the selling price and an additional $15 invoice to keep for one year all failures and freight bills.

Of the Montan plants, 40.3 per cent are in the American zone. Some are scattered in the Dutch, Russian and Czechoslovakia zones of occupation.

The assets of the plants in the American zone, Col. Pillsbury revealed, were four times as large as those of the Farben combine.

The Montan chemical and explosive plants in the American zone owned by I. G. Farben had a pre-war value of $30,600,000, Pillsbury said.

With most of the Farben executive now being held in jail, the new evidence is expected to play an important factor in their possible trials as war criminals.

Pillsbury said there was no indication of direct ownership of I. G. Farben by the German Government, but there is clear evidence they were together.

Tokyo also announced MacArthur's headquarters that Japanese prisoners of war camps Friday to assist in evacuating prisoners and civil internees to embarkation points. Whether the missions actually will transport prisoners to the ports or merely plan their later transportation was not clear.

General MacArthur himself will land at Tokyo's Atsugi airport Tuesday, where, permitting, along with thousands of American occupation troops. On the same day, the U. S. Navy will occupy the great base in Tokyo Bay. Later, the date was set for the arrival of the 100,000 troops will land in the Sagami Bay occupation zone.

British Press Debates On End Of Lend Lease

LONDON, (AP)—The end of lend lease stirred sharp debate over Britain today.

The Government stifled official comment that might complicate negotiations with the United States for credits to replace the wartime aid, but there was some prohibition upon the press and public.

The conservative Daily Express commented that the United States should only supply aid to the extent that it was echoed by many individuals who said they realized "it had to end some time."

The Financial News, however, protested editorially that Britain had had a pretty raw deal.

The authoritative Times commented that "lend lease was merely a device for re-arranging, and it had been known that these facilities would quickly end after the defeat of Japan."

"But," the newspaper added, "the expectation was that sufficient time would have elapsed to permit the consultations and decisions which had been prepared to smooth over the transition."

As well known that the United States is in Britain that the present British difficulties are largely self-inflicted by "improvidence." They have arisen from the agreed share which this country undertook to contribute to the common war effort.

There also was a general discussion among newspapers and individuals alike to argue that lend lease accrued to the advantage of the United States as well as Britain, and to point out that Britain's present financial situation is the result of her all-out war effort.

CANBERRA, (AP)—Now seriously America's cancellation of lend-lease will affect Australia. It depends largely on whether the United States continues to buy tin from this country, Commonwealth officials said today.

At America's decision, military food requirements can be supplied from her own stocks, resulting loss of dollar currency may seriously affect Australia's mandate and additional bases necessary for conversion from war to peace, they explained.

Spruance Sees Possible Strife Over Okinawa

ABOARD ADMIRAL SPURANCE'S FLAGSHIP MANILA BAY, (AP)—Questioning the political wisdom of American retention of strategically valuable Okinawa, said Japan, adm. Raymond A. Spruance, Fifth Fleet commander, told his second press conference of the war today that resulting loss of dollar currency may seriously affect Australia's mandate and additional bases necessary for conversion from war to peace, they explained.

He termed Okinawa extremely valuable strategically but, potentially explosive internationally. The decision on whether to retain it, he pointed out, will be up to the diplomats.

Even without the Ryukyus, he pointed out, the United States has a vast arc of Pacific bases stretching through Japan's former island empire to the Philippines. He said that, however important, are not vital, he said, in the Pacific.

Two Jims, he said, is extremely important, strategically as the Philippines bases; but bases on the islands are not necessary, he said, and also might be dangerous politically to retain.

FHA Again Gives Credit On Building JAPAN'S OCCUPATION AT OTHER 48

PRICE QUESTIONS RISE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Easy credit terms on home-building are ready to lead the nation today. The home-building will follow shortly.

Not only homes-but also washing machines, autos, tires, and paper-furniture in the news for Americans rapid re-converting from the nightmare of war.

But along with the bright tidings came rumblings of trouble over prices. The Gov. wants to add prices down to ease manufacturers' spoke up and said the other way.

Here's the way thing looked:
1. The Federal Housing Administration is ready to resume its program of insuring mortgages on new homes on a full pre-war basis. It has been virtually suspended—except on repairs and resale homes—for lack of funds ready to lend the money with FHA loans. Maybe you can't build yet, but you can't fix it.

2. Washing machines started trickling off production lines but the small sizes on hand are scarce. Washing machine makers are seeking 15 per cent more than they got in May 1944. The OPA wants prices to be only 52 per cent higher.

Airborne troops were due today to move to the east shore of Tokyo Bay for the first time and occupy the Naval anchorage of Kure, where the U. S. Marines now are operating.

Japanese Now Are Feeling Pinch Of Peace

By R. TOKYO BUREAU CHIEF
TOKYO—Inflation and shortages—two of the great scars war has left on the Japanese—will dominate what must be a slow and painful return to normalcy.
Only the barest supplies of staples are available for the average man of Japan, whose living costs have risen nearly 300 times since 1941 in some categories. For months the average middle class worker has been living on the equivalent of one good meal a day.

Wainwright Flying To Japan

MANILA (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, acclaimed as a hero here—so close by Corregidor where he had to surrender to the Japanese in May, 1942—will leave today by plane for Tokyo to witness the surrender Sunday of that beaten country.
The general and a group of fellow officers, with complete modesty, still are unable to realize they are regarded as heroes.
Supply officers have brought them uniforms, shirts and jackets. They have been given equipment completely new to them. It arrives here.
Once during the confusion, an officer arrived with orders promoting Lieut. Col. John Pugh to 4th colonel and Maj. Thomas J. Moore to a lieutenant colonel. They were Wainwright's aides. They solemnly congratulated each other, wondering if it still might be a prison camp dream.
Soldiers watched with pride as a fellow soldier received the same attention as the officers. He was Sgt. Herbert Carroll, Wainwright's orderly, also measured and outfitted.

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP)—Only 12 days after she had married an uncle of the husband she thought dead, pretty, 19-year-old Ann Ross Birdwell received the stunning news that her soldier husband was alive and safe—the last few days from Japanese prison camps.
S/Sgt. Gene D. Birdwell, 21, a gunner on a Liberator bomber, was reported by the War Department killed in action over Borneo last October. Twelve days ago his supposed widow married William Marshall, 33, an uncle of the sergeant and father of four by a previous marriage.

Truman Makes Pearl Harbor Inquiry Sought From Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman's investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack will be conducted in a separate inquiry from the Japanese surrender abroad.
Legislative leaders of both parties today declared that if it is found that the attack was not ordered for the reasons given by the Japanese, Congress will conduct its own hearings.
Those leaders, speaking privately for the most part, said the people want and should be given more facts than were made public in documents released by President Truman Wednesday.
Meanwhile, the State Department released a letter written by Secretary of State Acheson Sept. 28, 1944, in which Hull staunchly denied that his pre-war rumors proposed to Japan constituted an ultimatum that attacked the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.
The Army Board's report on the disaster had said Hull "touched the button" that started the war.
The letter, addressed to Secretary of War Stimson, said the counter-proposals he handed the Emperor, Secretary of State Acheson, "substantially the economic and other advantages they sought in Asia, provided they would give up their aggressive policies."
"Declaring the plan 'did not constitute in any sense an ultimatum,'" Hull added that it proposed rather a "complete settlement covering the entire Pacific area."

No Affront Intended

THERE'S a silly argument going on in Mamaroneck that ought to be settled right now.

Several weeks ago, in an interview with a Daily Times reporter, Sgt. Alex Winkler, returning from active duty in Italy, said he encountered "immorality, ignorance and filth" in that country and immediately the Italian-Americans in Mamaroneck took personal offense and considered the remark a reflection upon the cultural history of Italy.

This writer has never met Sgt. Winkler but will touch for the fact that the remark was not a personal affront to the Italian people and his observations of the part of Italy he visited were probably true, as far as they went.

If Sgt. Winkler had happened to be in France, England, Spain, Patagonia or the State of Kansas he could have made the same observations. Immorality, ignorance and filth, unfortunately, are to be found in every country of the world.

In Tuesday night's edition of The New York Sun, an article appeared by an American correspondent stating that the G. I.'s are in disrepute in Paris because they reel through the streets ragged drunk at night.

What's our reaction to that? Do we say the story is a reflection upon the great history of America or a slur on the great literature, art and music that she has produced? No, we realize that, in the main, the statement of the writer is probably true although we are sure that our brother who is stationed in Paris is behaving better than that.

So let's take a good objective point of view and not let us upset personal feelings. We're all good friends in Mamaroneck. We realize that immorality, ignorance and filth exist in abundance in the world and that all our energy should go toward fighting it wherever we find it whether it be in Italy, London, Egypt, Park Avenue or Mamaroneck.

JOBLESS INSURANCE

My girl friend and I had a discussion the other day. After working four years straight, she was laid off and she has filed claim for unemployment insurance. I definitely know her that she was entitled to one year's benefit, and she claimed it was only 26 weeks. I would appreciate if you would settle this discussion for us.

Why, E. T., did you "definitely" tell her that? We are always puzzled as to why people are so definite about their misinformation. What were you trying to get at, in where did you get the idea that unemployment insurance covers a period of a year? We'd be interested to know.

Unemployment insurance covers a period of 26 weeks, as your friend said. This presumption, of course, that the claimant does not file for unemployment insurance, as you understand, the insurance stops when the new job starts. The claimant must re-register each of the weeks he or she is unemployed whether it's one week or the entire 26.

You are an American citizen. You can tell your wise-cracking friends that they're not the wisest. If they think for the American Indian didn't originate here, he was once a foreigner! We white people merely exist here for a few thousand years later than he did. But any person born here or naturalized here is an American citizen, whatever his nationalistic ancestry. There is no other answer you can give.

OPPOSES PARKING METERS
Editor, The Daily Times:

Dear Sir—With reference to an article appearing in your paper recently captioned: "Common Sense May Pay for Park Cars."

I have read many newspaper meters for parking in Larchmont, also about rents for parking at the Railroad Station Plaza.

It is evident that the meter salesman has been around the town for over 25 years. When I first came to Larchmont it was a beautiful country village of about 1500 inhabitants or less. It was dedicated to erecting meters for parking to and from the station and street to be greeted by the village police chief every man, woman and child. The postman needed no house addresses; we were glad to send our children to the Village School presided over by Miss Lynch.

We have gone through groveling pains and depression, bank failures and mortgage foreclosures. We have fought for new schools, roads and a library, and have someone trying to dampen the future.

The Summer is about gone and many of those cars parked in front of the homes to be rented throughout the year. Why should not all the property owners who occupy their homes in Larchmont and the Incorporated Section be kept together and clean up the Manor Park Society mess and then stop all talk of parking meters and such, and arrange to keep parking space for all home owners, and their tenants and any remaining space to be used by Westchester County residents.

Installation of parking meters would have a tendency of driving business from Larchmont and the merchants of Larchmont need encouragement and we should not put up a stumbling block in their way to deter business.

Parking meters have only one good point and that is for raising revenue. Larchmont so badly bent on account of the Manor Park setback that it needs to look for other means of revenue.

The installation of meters will put us in a class with cities such as the Bronx and Brooklyn.

There is one solution: Let all who use the Larchmont Station of the New Haven Railroad get together and see if we cannot wipe out that government by consolidating the Unincorporated Section of the town of Mamaroneck and the Village of Larchmont with the Police Department, one Fire Department and one Board of Trustees. This would cut down overhead by a lot and create a better feeling on both sides of the railroad.

The residents of the Unincorporated Section help to maintain the churches in Larchmont and help to keep the merchants in business. Any action on the part of the Village Board to legislate against the residents of the Unincorporated Section will only hurt the neighborhood in some way to the detriment of Larchmont.

"Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself" and stop throwing stones to us by the way.

News Behind The News

PEACE NOT ASSURED

The accounts say that when we landed in Japan we met with an invitation to a cup of tea. The surrender thus has become known as "the tea cup surrender." Not without an initial laying down of arms. But with two weeks of delay after terms were drawn, and a proffer of tea. This will accord with the fact of its unique forever in history. The tea incidentally, was rejected.

There has been some talk here, but no alarm, about the 14 days grace General MacArthur granted. The word was passed around through Washington that he thought they probably had needed that much time to adjust their people from the war propaganda line which had come from them even the news of the "atomic bomb." Unless they had been granted time to change their minds on the facts of the situation, MacArthur thought there might be trouble in the occupation. His word has been accepted even in the quarters of Congress where you might expect suspicion.

The hiatus nevertheless has the lap officials of the occupation more than a cup of tea in their primary interests. They could destroy every record in the nation of industry to feel secure. They could organize their understanding of the situation. The Emperor took all Asia to be a "temporary condition" or detail. They could push their inner campaign for the occupation. Perhaps I am only suspicious in believing this was their primary objective, but I do believe it. My defense is that my fault, and the fault of this nation goes to now, has been that we do not suspect the Japs enough. What has proved true in Japan in the past always has been true in our worst suspicions (witness the Pearl Harbor reports).

Yet it is plain there should be no early cause for alarm. We went in with enough power to handle any trap. And Japan, now, suddenly has become a weak nation, a very small nation. The single point in the surrender terms which united Japan to her homeland was the greatest guarantee of her future. She was never powerful at home, where she is short of raw materials and could not possibly build power. It was her East Asiatic expansion program which gave her the resources with which to make war against us.

As far as I can learn she has no uranium and no atomic bomb formula. If she developed these things she could cause trouble and no doubt she will cause as much trouble as she can under the terms. This thought may well have lain unspoken in President Truman's mind when he executed his proposed 15-25 draft with the suggestion that, if course, we might have trouble in the Pacific.

Now Japan has become our responsibility, China and Russia have settled their Asiatic mainland differences, at least to the extent that, if course, we might have trouble in the Pacific.

This thought may well have lain unspoken in President Truman's mind when he executed his proposed 15-25 draft with the suggestion that, if course, we might have trouble in the Pacific.

War Marriages Already Crowding Divorce Courts

By DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I married a boy just before he went overseas. I was seventeen and he was nineteen and we thought we were very much in love with each other. But he has been over six months now and I have fallen in love with another man who wants me to get a divorce and marry him. I hate to ask my husband to give me a divorce as I don't know how he feels about me, and it seems so mean to treat him badly when he is having trouble enough.

What would you advise me to do? D.D.

Answer: The returns from the girl and boy war marriages are beginning to come in thick and fast and the rate is filled with the sound of the breaking of marital vows. For those who so blithely swore at the altar to love and cherish each other until death should them part, do not seem to be able to stand the separation of a few months. In my own state, where the divorce record of last month was perfectly appalling, most of the petitioners were youngsters in their teens. Strangers at Altar divorce. Marriage is in the air. Everybody is doing it. Every body is in a fine romantic frenzy, and boys and girls rush to the altar with strangers whom they scarcely know by sight.

And when the boys are gone and the excitement has died out and it is dull and tiresome for girls, who have always had plenty of dates, to sit at home all night with Mama and Papa, and Joe is a lone wolf off who the girls discover that they were not in love as much as they thought they were. And some other lad comes wandering down the street, and their tickle fancies turn to him. And another marriage goes on the rocks.

And what the girl should do under the circumstances—whether she shall write her absent husband and ask him for a divorce, or wait until he comes home to break the news to him, no one knows. Personally, I advocate the waiting policy because, for one thing, the wife may fall in and out of love half a dozen times with different men before her legal spouse returns, and principally because it saves her husband's face among his buddies. And in the second place, it gives his youthful fancy a chance to cool off and may make him just as anxious to get rid of his wife as she is of him.

Lyden Appealing Petition Ruling

FAIRFAX—An appeal to a higher court to force the Board of Elections to accept the petitions nominating Judge James J. Lyden for Greenburgh supervisor on an independent ticket is planned, Judge Lyden reported yesterday. With his attorney Peter Rasi, Judge Lyden is trying to get in touch with Frederick P. Close, presiding justice of the Appellate Division, Supreme Court.

Lyden backed by the Greenburgh Independent Citizens' Coalition Committee to oppose Supervisor William C. Duell is protesting the decision of Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Conroy denying the petition because it did not have sufficient valid names.

NO RIOTS IN RIOTS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A San Francisco Grand Jury Wednesday absolved "all parties concerned" of blame for heavy property damage and accidents in which 15 persons lost their lives and 1,053 were injured during the three-night "peace riots" here two weeks ago.

BOY OULDSWIS GIRLS

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy Wednesday won $50 in a city-wide Board of Education spelling contest in which he was the only boy entered in a field of 250. Americo De Mero, of 9 Belmont Street, took the prize with a tea apron he made for his widowed mother.

Child's Scrapbook Is Broom To Mother During Bad Weather

By ANGELO PATRI

We are having many many days and children have to stay indoors waiting for the sun to come out and dry things so they can get down to the shore and into the woods and the playing field.

They are likely to become a sore trial to their elders at such times. Temper is short and complaints lengthy on both sides.

These are the days that call for the scrapbooks and the pastime, the saved up clippings, the old magazines and the catalogues. Children of any age starting with those just starting to cut out the papers, can make scrap books with great enjoyment and with profit.

Let the little ones cut up the pictures. They can be taught to choose their subjects after they have had the fun of learning to use their tools and materials. The older ones will select their subjects and gradually become specialists.

Beacons A Record

The specialist's scrapbook becomes a record not only of the progress of the subject selected but of the family as well. A row of newspaper photos, have been compiled through the years can be a source of the greatest pleasure. It will hold much useful information as well.

The best kind is important. Choose the size you prefer, if you can have a uniform set so much the better. Let the little ones use any handy book that will hold the weight but give the older, more serious pasters a book that will be able to duplicate once after year.

Collection Varied

Guided by you, the children select their subjects. Careless that record our thoughts about the war are excellent. Certain of the comic strips are most fun and as they are in good taste and well drawn, they will make a book the children will enjoy always. Collections of poems taken from the papers and magazines are fine. Clippings of news about some famous person like Albritton, General Patton, Churchill, our President, will be very much worthwhile while some day. Pictures the child has taken with his own camera are invaluable records. For example pictures that make a day-by-day record of a Summer vacation will make a story book that grows more precious with every year.

Scrapbooks that are well done are an educational, inspiring and satisfying interest that will enrich the life and character of any child.

As they grow up children at different ages like different books. Angelo Patri has made a list of over 50 books which he recommends for children of five ages, in leaflet "A Book List". To obtain a copy, send five cents to coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to him, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 10, N. Y.

Cup, Saucer Belong Together No Matter What Case May Be

By EMILY POST

Mrs. X who is going to give a very large tea, at which hot tea as well as a fruit iced tea will be served, wants to know if a saucer has to be put under each cup in addition to a tea plate or may the cup be stood on a lunch or dinner plate, omitting the saucer. Most of the guests will have to stand around with nowhere to put extra things down and she doesn't see how they possibly can manage cup and saucer in one hand and tea plate in the other.

The answer is, of course, "they can't" unless they merely carry them to where they can be set down. In any case the nap willings on the saucer. The cup sliding around on a plate—even when it belongs to the same set of china—has a barfous effect.

Engagement Presents Given Back

Dear Mrs. Post: My friends gave me a bridal shower and now my engagement is broken. (1) Shall I give the presents back? They are the inexpensive things given generally at showers, except that some of the girls gave me a little bag filled with money. (2) My fiance broke the engagement and we are not on speaking terms. If I am supposed to give his ring back under these circumstances, then in what manner shall I return it?

Answer: (1) Return the presents to the givers—either to be worn by them or given to another friend. Perhaps many will want you to make use of them. In which case, keep them. Give the bag of money to the one who suggested collecting it and then let each one take out what she put in without you knowing the amounts. (2) You MUST send the ring back! By registered mail to be because your receipt will be proof that you sent it and the U. S. Post Office will make sure that he receives it.

Exceptional Excuse For 'And Family'

Dear Mrs. Post: How can I send one wedding invitation to include all of the following: The parents, an engaged son, a married daughter who is living with her parents while her husband is overseas and a son who is a close friend of our family?

Answer: I'd sent it to Mr. and Mrs. and put "And Family" behind. This is one occasion when "And Family" is certainly understandable.

Plans Underway To Establish Veterans Bureaus In Towns

WHITE PLAINS—Local units for aid to returning veterans are to be set up in each of the towns of Westchester, and in some of the villages, to cooperate with the work being done under the State Division of Veterans' Affairs.

Quirrie Shaw, local director for Westchester, is conferring with County Executive Herbert C. Gerlach, to select local deputy directors, each of whom will have a local advisory committee to assist in solving problems of the veterans. The local units will have the advice and assistance of the State-appointed veteran guidance counselors, of whom there are to be eight in Westchester.

Four of these counselors have already been appointed and are now working out of Mr. Shaw's office after completing a special three-week training school course held at Albany earlier this month. The four additional counselors are expected to be named in time for them to attend the next course which is to open on Sept. 17. Mr. Shaw is also planning to attend the school.

Mr. Shaw said today the activities of the Westchester organization will be designed to accommodate what is believed to be the two most important points from the veteran's standpoint. First it is felt, Mr. Gerlach continued, that the veteran will prefer to discuss his problems with "home folks", and second that the home folks will want to take care of their own boys.

The work will be in close cooperation with the agencies already doing such work, including the Red Cross, veterans organizations, the Selective Service, and U. S. Employment Service. It is intended that all of these facilities will be available at the county headquarters in the County Office Building in White Plains.

It is planned that the local deputy director and his advisory committee will have the first contact with the veteran. If it is found assistance is needed the service of one of the counselors will be provided. In the event still further help is necessary the veteran will then be advised at county headquarters.

Mr. Shaw said that many communities have already set up various types of organizations to assist the veterans. Some have quickly attained efficient status, while others have not been able to fully prepare for the work. He pointed out that until the State agency was created there was no way in which a municipality could legally appropriate municipal funds for use in veteran assistance.

Good L. I. Oyster Crop Is Forecast

NEW YORK (AP)—The Long Island Oyster Growers, a producers association, reported here that "The outlook for a more bountiful and abundant crop of cultivated Long Island oysters this season is better than it has been since the war started."

Usually heavy rainfall this Summer has swept large quantities of mineral and vegetable matter, on which the oysters feed, down streams to the oyster beds, the growers statement declared.

Canning For Victory—With The Experts

Do You Sigh For Method Of Canning Tomatoes That Keeps Them Whole? Well, Here It Is!

By HELEN BASTER
Westchester Home Bureau

Every homemaker sighs for a method of canning tomatoes whole that will produce a satisfactory substitute for the fresh tomato in Winter salads.

At present, neither canning nor quick freezing will produce this wonder tomato, but the New York State Experimental Station at Geneva endorses the use of harmless chemical, calcium chloride, of which commercial canners avail themselves in order to produce a canned tomato that is firmer and holds its shape better than by the ordinary method of canning.

The small red Italian-type tomato remains firm enough for salad purposes. Calcium chloride, enough for 96 quarts of tomatoes, may be purchased at a drugstore or pharmacy for around 25 to 30 cents. USP, CACLD (this is not the chlorinated lime which is used for bleaching). The proportion is important, so buy 2 1/2 oz. and dissolve it in a pint of clear tap water that has been boiled.

It is easy to take a pint container with the liquid in it to the store and let the agent add the required amount of calcium chloride. This is enough for the 96 quart jars. Use one teaspoon of the solution to a quart jar of tomatoes. Fill with tomato juice and process by the boiling-water bath method.

Two other factors enter into the end product of a firm tomato. Tomatoes that are canned during the season tend to be firmer than those canned later which have a greater tendency to mush and fall apart. Use only the finest tomatoes, picked just as maturity, handle carefully and pack tightly. Crush the less perfect tomatoes for juice to fill the jars.

CANNING TOMATOES WHOLE and keeping that way is a secret that is shared in the adjoining article. Only best tomatoes are used, picked at maturity, handled carefully and packed tightly.

Calcium chloride works so miraculously that every homemaker ought to try her hand at it.

Forget the canning crises of the past and do a few jars at a time. They count up, and it is surprising at the end of the season to see how much you have canned and with what little effort.

Three pounds of tomatoes make a quart of canned tomatoes—a lumber makes six quarts. Can plenty of tomatoes.

Cantor Zeller On Program At Institute

Selichos services will be held tomorrow at midnight at the Hebrew Institute of Mamaroneck following the theme of repentance and peace.

The services will be conducted by Rabbi Irving Koslowe and the synagogue music will be sung by the new Cantor, Rev. Benjamin Zeller.

Cantor Zeller, an exponent of congregational singing chosen by the Religious Committee to render the Selichos and Mussaf service for the coming High Holidays has conducted services in leading synagogues throughout New York in the past few years, and last season he performed at the West Side Synagogue. Rev. Zeller sings many of the melodies which have proven popular to the Young Israel "set," and will present these familiar tunes here in Mamaroneck.

Assisting him as Bul Shachris will be Cantor Jacob Weiner who proved so popular in his role last year. Rev. Weiner will also be the Reader of the Torah, and show the Shofar.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Byron Price said yesterday that press and radio vigilance in observing wartime voluntary censorship was all that headed off a "surprisingly bitter dispute over free speech, with national unity the one sure casualty."

The Director of Censorship made this observation in an address prepared for the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of

Will it be Spoiled by INADEQUATE Wiring?

• I think that's the "664 question" for us home-makers now!
You see, Jim and I are planning to remodel our house as soon as possible and our best friends, Joe and Sally Smith, are going to build a new home. The four of us get to talking about our plans over the bridge table last night and so we never even realized our mistake! The thought entered in our minds was that in the future adequate wiring in our homes will be more important than ever before, due to the ever-expanding use of electrical appliances and because of improved home lighting.
As Joe said: "No more 'just enough wiring to get by' for us! The wiring system in our new house will be planned to give us plenty of outlets and switches, not only to take care of our present electrical appliances but for probable additional appliances in years to come."
"Sound the alarm!" applauded my Jim, and I went to the kitchen to bring my refreshments.

Today! The gin you've waited 3 years to enjoy!

Gin of pre-war quality made from pre-war imported botanicals

- 1 Today Hiram Walker brings you gin made with the same imported herbs, roots and berries used in the making of Hiram Walker's pre-war gin.
- 2 And remember, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor Americans bought more Walker-made gin than any other kind.

Consign from China... prize orange peel from Valencia... choice coriander from Czechoslovakia... these and all the other rare herbs, roots, and berries used in making Hiram Walker's Gin today come from a supply imported before the war.

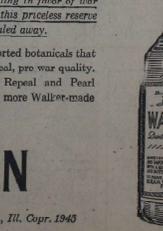

TODAY, you can once again enjoy the pleasure of real, pre-war quality gin.
For Hiram Walker's Gin is made not only to pre-war formulae... but from pre-war imported botanicals which are unobtainable today!
The reason we now have these rare botanicals, like cassia from China and coriander from Czechoslovakia, is this:
Prior to the war it was always our policy to purchase these botanicals only in the best crop years —and to buy far in excess of our annual requirements. This enabled us always to have on hand a treasured reserve.

When we suspended gin distilling in favor of our production in February 1942, this precious reserve was carefully preserved and sealed away.

Today, it's these pre-war, imported botanicals that give Hiram Walker's Gin its real, pre-war quality. The quality which, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor, led Americans to buy more Walker-made gin than any other kind.
