Pvt. Randall Dobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Dobbs, 10 Linden Avenue, Larchmont, has been selected as a paratrooper and will leave Camp Upton, L. I., for an advanced training base.

Only 18 years of age, Dobbs is an untended Manamareck Junior High School. He entered the Army recently and was sent to Camp Upton, where he listed a preference for the paratrooper. He will undergo a 13-week basic training course.

His uncle, Pvt. First Class John L. Towle, of the Larchmont address, was home on leave recently from Santa Monica, Calif., where he was with the outfit. He is a graduate of the former Seventh Regiment, New York City, and he, too, has left for an unknown destination.

Following in the footsteps of his brother, Frederick, who is in the U. S. Army, Dr. William H. Mills, 111 Madison Avenue, Larchmont, will begin his training at an Army Air base, Chateaufort, France, in a few days. Dr. Mills is a graduate of Manamareck High School and of Columbia University, where he "breathed through" his senior year course in three months.

Dodger's Marketing Trips Play Role In War Effort And He Loves The Work

DODGER, long brown-haired part collie, is doing his share in the war effort. He makes regular marketing trips to the city. He is a familiar sight about Larchmont as he makes his regular marketing trips with Mrs. J. C. Allen of 22 Summit Avenue.

Horned and hitched to a small cart, Dodger obediently and very cheerily hauls home groceries and other market items—and in so doing is saving tax and paper used for wrapping packages.

Dodger started serving the Allen family some time ago when he was first used for carrying packages. He has become a valuable member of the household.

Former County Public Works Head Returns After Year At Iraq

Charles H. Sells of Pleasantville, former Westchester commissioner of public works, who flew back Friday from his work of more than a year in United States military construction near Baars, Iraq, today returned to the state.

Sells, looking in excellent health despite 14 months' confinement in what is generally described as an extremely unhealthy climate, declined a county department associate in White Plains this morning before reporting to the county.

He told these friends that he has no intention whatever of accepting any "political appointment" and would devote the next few weeks to cleaning up on this side the details of the foreign contract.

He said he will be spending $25,000 a year for his work in Iraq, plus $25,000 a year for his family.

NEW THRUST PERILS AMERICAN ANCHOR AT GAFSA; FIGHTING HEAVY

By DANIEL DE LUCE (Associated Press Staff)

ALLIED Headquarters in North Africa—German armor believed to be from the forces of a Marshal Rommel has smashed against American positions west of Faid Pass for a 20-mile breakthrough, endangering the U. S. anchor of Gafsa, farther southwest.

It was disclosed here today. Overwhelming American artillery positions guarding the westward exit of Faid Pass, German tanks, possibly 50 in number, brushed out to the northwest and southwest after the initial attack at 7 A. M. yesterday, spokesman said.

Gafsa, 100 miles southwest of the Faid Pass Area, was reported in danger of being cut off by a spearhead of Nazi divisions. Sources here said it was assumed that German tanks could be destroyed.

The Allied Headquarters spokesman announced that the enemy launched attacks by tanks, infantry and artillery, supported by dive-bombers in the Faid area. It said the German armor was still in the area.

ALLIED TROOPS CRUSH NAZI PATROL IN CLASH FOR ALGERIA

THE WEATHER

This afternoon, measurably warm, but not warmer than last night, with scattered showers and moderate winds from the northwest. Clear, bright at 7:05.

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—United States and British troops guarding a stabilized mountain line in Central Tunisia have crushed an attempt by Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces to thrust again toward the Italian base of Tunesia through passes above Sbeitla and Kasserine. It was announced today.

A strong German patrol lost six tanks and six self-propelled guns in a clash with Allied troops near Sbeitla, 20 miles north of the Italian base of Tunesia, in an attack against the Allied front line. The German advance was stopped by the Kasserine Gap, a spokesman said.

At a rally of the two anti-air forces, the military authorities here agreed that the "tide had turned" and that the Tunisian offensive probably would be limited hereafter to tentative jabs at the Allied new mountain line in search for weak spots.

It was announced that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, former commander of the British Eighth Army in the Near East, had assumed personal command of the Allied supreme headquarters in Tunisia under the leadership of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, and had begun shaping his plans for the expected spring offensive.

Loss of American equipment in the past week was expected to be limited to the loss of a few tanks and trucks. The loss of the loss of Central Tunisia was regarded here as an "incident" in the campaign as a whole.

Bad weather, meanwhile, curtailed all air operations as snow, rain and high winds swept most of Tunisia.

The Germans launched their infantry and armored attack on the Kasserine Gap early Thursday morning, but met strong resistance from American units on both sides of the pass.

The Germans made some small gains early in the fighting, but by nightfall these had been completely stopped. The attacking forces retired in the direction of Kasserine.

Earlier in the night what was reported to be a "strong German" tank company of infantry and tanks had entered British guard units while trying to force the pass above Sbeitla and were badly mauled.

It is expected likely that civilians, therefore, would bear the brunt of the movement, and this gave added significance to reports Eusebio de Sillabarro, Director, League, along with Harry Hopkins, Judge Rosenman, were flying to Britain.

The services' opposition to Nelson centered on the sweeping program of "production rationing" which his executive vice chairman, Charles E. Wilson, former General Electric Company president, had proposed.

Trustee B. J. Santoro, who is nominated Thursday as Republican candidate for mayor of Mamaroneck, will receive the support of the Columbian Republican League, Mamaroneck Club, it was announced today by Louis Frank Kharkevich, administrator of the village.

AMERICAN TROOPS HOLD FEAT AT ALL POINTS

REDS GO AHEAD

By ROBERT GREENE
Associated Press Wire Editor

"Heavy fighting continued successfully held the enemy at all points" north and northwest of the Kasserine Gap.

"Heavy fighting continued successfully held the enemy at all points" north and northwest of the Kasserine Gap.

In other sectors, the communications "our patrols have been active and successfully repelled the enemy wherever encountered and a number of prisoners in several places."

Italian Headquarters acknowledged that the Allies had launched a series of offensives but asserted they were repulsed.

JAPAN POSITIONS IN SOLOMONS AND ALEUTIANS RAIDED

Enemy Fails To Resist Air Attack On Kiaka, Navy Discloses

MUBO REGION BOMBED

Allied Troops Clear Way For Climactic Offensive On New Guinea Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—American aerial attacks on Japanese positions in both the Solomon and Aleutian Islands were reported today by the Navy, which said five were started during one raid in the Solomons.

The raid on Kiaka was the latest in a series of attacks directed against the Japanese base in the North Pacific with increasing frequency. The Japanese base, which had been reported to be sufficiently strong to resist a direct, conventional assault, was surprised by strong resistance and that only a costly effort is to be expected there.

On previous attacks the Japanese conventional troops showed strong opposition with their lighter arms, but the Japanese base, as revealed in informed quarters here, was not sufficiently strong to resist a direct, conventional assault.

The last of November, he was sent to the U. S. Naval Air Station in Memphis, Tenn., where he successfully completed the intensive training course last month.

Upon completion of the intensive course at the "Annapolis of the Air" Donovan will receive his Navy "Wings of Gold" with the designation of naval aviator and will be commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

He is also serving as an assistant manager of the wrestling team. Some of the 200 being called up may be sent back to college at government expense for further instruction after a basic training period. This group will be selected on the basis of ratings in Army intelligence and psychological tests.

So Americans Offer Souvenirs Galore At Bargain Day Prices. By HAROLD V. BOYLE. (Associated Press Staff).

WITH AMERICAN ARMY before Kassern Pass, Sunday, Feb. 12—For $5 today you could buy a good Italian automatic pistol, but there were few on the market because they make good souvenirs.

For nothing you could walk out on the battlefield in the Hahab River valley yesterday and pick up all the Italian machine guns, rifle bullets, hand grenades and hand grenades, hand grenades, hand grenades.

German material was scattered where they could not take it. Axis activity during the day was confined to scattered sniping of the road to Kassern Pass.

The battlefield itself was a scene of destruction. American 105-mm. howitzers which raised a wall of shrapnel that apparently did the most to take the Axis tanks out of action.

Other soldiers stood in knots as they searched for the remains of their fallen comrades. One giant eight-footed carrier.

Seven Italian, including one officer, came over the hill in front of the American position. They were with us hands up and waving white handkerchiefs.

Our boys had disarmed them, thrown their guns away and waved them on back to the rear. We turned them over to an intelligence officer.

Larchmont Firemen Answer 2 Alarms

Larchmont's Fire Department was called out for two general alarms yesterday afternoon and evening, once to save a rooming house and the second time to give advice on mechanical trouble with the stoker.

Firemen arrived just before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Ziegler, 44 Larchmont Avenue. They used a little soda to extinguish the flames and saved the most part of the contents. No damage was reported.

Headquarters of the Home Apartments on Larchmont Avenue called the fire department shortly after 9 o'clock last night, when they smelled smoke. It proved to be coal gas seeping up through the building and the cause given by the fire department was mechanical trouble with the stoker. There was no fire.

Germans Burn Supplies Allies Beat off Tank Attacks On Tunisia Front

Wilhelmshaven Raid Described By U. S. Newsmen

'WHAT A DAY'
By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff
U. S. BOMBER STATION
Somehow in England—
Lady Luck was an unhelpful passenger on the U. S. Eighth Air Force's second Fortress Liberator assault on Wilhelmshaven yesterday. It was an expedition of close shaves.

The Fortress "Southern Comfort" which had landed nine of 16 raids because she was shot up so badly on the other seven, got back almost on schedule this time although a four-foot square was clipped right off the main radiator by shrapnel.

The old North Sea looked wide and deep. "I was waiting on a ship like a firm believer in the saying 'God is in the heaven,'" said Capt. Hugh Abernethy, 33, "but I don't know now we made it. The fact we prayed might have had something to do with it."

A deadly 20 millimeter shell ripped into the nose compartment, slipping the navigator, Lt. James Moberly of Moberly, Mo., right on his head. He was taken to the hospital and had his helmet split.

The tallenger, Frank Hisebeck of McKeesport, Pa., had another shell rip into one side tail fin. A shell struck his back and fractured his right arm.

Sgt. Arthur Kruecher of Meridian, Miss., was on his first raid. He was in a hospital for a week for wounds in the back received in the raid on Dec. 20, 1942. "Boomer" came back skimming the channel the crew shot at the inlet to lighten the ship.

The Fortress, "Bloody Tanager" was hit by a shell which burst through the target and hit the hydraulic pump. The crew as well as part of the electrical system.

A piece of flat slanted right up through the tail. "What hit?" asked the pilot, Capt. Charles D. Clark of McKeesport, Pa., over the interphone.

"The more Jerry sends up the more well know how down from Memphis, Tenn."

"But that's what I came here for," he added on his safe return. "The more Jerry sends up the more well know how down from Memphis, Tenn."

WRAPPING OF BOULLON CUBES FOR Uncle Sam's farthing every kitchen is the wartime business so timely occupying Miss Estlin Spindell of Mamaroneck, one of a hundred women employed by Pure Food Company, Inc., 716 Mamaroneck Avenue, Village.

When they come to the cooling of food, the woman may be supreme in the domestic kitchen, but in the industrial kitchen, it's the man who stews over the kettle and pans. This becomes apparent at the epic and span plant of the Pure Food Company, 716 Mamaroneck Avenue, one of 15 village industries visited recently on a good will tour.

WOUNDED OFFICER RETURNS TO DUTY

Lieut. Page Recovers From Injuries Received In Southwest Pacific

Among those mentioned by the War Department today as wounded in recent action in the Southwest Pacific was Lieut. Page, who was returned to duty, is Second Lieut. Gerald S. Page, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Page, 130 Weaver Street, Town.

In a letter received the other day Lieut. Page writes of life in the Southwest Pacific. He is usually at it in a beautiful vacation. He never said today he was wounded in an undisclosed action late last November and was discharged from the Army hospital after two weeks. Since his recovery he has been in a crash landing of a bomber he was navigating one mile off the New Guinea coast. The crew of seven fortuitously was able to launch the rubber life raft, and was seen the ship's friendly natives.

It is the food concentrate department which was going full blast in the Southwest Pacific. He was active in the canning and jarring of the chicken meat products, such as chicken soup, chicken a la king, chicken and peas, and chicken with carrots.

The reason of course is the tremendous wartime demand for concentrated food for Uncle Sam's fighting forces all over the world. The local firm's bouillon production has always had a national market, since its establishment here in 1917, but today, with production slotted 100 percent to war needs, one woman, the market has become international.

A score of men in chef coats and caps mix the ground meat and vegetables, after they've been cooked and put through a certain amount of dehydration in a large rotary drier. Here they add so much salt, so much vegetable extract and certain condiments to the basic cube ingredients. After the mixings have undergone some further in open, heated pans, they're rolled out into slabs, and then cut into cubes in rolling and cutting machines respectively.

The cubes are then delivered to the shipping department where all workers in smocks and caps, feed them into wrapping machines. The cardboard boxes, big play jars, and other containers are filled. Erwin C. Meyer, the plant manager, explained that the cellophane wrappers have completely displaced the tin foil formerly used as a help in keeping product fresh.
