Bellows Trackmen Finish 1949 Season With Perfect Record

Wurzbacher's Charges Take Sixth Straight Dual Meet

Bellows' highly touted track team subdued Blessed Sacrament 55-31 yesterday at Daniel Warren Field to become the first East Ender cinder team since 1942 to go through a complete schedule without defeat. Yesterday's win was the Panthers' sixth straight in dual meet competition and fitted in perfectly with the SWIAC and Class C Section One titles which Fred Wurzbacher's charges had previously netted.

For a team which had only 40 men listed on its roster, the Bellows 1949 aggregation was amazingly deep in almost every event. They were always certain of picking up an abundance of points in the sprints and field events with Captain Richie Hill and Bob Keegan in the dashes and big Ed Kayner going undefeated in the shot put and discus throw. Keegan had not been beaten in either the 100 or 220 yard sprints going into the Blessed Sacrament meet but, after copping the century, the flashy junior was drawn out of the longer dash by his coach because of a leg ailment.

The East Enders had men finish first in four of the five running events, won three of the four field events and chucked in a relay triumph to boot. Neither team was shut out of an individual spot on the program but the winners were by far the most consistent of the two.

Kayner, huge weight man, was the only double winner in taking the shot put and discus throws. In his last '49 attempt to break the school weight throwing record he failed by more than a foot. However, his discus heave was a fine 132 feet.

Hills Wins 220

Keegan recorded his best clocking of the campaign in winning the century dash in 10.2. Bill Leary of Blessed Sacrament edged Hill out for second place.

With Keegan out of the 220, Hill sped to his initial victory in the time of 23.2, another outstanding mark in the successful season. Stanley Vitetta crossed the finish line third as Leary garnered another runner-up spot.

In the quarter mile run, Leo Gittens added his second win of the campaign by outlasting teammate Chappie Cronquist in the time of 55.2. The latter turned in his most impressive performance of the year.

Bill Magrino was a hard pressed winner in the half mile run with Flynn of Sacramento beating out Pete Beaudrault for second.

Mark Romani of the East End school closed out his first year in mile competition by finishing third behind Lind and Gironda of the visiting outfit.

Vitetta, Don Anderson, Keegan and Hill combined to form an easy winner in the relay. Sacrament trailing by about 30 yards at the tape.

Lou Bordiga furnished the big surprise of the afternoon, earning five points for Bellows with a high jump triumph. Tricky Hitch tied with McNamaro of Sacrament for second.

Kayner was the only member of the Bellows squad who was able to make the grade to compete in the Sectional Meet which is to be held at Michie Stadium, West Point, on Saturday.

The sports department of The Daily Times was slightly off its mark in an article on a Youth Golf Clinic published in yesterday's issue. Coach Harry Harrison of Mamaroneck High School was named chairman of the committee in charge of the clinic while actually the person holding that position is Charles H. Pease of White Plains. Mr. Harrison is a committee member, however, and is making an effort to interest golf enthusiasts in this area in the exhibition.

Claude Harmon of the Winged Foot Club, Mamaroneck, will MC the clinic and other famous professional golfers are scheduled to help in the instruction. An announcement is forthcoming from the P.G.A. which will reveal which pros will definitely tutor at the affair which is to be held at the Cherry Lawn Golf Range, Weaver Street, New Rochelle at 5 P.M. on Wednesday, June 15th.

JUNIOR SOFTBALL TO OPEN IN LARCHMONT

The first official move of Larchmont's newly formed organization for children's recreation was revealed last night when Arthur L. Ford, founder of the organization announced that a Larchmont Junior Softball League would begin operation in two weeks. Mr. Ford stated that the time remaining before the opening games would be used to handle the applications that any other groups might possibly want to make for entrance into the circuit.

Four applications for membership to the Junior League have already been filed with league officials. Finger's stationery on Chatsworth Avenue will sponsor a team with Paul Abrahamson as manager and coach. The Larchmont Sport Shop's outfit has not as yet named a coach while Johnson's Sport Shop team will be managed and coached by Mickey Gibbs. Carl Carpino will sponsor, coach and manage his own team while Joe Walsh will hold two oddlines jobs for Foley's Hardware softballers. All managers and coaches will be assisted by Mr. Ford and other officials of the Senior Larchmont Softball League.

Any groups which have players ranging from 12 years of age and under are cordially invited to submit an application to the circuit. There is no limit as to the number of teams. Players must reside in the Larchmont postal area, however. Mr. Ford added that those wishing to file applications must do so in the very near future since the schedule will be prepared next week. Applications can be submitted at any of the stores mentioned above.

All players are instructed to meet benind the American Legion Clubhouse at Flint Park on Saturday at 1:30 P.M.

The opening games have been tentatively slated for two weeks from Saturday and all contests will be played on weekends.

The spokesman also stated that players will be informed of further announcements and the schedule through The Daily Times.

Players on the 11 American Hockey League teams spent a total of 6,207 minutes in the penalty box last season.

Embassy Stops Depot Ways; Flinn Clouts Homer, Double

The Embassy jumped into undisputed possession of third place in the hotly contested Larchmont Softball League pennant race by nipping the Depot Ways 3-2 last night at Flint Park. Rush Riley of the winners and Nick Starapoli hooked up in a torrid pitching duel which saw the losing hurler give up one less base hit than Riley. However, getting on base against Rapid Rush was one thing and scoring was a far different proposition. It was the third victory in five games for the Embassy and put them one game behind the loop pace setters while the Depot nine sank further away from contention by losing their fourth encounter in six starts.

Both pitchers walked just two men with Riley whiffing three to two for Starapoli. Their twirling was as evenly matched as the statistics show except for the fact that Starapoli gave up a home run when he yielded his first hit and then was touched for two consecutive bingles when the decidine run scored. The Embassy had two earned markers while the losers' are to be scored that way.

The winners collected both of the game's extra base socks. Bob Flinn pulled one of his entrance into 1949 activity by belting a sixth inning homer which gave the Embassy a 2-1 lead and then came back in the top of the seventh to crack across the tally which broke a 2-2 tie.

Depot Scores First

Flinn's blow didn't allow himself to be drawn into any jams in the first three innings, the Depot Ways' flinger ran into trouble in the second. With one man retired, Joe Connolly was hit by a pitched ball and Johnny Belluci walked. Starapoli then struck out two men in a row to retire the side without the plate being touched.

Then the Depot broke the scoring ice with a fourth frame marker. Joe Wilson singled but was out stealing. Jack Riley reached first on an error and swiped second with a hook slide. Chuck Johnson then came through with a clutch bingle to produce the 1-0 margin.

Steve Lulacani was hit by a pitched ball with no one out in the top of the fifth. Johnny Bellu advanced him by grounding out and, then Chuck Crowley also grounded out third to first, Lonacani broke for the plate. The throw from first sacker VanVaulken would have retired him but Gene McLaughlin dropped the ball.

Then flinn pounded a drive to left center in the sixth and dashed around the bases for a homer.

The score rose to 3-1 in the top of the seventh when, with two outs, Pat Belluci singled and Flinn doubled up the left center alley.

The Depots were not licked yet, however, and fought back in their final turn at the plate. McLaughlin atoned for his miscue by chopping an infield bounder and beating it out for a hit. With Bob Wilson at bat, the Depot Ways' catcher swiped second and came all the way home when Wilson's grounder got by Tony Loiacoi who was covering first. Wilson went into scoring position on the overthrow but was stranded when the next two batters filed to the outfield.

Grasshopper Changes

The slate of contests on Saturday, June 25th, in the Kiwanis Grasshopper Baseball League has been juggled somewhat, according to Dick Creifelds, chairman of the Kiwanis committee on the diamond project.

The revised schedule has the Blue Streaks meeting the Bob Cats at 9 A. M., the Redskins tangling with the Alley Cats at 10 A. M. and the Crusaders trading base hits with the Trojans in the final game of the triple-header at 11 A. M. At the writing the rest of the schedule is unchanged.

BOY SCOUTS PLAY TO 9-9 SOFTBALL KNOT

Troop 3 scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to tie Troop 2 at 9-9 in a Larchmont Boy Scout Softball League game Tuesday night at Flint Park. The game was called because of darkness at the end of eight frames.

Troop 2, aided by the fine pitching of Bob McCarthy and the steady batting of Ridley, was well on its way to victory number two when Troop 3 exploded. B. Pinnera led off with a double, Nager was safe on an error and Benjie Iglauer with a full count on him, powered a long homer.

McCarthy struck out ten men over the eight stanzas while J. Pinnera pitched well enough for Troop 3 to win but his mates failed him on the defense.

Iglauer and Ridley were the batting stars. The former had two singles along with his circuit clout while Ridley had a double, triple and single in successive times at bat.

CORRECTION

It was erroneously reported in Tuesday's issue of The Daily Times that Richard Koch had pitched for the Atoms in a Kiwanis Junior Baseball League Game. The Atoms' hurler was Bill Koch, no relation to the lad mentioned in Tuesday's paper. P.S.—The Atoms lost to the Braves, 4-2.

Oilers Rout Grippo's Stars 7–2; Tie Namers for Third

Returning to the .500 mark in Mamaroneck Softball League war an easy task for the Oilers as they routed Grippo's Stars 7-2 at MAS Field last night. Sherman Downer, the loop's most valuable player last year, made his first appearance this season and pitched three hit ball in hauling the Stars their fourth setback in five contests. The winners now hold half of fifth place, the other portion being owned by Holy Name, while the Grippo's must now share eighth poisition with the idle Heathcotes.

Although the Oilers hit the ball solidly, they only were credited with four base hits all-told. Almost all of their runs were tainted because of five miscues and eight free passes also were welcomed. Luke DiRuzzo hurled all of the seven frames for the losers and might have gotten away with less runs if his mates had been able to find the handle on a flock gave up two bingles in the first frame and scattered the other pair effectively. He struck out eight men, six of which came after the game had practically been sewed up by the Oilers.

There was only one extra base hit and no one player garnered more than one base knock. Oddly enough catcher Joe Siano of Grippo's got the extra-base, a double which drove in his team's first run.

Oilers Explode

The Oilers had a 4-0 bulge before DiRuzzo could retire the side in the first frame. Jim Bianco socked a single to start the splurge and Downer walked. Sal Yans, who came up with the game's most spectacular defensive play, sacrificed them each up a notch. Foster drove one in with a fly to right and Ralph Tuzzonno strolled. Bene Bonelli and Bob Joyce followed with almost identical grounders to the infield which wound up in the stands on erratic throws by Greto and Bilotta.

The Stars tried vainly to get back into the ball game but were able to get just one marker in the second. Right fielder Lanza walked with two men retired and Siano then doubled to left to make it a 4-1 game.

The winners wiped that run off with a singleton of their own in the third. Al Foster walked, Bonelli singled and an error on Warren Bascune's grounder enabled the lead runner to walk home from third.

The Oilers added their final pair of runs in the top of the fourth. Jim Russo starting the outburst with a free ticket to first base. Bianco and Downer also walked to load the bases and Foster technically knocked them home when his grounder to the Grippo's infield ended up where most of the others did, in the stands behind first base.

Joe Bilotta tried to start a big rally in the bottom of the seventh by walking. Pete Abbate kept it rolling with a single and, when Mike Ciraco grounded into a force play at second, Bilotta scored. Downer then took command and had even less trouble in the final stanza.
